Mukden Bombed By Chinese Govt. Planes After Fall

Bombs Land Within Two Blocks of U.S. Consulate

Nanking, Nov. 1 (AP)—Mukden was bombed today by Chinese government planes shortly after the Communists completed occupation of hte city.

There were many bomb explosions, including several within two blocks of the United States consulate. Casualties and damage were not known.

The bombing gave immediate point to the words of President Chiang Kai-Shek, who told his Kuomintang (governing party) Central Committee today that China "must accept the lessons of defeat by the Communists and fight on."

There was no hint of surrender from the weary Chinese leader whose government has been shaken to its foundation by the wholesale defeats of his troops in the last three weeks.

Authoritative sources here said the Communists had occupied Mukden completely at 3 p.m (2 a.m. EST) and that the last government officials fled from there three days ago. The government had had no radio communication with Mukden since 6 p.m Sunday (5 a.m. EST) but the American consulate radio there is still functioning and in communication with American authorities here and in Shanghai.

Chiang praised both the bravery and skill of his north China commander, Gen. Fu Tso-Yi at Peiping. He said Fu "has made ample preparations and been sufficiently reinforced" to handle Red threats to that area.

The president insisted the "over-all war situation does not give cause for worry."

In Precarious Position

Neutral observers recalled that Fu was in a precarious position in north China since the Communists had cut the corridor to Suiyuan and interrupted the normal supply route through which came the bulk of the food for his troops. They estimated that only the prompt transfer of the 17 government divisions now "sitting" on the Hulutao beach to Fu's command plus a rapid flow of war supplies would permit the northern general to hold his own with the Reds even temporarily.

Radio reports from Mukden received here and in Shanghai said that heavy artillery fire roared in the Mukden suburbs from before dawn until noon. This indicated that government forces still in the city put up some resistance to the Communist troops although the main National forces in Mukden were believed to have captiluated or fled before the Communist advance.

Arrive by Plane

Competent authorities said that Mukden's commander, Gen. Wei Li-Huang, and other high officials had arrived in Peiping by plane. Gen. Tu Li-Ming, government field commander there, was said to have arrived at the Manchurian port of Hulutao, 150 miles southeast of Mukden, with the remnants of his staff.

Meanwhile, United States authorities in China ordered all Americans in north China to get ready to evacuate their homes for fear the civil war would envelop them. British authorities took similar action last week.

Heaviest Rain Coincides With Sun's Eclipse

Nairobi, Kenya, Nov. 1. (AP)—The heaviest rain, clouds and fog in the history of Nairobi coincided with this morning's total eclipse of the sun.

At dawn visibility of the main streets was down to a few yards and on the Ngong Hills, in the centre of the path traced by the sun's shadow, the mist blotted out the landscape. No phases of the eclipse were visible until the sun was re-emerging. At the time the eclipse was total, the darkness was almost complete and the temperature dropped sharply.

The Helwan Observatory in Cairo announced the sun was partially eclipsed as it rose over Egypt. The Observatory said the eclipse was total in the regions of the Pacific and Central Africa and partial in Australia, parts of Northern India, the Arabian Peninsula and North and South Africa.

Hard Luck Girl, Mary Nolan, Dies

Hollywood, Nov. 1 (AP)—Mary Nolan, whose blonde beauty and dancing feet took her to the pinnacle of show business fame as Imogene (Bubbles) Wilson, is dead.

The one time toast of New York and the Ziegfeld Follies, later a movie star, and finally known as the "hard luck girl," was found dead Sunday in a three-room bungalow. She was 42.

Her show business career followed her 'teen age modelling in New York. She went into the follies but at the height of her fame became involved with comedian Frank Tinney. She sued him for $100,000 damages for injuries she alleged he inflicted in a beating. That affair drove her from Broadway.

She went to Germany and entered film work as Mary Robertson. Hollywood brought her here, where as Mary Nolan she did "Sorrell And Son" in 1927. Her acting won acclaim, but trouble came again.

She sued Edward Mannix, Hollywood producer, for $500,000 in 1935, charging that he beat her. She was jailed for a time in 1937 because of an unpaid dress bill. Illness struck her down, too.

Pope Reaffirms Church Opposes Totalitarianism

He spoke to 1,000 auto workers from Turin and Rome at the summer Apostolic Palace at Castel Gandolfo. The Vatican released the text of the address today.

The Pope assailed those who, in "declaring that their own system is the only truly 'social,' do not defend the personal dignity of the worker, but make of his productive capacity a simple object of which society disposes at its will."

He said religion is the true guarantee of the "dignity of the worker."

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Nov. 1 — (CP)—Synopsis: Once again much of Ontario was blanketed by fog this morning. Temperatures throughout the province continue above normal. A disturbance over Texas will move northeastward during the next 24 hours bringing rain into Southern Ontario on Tuesday.

All Saints' Day Brings Tense Truce

Paris, Nov. 1 (Reuters)— All Saints' Day, a public holiday in France brought a tense truce today to the strikebound coalfields.

The truce came after a weekend marked by bomb throwing and house wrecking against nonstrikers in the Douai area of northern France.

Acts of vengeance included placing a bomb outside the house of a miner who had returned to work, causing an explosion which injured his wife.

Six people were reported to have been arrested in connection with attacks on 15 miners' homes in the Douai district. It was also reported that a mining engineer and his wife were injured after the explosion of an improvised bomb near their house at Wezlers, in the Douai region.

CANDIDATES MAKE FINAL PLEAS TO U.S. VOTERS

Democrats Need Four Seats to Control Senate

New York, Nov. 1 — (CP) — Eleven men who would be president of the United States say their final pieces tonight and tomorrow the voters make their choice of the man who will run the United States' business for the next four years.

Today's campaigning will be sort of anti-climax to the weeks of terrific campaigning up and down and all across the country. The leading contenders will go on the radio networks to urge the approximately 90,000,000 eligible voters to go to the polls and vote for somebody.

However, it is generally considered unlikely that more than about 51,000,000 will exercsie their right to vote.

President Truman is at his home in Independence, Mo., where he will vote and await returns. He told his hometown people, as he has told millions from coast to coast, that he is confident his Democratic party will retain its 16-year-old grasp of power on the White House.

Dewey is here today with his family to vote and to wait the results in a Manhattan hotel suite.

Hold Precarious

Only four Democratic gains would put the senate back into that party's hands. The Republicans won both the house and senate in the 1946 congressional elections, but their hold on the senate has been precarious and remains so.

Two of the remaining nine presidential candidates have important roles in the contest although they have no hope or chance of becoming president in this election.

Henry Wallace, founder and leader of the Progressive party, undoubtedly will take a lot of votes that ordinarily would have been cast for Democratic candidates.

Will Have 38 Votes

Governor Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, leader of the so-called Dixiecrats — the Southern Democrats who broke with the national party — is almost certain to win 38 Electoral College votes in four southern states, and perhaps more.

There are 531 Electoral College members to be chosen in Tuesday's balloting. The winner of the election must control a majority of them, 266. If no candidate gets that majority the election will be thrown into the House of Representatives where the state delegations — with one vote each for each state — must make a choice from the three leading contenders.

The party winning the popular majority in a state gets the whole Electoral College vote of that state, no matter how small the majority may be.

Shooting Blamed On Comic Books

St. Catharines, Ont., Nov. 1 — (CP)—Dr. J. L. Poirier, St. Catharines coroner, Saturday blamed the influence of lurid comic books for the accidental shoting of 15-year-old Ronald Delaney.

Each armed with a .22-calibre rifle, Delaney and 17-year-old Bernard Dumoulin, crouched behind rocks and fired at each other. Delaney died half an hour after a bullet hit him in the head.

They started shooting each other after they tired of shooting at empty bottles.

Dr. Poirier certified the death as accidental.

Dumoulin, frightened and dazed, told police they couldn't find anything more to shoot at so "Ronald ducked behind a rock, just playing, and I did, too.

"We sighted our rifles at each other, just as if we were cowboys out on a posse, but we only fired over each other's head."

He said his finger was on the trigger of the gun when he tripped and the rifle discharged.

ALTAR BOY BURNED

Hamilton, Nov. 1 (CP) — Bobby Aitchison, 10-year-old altar boy, today escaped with a small burn on the ear and singed hair, when his surplice caught fire at early Mass.

The boy who had stepped too close to the altar candles at St. Joseph's Church, was rescued by his father and another member of the congregation. They rolled the boy in their coats to extinguish the flames.

Montreal, Nov. 1 — (CP) — Fifty-four freight cars loaded with fresh fruits and vegetables from the United States arrived in Montreal over night, marking the first day of the relaxation of the ban against importation of U. S. produce. Lettuce, grapes and tomatoes predominated at prices far below last year's figures.

The ban was imposed last February by Hon. Douglas Abbott in an effort to conserve dollars. Exceptions to the ban were limited quantities of citrus fruits.

A few minutes after trading started at Montreal terminal today, the price of wholesale lettuce dropped from $2.75 to $2.50 a crate. Drops were also noted in other produces.

Here are the retail prices which now are tagged on various items:

Iceberg lettuce, 12 to 15 cents a head; tomatoes, 19 to 23 cents a pound; spinach, 12 to 15 cents a pound and grapes, 12½ to 17 cents a pound.

U.S. Army Plane Explodes, 12 Bodies Taken from Wreck

Oklahoma City, Nov. 1. (AP)—State Highway patrol headquarters reported today that 12 bodies have been recovered from the crash of a United States Army plane near Muldrow, Okla.

Highway patrolmen reported from Muldrow that witnesses saw the plane, identified as an army type, apparently in trouble over Muldrow about 11 a.m. It exploded in the air, the witnesses said.

The troopers said the plane's fuselage crashed north of Muldrow about three-quarters of a mile from where the wings and engine fell.

They said four bodies were found one mile from the fuselage and the eight others in or near the fuselage wreckage.

A reporter for the Fort Smith Times Record, who went to the scene, said the plane fell about a quarter of a mile north of Muldrow.

St. Laurent, Drew Hold Conference, Date Carleton By-election Not Set

Ottawa, Nov. 1 (CP)—George Drew, new National leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said today after a meeting with acting Prime Minister St. Laurent that the date has not yet been set for a by-election which will pave the way for his entry into the Commons.

After a 20-minute conference with St. Laurent, the former Ontario Premier said that naturally it was up to the government to fix the date for a by-election in the Ontario constituency of Carleton, where he will stand as a candidate.

He recalled that Mr. St. Laurent had stated Friday that the by-election could be held Dec. 20.

"Naturally, I am anxious that the by-elections should come on as soon as possible," said Mr. Drew.

He left Mr. St. Laurent's office to confer with Russell Boucher, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons, who decided to resign to make way for Mr. Drew. The Progressive Conservative leader said he planned to discuss with Mr. Boucher the setting of a date for a convention in Carleton.

ISRAELI TROOPS IN FULL CONTROL OF N. PALESTINE

U. N. Observers State Army Has Crossed Border Into Lebanon

Tel Aviv, Israel, Nov. 1 (AP)—Israeli troops are in full control of Northern Palestine today. United Nations observers said they had crossed the border into Lebanon.

The Jews said a smashing two-day offensive had cleared all Arab forces from the Galilee area, driving the remnants of the Arab "Liberation Army" of Fawzi Pasha Al Kaukji across the Lebanese border.

(In Beirut, Lebanon, the Government Press Bureau officially declared the United Nations observers' statements untrue and denied the Jews had entered Lebanese territory.)

An Israeli announcement of the Galilee victory was made at the same time the government notified United Nations truce headquarters in Haifa that it had ordered Jewish soldiers on the northern front to cease firing at 3 a.m., E.S.T. Sunday, 20 hours after the cease-fire deadline ordered by the United Nations.

Lebanon, which had accepted the original cease-fire, but later was reported to have reopened fire in defensive action, was requested to abide by the same cease-fire time the Jews had ordered.

United Nations observers in the North said the Jewish units "now are inside Lebanese territory". The Jews were said to be moving toward Bennt Jbail, 2 1-2 miles beyond the border.

An Israeli spokesman said the core of Kaukji's force of an estimated 5,000 men was broken. "Hundreds were killed and hundreds taken prisoner," he said.

(In Jerusalem, the Israeli radio station "Voice of Jerusalem" broadcast what it termed an Arab peace appeal from the Arab radio station at Ramallah. The Israeli radio quoted an Arab commentator as saying in a discussion of the Palestine situation "military measures have failed, other methods must now be tried.")

SHOTGUN BLAST KILLS 20-YEAR-OLD YOUTH ON STREET

Herman Woodcox, 33, is Charged With Murder in Lindsay Police Court

Ronald Gill died in a Haliburton hospital a few hours after the shooting.

Eye-witnesses said they saw Gill and Woodcox in an argument on the main street of this village 60 miles north of Peterborough.

Herman George Woodcox 33-year-old lumberman, was charged with murder in police court at Lindsay today and was remanded for one week.

They said Woodcox, carrying a 12-guage shotgun, had been drinking when he came into town.

Provincial Police said they had been instructed not to give newspapermen details of the shooting and it was not known what started the quarrel.

Witnesses said they heard a shot and Gill, who was crossing the street, staggered and fell. Allan Gill, the dead man's father, said he grappled with Woodcox and disarmed him, not knowing his son lay dying on the street.

He went back to the group of spectators clustered around the body and recognized his son.

Mrs. Grace Gill, the victim's mother, said Woodcox started an argument with her son but "I don't know what it was about. There were so many kids about I couldn't tell what was going on. I heard a second shot and turned in time to see Ronald falling to the ground. Then I realized what had happened."

Most witnesses agreed there were two shots—the second of which apparently struck Gill in the groin.

REDUCE POWER CONSUMPTION IN SOUTH ONTARIO

Allotments Are Cut By Seven Per Cent

Toronto, Nov. 1 — (CP) — New moves to reduce power consumption are at hand in Southern Ontario.

A further slash in the amount of power imported by Ontario from Quebec has brought the southern half of the province up against the necessity to cut hydro allotments by seven per cent. for most communities, it means more compulsory cutoffs.

Kingston, which so far this fall has escaped cutoffs, will put two half-hour breaks into effect each weekday, starting today. The Ontario Hydro Commission has cut Kingston's power quota from 234,750 kilowatt hours a week to 218,300.

A wave of protests from residents of East Whitby township has forced a revision of hydro cutoff hours for the area surrounding Oshawa. Effective today, the power will be cut from noon until 1:30 p.m., instead of 7 to 7:45 a.m. and noon to 1 p.m.

The power shortage, which officials say likely will last until the spring break-up, stemmed from a steadily increasing industrial power demand, on the one hand, and a widespread scarcity of water at generating plants, on the other.

Sweeping restrictions on lighting for advertising and commercial purposes were followed with an appeal to householders to use less electricity. When the reduction proved insufficient, compulsory switch-pulling was introduced in most cities and towns.

In some places there have been unscheduled power blackouts, such as the one midway through Sunday night's services at Toronto's old Davenport United Church. The choir and the minister, Rev. Allan Ferry kept the service going while church officials scurried to find candles and oil lamps.

Wife Charged With Wounding

Paris, Ont., Nov. 1 —(CP)— James Osman, 44-year-old veteran of the Second World War, today is in hospital with two stab wounds, and his wife Ethel, is in jail charged with wounding.

According to Paris Police, Mrs. Osman stabbed her husband with a bread knife following a fracas in their home between 1.30 and 3 a.m. Sunday. One wound was in the side of the neck and the other in the collarbone. He is expected to recover.

Following the stabbing, Mrs. Osman is reported to have gone to a nearby home and telephoned Dr. E. B. Patterson, who attended and called police. The police had the wounded man taken to hospital and arrested Mrs. Osman, who is now in jail at Brantford.

Abdullah to Bring Peace to Arabs In Palestine

Amman, Nov. 1 (AP)—King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan said today he is "determined to bring peace" to Palestine's Arabs and to avoid disagreement and disunity among the Arab countries".

His speech from the throne to the opening of Trans-Jordan's parliament coincided with the arrival here of delegations from Arab cities of Palestine asking his help.

Chiefs of Arab tribes and civil leaders from the Palestine cities of Hebron, Bethlehem, Gaza, Beersheba and Nablus pledged their loyalty to the Trans-Jordan monarch.

The King said the Arab states had faced the end of the British mandate in Palestine last May "unprepared" without means of fighting".

Smog Death Toll Now Stands at 19; Rain Clears Air

Victims, All Elderly, Die Of Heart-Asthmatic Malady

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Donora, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP)—A steady all night rain washed the air above this Monongahela River industrial town where smog was blamed as an accessory in the deaths of 19 elderly people in 36 hours.

The death list was revised downward by one. The town's department of health first reported Gustine Polchak the 20th victim of a cardiac-asthmatic condition that took the lives of the others.

But a later investigation by health authorities disclosed Polchak had died of other causes. He had been under a physician's care for some time.

Meanwhile, chemists studied tests made of the air over Donora Sunday in hope of discovering whether there was any gaseous ingredient in the smothering mixture of fog and smoke which could have caused the deaths and suffering of more than 400 others.

The malady struck this Monongahela River industrial town of 13,500 late last Friday as a smothering mixture of fog and smoke lay low over the valley for the third straight day.

Early Saturday morning the town's eight doctors were besieged by calls from asthma and cardiac sufferers. Before midnight 14 men and four women had died.

The fog lifted Sunday and the number of sufferers eased off but there were two more deaths — both men. At least 32 people remained in hospital, two of them critical.

The State Department of Health sent in a team of chemists headed by Dr. Joseph Shilen of the Industrial Hygiene Bureau. The American Steel and Wire Company, largest industry in the town and a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, called on the Independent Hygiene Corporation of Pittsburgh to join with State authorities in analyzing the air over Donora.

Numerous Tests Made

Numerous tests were made Sunday and others were planned for today. Dr. Shilen said he hoped to have a report on the first tests this afternoon.

"But it is my guess," he added, "that he will not find anything worthwhile. The greater part of the fog had passed by the time we got into operation."

The Donora zinc works of the American Steel and Wire Company closed and plant superintendent M. M. Neale said they would remain so until it was determined whether the fumes and smoke given off by the smelter furnaces had anything to do with the conditions.

Rudolph Schwerha, member of the Donora Board of Health, said so far as he knew all those who died had previously been under a physicians' care.

A doctor who asked that his name not be used said the symptoms in all cases were the same He said:

"They complained of pains in the chest and had a difficult time breathing. We used three methods of treatment. They were injections of adrenalin, use of oxygen tents and doses of anti-histiminic." He explained the last is a drug used in asthmatic cases.

He said all the victims died of heart failure brought on by an overworked heart due to lack of oxyyen.

Twenty persons are dead in the mill town of Donora, Pa. (cross) and several hospitals were jammed with other victims yesterday after a smothering smog.

Donora, Pa., Nov. 1 — (AP) — The "death in the smog" epidemic which hit this small industrial city, killing 20 persons and making 400 others ill, was no respecter of ages.

A doctor who asked that his name be not used said Sunday he had treated a baby of 4½ months and a woman of 85 years. He said, however, all the deaths were among elderly people.

He said when the first case was reported late Friday afternoon, doctors did not consider it unusual. In the past, he said, when a smog settled over this monongahela Valley doctors usually were called to treat a half dozen or so cases of respiratory ailments.

Friday night, however, the condition became general. The eight active doctors in the town treated at least 400 cases during the weekend. The number fell off considerably Sunday.

The doctor said three methods of treatment were generally used. They were injection, use of oxygen tents and doses of antihitiminic. The last is a drug used for asthma.

He said those stricken found themselves breathing with difficulty and complained of pains in the chest. All the victims died of heart failure, brought on by an overworked heart, due to lack of oxygen. The deaths, the doctors said, were relatively painless.

Meanwhile, the citizenry of this mill town remained apparently unruffled.

Much Activity

There was much activity in the hospitals and homes where doctors fought to save many cardiac and asthma sufferers affected by the fatal fog.

But on the streets it was just another Sunday. The youngsters continued their games of touch football and rode their bikes. Older folks, and children, too, went to church as usual.

Filling stations and drugstores were kept open for trade. There was no talk of quarantining or of closing public meeting places.

Telephone service to and from Donora was at a virtual standstill and three operators had more calls than they could possibly handle. Delay on calls ranged as high as five hours.

Forced to Scrub Floors for Breaking Into Rural School

Peterborough, Nov. 1 (CP)—Twenty boys and girls of nearby Cavan Township spent a good part of Sunday scrubbing floors under the watchful eye of a policeman.

That was their punishment for breaking into a rural school at Mount Pleasant, 15 miles west of here, littering the floors and chalking the walls as a Hallowe'en prank.

Provincial Constable George Stevens says he has heard several other culprits have not yet been caught. When they are, he says, there are several odd jobs still to be done.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORK OF PRANKSTER

It may have been the work of a prankster; the imaginative whim of a newspaperman — or maybe they had such things in the old days.

In any event, according to a story coming out of Trenton, the skeleton of a former Indian brave dug up from its resting place near Picton by an American geologist, was found to have a piece of paper clutched in a bony hand. Microscopic examination, the story goes, revealed it to be an income tax receipt.

Albert Sauly Takes Heavy Toll of Marauding Wolves, Brings in Eleven Pelts

Ask any self-respecting wolf, or any other kind, for that matter, who is the most-feared trapper in the mid-northern part of Hastings County, and the pack will howl "Albert Sauly."

The activities of this intrepid young trapper during the past few weeks in particular and over a period of years in general, have been largely responsible for the holding to an appreciable low of the wolf population around his native Turriff, and other parts of the county.

For when Sauly starts to trap, he doesn't fool. For instance, word came to him around the first of October that a pack of wolves was operating in and around Madoc township. He loaded his trusty, if weatherbeaten, jeep with his traps and other necessary paraphernalia, and within two weeks or so had reduced the pack to a minimum.

Brings in Eleven Hides

Today he brought to the city the spoils of the hunt. Eleven bush wolves which averaged between 66 and 72 inches in length were very dead, and imutable evidence of Sauly's trapping ability. One of them, probably the Big Bad Wolf, after losing two toes in one of the Sauly traps, came back to look for his pedal property. He left his carcass in the powerful jaws of a Sauly trap.

The personable young trapper, (he was born in France and came to Canada when he was three years of age) speaks English with a flawless accent, yet he has not relinquished his knowledge of Parisian French.

He started trapping, he said, when he was "so high" and during his wolf-hunting seasons has caught and killed over 100 of the sheep-killing marauders. His 1947 bag was 23.

Uses Special Lure

Sauly uses a special lure for the wily wolf — but he's not giving away any formulae. Formerly he used a club to despatch the animals, but an experience caused him to change his mind. Now he uses a rifle.

It happened one early morning when he was "running" his traplines. In a tangle of tag-alders he saw an animal threshing in what appeared to be its death-agonies. He recognized it as a large timber wolf. To its leg was attached the trap, and the stake to which it had been secured. It was nearly eight feet in length.

Breaking off a "club", Sauly rushed in for the kill. But the wolf had other ideas. As the trapper closed it lunged forward with a vicious snap of its powerful jaws, and the teeth closed with a crunch over one of Sauly's hands. They tore through the thickness of Sauly's heavy leather glove and met through his flesh.

"He beat me to the punch, that was all," recalled Sauly. "After that I always used a rifle."

Learned The Hard Way

He had his first taste of trapping when he was little better than a small youngster. "I was so green in those days, that I used to bait traps with carrots hoping to catch weasel or skunk. The only thing that would nibble at that special bait was an occasional rabbit."

During the early stages of his trapping career, Sauly was troubled with foxes, skunks and other smaller animals falling to his lure. By means of a special gadget, which does not permit animals weighing under ten pounds to spring the trap, he has eliminated much of this nuisance.

"There is no money in fox pelts" according to Sauly, "but wolves pay very well."

Sauly collects thirty-five dollars provincial bounty for every bonafide wolf pelt, while township's bounties add a substantial sum to this amount.

He has studied the habits of these predatory animals. A brush wolf, cannot run down a deer in the summer, in his opinion, but their fiercer, speedier counterparts, the timber wolves, can pull down a buck with very little start. The brush brothers concentrate their kill-lust on sheep flocks.

Kill Many Sheep

"Apparently they kill for kill-sake," is Sauly's opinion. "Many times I have seen only partially devoured carcasses of sheep lying in the trail of these killers."

Sauly's method of transportation; his sleeping quarters when on the hunt, and his living and dining rooms are contained in his trusty jeep. He drives to the terrain where Brer Wolf is roaming at large; sets his trap-line and awaits results. His "lure" is very effective, as past incidents have proved, and it is not long before a rifle shot cracks in the air and another sheep killer bites the dust.

As long as Albert is roaming the north country, the wolves had better be warned. He is a relentless trapper, stalking his prey until they are caught within the steel jaws of his beloved traps, and then goes looking for more.

It's going to be a tough winter for wolves, if there are any left by the time Sauly decides to take time out for a rest.

Extra Half-Hour Power Cut Starts Tues. Afternoon

An additional half-hour of hydro interruption, making a total cut of two hours daily, will go into effect in the city on Tuesday in an effort to bring electric power consumption down to within the new daily quota set for Belleville.

This was announced today by Mr. O. H. Scott, manager of the local public utilities, following a special meeting of the commission to decide what additional interruptions would be necessary to get power consumption down to the 96,700 kilowatt hour daily quota. Previously the power quota for the city had been 104,000 kilowatt hours.

Under the new program of hydro cuts, the interruption will remain the same in the morning, from 6.30 until 7.30, while in the afternoon the cut will be from 5.00 until 6.00, instead of from 5.30 until 6.00 as previously. If additional cuts are necessary to keep within the daily quota, a blackout from 7.00 until 8.00 in the evening will be ordered, it was stated by Mr. Scott.

Mr. Scott had no word regarding possible additional cuts for the rural areas, stating this was determined by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission.

Steering Com. For Sales and Ad Club Formed

Groundwork in the formation of a Sales and Advertising Club in the city was seen Friday evening when at a dinner meeting held at the Golden Acres Inn, Kingston Road, a steering committee was appointed to choose executive and to draft club regulations.

Chairman for the meeting was Ed. Bernstein, Mead Johnson, Ltd., representing the Manufacturers' Division of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Paige Powell, president of the Peterboro Sales and Advertising Club, outlined the purpose of the club, noting that it was not a new idea but would have its influence in city business. A sales and advertising club is not a service club, it was pointed out.

Mayor D. L. Storey spoke briefly in support of the formation of a sales club in the city following which it was moved by Frank Murray, commercial representative CJBQ, that a club be formed in Belleville.

The above committee was then formed to draft constitution and membership regulations and to investigate program schedules.

NO BEER, FEW PROTESTS

Sydney, Australia — (CP) — A brewery strike cut off supplies of beer from local hotels for 10 weeks, the first time in 30 years, but there was hardly a protest. Unionists who had previously stopped work when deprived of their beer for a day or two, scarcely complained.

FIRE DEPT. GETS THREE MINOR CALLS

Three calls were answered by the local fire department over the weekend, two of them being fire alarms and the other to rescue a dog from the Moira River at the rear of the Ed. Thomas store.

Fire alarms were answered to 5 Bettes Street where an electric stove became over-heated causing damage to the stove, while Sunday morning an oil stove flared up at 140-A Front Street.

IN MEMORIAM

COOK—In loving memory of Flight-Sergeant Clifford Cook, RCAF killed over Holland with his crew Nov. 1st. 1944.

Dear son if you only knew,
How we have cried and longed for you,
A far off grave is a painful thing,
Where loving hands no flowers can bring,
We cannot clasp your hand, dear Cliff,
Your face we cannot see,
But let this little token,
Tell that we still remember thee.

Ever remembered by mom, dad sisters and brothers. N1

TURNER—In loving memory of a dear mother, Harriett Anne Turner, who passed away Oct. 30th. 1944.

We mourned for her in silence,
No eyes can see up weep,
But many a silent tear is shed,
While others are asleep.

Lovingly remembered by daughter Hilda, Freda Carol Marner. N1

TURNER—In loving memory of a dear mother, Harriett Anne Turner, who passed away Oct. 30th., 1944.

We do not forget her, we love her too dearly,
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream,
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,

Lovingly remembered by daughter Daisy, Ross and family. N1

PAUL—In loving memory of Fraser Paul, who passed away Nov. 1st, 1947.

Through which each must go alone,
And there is a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims His own.
Beyond the gates our loved ones,
Find happiness and rest,
And there is comfort in the thought,
That a loving God knows best.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Nov. 1 — (CP)—Base metals and western oils rolled ahead in heavy trading here today. Industrials also strengthened on fractional advances. Golds were steady in early trading but tended to weaken as the rest of the list climbed upwards.

Several base metals climbed to new highs as the group resumed its upward trend after a week's consolidation. Consolidated Smelters, Hudson Bay, Noranda and International Nickel — the big four of the base metals industry—rolled ahead on gains of almost two points to lead the rise. Reeves Macdonald, Eureka, Pend Oreille and Quemont also gained.

Refining oils were ahead in the industrial groupings and steels and utilities improved on fractional gains. Papers were also better while food and agriculture groupings weakened.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Nov. 1 (CP)—offerings on the local livestock market today consisted mostly of plain to medium quality. Prices were firm to 50 cents higher. Receipts were: Cattle 4,300; calves 1,000; hogs 500; sheep and lambs 1,700. There was a heavy holdover of 1,400 head from last week's trading and the total supply includes 2,000 stockers.

Weighty steers were $20-$23 and plain quality butcher steers and heifers sold at $16.50-$19 with a few tops of $21. Butcher cows were $13-$17 with canners and cutters at $9-$12.50. Bulls were $15-$20. Fed yearlings sold at $19.28 and stockers were $15.25-$18.50 with feeders up to $20.50.

Calves sold steady at $27-$29 for choice with plain to medium heavies at $16-$25. Grassers were $14-$15.

Hogs were unsettled with bidding lower.

Democrats May Gain Control Of U.S. Senate

Washington, Nov. 1. (AP)—Competing with the presidency for interest in Tuesday's balloting in the United States are elections for 432 House of Representatives, 33 Senate as well as 32 governorships.

If either the Democrats or Republicans, the major parties concerned, come out on top in a decisive fashion, the winning party will have established a strong beachhead for the political wars of 1950 and 1952.

The prize plum aside from the presidency itself is control of the 81st Congress which will convene next Jan. 3.

The Republicans are confident of retaining control of the House and hardly less so of breaking in their favor the present 24-24 governorship tie in the 48 states.

The party that controls the Senate also controls the committees that steer legislation into the Chamber.

There are 33 Senate seats being filled this year. But that number includes one race already won by the Republoicans in Main Sept .13.

Republicans now control the Senate by a 51-45 margin, which means the Democrats need a net gain of four seats for control.

There are 95 candidates for the 32 seats involved in tomorrow's Senate voting— 28 Republicans, 32 Democrats, 11 Progressives, 8 Socialists, 4 Socialist-Labor, 6 Prohibition, 2 Socialist Workers, 3 3Independents, and 1 Industrial Government.

Contending for the 432 House seats (Maine elected three Republicans in September) are 371 Republicans, 418 Democrats and 183 minor party candidates.

The entire House of Representatives, membership is elected this year, as it is every two years. Republicans now are in control with 246 seats against 187 for the Democrats and 2 for the American Labor Party.

Dense Fog Again Delays Traffic

(By The Canadian Press)

The dense fog which has hung over Eastern Canada for the last five days continued today to tie up Great Lakes navigation especially in Georgian Bay and the north shores of Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. Traffic was snarled again Sunday night in Ontario and aircraft grounded.

East of Montreal however, the weather was clear this morning and visibility good.

Trans-Canada Airline officials at Toronto's Malton Airport said all flights would move on today until early evening when the fog was expected to roll in again.

Weather men said today there is only a 50-50 chance the fog will clear in the next few days. A low pressure area is moving north from Texas and if it entered Ontario the resulting wind and rain might be sufficient to sweep away the fog.

Does the Public Want Service?

CUBBY-HOLE PROCEEDINGS AT THE CITY COUNCIL

For several months some grocers in this City have been attempting to limit service to the public at their shops by getting a law passed to close all groceries at 7.00 o'clock in the evening except on Saturdays and enforce a Saturday closing at 9.00 o'clock.

Thousands of you have quite reasonably come to expect service at later hours than these.

Now, when their by-law has been declared bad and they can no longer get seventy per cent of the trade to sign a petition to get such a by-law, your Council — without any petition requesting them to do anything, — without notice to you, without notice to us — and no opportunity given for dissenting citizens or merchants to express their views (although such opportunities are given normally in the most trivial matters), has passed a by-law for such closings.

This by-law had its first reading — the 18th. day of October, 1948,
its second reading—the 18th. day of October, 1948,
its third reading—the 18th. day of October, 1948,—
and is presented to you and us as a 'fait accompli' by advertisement in the newspaper October 20th., 1948.

Absent when the vote was taken were Aldermen Follwell and Lummiss.

Alderman Lazenby voted against the by-law.

If you approve of this conduct and this by-law then remain quiet, but if you regard it as raw, hole-in-the-wall treatment of a question in which there is a considerable dissenting opinion, button-hole your Councilmen, and tell them so, and tell us too.

Two Small Dogs Taken From River

Appearance of two small boys, probably their masters, saved two small dogs from a lengthy period of being marooned on the dry part of the Moira River bed just south of the lower city bridge this morning.

The dogs, it appear, had scrambled down the eight-foot retaining wall and after investigating the terrain, as dogs do, found the wall too high to scale. Another dog maintained watch on the river bank and kept things moving with its intermittent barking.

The dogs made several attempts to climb back to the bank, but although they came within a foot of the top, they always slipped back to the river bottom.

The sudden appearance on the part of the two boys was the signal for yelps of delight and much tail-wagging, but it was not until after several concerted efforts on the part of the youths and the dogs had failed that the pups were hauled up to safety.

Point Traverse

Fog Keeps Ships At Standstill

Pt. Traverse — The dense fog which blanketed Lake Ontario on Sunday was the worst so far this season, according to commercial fishermen.

Fog alarms have been kept in continuous operation for hours during the heavy fogs of last week. Lighthouse keepers at the Duck islands reported lake traffic was practically at a standstill over the weekend as the fog reduced visibility to zero.

Lake vessels passing between the False and Main Duck islands are kept in communication with the radio beacon at the Main Duck, and now a two-way radio system links the False Duck station with Kingston.

Alert Students Save Life of Small Boy

London, Ont., Nov. 1 (CP)—Two resourceful 'teen-age students are credited by Mrs. Maxwell Hudson with saving the life of her two-year-old son Johnny, Friday. The boy, stricken with tonsilitis, suddenly stopped breathing. One of the boys breathed into Johnny's mouth until he revived. The pair then applied artificial respiration.

Ten Melrose Boys Forced to Repair Hallowe'en Mess

It was fun while it lasted, but not quite so much fun the next day!

This must have been the feeling of ten young boys in the Melrose area Sunday morning when under the direction of members of the board of education they were called upon to repair damage done at the school house on Hallowe'en.

In anticipation of intruders on Hallowe'en, school officials had nailed down windows and generally secured the premises against possible vandalism. But efforts proved useless.

For when the witches and goblins started to prowl, windows of the schoolhouse came up and gremlins marked up the blackboard, upset the teacher's desk and tossed library books about.

Young boys in the Melrose area at first feigned ignorance of the strange goings on, but finally under pressure ten pupils and ex-pupils of the school admitted responsibility.

So that was how ten rather red-faced young boys on Sunday came to repair damage at the Melrose school under the direction of school authorities.

Verdicts May Be Handed Down By Jury of Ten

Ottawa, Nov. 1 (CP) — A justice department spokesman said Sunday night that effective today verdicts in any Canadian courts may be handed down by a jury of 10, instead of the usual 12.

In Alberta where juries are composed of six members, an amendment to the criminal code allows for a reduction of one.

The spokesman said this historical departure in Canadian law procedures provides for the jury reductions in cases where there is illness or death by one or two members during criminal court proceedings.

Both the defence and the prosecution must consent to the reduction.

The amendment to the criminal code was passed at the last session of parliament.

Would Bring Needy Students to Canada

Toronto, Nov. 1 (CP)—International student service voted Sunday to seek aid from the Federal Government and Canadian universities to bring needy European students to Canada to study.

The conference, attended by delegates from 19 Canadian universities, voted also to set up a student hostel in Bombay as part of a relief program, send 400 pairs of shoes to Hungarian students, send books to Paris and aid Greek students at the universities of Athens and Salonika.

The organization plans to bring approximately 35 European students to Canada—a ratio of one for every 2,000 Canadian students Their stay in Canada would be financed by I.S.S., with each visitor receiving $1,000 and his tuition fees.

Coffin Contained Body of Wrong Man

Dubuque, Ia., Nov. 1 (AP)—Two coffins, supposed to contain the bodies of a couple killed in a plane crash in Scotland Oct. 20, were opened Saturday and one was found to contain the body of the wrong man. The victims whose bodies were to have been shipped here were John Reichel, 60, and his Austrian bride, the former Ria Worle, who were married in Gutlzens, Austria, May 16. They were killed along with 38 other persons in the crash of a Royal Dutch Airlines plane near Prestwick, Scotland, Oct. 20.

Behavior of Hallowe'en Celebrants Causes Few Complaints of Damage

Hallowe'en pranksters generally speaking were on very good behavior in the city Saturday evening, it was reported today by Police Chief Walter Probert who stated no pranks of a really serious nature were reported.

"Pranksters behaved very well with very little damage being reported," stated the police chief. He suggested that house parties in all probability served to keep many of the would-be pranksters off the streets. Just in case, however, the department kept up a constant patrol of the city in police cruisers.

However, soaped windows were very much in evidence in the downtown section of the city on Sunday morning, while a few signs were reported pulled out of the ground or upset. One man reported a verandah post loosened from its place while another west hill resident found some red paint splashed over his car.

Possibly it was the fog, but it appears fewer costumed children spent the evening knocking on doors looking for handouts of apples and candy. Few residents reported more than eight or ten children calling throughout the night while others reported none and up to four and five callers.

Three-Cornered Fight Shaping Up For Ilsley's Seat

Kentville, N.S., Nov. 1 (CP) — A three-cornered fight was shaping in Digby-Annapolis-Kings today for the federal seat left vacant last week by the resignation of former Justice Minister Ilsley.

Liberals, Progressive Conservatives and C.C.F. will contest the seat, although no probables have been mentioned as yet to represent the youngest part. A fourth party, Farmer-Labor, that took part in the last federal polling here was not expected to contest the Dec. 13 by-election.

For the Liberals, Mayor J. D. Mackenzie of Middleton, former Nova Scotia Highways Minister, was prominently mentioned for nomination, as was also R. D. Sutton, Apple Marketing Board chairman.

George C. Nowlan, K.C., 50-year-old Wolfville barrister and former president of the Nova Scotia Progressive Conservatives, was said to be a strong possibility for that party. Mr. Nowlan is solicitor for United Fruit Companies.

E. Stuart Elliott of Clarence, fruit grower, lawyer Hanson T. Dowell of Middleton, former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and C. T. Lebrun of Bridgetown also were mentioned as possibilities.

In the 1945 election a total vote of 23,712 was divided as follows: Liberals, 13,433; Progressive Conservative 9,107, C.C.F., 857; and Farmer-Labor 315.

Noted Geologist, Dr. H. Horwood, Dies in Vancouver

Toronto, Nov. 1 (CP)— Mines Minister Frost of Ontario in a tribute to Dr. H. C. Horwood of Toronto, who died in Vancouver Saturday, said the senior geologist with the Ontario Mines Department, will long be remembered for his important contributions to the mining industry.

One of the best known geologists in Canada, Dr. Horwood was working on a highly-detailed report on Little Long Lac area in Ontario's Thunder Bay district at the time of his death. Mr. Frost believes that the Horwood report of the Red Lake area is likely the doctor's "greatest work." Dr. Horwood's effort is recognized as one of the most comprehensive reports of its type ever produced for the department, said the Mines Minister.

TWO HORSES ESCAPE PASTURE, KILLED BY TRUCK

Paris, Ont., Nov. 1 (CP)— Two wandering horses are dead as the result of an accident on No. 2 Highway about a mile west of Paris. Police report that the horses, escaping from pasture, were run into by a truck driven by Harold Sharpe, Toronto, westbound. One horse was instantly killed and the other so badly injured it had to be destroyed. The horses were owned by Walter Garner, R.R. 3, Paris.

Mr. Sharpe told police he had seen only one horse, which bounded out of the ditch into the path of his truck.

Many Landlords In City Apply For Rent Increase

A great number of Belleville landlords will take advantage of the domestic rental increases permitted as result of the Federal Government announcement on October 22, according to Mr. George H. Clifford at the local rentals office.

"This office has been literally swamped by inquiries regarding the notice of rental increase forms," stated Mr. Clifford today. "We don't know how many of these forms are being sent on to the tenants, but there have certainly been a great number of applications for the forms."

According to the announcement of rental increases made by Finance Minister Abbott, an over-all 10-per cent increase will be permitted landlords who did not avail themselves of the 10-per-cent increase authorized in May, 1947. Landlords who took the 1947 increase and gave their tenants the conditional two-year lease do not get the increase.

Also where heat is supplied an additional over-all increase of five per cent will be permitted, according to Mr. Abbott's announcement. Where applicable the increased rentals will be permitted to go into effect on December 1st.

In speaking of the number of applications for notice of rental increase forms, Mr. Clifford noted that landlords could not charge the increased rentals until the expiration of present leases.

To increase the rental following expiration of the present lease, a landlord fills out a Prices Board form setting out the higher rent and sends it to the tenant. The tenant has a month to decide whether he will pay the new rent. If not, he is evicted a month after getting the notice.

Three Youths Held For Removing Signal as Prank

Paris, Ont., Nov. 1 (CP) — Three Brantford youths who removed danger signals and destroyed property here as a Hallowe'en prank are in the toils of the police. The youths late Saturday night threw three red lanterns, two sandbags and a plank into the river. They had taken them from equipment used by the County of Brant in painting the William Street Bridge.

A passerby saw the youths and telephoned the police. The three were arrested as they waited for a bus to take them to Brantford.

ADDITIONAL POWER CUTS

In view of the order of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario that the consumers in Belleville must stay within the quota, and because of the fact that the Ontario Commission has now further reduced the quota by 7300 Kw. Hrs. per day it is necessary that the hours of interruption be altered.

COMMENCING TUESDAY, NOV. 2 and continuing until further notice, Monday through Friday, the hours of interruption will be 6.30 a.m. to 7.30 a.m.

5.00 p.m. to 6.00 p.m.

If the above cuts do not reduce the Kw. Hrs. to the required quota it will be necessary to make a further interruption between 7.00 p.m. to 8.00 p.m.

The evening cut will depend to a large extent on whether Domestic Users make sufficient extra saving in their homes amounting to at least 10 per cent.

If the power does not go off by 7.10 p.m. there will be no evening cut.

The Passing Scene in the Woods

Trees are wearing the mere remnants of that rich green foliage which has been the attire of growing nature in summer. In a series of retreats the foliage falls until now browns and rich scarlets deck the ground, leaving on the odd trees a mere bare foliage. The season of growth has retreated more and more.

Slowly and steadily the leaves have been falling for weeks, the faded, yet rich attire which once clothed the woods in loveliness.

Another year of earth's vast procession of years has completed its work in the fields and the forests and autumn is now passing in a panorama of beauty and glory.

Their work is done and they have passed their usefulness but not all for they have returned to the earth to enrich the mold to bring beyond the winters other springs, summers and autumns of the loveliness of the woods, which wait on the needs of man in providing tree growth in helping to preserve the moisture in the soil, making it a great reservoir of water, which in time through hydro-electric enterprise brings power and energy to millions in city and in country side.

The foliage gone, the trees stand, gaunt sentinels, not fearing the blasts and the rigors of winter. They watch for spring's awakening.

Among the bare or scantily clad trees which shed their leaves in autumn stand the evergreens which endure the passing of spring, summer, autumn and winter in due course, another phase of the many-sidedness of nature.

Tanks in Agriculture

Science is resourceful. Sherman tanks which fought in the Second World War have a very special but most important occupation now. 350 of them have given up their armor and have had their machinery transformed so as to be turned into tractor-like machines which are working as hard as they can in the far-off fields of Tanganyika in East Africa to make peanuts grow, where nothing of value previously grew. Britain needs the fat of the rich peanut to eke out her supplies of oil and fat.

It is aimed to have three and a quarter million acres under cultivation in peanuts.

Britain's Information Service sees a resemblance in this tough but peaceful occupation to the warlike task of the tanks used in smashing Hitler's evil empire of force and might for in the matter of size it is the aim to establish in that African land groups of plantations with an acreage larger than that growing peanuts in the United States last year.

What does this extra fat mean to the British people? Those who have been getting eight ounces of fats and oils hitherto will have extra fats and oils of at least 35 per cent.

The Sherman tanks are showing their ability in the peacetime task of overcoming the almost impenetrable bush, stubborn roots and other obstacles of the soil of Tanganyika.

The old Biblical phrase of the day when the implements of war shall be beaten forever into the instruments of peace is as living today as it ever was. The old sages and prophets knew that in spite of the travail and destruction of war there comes a lull and that war does not last forever. The world today has that same great hope and will work for it until peace becomes the permanent possession of mankind.

Appeal of the North

To the northern woods hunters are hearing the call of the hunting season. Thousands as the season for deer opens are about to make their way off to the numerous camps which the hunters know are in the haunts of the fleet quarry which the huntsmen seek.

Ontario's vast hinterland is a domain rich in many resources, in the air that invigorates, and in the game that dwell in the north and in the fish that are in its numerous waters. Yet only the fringe of the forest area's expanse has been touched and under wise laws the woodlands will preserve the game and fisheries for generations.

The season's setting and the lure of the quarry in these great stretches of forest need to sound no second invitation to those who love the great expanses of the north. From as war south as possible go the hunters to the pleasures of the chase.

Here is an apt question put by the Windsor Star: "Just what or who is it, Mr. Stalin, that Britain, the U. S. and we poor Canadians wish to aggress, anyway?"

The charges with malice are framed
And fashioned to stir up the crowd.
By both sides perfection is claimed

The radio carries the word.
The speeches the newspapers quote.
And the people will only be heard

Since this is the way that we do,
And ours is the land of the free,
As soon as the voting is through
The quarrels forgotten will be.

To dispute with each other our right
Under freedom we're pledged to maintain,
And no tyrant, whatever his might,

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

NOT EXTERNAL EVILS BUT INTERNAL

Newspapers and magazines today carry an endless number of articles on the hazardous possibilities of atomic energy. Sometimes it seems as if war were only a few weeks away. There are some people who do not hesitate to declare that civilization and perhaps the world itself is in imminent danger of destruction as the result of this great scientific discovery.

But there are some who believe—and not without reason—that the greatest danger threatening our country is not an external but an internal danger. There are influences at work among our people which bid fair to be more destructive than the atomic bomb. One of these is the influence of pressure groups which twists the beneficient machinery of democracy out of shape. Another is the spiritual ignorance of vast multitudes of people in no way connected with any church. Another is the growth of drinking and intemperance in modern social life. There are social injustices today which may well have a more destructive influence on our national life than anything Russia can ever do to us. We stand united against Russia but against these internal affairs we are divided because of our selfishness, our greed, and our appetites.

So let us stop thinking about the atomic bomb for a while and think of the explosive possibilities which we have permitted to come into being in our national life.

Today's Talk

FAITH—THE SUBSTANCE

We are conducted through life by an unseen force — Faith. We could not go through a single day without it. It is this Faith that makes up the substance of our happiness and our success in life.

Read the story of "Joan of Arc" and note how this one thing of Faith drove a young girl to fight for the freedom of France, but through her sacrifice to become an inspiring figure down the centuries. History records no other fact so outstanding as that Faith has always been the urge to greatness.

[illegible] ation of Independence that made it a document of reality. And how inspiring was the Faith of Washington, as he silently prayed at Valley Forge. And of Lincoln as he lived through the dark days of civil strife. Behind every great ideal has been this banner of Faith.

With this Faith we are enabled to hold our head high, and to look confidently forward. It brushes all fear from one's path, and clears the vision. It is essential equipment, for though it is a silent force, and one that is unseen, no worthwhile visible achievement is possible without it. I like those

Looking Ahead in Ottawa:

Quebec Liberal Members Will Hold Caucus Tuesday

(By The Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press)

Ottawa, Oct. 31 (CP)—Liberal members of parliament from Quebec will get together at a caucus here Tuesday to discuss plans for improving party organization in Quebec.

The caucus will be held in camera under the chairmanship of Solicitor General Jean, who recently was named Federal Liberal organizer.

Mr. Jean has said that the caucus was called "for general organization" purposes, but he has declined to go into detail.

Election

Acting Prime Minister St Laurent, who represents Quebec East in th Commons, is expected to attend. Some believe that he may drop some hint as to when the next general election will be held.

The life of parliament does not expire until 1950, but Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in Regina Thursday that the next Federal election might be "much sooner" than anyone expects.

The government will be able to test its strength in Quebec within the next few months. Mr. St Laurent announced Friday that a by-election will be held in the constituency of Laval-Two Mountains in time for that riding to be represented at the next session.

The seat was held until last July by Liguori Lacombe, an Independent who was appointed a Quebec Magistrate. The seat is due to disappear at the next Federal election under the provisions of the redistribution act which changed the boundries of many existing constituencies.

Political sources look for an early return to Canada of Transport Minister Chevrier, now in France.

Mr. Chevrier has been heading the Canadian delegation to the United Nations meetings since mid-September. However, External Affairs Minister Pearson flew to Paris during the weekend to take over that leadership and it is felt here Mr. Chevrier might well return.

With Mr. Chevrier's return Trade Minister Howe will surrender the title of acting minister of transport which he has held since Mr. Chevrier left Ottawa.

Norfolk's First Murder Trial In 12 Years

Simcoe, Nov. 1 (CP)—Norfolk County's first murder trial in 12 years gets under way today with Seth Linton, 41-year-old well-digger accused in the gunshot deaths of his brother-in-law, John Kipp, 32, and Lew Stewart, 44, last June 6.

The Linton case heads the list for the county fall assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court. If the grand jury today brings in a true bill requiring Linton to stand trial, presentation of evidence is expected to start tomorrow.

Police charge that the stockily-built, sandy-complexioned Linton shot down Kipp and Stewart in front of his white cottage in Charlotteville Township, two miles west of here, on a Sunday morning.

At the preliminary hearing in late June, witnesses testified that the shooting occurred when Kipp and Stewart went to the cottage with Stewart's wife about 5 a.m. Mrs. Stewart had decided to leave her job as Linton's housekeeper and wanted to take some of her belonging out of the house. Linton apparently refused to admit them and a bitter argument ended in a fusilade of bullets.

Township residents said after the slayings that they had always found Linton a good neighbor and a peaceful, law-abiding man.

Linton has been in jail since the morning Stewart and Kipp died.

Mr. Justice John L. Wilson of the Ontario Supreme Court will preside at the trial of Linton, first man ever to face a double murder charge in the history of Norfolk County.

Often it is that we reach a very low ebb in spirit, before we realize the great power of Faith to uplift and inspire us. Without it we are helpless, and without a sense of direction. With it, however, anything is attemptable.

We are bequeathed this Faith at birth. The child, knowing nothing about it, still is imbued with it. Its outstretched hand will reach for the stronger one, even as we reach for the stronger one that our Creator offers us in times of doubt and worry.

Faith then becomes the substance of all our strength. We must have it. And only as we radiate it does our influence become effective. It's this Faith that literally moves mountains! During these critical days, let us have Faith that right makes might.

Mackenzie's Column:

Ideological War Is Continuous In Japan

By RUSSELL BRINES
(For DeWitt Mackenzie)
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Tokyo, Nov. 1 — (AP)—Japan has not yet reached stability, but it appears almost rock-ribbed by comparison with China.

The differences between the two countries are even greater now than they were a year ago.

In Japan the ideological war is continuous and so are the battles for political power. But under the occupation they are being fought in the bloodless arenas of argument and political manoeuvring.

Even in Shanghai and Hong Kong, far from China's Civil war fronts, it is impossible to escape the violence of China's struggle.

The fall of Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, increased the tension and apprehension in South China.

The Japanese preface their disputes with a recapitulation of their new civil rights, even though they still do not appear to understand them fully. Even the communists talk about these rights.

But in Shanghai the people are in fear of the secret police and the retroactive laws which are designed to enforce the new economic program of austerity and stability.

The Japanese at times appear restless under the occupation. But none except the communists show any marked anti-foreign feelings or betray any attitude which might jeopardize United States aid. Foreign business men are impatiently confident of a future without government controls.

In Shanghai the hostility toward foreigners seems to be part of the atmosphere. American business men in China are extremely pessimistic. They say Chinese policies are crippling them, even though the Chinese themselves admit they need both foreign business and foreign help.

The Japanese have just been shocked by a bribery scandal amounting to $10,000,000. This is considerable, but it appears minute alongside the corruption of many Chinese officials.

As for inflation, prices of essential remain fairly stable in Japan. Everyone knows what happened in China before the government took steps to check run-away inflation. Now there are signs the new gold yuan, issued as a stabilizer, is beginning to skip.

MRS. WISEACRE RISES TO REMARK.

The conductor being obviously an ordinary one horse-and-buggy doctor bumbling amongst the brass specialists that infest America today, it seems that Mrs. Yankee Wiseacre, who had two or three years in college, pities my ineptitutde and does her best to teach me the facts of life. And why not? Mrs. Wiseacre, I say, has had two or three years of college, has two or three children of her own and is perhaps thirty million strong — that is, there are at least that many of her today—there must be, otherwise, how could all the brass specialists prosper as they do?

I betray my lack of experience, as well as my lack of knowledge, Mrs. Wiseacre says, when I imply that spasmodic croup is no longer prevalent. Two of her own children have had it several times. Furthermore she assures me that cold caused it every time. She knows because the heating system in their house did not function well — the temperature went away down in the night, and when it did one or both of the children became croupy. Then after they moved into their newly built home the heating system kept the temperature at an even level night and day, and the children never had the croup again.

But, my dear Mrs. Wiseacre, even I have had as much experience with croup as you have had. The temperature of sleeping rooms may or should be considerably lower than the temperature of living rooms. Every one's sleeping room, infant, child, adult, healthy or invalid, should have at least one window wide open every night in the season when artificial heat is used. A room well ventilated and air-conditioned like that is conducive to sounder, quieter, more refreshing and restorative sleep than infant, child or adult can enjoy in a stuffy, overheated room.

If the weather is stormy, use a full size sash screen or wire or unbleached muslin to admit fresh air and desirable moisture yet excludes rain, snow, wind, dust. Such full size window screens of unbleached muslin have been found ideal for keeping the air of crowded schoolrooms fresh and comfortable through the school-day. The screens do not exclude light. They can be scrubbed with soap and water when they become soiled.

Mrs. Wiseacre's assurance that cold caused her children's croup seems based on the coincidence between the falling of the household temperature at night and the occurrence of the spasm — for croup is spasmodic, that is, the peculiar brassy cough, crow and difficult breathing are all directly due to spasm of muscles of throat and larynx.

Far be it from the likes of me to insinuate that children of Yankee Wiseacres could possibly suffer from nutritional deficiency disease. Perhaps I should venture no farther than the quote Prof. Henry C. Sherman Chemistry of Food and Nutrtition):

"The ordinary mixed diet of American sand Europeans, at least among dwellers in cities and towns, is probably more often deficient in calcium than in other chemical element."

Milk is the richest food source of calcium, and every young child requires not less than 1½ pints of milk a day, or the equivlent in skim milk, cottage or other cheese, buttermilk, cream and other milk products or dishes containing them; of course together with an adequate daily intake of vitamin D or adequate daily exposure of naked skin to sunlight or skylight to manufacture his or her own vitamin D—viamin D being essential for the utilization of calcium in the body.

One of the functions of calcium in physiology is to control neuro-muscular irritability — the tendency to muscle spasm.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Running Ear

Last spring I followed your instructions and cleared up running ear with which I had been troubled for years. (J. C. T.)

Answer—On written request (no clipping please) any reader who provides a self addressed stamped envelope may have the instructions for using the drops for running ear.

Great, Great, Great Grandmother

We have a baby in our family who will not take any canned infant food. So please send me the Brady Baby Book, for which I enclose 25 cents and a stamped self addressed envelope. I am the baby's great, great, great grandmother. (Mrs. M. E. S.)

Answer—A lady never — I'll be happy, happy, happy to send you the complete, complete, complete works of old Doc Brady if you will convince me somehow that six generations can happen. Four generations in one family constitute an achievement. Five would be inspiring. But six—no, no, no, that I'll have to see.

Forget Your Blood Pressure

Man aged 25 years had blood pressure taken. It was 112. The doctor said it should be 122. What is the cause and what.—(A. E. S.)

Answers—Better not take those blood pressure machines seriously. A young man who gets morbid notions about blood pressure or other physiological matters should invest in a physical examination or, as some people call it, a "check-up", and so get an expert opinion as to the state of his health.

Calcium and Rheumatis

I have taken calcium and D for ten weeks as you advise. Have experience a great lessening of the rheumatism, also the most comfortable season I have had in twenty years of hay fever. Should I discontinue the calcium and D now or what? (M.C.S.)

Dutch Leaders In Oyster Culture

Edmonton (CP) —Pearls don't come from oysters at all. So says Dr. Peter Kerringa of The Netherlands government fisheries laboratories. The "pearl oyster" isn't an oyster, but a member of another family.

Dr. Kerringa, a graduate of the University of Amsterdam, is in Canada to talk over the pearl industry with Canadian businessmen. He took time out during a visit to Edmonton to explode another popular belief. The "pearl" oyster-lovers sometimes find when eating is just a piece of worthless calcite.

But believers in the saying that oysters should only be eaten in months with an 'r' in the name are right, Dr. Kerringa says. Oysters breed during the summer months and are then inedible. Oysters reach the peak of their popularity during the Christmas season in Holland, one of the world's leading oyster exporters.

Oysters for Christmas

They are part of most Christmas dinners in The Netherlands and a good eater can consume two dozen at a meal.

Dr. Kerringa says oyster culture in Holland is appropriate business. Many oyster farmers are quite wealthy.

Canada and the United States are 'far behind' Holland in oyster culture, except for parts of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, Dr. Kerringa says.

In Holland, oysters are planted in huge beds, and in the 78 years the industry has been producing many special strains have been developed in search of the most edible variety.

Countries of Commonwealth, Without Exception, Building Defences to Meet Threat of War

This is the last of six Canadian press stories surveying the defence preparations of Britain and the Dominions. It describes the position of each country in the over-all picture of Commonwealth defence.

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The countries of the Commonwealth — without exception—are building their defences to meet the threat of war.

So far the process has been just begun.

No unit of the Commonwealth can be called even half-prepared.

Each member has agreed to take "all appropriate measures to deter and resist aggression."

Those are the main features of the Commonwealth defence picture less than 3½ years after the Second World War ended.

Put "Germany" in place of "Russia" and you're back to 1938 —but appeasement as a road to peace has been discarded.

Britain, population centre of the Commonwealth, is leading the Dominions along the new course which they hope will lead, through strength, to peace.

She is the only Commonwealth country with peacetime conscription. She has stopped the post-war demobilization and launched a recruiting drive for her regular forces. She is putting warships back on active service, speeding the output of weapons for the army, strengthening the R.A.F. with the latest of jet planes.

How Filling Gap

This series of stories, prepared by Canadian Press and Reuter staff reporters, has shown how each Dominion is starting to fill the gap:

Canada — Next door to Russia, Canada is gradually tightening her own defences but must rely heavily on the prospective benefits of collective security moves, particularly among the Commonwealth. the United States and Western Europe. No great increase in the regular forces of fewer than 40,000 men is anticipated.

Australia — Main Commonwealth bastion in the South Pacific, Australia has accepted greater responsibility for Commonwealth security there. She is concentrating on weapons research and expansion of war industries.

New Zealand — Allied closely with Australia in regional defence planning, the smallest Dominion (pop. 1,700,000) is reported ready to introduce a peacetime call-up.

India — Defence plans call for bigger forces, better service training and more output in defence industry. An "armed forces liaison and procurement organization" has been created in London to keep in touch with British service developments.

Pakistan — Prime Minister Liaqat Ali Khan has said defence "dominates all other governmental activities" and "we shall not grudge spending any amount on the defence of the country."

South Africa — Now that Britain has withdrawn from Palestine and Egypt, South Africa might in another war become the Commonwealth's main African stronghold. The services are being brought to full strength; industry has been given an official hint it must prepare for war production; and communications with the rest of Africa are going to be improved.

Some Weaknesses

But while Britain and the Dominions apparently are working closely in preparations for possible war, these reports from Commonwealth capitals have shown up some possible weaknesses in the long-term defence chain.

South Africa decided on early participation in the Second World War by only the narrowest parliamentary margin. Three-fifths of her white population are descendants of Britain's adversaries in the Boer War. Her government represents this strong nationalist element.

In Capetown, there is no doubt that the union is ready to take an active part in African defence generally.

India is a Commonwealth country now, with full Dominion status. But the constituent assembly has stated that the aim is ultimately to establish a "sovereign, independent republic."

Even with South Africa and India fully in the defence plan, the strategic communications line between Britain and the antipodes is weaker now than before the war.

Burma has quit the Commonwealth. And Britain has withdrawn from Palestine and Egypt, keystones previously in defence of the Mediterranean shipping lane.

By D. GRAHAM STEWART
(In the Regina Leader-Post)

The horse is a good swimmer and he moves through the water very smoothly. I saw a hundred horses swim half way across the lake and back at Fort Qu'Appelle once and it gave me quite a thrill to watch them.

An old grey mare was their leader. They were in a strange pasture bordering on the lake and she was homesick! She led the band down to the water and, after a few swallows, with her ears pricked she walked deliberately out beyond the shallow water and headed in a bee line for the opposite shore which was a good mile away.

She had a seven weeks old foal at her side and a yearling colt following her. They never hesitated but followed her closely, as did every horse in that band. Ears pricked, eyes gleaming as much as to say, "I don't know where the old girl thinks she is going, but I guess it's all right. Away they all went, just like a brood of great ducks in V formation with the ripples streaming out behind them.

Another fellow and myself were on horseback and we had just about made up our minds to ride around to the other side of the lake so as to head them off when they came ashore, when for some inexplicable reason the old grey leader swam around in a wide circle and headed back to the very spot where she took to the water.

Perhaps her foal was tiring— they had been in the water for 15 or 20 minutes, or she made up her mind the distance across was too great. Anyway they all emerged safely and if you ever saw a slick looking lot of horses you did then. The sun shining on their soaking coats made them look like bronze and ebony, gold and silver. It didn't take them long to change their appearance, however. A couple of shakes and a roll in the and and the transformation was complete!

NEGLECT AT BIRTH VERDICT

Sydney, N.S., Oct. 30 (CP)—A coroner's jury Friday night returned a verdict of neglect at birth as cause of death of a male infant whose body was found in a brook near here Friday.

Both city police and R.C.M.P are continuing investigation.

Dr. Carmen D'Intino told the jury the child bled to death from a severed navel cord and was dead when placed in the water.

HISTORIC BARRACKS NOT TO BE SOLD

Welland, Oct. 30 (CP)—The Dominion government will not dispose of the 148-year-old historic Butlers Barracks at Niagara-on-the-Lake, it was announced Friday. The barracks used by Canadian forces in every war the country has waged since 1870, will be preserved as an historical site.

Back in Order, Northern Italy Calls Tourists

By FRANK O'BRIEN

Rome — (AP) — Northern Italy is back to normal for the tourist.

Two years ago the famed north —beloved since the Middle Ages by travellers for the beauty and variety of its sea and mountain scenery — was a sad wreckage of war.

Bridges hung broken into a thousand streams or rivers, hotels were bombed out or requisitioned by occupation armies, roads were pot-holed, electric, gas and water supplies were erratic, whole resorts were blasted almost out of existence.

This correspondent has just made a tour of the north, from Rome to Genoa, Turin, Bolzano, Rimini and back to Rome. The news is that things are almost miraculously back in order.

The tour was made in a 10-ton bus, pulling a 1½-ton trailer. Almost everywhere the bus rolled on smooth concrete, asphalt or stone. Even when we left the main roads, it had no difficulty on the well-kept, crushed-rock roadway.

In places, entire settlements have been rebuilt. One is the Rimini-Riccione beach resort. Both towns were almost wiped out in prolonged fighting and bombing. Even streets had to be remade.

New and Shining

Today almost everything looks new, shining and, in fact, is mostly only a few months old. Sometimes it is new mortar, stone, board and paint over a salvaged frame. Often, it is a new structure built on the old site. Only an occasional sagging building — usually government property — remains to recall the recent destruction.

The armies are all gone and all the hotels are wide open to tourists.

Trains run on frequent, fast schedules. Since the end of the war, Italy has built a large number of buses, some of them among the biggest in the world. They reach almost everywhere into the mountains.

Italy is not cheap. Neither, except for gasoline, is it very expensive. Good hotel rooms, with bath, can be had for from $2 to $3 a day almost anywhere. Room and board can be had for the same in smaller boarding-house-hotels.

Gasoline costs about 80 cents a gallon bought by coupon(the traveller gets coupons for almost 80 gallons a month). It can be found without difficulty on the black market for about $1.60 a gallon.

Meals in second-class restaurants that often have the best food can cost anywhere from 70 cents to $3, depending what you eat. Food is uniformly good. All the trimmings are there for the asking.

Service is still good, though the bowing-and-scraping type is scarce. But the Italian is naturally a friendly person, and the traveller usually is made to feel welcome.

Six Students Too Late to Enter Arts Faculty

Montreal, Oct. 30. (CP)—Six McGill University students who toured Europe last Summer will not be allowed to enter the Arts' faculty this term because of the lateness of their return here, Dean F. N. Fieldhouse of the Arts and Science Faculty said Friday

Decision to refuse their application to enroll was taken not on the basis of political affiliation but on faculty regulations, Dean Fieldhouse said.

The six were members of the "Beaver Brigade" of Canadian students. Some members of the "Beaver Brigade" have been called Communists.

The dean said there was nothing to prevent the students from applying for registration for "half-term course" that start next January and making up for lost time later.

Three Beaver Brigade students applying for late admission to other faculties of the university were allowed to register.

SEPTEMBER ACCIDENTS

Toronto, Oct. 30 (CP)—During September, 32 fatal and 16,842 non-fatal accidents were covered by the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board officials said Friday. In the same month last year, the comparative totals were 25 killed and 14,644 injured.

Village of King Plans to Have Landing Strips

V.O.N. NEWS

"Mary is back from the hospital now," Helen told her mother. Mary lived next door, whose illness had caused the whole neighborhood much concern, for she had a family of small children, and her husband's business carried him out of town.

"Mary has to have a hypodermic injection daily, for some time to come and it's a great problem who is going to give her the needle.

"The children of course," put in Helen's mother, "are too small to be of any assistance. My, what will she ever do?"

"Well I told her I'd be glad to do it, but there again, I wouldn't be able to help her those days when I'm away. There has to be a certain amount of skill in giving the needle.

"I suppose she's not able to go down to the doctor's office to have it done?"

"Goodness, no. The doctor says she must not go out for some weeks ...there's the phone ... Helen went off to answer it, and when she returned her face was bright with good news. "That was Mary," she explained, "and thanks to the V.O.N. her problem is solved. The doctor phoned this morning to say he is sending a V.O.N. over to her now. She will come as often as she is needed."

"My, that is a blessing, surely!"

The V.O.N. offers such nursing service, not only to patients just out of the hospital, but to those who are ill at home and need the services, such as the V.O.N. are able to and gladly render. They will never fail you, if you need them and you may contact them hourly, at 1125.

Homemaker Dept. Report Given By Supervisor

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Belleville Red Cross branch held on Thursday a report of the Homemaker Service from its inception last January was given by the supervisor Mrs. J. A. Buchanan.

To date eighty-one cases have been handled, involving the care of 189 children. Twenty-four other cases have been investigated and numerous other enquiries answered. One full-time Homemaker and seven part-time Homemakers are employed. The treasurer, Mr. Lancaster, reported that expenses have been $3,285 and receipts $1,387.

No delegation from this branch visited the Whitney Outpost Hospital (our adoption) this summer but Mrs. Buchanan reported having called there in August while repairs were being made, and Mr Chamberlain reported having dropped in during September and seeing good use being made of the $400 donation from this Branch towards repairs to the building.

A request from headquarters that a liaison member between Junior Red Cross and the local branch be appointed resulted in the appointment of Mrs. Watt, school nurse for the public school Red Cross and Miss Dwyer for B.C.I.V.S.

The treasurer reported bills amounting to $1,807.55.

The Women's Work Committee reported being greatly handicapped in their sewing and knitting quotas, owing to the renovations at the Court House. More convenient work rooms would result in a better response to the continual requests from Red Cross headquarters for supplies for Britain.

Long Unbroken Line in Dress Said Essential

Toronto, Nov. 1 — (CP) — A long unbroken line somewhere in a dress — either from shoulder to hip or from waist to hem — is essential in a well-planned costume, Indiana designer Norman Norell says.

He told an interviewer that no costume can be attractive unless it emphasizes either the contour of the torso or the grace of a woman's walk. But no dress should be tight all over or loose all over.

An uncluttered neckline is important. A small, round collar with a pearl choker is best.

P-C's Will Choose New Leader At April Convention

Toronto, Nov. 1 — (CP) — A new leader will be chosen by the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association at a convention next April 25-27.

Meantime Premier Thomas L. Kennedy will lead the government through the next session of the Legislature, expected to start in February. Mr. Kennedy, 70, who stepped up from agriculture minister when George Drew resigned to become national leader of the party, said upon taking office that he would not be a candidate at the next provincial convention.

A meeting of 496 delegate members of the Provincial Association set the April convention date Saturday in deliberations behind closed doors. The gathering voted down an amendment to hold the leadership convention Dec. 6-8, a proposal which received a scant sprinkling of support.

Maj. John Weir Foote, the wartime padre who won the Victoria Cross at Dieppe and who represents Durham in the Ontario legislature, moved the resolution for the spring convention. He and his seconder, F. G. Gardiner of Toronto, argued that an early convention would be an affront to Mr. Kennedy while an intervening session would test the qualities of leadership aspirants.

Wanted December Date

Park Jamieson of Sarnia and Donald MacLaren of Simcoe Centre were the only delegates to speak in favor of the December date.

Mr. Jamieson argued there was plenty of time to organize the gathering. He said that the province should not have to wait until April to have a "permanent government." He and Mr. MacLaren both argued that strong leadership was essential for the spring session with opposition parties stronger in the legislature than in the last three years.

The by-election will be held Dec. 9 in Parry Sound to fill the seat left vacant by the death of Charles W. Cragg, a Progressive Conservative, Premier Kennedy announced after the meeting. The death last month of John Carrere, also a Progressive Conservative, caused a vacancy in Cochrane North but the by-election in that northern riding has been postponed to spring.

McKinnons Start Operations After 15 Weeks Layoff

St. Catharines, Nov. 1 (CP) — The giant plant of McKinnon Industries, Limited, was scheduled to resume production today with the end of a 15-weeks strike that threatened to shut down Windsor and Oshawa plants of the parent General Motors Corporation.

Nearly 1,500 employees—members of striking Local 199 of the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.)—voted overwhelmingly Saturday to accept a compromise wage offer and go back to work.

Both union and company officials said they were happy with the settlement that gave the men wage increases ranging from 12 to 15 cents an hour.

The strike cost the 2,650 employees and estimated $1,775,000 in lost wages and union officials said the U.A.W. spent $200,000 in strike benefits. The union paid strikers $12.50 weekly during the strike, with an extra $1.50 for each child and had met fuel, rent, light and water bills.

Settlement would almost certainly end the company's prosecution against the Union. With Ontario Labor Relations Board permission, the company charged the Union with conducting an illegal strike and had begun legal proceedings. The case had not been heard and a company spokesman said they would ask the magistrate to drop the charge.

The settlement was reached Friday after long negotiations between the company, union and government officials. It was referred to a membership meeting which voted 1,115 to 171 to accept it.

It began July 14 when the men struck for a wage boost of 25-cents an hour. The company offered 12 cents and later the Union cut its demands to 18 cents.

The terms of settlement will give the largest group of workers—piece workers and those in the company's group bonus plan—increases of 13 cents an hour, but adjustments in the bonus plan will give bonus workers an average of 15.6 cents an hour. For day-rate employees, the increase will range from 12 cents to 15 cents.

The agreement runs to Nov. 1, 1949.

90 CHICKENS LOST IN FIRE

Seaforth, Nov. 1 (CP) — Fire early today razed a building owned by the Seaforth Produce Company here. Machinery and about 90 chickens were lost in the blaze.

Charles Woods, Seaforth, first noticed flames breaking through the roof. He sounded the alarm but the blaze had made too much progress and efforts of the local fire department were to no avail. The building was used for killing chickens for cold storage. Damage was not assessed.

Winnipeg — (CP) — There's a crack-down in store for husbands who fail to pay their alimony, predicts Judge Emerson Heaney of Winnipeg's Family Court.

He says the number of men who refuse or neglect to pay for the maintenance of their wives and children once they are separated is increasing.

"It's getting to a point where some of the men are being sent to jail for two weeks and a month. There's far too much of it going on. It's tough for a woman with one, two and three children to make a go of it when there's no money coming into the household.

"It's going to be stamped out. Some of these men are going to jail until they learn they must obey the maintenance orders and keep paying their wives as long as they have separation papers."

The situation arises when a couple has an argument which results in one of them filing separation papers in Family Court. Judge Heaney hears both sides and gives his decision.

If he grants a separation order, the judge finds out where the husband works and how much he earns. A sum is fixed which the husband must pay, either into court or directly to the wife, for her maintenance and that of the children.

Provided the wives receive their money, nothing more is said by them or by the court. But if the money stops coming in, the wife informs Judge Heaney of the non-support.

The husband is brought into court and an attempt is made to settle the money matter.

"In a lot of cases," says Judge Heaney, "the husband leaves the office saying he will again continue payments. But the fact is he has no intention of paying."

Appeals to Privy Council Should Be Abolished

—Rinfret

Hull, Que., Nov. 1 (CP)—Chief Justice Rinfret of the Supreme Court of Canada says appeals to the Privy Council should be abolished.

In a speech before the Quebec Rural Bar Association Saturday, he said he believed Canada was "big enough" to hope for autonomy in the matter of appeals to the Privy Council.

The Supreme Court of Canada should be Canada's final court of Appeal.

"The Privy Council seems to be lacking comprehension of the Canadian legal administration with the passing years," Mr. Justice Rinfret said. "In fact, the Supreme Court has often ruled in favor of the provinces, whereas the Privy Council has reversed these decision because of lack of comprehension."

He urged Quebec members of the Bar to "come before the Supreme Court and have no fears of pleading before us."

French-speaking lawyers, he felt, had special aptitudes for practising law. The Latin mentality, the logic and the methods of Quebec lawyers made them superior to others in the province as well as to those in the rest of Canada.

"Come often before the Supreme Court of Canada. Your cases will receive the same attention as those of your English-speaking conferes. In fact, they will receive more attention since my English-speaking colleagues on the bench are thoroughly familiar with the French language."

He commended delegates, completing a three-day annual convention, for their excellent work on behalf of the legal profession throughout the province.

'Mums' and 'Dads' Prepare to Visit Girls in Canada

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 1 (CP)—Thoughts of a "some-day" trip to Canada or the United States may soon become realities for thousands of British "mums" and "dads."

The parents of girls who married Canadian and American servicemen during the war, some want to go just for a visit, some perhaps to stay. And with an effort now becoming national through the United States and Canadian War Brides Parents' Association, that "some day" looks considerably closer.

The idea was born two years ago at Oxford and spread through England and Wales. The organization now embraces more than 4,000 members, not including clubs in Scotland yet to be affiliated to the national body.

A similar organization has been established in Holland where hundreds of Canadians married Dutch girls during the war. The Dutch Association hopes to organize a Canadian agency to enable Dutch wives in Canada to save for trips to Holland.

In Britain branches of the U. S. C. B. P. A.—they're looking for a shorter name — are autonomous and control their own funds. Many a pound of rationed tea and butter and jars of jam from the meagre larders of members go toward success of social functions through which funds are being built up. Most clubs also have plans through which members can save individually toward a trip.

Most members just want to see their daughters again. But to some Canada, described in letters from daughters now spread from Halifax to Victoria, holds a special appeal as a country in which to settle. It is like that with Noble who plans next year to visit his daughter, Mrs. B. Perry of Toronto.

"I don't think I'll come back," he said.

ACTRESS LOSES KEEPSAKE

Toronto, Nov. 1 (CP) — Film star Madeleine Carroll today offered a reward for a small diamond pin she lost in downtown Toronto. Miss Carroll, here to appear in a stage play, said she treasured the pin as a keepsake.

CEMENT CLUE LEFT

Canadians Place Wreath on Tomb Unknown Soldier

Paris, Nov. 1 (CP) — Before a small crowd in the famed Palace De L'Etoile, Lionel Chevrier, head of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations, placed a small wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, under the Arc De Triomphe.

Virtually the entire Canadian delegation and other prominent Canadian officials attended. They included Senator Wishart Robertson, leader of the government in the Senate; Ralph Maybank, assistant health minister; Hughes LaPointe, assistant defence minister; Col. Dollard Menard, Canadian military attache in Paris, and Group Captain Douglas Edward, Canadian air attache here.

The ceremony under sullen skies consisted of a salute to the flag, signing a golden book and the playing by French bands of "O Canada," "Aux Morts" and "La Marseillaise."

Underdog Clubs in N.H.L. Make Hay in Weekend Games, Rangers, Hawks Win First

(By The Canadian Press)

The underdog clubs made weekend hay in the National Hockey League at Boston and Detroit lost their first games of the season and Chicago and New York hit the win column for the first time.

When it was all over Detroit Red Wings still were atop the league, two points ahead of Boston Bruins.

Detroit dropped to Toronto 2-1 Saturday, but came back to the top with a 4-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens Sunday.

Boston and Montreal battled to a 3-3 overtime tie Saturday then Bruins bowed 2-0 before the fifth-place New York Rangers.

Chicago Black Hawks, after five straight losses, scored with 11 second remaining to dump Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 in Chicago Sunday.

Doug Bentley was the hero of the weekend. It was his goal — scored at 19:49 of the third period after Bill Bosienko and Doug McCaig took the puck behind the Toronto defence—that gave Bill Tobin's hapless Hawks their first win of the year.

Before that it had been a close defensive game with Les Costello putting the Leafs ahead in the first period on passes from Flem Backell and Ted Kennedy. Bob Goldman tied the score in the second on a desperate shot from just inside the blue line.

Kennedy Scores both

Kennedy scored both goals Saturday when Toronto beat Detroit. He put Leafs ahead in the first period on a pass from Max Bentley while Red Wings Leo Reise served a tripping penalty. And he sank the winner in the third period on a pass from Gus Mortson.

Ted Lindsay got the Detroit score, two minutes after Kennedy's first goal, while each team was a man short.

Warwick Leads Bruins

Grant Warwick led the Bruins into their 3-3 tie with Canadiens Saturday. He scored twice and passed to Pete Babando for the tying goal with less than two minutes left.

Ken Mosdell, Billy Reay and Glen Harmon scored for Canadiens as Boston came from behind three times to square the score.

The tie snapped Bruins winning streak at four games, then New York surprised by stopping the Bruins completely Sunday.

Nick Mickoski got Rangers first goal in the second period and rookie Clint Albright the other midway in the final period.

The whole N.H.L. crew—but Toronto and members of last year's all-star squad—now rest until Saturday. Meanwhile Toronto, Stanley Cup holders, meets the rest of the league in the annual All-Star game in Chicago Wednesday.

Seven Junior Football Teams Still in Race

(By The Canadian Press)

Seven junior football teams are battling towards the first official Canadian junior final since 1933 and the first official east-west final since 1932.

In the west, it's been narrowed down to Vancouver Blue Bombers, who won an unofficial east-west final last year, Winnipeg Rods and Saskatoon hilltops.

Vancouver smashed Calgary Tornadoes 29-12 Saturday in a western semi-final and now play the winner of the Winnipeg - Saskatoon series.

Saskatoon, Saskatchewan champions for the last two years, defeated Winnipeg 22-7 in the first of their two-goal total point series.

Wildcats and Westmount tangle next week in the eastern semi-finals, with the winner meeting the Ontario Union junior champions. Point Edward and Hamilton Tigers play next weekend for the O.R.F.U. title.

Wildcats won the little Big Four title by downing St. Catharines Rams 17-0 in a sudden death final and in the Quebec Union final Westmount edged Notre Dame De Grace Maple Leafs 8-7.

University of Toronto beat Moose Jaw for the Canadian title in 1932, the last year the east-west final was recognized by the Canadian Rugby Union. In an all-eastern C.R.U. final the following year Toronto Argonauts beat Montreal Westwards.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

To J. H. C. — Dempsey knocked out Firpo at the Polo Grounds, New York City on September 14, 1923. We have no record of the battle but Arthur Daley, sports editor of the New York Times wrote a colorful story of the fight. Here it is—and we hope you enjoy it as much as we did.

• • •

This was a primitive battle which sent the huge crowd bolting to its feet in the first electrifying moment, never daring to sit down again until it had ended dramatically after three minutes and fifty-seconds of ferocious excitement. In that short space of time Firpo had been felled ten times, the champion twice, including his precipitate journey over the ropes and out of the ring. There never has been a fight which could come even close to matching it.

• • •

They were marked studies in contrast as they faced each other for the first time under the floodlights of the Polo Grounds ring. Firpo had been billed as the "Wild Bull of the Pampas" even though he had only been a clerk in a Buenos Aires drug-store before he sought fame and fortune with his fists. He was a frowning giant of a man with enormous strength. At 216 1-2 pounds he was a hairy Goliath of terrifying mein. Twenty-four pounds lighter, the Manassa Mauler appeared little more than a slender boy even though he was a boy of the Dead End Kid stripe.

• • •

• • •

More startled than hurt and more angry than anything else, the champion leaped instantly to his feet without a count being tolled. The roar of the crowd never diminished in its thunderous intensity for the remainder of the bout. The prideful Dempsey bored in with his terrific left hook. Firpo took it unblinkingly and, what's more, fired a pile-driver right to Jack's jaw a return. The Mauler's left crashed home and down went the Wild Bull for the first time but bounced right up again, rage in his eyes. Fury drove his right and Dempsey reeled from the impact. But Firpo had left himself open and the champion's hook knocked him down. At the count of two he was up only to be toppled once more for a count of three.

• • •

There was a maniacal exchange of punches and down went Firpo. As the referee tolled seven, the huge Argentinian quivered and in perfectly inexplanable fashion found the strength to arise. Dempsey stood over him, hammering him down thrice more the instant his knee left the floor. Neutral corner? Don't be silly. This was strictly in the barroom brawl tradition.

• • •

The hulking Firpo was battered and spent, but his blazing spirit hadn't even been dented. Dempsey, always the killer stormed in for the kill. Then it happened. This huge Argentinian, who didn't know he was licked, threw his round-house right and it landed flush on the jaw of the onrushing Dempsey. It sent the champion flying over the ropes and out of the ring. Friendly newspaper men helped push him back in and, although the official count was nine, some insist it was actually twice that.

• • •

The dread Manassa Mauler was so far gone that he couldn't defend himself but Firpo, the imperturbable one, lost his head and threw one wild punch after another as Jack held on for dear life until the bell. In the second round the Wild Bull was bewildered by his prosperity for a moment until the raging tiger opposite him took charge in his usual merciless fashion. Down went Firpo for a count of two. Down he went for a count of four. Down he went for a count of ten.

• • •

WEEKEND WHIMSIES

The Wrambling Wraiths wearing to the gold of Cobourg won the ORFU Intermediate group on Saturday when they atomiced the Trenton RCAF Flyers under a 27-0 score... Whatever Cobourg needed imports for is more than we can figure out as they've made a walkaway out of their grouping ...How they will stack up in the playdowns, of course, is another story...Western's Mustangs came through as expected against the Gaels of Queen's up in their home corral, blasting the Tricolor 23-8 to give the mythical Major Hoople of Kingston the fourth scarlet visage of the season...Likewise the Varsity Blues proved their sensational win of a week ago McGill Redmen 33-0 in a most convincing fashion... Now comes the big game...The Queen's at McGill session on Nov. 13 will be overshadowed by the mighty Western-Varsity game scheduled for Toronto on the same date...Football's royalty pair, King Krol and Royal Copeland were back in harness again Saturday and as a result a crowd of over 13,-000 loyal Montrealers saw a startling upset when their Alouettes went down under the Argo offensive 24-11 to give the Sailors another kick at the playoff kitty...National Hockey Leag underdogs, Rangers and Chihawks came through with wins over the weekend, the pesky Hawks scoring the winning counter over Maple Leafs in Chicago Sunday night to cop the one-goal victory...While Rangers dewhiskered the Bruins on Sunday...Leafs split over the weekend by defeating the Wings 2-1 Saturday...If its any satisfaction to the Trenton Flyers baseball team, Harrow knocked off Fort Erie in two straight games to win the OBA Intermediate "B" title... Score was 9-3 in the second tilt...Angy Defelice got himself an assist for the Galt Rockets in their defeat by Windsor, Saturday...Sam Curry is expecting a good turnout at the OMHA Referee's Forum scheduled for Kiwanis Centre here come Friday night.

The Grey Cup final should be different this year.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers won't be there and Toronto Argonauts have a long, long way to go to make the east-west championship game.

Bombers, annual Western champions since 1936, were shoved from the picture by Saskatchewan Roughriders who beat Bombers 16-7 to take the Western Conference's second playoff spot. Riders now meet Calgary Stampeders in the West final.

In a return to their old form, Argos beat Montreal Alouettes 24-11. But to make the Big Four playoffs Argos must beat the powerful Ottawa Rough Riders next Saturday and Hamilton Wildcats must beat Lew Hayman's Alouettes.

In games that meant nothing but reputations and gate receipts, Ottawa staggered past Hamilton Wildcats 18-5 and Hamilton Tigers wound up the Ontario Union schedule with a 41-9 drubbing of Windsor Rockets.

Toronto Beaches Indians had qualified for the O.R.F.U. playoffs by beating Imperials 22-1 Friday.

Toronto and Hamilton start a best-of-three series for the League championship Friday in Toronto, with the next games scheduled for Hamilton, Nov. 13 and Nov. 17.

Write New Page

The powerful University of Western Ontario Mustangs wrote a new page in Canadian football history by surviving a shaky start to beat Queen's 23-9, their 26th Consecutive game without a loss. It tied a 26-game record set by Queen's teams in the early 1920's.

University of Toronto smashed McGill for the second straight week. The 33-0 victory put Varsity in second place in Intercollegiate standings.

Holding a 13-11 halftime lead, Argos rolled up 11 more points in the second half. Big Frank Dunlap plunged for three touchdowns. Joe Krol added eight points on two placements, a convert and a rouge and his passes to Royal Copeland, Fred Doty, Jack Wedley and Pete Titanic set up the touchdown plays.

Hamilton Wildcats moved into a 4-0 half-time lead over Ottawa on Bill Murmylyk's placement and Ralph Larue's single. Then Tony Golab crossed the line twice in the third quarter and Pete Finlay was end man on an 85-yard lateral-passing play that paid off with a major. Eric Chipper converted the three touchdowns.

Three touchdowns by Jack Harper and Frank Filchock's deadly passing highlighted Tigers easy victory over Windsor Rockets who haven't won a game this year.

Had Better Record

Roughriders and Blue Bombers ended the season tied in the western circuit with three wins each. But Roughriders better scoring record sent them into the playoffs against the undefeated Calgary Stampeders.

It was a costly victory that Western won over Gaels—halfback Bob McFarlane suffered a broken collarbone early in the first quarter and won't play again this year. His brother, Don, had missed the game with a sore leg. Quarterback Al Lenard of Queen's received a broken nose near the end of the game.

Fleet Jack Parry racked up a touchdown and three converts to lead Western.

A weak McGill line was snowed under by rejuvenated Varsity who lead 12-0 at the end of the first quarter and never were in danger. The Blues racked up five converted touchdowns, a safety touch, and a rouge. Tommy Waldon got two majors, John Chorestecki, Ed Huycke and Bruce Cummings got one each.

Galloping Ghosts Ground Flyers By 27-0 Score

Trenton, Nov. 1—Cobourg Galloping Ghosts ran riot against Trenton RCAF Flyers here Saturday, winning 27-0 to take the championship of their ORFU Intermediate "A" group. The Ghosts now glide into the ORFU playdowns.

Led by Ireland Quigley, fleet half, who scampered for two touch-downs, the Ghosts had the Flyers on the defensive all the way. Quigley's majors came off forwards. On the first, he took a 40-yard heave from Jack Jamieson and on the other he grabbed an over-the-goal-line pass from Bob Cooper, quarter and playing coach.

Another touchdown came when outside Bill Douglas intercepted a Trenton forward and galloped 40 yards. Cooper also grabbed a forward intended for a Flyer and raced 25 yards over the line. Three converts by Art Brandwood and two safety touches completed the scoring.

Doug Bulloch, Segurdson and Geddes were best for Trenton. Cobourg completed 11 of 19 passes, and Trenton two of six.

Oshawa Generals Hand Teepees First Defeat

(By The Canadian Press)

The not-so-strong Oshawa Generals handed the high-flying St. Catharines Tepees a 5-2 beating Saturday — breaking Tepees' undefeated streak of seven wins and a tie.

It was shifty Dick Gamble who spelled trouble for St. Kitt's. He nabbed three goals in nine minutes of an overtime period after both teams battled to a 2-2 deadlock in regulation play.

Tepees still lead the Ontario Hockey Association junior pack with a comfortable five-point margin over the second-place Windsor Spitfires.

In other junior games Saturday, Toronto St. Michael's College Majors defeated Stratford Kroehlers 6-3 to move into fourth place, while the third-place Barrie Flyers needed an overtime period to dispose of the cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros 4-3. Windsor Spitfires made it five-for-five by defeating Galt Rockets 3-1 in a rough contest that saw 31 penalties handed out.

In the senior loop, Hamilton Tigers maintained their leading margin when they defeated Stratford Indians 3-2 in overtime play. Tigers lead the second-place Owen Sound Mercurys by four points with a total of 12.

Oshawa opened the scoring in the first period when Red Stephen beat netminder Don Campbell on a close-in shot. St. Kitt's tied it up in the second frame, Fred Hildebrand scoring on Frank Sullivan's pass. Ron Switzer got the equalizer in the third period.

St. Michael's, paced by rugged Tim Horton and Bud Marshall, perked up in the third period to dispose of Stratford Kroehlers.

Joe Bragagnola started Stratford off, blasting a close-in shot past goaler Tommy Shea in the first stanza. Don Rope and Horton put the Irish ahead early in the second frame with two quick goals. Joe Beda got the equalizer minutes later.

Robertson in Fine Form

In the third period, Ray Corcoran nipped a goal to give the Irish the lead again. Then Jimmy Pernfuss flipped a loose puck past Shea on a goal-mouth scramble to tie it up.

Barrie counted twice — once in the first period and once in the second — before Marlies answered. With Armstrong always on the offensive and displaying a neat backchecking job, Marlies grabbed the lead with two goals only to have flyers tie it up.

Split Pair of Goals

After a scoreless first period, the teams split a pair of goals in the second period, Dillon Brady scoring for Tigers and George Blake for Indians. Johnny Conick and Miocinovich gave Tigers a temporary lead in the third stanza. Blake got his second goal to tie it up again and Miocinovich's winning goal followed.

Toronto Marlboros, seeking their first win of the season in five starts, have had to settle for two tie games with Owen Sound. They deadlocked 1-1 in Toronto Friday night.

With 45 seconds remaining in the overtime period, lanky Johnny McCormick beat Tommy McGrattan to get the equalizer.

Toronto scored the only goal of the first period, Chuck Blair nothching the counter on a pass from Ray Timgren. They slipped four goals in the second frame, Tommy Burlington and Buck Forslund scoring for Mercurys and Timgren and Johnson counting for Marlies.

Third Shutout Of Year Scored By Goalie Almas

(By The Canadian Press)

St. Louis Flyers, Buffalo Bisons and the New Haven Ramblers marked up overwhelming victories over their opponents in the American Hockey League Sunday night.

Goalie Ralph (Red) Almas came through with his third shutout of the season as the Flyers swamped Indianapolis 6-0. Buffalo whitewashed Washington 10-0 with goalie Connie Dion getting his second shutout. New Haven took Philadelphia for a 10-5 trouncing.

Jerry Brown's goal in the final 21 seconds of play gave Hershey Bears a 3-2 victory over Providence Reds while Cleveland Barons edged out Pittsburgh Hornets 3-2.

Saturday's Games:

Barry Sullivan scored his second and winning goal with less than two minutes to play as St. Louis Flyers defeated Cleveland Barons 6-5. Other St. Louis goal-getters were Steve Raynak, Sullivan, Don Grosso and Lloyd Doran, Fred Thurier, Bus Wycherley, Gordie Davidson, Johnny Holota and Pete Leswick tallied for the losers.

Two goals by Andy Branigan and singles by Herb Cain, Mark Marquess, Rolly McLenahan, Gordie Bruce, Phil Maloney, Norm Larson, Dave Creighton and Frank Mario gave Hershey Bears a 10-4 verdict over Philadelphia Rockets. Phil Hergesheimer, Johnny Mahaffy, Kenny Kilrea and George Defelice got a counter apiece for the Rockets.

Washington Lions trounced Springfield 5-3 with N. McAtee getting a pair of markers for the winners. Babey, Porteous and McGuire also scored for the Lions. Gooden, Summerhill and Kaiser racked up one apiece for Springfield.

Pittsburgh Hornets defeated New Haven Ramblers 3-1. Second-period goals by Ray Ceresino and Eldie Kobussen gave the Hornets their margin of victory after Bill Benson slipped them into a 1-0 lead early in the first stanza. Sherm White notched the New Haven goal in the middle session.

Will Set Date For Ontario P.-C. Convention

Toronto, Nov. 1 (CP) — Delegate members of the Progressive Conservative Association came to Toronto Saturday to name a date for a convention to choose a provincial leader to succeed George Drew, who resigned after his recent election to the party's national leadership.

The meeting was scheduled for 2 p.m. Officials said it would be held behind closed doors and that alternate delegates and the press would not be admitted. A statement on the decision was issued after the meeting.

General expectation is that the meeting will decide to hold the convention in the spring, after the 1949 session of the Legislature.

Two Applications For Franchises In Border Loop

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Nov. 1 (AP) —Two new applications for franchises in the Class C Border Baseball League were received Sunday at a meeting of the league directors.

The directors of the six-team loop deferred action on the applications until the next meeting in January. The applications were from Cornwall and Corning, N.Y.

John G. Ward of Ogdensburg president since the league started in 1946, was re-elected. He also was named to the posts of secretary and treasurer.

Ward reported that the Geneva, Ottawa and Watertown clubs which have been in the league since it started, will operate next year. He said the Kingston club probably would remain in the loop.

The Ogdensburg Maples, which won the league playoffs this year and has been up for sale since the end of the season, were given 30 days in which to make arrangements at the end of the playoffs that all but one of the players on the 1948 team had been sold.

The Auburn Club officials were given 15 days to decide whether to remain in the league.

Thomas P. Corman of Ottawa was elected first vice-president and Leon A. Curley of Geneva N.Y., second vice-president.

Kansas City Still Unbeaten After Two Weeks

(By The Canadian Press)

Kansas City Pla-Mors, leading the United States Hockey League still are unbeaten after two weeks of play.

Their season's opener ended in a tie, but then the Pla-Mors hit the victory road. They added their fifth straight triumph Sunday night, whipping Houston 6-2.

Tulsa Oilers lost to Minneapolis 6-5 Saturday, but trimmed St. Paul last night 5-4 by cutting off the Saints' desperate rally in the final period. Scotty Cameron potted two goals for St. Paul in that drive.

Fort Worth defeated Dallas 6-4 last night on quick goals by Harry Frost and Bill Jones after the score had been tied three times in the hot contest.

Dallas tied Omaha Knights 4-4 Saturday.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By W. R. WHEATLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Nov. 1 — (CP) — It may come as a shock to most Canadians but there's at least one man who has some doubt whether Barbara Ann Scott will be a sensation in the professional ice-skating business.

Perhaps the gentleman could be accused of bias, yet there is no gainsaying his experience with skaters, both top-notchers and tyros. He is Harry Kuh, advance man for many years with ice-show companies, and his views are duly chronicled by Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson.

On a take-it-or-leave-it basis, Fergie quotes Kuh:—

"I don't know whether Barbara Ann has acquired the knack of showmanship. Being a great skater is not quite enough. Barbara Ann is a greater skater today in a mechanical sense, than Sonia Henie ever was. But will she have the flair for showmanship that was natural to Sonia originally and which was developed to a high pitch before she went into the game professionally? I doubt it."

Story-telling Time

This is about two Irishmen, mercifully not named Pat and Mike. One is the ice boss at Verdum (Que.) Auditorium, and you will pardon him if he would just as soon forget the whole thing.

The other is a quiet, almost shy fellow, who showed up at the auditorium the other day in sport jacket and slacks and carrying a pair of hockey tubes. He politely asked if he could go for a short skate.

Take it away, Al (Montreal Herald) Parsley. It's your nifty:

"Not a chance," growled the ice-man. "I gotta get ready for them fancy skaters and you'd only be in the way."

"Are you a hockey player, then? And what team do you play with?"

"New York Rangers," was the quiet reply.

The ice-man stared.

"Faith and it's Buddy O'Connor. I thought there was something Irish in that mug. Get on with you. Of course you can skate here any time you like."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A roving kibitzer came over to our table and said: "Let's see some spirited bidding, men." He heard an earful that sent him away shaking his head. Because just then came this deal:

NORTH
♥10 8
♦Q 10 9 8 7 5 4
♣K 10

WEST
♠K Q J 9 5 2
♥None
♦A K 6 3 2
♣A 3

EAST
♠10 7 6 4
♥J 6 5 3 2
♦J
♣8 5 2

SOUTH
♥A K Q 9 7 4
♦None
♣Q J 9 7 6 4

The bidding he listened to was like this:

South	West	North	East
2 H	3 H	Pass	3 S
4 C	4 S	5 D	5 S
6 C	Dbl	6 H	Dbl
All pass

Notice the three heart bid by west. It was a bid in the same suit that his opponent in south had named. It was an overcall in an opponent suit. Do you know what it means?

Such a bid is a special signal. It does not mean that west has hearts. As a matter of fact, it means just the opposite. It means that he has no hearts. Or at least no more than the ace.

An overcall in opponent suit says: "Partner, I have as good as an opening two bid. And this is one suit in which we can lose not a trick. So, help me keep this bidding open to game."

The opening two bid by south was forcing to at least a game. If west had passed, north would have been forced to bid something. With no sure trick, he would have said two no-trump.

The intervening bid by west keeps the bidding open. So, unless north has something important to show, he may pass. If north held a sure trick he would have come in with a free bid to show it.

With north passing, the west overcall in opponent suit forces east to bid something. He must show his longest unbid suit. This is what an overcall in opponent suit requests.

There is more to be said of this deal. Hear ye.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 1 (AP)—Here's the latest chapter in the screen return of Greta Garbo. She has settled on the story and the shooting location.

Robert Cummings, whose partner, Eugene Frenke, engineered the Garbo deal, reported that the silent Swede will definitely do the George Sand biography. It's her own baby—she and a writer have worked on a script foh six years. The picture will be filmed in Italy.

Jimmy Stewart will have professional backing on the diamond in "The Stratton Story." Among the ball players in the picture are Jimmy Dykes, Bill Dickey, Gene Beardon, Max West, Red Berger and Mervyn Shea. The Hollywood stars coast league team will portray the Chicago White Sox in the film.

Cugat Finds Gold

Xavier Cugat has discovered gold in Texas. His band will be paid $10,000 plus expenses to fly to Galveston Nov. 8 and play for a private party at the Brooks Hollow Country Club.

Toronto-born Walter Huston says he doesn't want to face the rigors of another stage play. Now in "The Great Sinner," he'd like to limit himself to one picture a year with his son John.

Jean Hersholt is celebrating the 35th anniversary of his start in films. He made his debut with Thomas Ince in 1919. Jean's talents have been confined to his air show during the last seven years. He once played the part of Dr. Dafoe, the Dionne Quints' doctor.

James Mason has been canvassing other Hollywood cat lovers for material for his book. Betty Garrett's among them...some localities were amused by playwright Paul Green's blast in Raleigh N.C., at Hollywood for seeking sordid material. They think it might be sour grapes, since his script for "Oseanna McCoy" was sharply rewritten.

JET SETS RECORD

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP) — A United States Air Force jet-powered "Flying Wing" bomber has flown 9 1-2 hours, longer than any jet aircraft has been able to stay aloft. This definite indication of progress toward solving a major problem of jet planes—high fuel consumption and short range — came in an announcement Saturday by the Air Force.

29 Fatalities Over Weekend In Eastern Canada

(By The Canadian Press)

In an aftermath of a mock duel with rifles between two youths, 15-year-old Ronald Delaney was killed Sunday five miles north of St. Catharines. Bernard Dumoulin, 17, told police Delaney was shot through the head when Dumoulin's rifle discharged accidentally after the youths staged their duel in a quarry.

The gunshot death of young Delaney was one of 29 fatalities reported in Eastern Canada during the weekend. A Canadian Press compilation today showed 20 persons killed in traffic accidents, two in mishaps at work, two by shooting, two in falls. One man was killed by a train, another died in a well — either from drowning or asphyxiation — and a baby boy died from neglect at birth at Sydney, N.S.

Heaviest toll in a single accident came when a bus crashed into gasoline pumps at Lambton, Que., and four persons lost their lives. Killed were the driver, G. Lavergne, 22, Sherbrooke, Que., and three passengers, H. Baron, 25, Megantic, Que.; Raymond Toulouse, 24, Beauceville, Que.; and Renaud Brennier, 23, St. Sebastien, Que. Thirteen other persons were injured.

Man Guilding Children Killed

One o fthe most tragic deaths was that of George Henry Dent, 74-year-old retired tailor, who threw himself in front of an automobile in London, Ont., Saturday night to protect the lives of children he was guarding across a street to a Hallowe'en party. Dent was credited with saving two six-year-olds, Paul (Bud) Wistow and Sandra Elgie.

A traffic accident near Pope's Harbor, N.S., took the lives of Earl Connor, 18, of Spry Harbor and Dougld J. Conley of Truro, N.S.

Arnold Gill, 20, was fatally shot Saturday night at Tory Hill, 60 miles north of Peterborough. Police held Herman Woodwock, 33, in connection with the youth's death.

A few hours after he walked into the path of a moving train in dense fog, John Harris, 29, died at Stratford.

Found Dead in Well

Bryson Broster, 28, of Hockley, was found dead in a 60-foot well in which he was digging Saturday. It was not known whether he was drowned or was aspyxiated by fumes.

Two Toronto residents died of falls. They were Guy Macrae, 55, and Mrs. Annie Goodby, 93.

Henry Salapatek, 44, was killed in Toronto when pinned beneath a truck after a jack slipped. A flying log took the life of Mac Trumbull, 28, while he was operating a power saw near Eagle Lake, Ont.

Quebec victims of separate traffic accidents were: Roger Provost, 20, Montreal; Muriel Rogerson, 25, Verdun; Henry Peters, 79, Montreal; Yvon Beauchamp, Rosemere, and Frances Paige, 25, Montreal.

AT THE CAPITOL

Intense Human Drama in a House of Hate

James Mason and Deborah Kerr, two top current film favorites, are teamed for the first time in Paramount's dramatization of "Hatter's Castle," the A. J. Cronin novel that won great critical acclaim at the time of its publication. The film, which co-stars Mason and Miss Kerr with Robert Newton and Emlyn Williams, is now at the Capitol theatre.

The story revolves about the fabulous, forbidding house built by the arrogant, brutal owner of a hat shop in a small town in Scotland. The hatter, obsessed with the ambition to be one of the town's great, rules his wife daughter and son with an iron hand, reserving his affections for a pretty barmaid. Disaster and tragedy descend upon him and his family, culminating with the fiery destruction of the "castle," symbol of the power and glory he coveted above all else.

Romance Under Difficulties

Mason portrays a young doctor who defies the master of the house of hate and horror for the love of his daughter, played by Miss Kerr, a virtual prisoner in her father's "castle." Deborah and Mason fall in love under extremely difficult circumstances. Their romance, that grows in spite of only surreptitious meetings, receives a staggering blow when Deborah is shamefully compromised by an unscrupulous employee of her father. Before she and Mason are re-united a great deal transpires, all of it said to constitute exciting, adult entertainment.

Robert Newton has the role of the hatter and report has it that he gives one of the screen's most memorable performances as the evil-doer. Emlyn Williams plays the unprincipled employee. Enid Stamp Taylor portrays the conniving barmaid.

"Hatter's Castle" was directed by Lance Comfort, produced by Isadore Goldsmith, Scenario and dialogue credit go to Rodney Ackland.

On the same program a new dramatic hit "Stage Struck" starring Conrad Nagel is also shown The Universal News completes the big double bill which is adult entertainment. Matinees daily at 2.00.

GIRL ORATOR GAINS FAME

Paisley, Nov. 1 (CP)— Although just 12 years of age, Grace Threndyle is gaining fame as an orator. She will represent Bruce County at the public school district speaking competition at Guelph. In an earlier competition, she won both the impromptu and prepared speech contests when she spoke on the composer Chopin.

AT THE BELLE — Dorothy McGuire is being acclaimed for her finest portrayal to date, that of Kathy Lacey in the Darryl F. Zanuck production of "Gentleman's Agreement," featuring Gregory Peck, John Garfield and Celeste Holm, acclaimed the most tempestuous love story of the year.

Five Big Races Form England's Turf Classics

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Doncaster, England — (CP) — Take the King's Plate at Woodbine, the Preakness at Pimlico, the Derby at Epsom and the Grand Prix at Longchamps and roll them together — and you have a rough idea what the St. Leger means to Yorkshiremen.

From miles around the coal-miners come on the great day, cramming themselves into the slow-moving trams that carry the crowd out to Town Moor where the race is run. There's none of the fashion-parade atmosphere that marks some of the tracks in the south of England.

They're out for the last "classic" of the British flat-racing season—the St. Leger Stakes for three-year-old colts and fillies, run over one mile, six furlongs and 132 yards of rolling, springy turf. The course is two furlongs longer than the famous Derby course at Epsom.

The Leger is the oldest of the classics. It was first run in 1778, sponsored by a group of sportsmen who frequented the historic Red Lion Inn here and named after one of their number, Lt.-Gen. Anthony St. Leger.

North country men love to see a locally-owned horse whip the runners from the south. Most popular victories of all — except when the King's filly, Sun Chariot, won a wartime event at Newmarket in 1942 — came in 1919, 1933 and 1943 when the late Lord Derby scored with Keysoe, Hyperion and Herringbone.

The St. Leger winds up, in September, the "classic" season which opened at Newmarket in April with the running of the Two Thousand Guineas.

Contested over the straight "Rowley Mile" — named after "Old Rowley," otherwise Charles II, who popularized racing on Newmarket Heath—The Guineas have been won by some of the most illustrious horses in British turf history.-King Edward VII's Diamond Jubilee, for example, won the race in 1900 when his owner was still Prince of Wales, and went on to capture the Derby and the St. Leger.

Stamina Big Factor

Conversely, its winners have provided some big disappointments in later races. They are usually made favorite for the Derby — but if they should prove mere speedy milers without stamina the bubble breaks at Epsom. J. A. Dewar's Tudor Minstrel in 1947 and the Maharajah Gaekwar of Baroda's My Babu this year are illustrations.

A couple of days after the Two Thousand, comes its counterpart for fillies only, the One Thousand Guineas. There have been brilliant winners of this event also, including Sceptre (1902) which also won the Two Thousand, the Oaks and the St. Leger.

The Oaks, over the 1½-mile Derby course, is also limited to fillies and is a better spectacle and a tougher horse race than the One Thousand Guineas. But—unlike the Two Thousand and the Derby — it is relatively commonplace for the same animal to win both contests. Seven Guineas winners have taken the Oaks since 1937.

Sometimes a filly will run in both the Oaks and the Derby although the events are only two days apart. Four times the amazing "double" has been brought off — by Eleanor (1801), Blink Bonny (1857), Signorinetta (1908) and Fifinella (1916).

The Oaks was first run in 1779—a year after the St. Leger and a year before the Derby started. The Two Thousand was first run in 1809 and the One Thousand in 1814.

Johnny Longden Leading Rider At Golden Gate

Longden, as usual, topped other jockeys by bringing home 55 winners in the 41 days; his mounts earned $166,830. Walter Litzenberg was second with 31 winners; Gordon Glisson, third with 27.

The veteran jockey climaxed his Golden Gate stint by bringing home Clifford Mooers' Old Rockport in the $15,000-added California Centennial Handicap on the closing Saturday.

Trainer Molter is reaching for his third consecutive United States title. He saddled 24 winners during the meeting. Paul Lycan was second with 15, Darrell Cannon and L. H Kidd tied for third with 10 each.

McCarthy, a Los Angeles lawyer, was the top money - winning owner largely because of his Australian import, Shannon II. Almost all of McCarthy's $75,320 came from Shannon II's victories.

Franchise Claims To be Discussed By Loop Prexy

(By The Canadian Press)

The Vancouver Sun said Saturday that President Al Leader of the Pacific Coast Hockey League will leave for the east today to discuss with National Hockey League authorites a problem of franchise claims.

The N. H. L. granted affiliation rights to the new professional P C. H. L. clubs last spring but refused to wipe out old franchise rights held by Lester Patrick in Vancouver and Victoria. Phil Lycette in Seattle and the estate of the late Bobby Rowe in Portland, Ore.

"The 'old guard' now wants a good-size piece of the present coast loop's box office take," said the Sun. "Coast leaders have demanded that the N. H. L. decide now to support either the present-day group or the men who formerly operated north-west franchises.

"If the N. H. L. fails to support those now in power, the coast loop may well break away from the rest of professional hockey."

Mervin (Red) Dutton, wielding the same heavy hand that a few years ago ruled the National Hockey League, Sunday cracked down on Western Canada Junior Hoe key League clubs for using improperly registered players.

Dutton, governor of the circuit, levied fines of $50 each against Calgary Buffaloes, Lethbridge Native Sons, Medicine Hat Tigers and Bellevue Lions.

It was indicated by officials at the meeting that the fight to declare certain players eligible for competition in the Western League will be carried to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Names of players affected were withheld.

Battering Paul Rowe emerged Sunday as the 1948 scoring champion in the Western Interprovincial Football Union in a season dominated by players from Calgary Stampeders and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Rowe, veteran pile-driving halfback of the unbeaten Stampeders, finished the schedule with 35 points. His winning margin was by a scant two points over another veteran, kicking-half Ken Charlton of the Roughies, while the 1947 champ dusky Gabe Patterson of the Roughies—came third with 32.

Sarnia Wanderers defeated Wallaceburg Red Devils 11-0 in a Senior "B" O.R.F.U. game at Wallaceburg Saturday. The visitors notched up their counters in the second quarter but were held scoreless by some superb defence work in the first, third and fourth quarters.

Mr. Cote and Spencer scored the only touchdowns of the game, the latter going over the line on a pass from McCauley. Cote's convert kick completed the only scoring of the game.

The Guelph Maple Leafs' Senior baseball franchise is not for sale, Leafs' president George Brown said Sunday at Guelph. Brown said that recent newspaper advertisements offering a franchise for sale did not apply to the Guelph club and added that Leafs' were not in financial difficulti. He emphasized the Leafs would field a strong club in the Intercounty series in 1949.

Ontario Agricultural College soccer teams swept a twin bill Saturday at Guelph from the University of Western Ontario. The O.A.C. seniors won 4-3 and the intermediates beat Western 1-0.

Windsor Assumption College Varsity Purple Raiders, cutting loose in the second half with three converted majors, defeated Toronto St. Michael's College Majors 18-5 Saturday in an exhibition football game at Windsor.

It was the third exhibition victory this season for Assumption against three defeats.

Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight boxing champion, announced his retirement from the ring after being beaten Sunday in Berlin on points by G. Vogt, German light heavyweight champion, over 10 rounds in the Olympic Stadium.

Schmeling weighed 194 pounds; Vogt 187.

"It was absolutely and positively my last fight," said the 43-year-old Schmeling.

Harrow captured the Intermediate "B" Ontario Baseball championship Saturday by downing Fort Erie, 9-3, at Harrow and sweeping their best-of-three final series in straight games.

Ronnie Reese pitched steady eight-hit ball for Harrow, while his mates blasted two Fort Erie pitchers, Al Spear and Don Jones, including triples by Hendershot and McDonald.

Ontario Agricultural College Aggies kept their undefeated record intact in the Intermediate Intercollegiate Football League Saturday when they downed Western Colts 18-11 at Guelph. It was the fourth straight win for Aggies.

Ridley College gridders Saturday pushed St. Andrew's College of Aurora from further contention in the Little Big Four, when they downed St. Andrew's 35-6 in Ridley's lone home game of the season at St. Catharines.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Durham, N.C., Nov. 1 (AP)—Almost every hockey fan knows that a "rink rat" is a kid who hangs around an arena hoping for a chance to get in a few minutes on the ice ... but Jim Henry United States Hockey League President, found that the expression isn't known in Texas... when a game on a Texas rink went into overtime, it was found that the men who resurface the ice had gone home. Looking for someone to do the job, Hendy asked the arena manager: "Isn't there anyone who'll do the job? Don't you have any rink rats?"

The manager spread his hands about a foot apart, "sure, we have lots of them, about so long," he responded.

It was during a barbering session after the Duke-Georgia Tech game Saturday that someone remarked "this free substitution rule is running football, something will have to be done about it." . . . that brought down the house because everyone agreed Georgia Tech isn't the worst offender when it comes to substituting so often that the fans are completely bewildered. But Bobby Dodd used at least 15 different backs against Duke and sometimes changed quarterbacks with every play. It was more confusing because his two alternating signal callers were numbers 33 and 38; during the course of the conversation you gathered that several of the veteran southern coaches are ready to initiate a move to limit substitutions in some way.

"The worst part of it," explained one observer (not a coach) "is that the coaches can't teach a boy to become an all-around player . . . if he has a good runner and tries to get him to block and play defence. The kid looks amazed and asks: 'are you crazy Joe can block and Pete is a good defensive player. Why should I learn to do that?' "

HALLOWE'EN MASK OBSCURES NIGHT; BOY IS KILLED

Denver, Nov. 1 — (AP) — His vision obscured by a Hallowe'en mask, James Lanford, Jr., 7, was killed Sunday night by a car at the same intersection where his sister was injured fatally last May. The boy was in a group of six youngsters searching for Hallowe'en handouts.

Trade Winds Blowing On Baseball Front

Chicago, Nov. 1 — (AP) Trade winds were blowing on the Chicago baseball front today, but it was hard to tell which way and how strong.

Both the Cubs, who are reported dangling first baseman Eddie Waitkus and catcher Clyde McCullough as barter-bait, and the White Sox, whose most salable player presumably is infielder Don Kolloway, held executive huddles aimed at bolstering their last place finishers.

Owner Horace Stoneham and Manager Leo Durocher of New York Giants dropped in at Wrigley Field Sunday to see the football game and also to chat baseball business with the Cubs.

If they offered catcher Walker Cooper and first baseman Johnny Mize for an opening bid, they got a cold shoulder from manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs, who told reporters:

"I'm definitely not interested in Cooper or Mize. And I don't believe the Giants will trade anybody else."

PSYCHOANALYST DIES

New York, Nov. 1 — (AP)—Dr. Samuel Aaron Tannenbaum, 75, one of the first psychoanalysts in the United States and a leading authority on Shakespeare, died Sunday. Born in Hungary, he came to the United States as a youth. He later became one of the first psychoanalysts and psychotherapists. He was a founder of the magazine, "Psyche and Eros."

Overseas Market Favors Big Cars

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London — (CP) — New British cars, mainly for export, are rolling off production lines with scarcely a "baby" among them.

Changed taxation arrangements at home and the attraction of foreign markets have strangled the old enthusiasm for tiny vehicles, which are unsuitable for most overseas road conditions.

The benefits of bigger cars are indicated in business returns. In the first seven months of 1948, car exports were valued at £35,900,000 ($143,600,000) while sales of commercial vehicles and accessories brought the total to nearly £71,000,000.

In eight months this year Britain shipped 7,100 completed cars to Canada with a value of £1,700,000. In the same period of 1938 she shipped 382 cars with a value of £444,500.

Instead of "baby" cars — "change to low if you want to get over a peanut" — British cars now on show are like these:

A four cylinder saloon (Standard Vanguard) with overhead valves, three forward gears with the change lever on the steering column and developing 68 brake horsepower. The entire 1948 production will be sent overseas. Price £425.

A medium-sized saloon (Austin Hampshire) with overhead valves four speeds with synchromesh, room for three in front seat and developing 64 brake horsepower. Price £475.

SIX LONDON PAPERS PICK GOVERNOR DEWEY

London, Nov. 1 — (AP)—The London press devoted columns of its tightly-rationed space today to the United States presidential campaign. The Times gave nearly a third of its editorial page to an explanation of the electoral college system. Other papers featured reviews of the campaign and profiles of the candidates. Of six London morning papers to predict the outcome, all picked Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate.

THE SECRETS OF HILLYARD HOUSE

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

"I'll—I'll—" I said aloud in the silence. My feet were soaking, and I felt shudders of cold and fright wash over me like waves. After a while I went on upstairs, afraid every moment that I would hear his voice or step. There was no sound. I went to the hall window and looked down at the drive, and he was standing there in the day's strange metallic light beside the car. Once or twice he looked up toward the windows of the house, and when he did I said aloud again, "I'll—I'll—"

Presently he shrugged, jumped into the car, and drove away, and for five full minutes I stood motionless, overwhelmed with thankfulness and relief. He was gone. I trembled for a long while. Then gradually quiet and breath came back and I could face the present; a strange enough present and with terrors of its own.

For the ocean was rising on the garden, and the entrance steps were several inches deep in the tide.

"Now I know," I said clearly, "that the water won't come as high as the house; that would be ridiculous, because then it would flood completely over Indian Mill and the railway tracks. So I'm perfectly safe up here on the upper floor, and if the water comes in these windows—" I had a moment's failure of courage here, and my voice weakened. "If it comes up this high," I said, "there's the upper floor again. The house is as firm as rock, it won't slip, and so all I have to do is wait."

But waiting was hard. I went to one of the windows on the oceanside of the house, and all the world toward the west was rippling, advancing ocean. The earth seemed a cup brimming with water; garden plants were half submerged; the height of Wing's clothesline was dwarfed to a few inches.

Indian Mill was four miles away. No walk at all on a summer morning, although on the two occasions when Louise and Bill and I had challenged one another into trying it for a stunt, we had been glad enough to have one of the home cars pick us up for the trip back.

But those four miles in the dusk of a wintry day, with the great Pacific close on one's heels, were something else again. Hillyard House stood on a little rise; once the water reached the top of that rise, it would flood over into the hollow through which the poplar avenue ran. I dared not risk that; my mouth filled with salt water at the thought.

To be hurrying along the road and feel the first of the waves breaking about one's shoes, to look back and see the wide spread of them gaining, gaining — no, I couldn't do that. Suddenly I thought of the other car, Louise's car. But there was a foot of water in the long shed that was the garage and even if Louise had left her keys there the car would not move. So it had to be waiting—waiting ..

The telephone, of course! I flew to it, jiggled the lever in vain. Either Mollie Rivas had left the board in Indian Mill or, which was more likely, one of the poles was down. The telephone was dead.

Lights out, too. That was too bad. That meant I couldn't lie snugly in my bed, absorbed in some good book, perhaps eating a sandwich, forgetting the watery world without. I found some candles in one of the pantry drawers and lighted three of them. Any sound made my heart beat fast enough to suffocate me, and every little while I went to look at the water.

When it had mounted to the top of the entrance steps and my candle sent only a glimmering finger of light across the murderous salty waste of it, I shut the front door. There was ham in the kitchen, but I was not hungry. We had had that ham for lunch; it seemed a long time ago.

"It will have to come all the way upstairs and spread around the second floor before I am scared," I said. But I was scared all the time. I wanted coffee very much, but I did not want to go down to the kitchen again. There was a fireplace in my room but no coal there now. But in Clay's room there were kindling and coal, and I made a fire there. This was on the oceanside of the house, too, and I could watch the sea. Not that there was anything to watch. It rippled silently and steadily in, with no hurry and no fuss, quietly eating up everything it wanted. The roof of McMurdock's house was all that was in sight now, and the tops of some of the lower trees waved like bushes in the engulfing gray water.

The last Hillyard; here I was in the old house, trapped, and with a long night before me. Tomorrow would see me out of this. The thing was to get through to tomorrow somehow. Clay's room made me thing of Clay and the burden of his secret and the terrible fiery baptism of war; the struggle with blindness, the discovery of my betrayal. I wondered if life could ever make it up to Clay; I wished somehow we might be together here — just Clay and I, beginning a different sort of living. "I wish it were the middle of next year!" I said.

Everything was dark outside now, and of course pitch dark inside except for the fire and the three wavering little islands of candlelight. The leather-cased clock on Clay's dresser said seven o'clock. Only seven o'clock. I decided against going to bed. I went from window to window on the oceanside of the house and held my candle high and looked out into the night. There was light enough in the sky to see the breathing surface of the terrible waters.

After a while I went out into the hall and descended the stairs, the sea had brimmed into the hall but it was not very deep. Only a few inches, and the house stretched thirty feet above me. It couldn't go much higher; when there was a high tide there must be a low one. It would soon start to go down.

It must be over the floors everywhere now, ruining the old carpets in which Eliza Hillyard had taken such pride, seeping up against the bookcases, soaking everything. The kitchen would be afloat. It couldn't come much higher. I tried to sit still; I had made a good fire. It seemed strange to have a good fire and candlelight, with sea water making its sinister way all over the floors of the big room downstairs. This was all a dream. The clock tinged a brisk eight in my dreams. For a minute everything was black panic; I roused to a horror of blackness. Then the gallant, wavering candles made themselves evident against the darkness again, and I went resolutely to my room, changed into a warm dressing gown and slippers, went back to the still glowing fire, found a book among Clay's books, and trying to make myself think that he was near, that he might come home at any moment, settled myself resolutely to read.

It was a book about dogs, a score of dog stories gathered together. I selected one that looked promising and read it through. The clock said twenty minutes to nine. There had been a murder in this house. It had driven a little innocent woman crazy. The little woman was freshly laid in her grave; the husband whose act had unseated her reason was lying dead in prison clothes. I tried to concentrate on the story of the clergyman who had been a dog in an earlier incarnation. It was an unfortunate choice of story. It made me think of reincarnation, of ghosts.

The water was standing still. No question about it. So that was that; it was still water, and presently the tide would begin to draw back. Fortunately I was not the type of girl who went crazy shut up in a haunted house. I wouldn't be white-headed in the morning, gibbering and laughing and picking at things with my fingers. All I had to do was just to stay quiet, just as if it were any ordinary night and all the members of the family were asleep in their beds.

It was ten minutes past ten. The night was going. If Louise and Mrs. Grizell were quietly reading in their rooms now, and both the Chinese asleep in the long arm of the house that contained the service kitchens and laundry and storerooms and service wing; if Billee and I were brushing our hair and pinning it up and creaming our faces, going to and fro between our two rooms then how ridiculous this fast pumping of my heart and this dryness of my mouth would be!

If I had any sense I'd go down to the kitchen and make some coffee. But not in this dark. Not through these terrible great halls, opening and closing doors and imagining sounds all about me. Not in the dark.

Morning would come. Heavenly light would flood through everywhere, first tipping the mountain tops to the east, sifting through the green layers of the pines, flashing on the cruel sea, the sea that would be withdrawn now back to its borders.

Garden destroyed, carpets and chairs and draperies destroyed, the lower floor a soaked ruin, but what did that matter! It would be morning, warm and bright and infinitely reassuring: ah, God, what a miracle was the dawn! With it all these horrors would vanish; with it I would be Liberty Dryden again, able to laugh and work, to enjoy a hot breakfast and tie on one of Wing's aprons, from the hook behind the kitchen door, to get started on the great job of repair.

Mrs. Grizell would be back; Louise, practical and cynical and good-humored, would be back.

"You mean to say that you spent the whole night alone waiting for the water to come in and drown you?"

"Oh, nonsense, I knew it couldn't get to the top of a three storey house!"

"But weren't you terrified?"

"Well, I didn't like it."

"But you know Munro thought you were with us—wasn't it too strange? He found a note you must have scribbled days ago — perhaps weeks ago. He thought, of course — He never dreamed —He was perfectly frantic—"

And then Mrs. Grizell: "He didn't catch us until we were a long way down, Liberty, and by that times wires were down and the bridge at San Enrico was out. We couldn't telephone; we couldn't get in."

And then Munro .. No, I grew all weak and trembly again thinking of him, of the frightening smile on his face and the horrible moments in McMurdock's house, with the ocean coming in and Munro between me and the door. And now what? How was I to meet him? What was I to say? For Billee's sake keep the whole thing secret in my breast, one more Hillyard secret? Yes, that would have to be it. And he would carry it off with his usual insouciance, and presently it would be just a vague memory of—what? Of nothing, of the confusion of the tragic days when my grandfather died, of the big tide, of the general departure, and of how Liberty was trapped in the house and alone all night.

Perhaps Munro would stay on here as secretary and manager and overseer. Perhaps when Clay came home he would still want Munro. In any case, Billee and I were the daughters of one mother, and Billee was not going to have too easy a time of it in the years to come. Yes, I had to keep one more secret—and forever.

Munro would be glad to get me out of the way. If I were dead Billee's position would once more be changed; she would be my grandfather's only direct heir. Yet Munro wouldn't ever do anything that endangered himself. No, he would tease to the very brink of sadism. He would have enjoyed sharing with me the secret that I had had to succumb, the cramped little bedroom of McMurdock's, to his attempt to destroy me in Clay's eyes and in his own. There would have been a neat revenge for my imagined —I hoped it was imagined! — arrogance and smugness over my new position in the family. There would have been something I couldn't tell Clay and yet must tell him; something that would make the sight of my half sister's husband forever odious in my eyes and yet never could be admitted or acknowledged. Every time he looked at me he would think of the secret we shared, of the score he had against Clay and me forever.

Well, I was sick of secrets; I never wanted to hear the word or encounter the thing again. It was twenty minutes to eleven. The old house creaked. There was no wind, but a gentle tickling noise and the banging of a door somewhere kept arousing me to the horror of the situation and now and then some old piece of furniture gave off a pistol crack and brought my terrified heart into my mouth again.

Trainer Frank Scarpina and Zoo Superintendent Edward J. House were all ready to take down the reactions of the pair as they viewed their native African haunts.

A blood-curdling gorilla fight made a little more impression. Nancy and Johnny strolled nonchalantly, arm in arm, in the aisles of their cages.

She charged the bird and barely got hold of a wing.

The hawk twisted around and grabbed Mrs. Gunter's wrist with his beak. With this, she slammed the hawk to the ground. In a counter-offensive, the bird seized her with its talons.

Mrs. Gunter ended the struggle by smashing the hawk's head with a flatiron.

Indianapolis — (AP) — Representative Charles A. Halleck (Rep. Ind.,) house majority leader, is available for baby-sitting duty next Tuesday — election day.

He said in a speech:

"The law won't let me help haul voters to the polls, but I think this election is important enough to our country that I'll be a baby-sitter if that's necessary to get the Republican vote out in my precinct.

London — (CP) — Hints on how to feed baby were given at the Royal Institute of Public Health by Dr. W. G. Wyllie, a bachelor child specialist.

"The food your baby does not eat never does him any harm," he said. "Obvious anxiety that he should eat all his portion, and a mild form of forcible feeding should he refuse it, are to be deplored.

"Some say let a baby have a rusk or crust to suck or chew as early as five months. But it is advisable never to leave baby alone with a rusk in case he chokes.

"Don't insist on good table manners too early."

Truman Confident Democrat Reign Will be Extended

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Americans, thrust by circumstance into the major global role they have avoided for most of their peacetime history, today chose their leader for the next four crucial years.

Interest was as intense abroad as at home as more than 50,000,000 citizens of the world's wealthiest power made their choice.

For the presidency, the choice lay among the three major candidates—President Harry Truman; Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York; and Henry Wallace former Vice-President.

There were eight other candidates, but none were conceded a chance to win and only two — Governor Thurmond of South Carolina who leads the southern splinter group of the Democratic party, and Norman Thomas, perennial Socialist candidate—were known even by name to many of the voters.

Because of the United States electoral system, the President was running for that office for the first time; Dewey, his Republican rival, was making his second bid for the post of chief executve

Truman, the Democrats' choice for the vice-presidency at the wartime National convention in 1944, automatically succeeded Franklin D. Roosevelt when he died April 12, 1945. By the constitution, Truman held office until the succeeding election.

Dewey opposed Roosevelt in 1944, but was defeated when Roosevelt, for the first time in American history, became President for a fourth term. Wallace was strong contender for the Democrats' vice-presidential nomination, but lost the nomination to Truman and later entered the cabinet as secretary of agriculture. After he broke with Democrats more than two years ago he formed the third party, named the Progressive, and has campaigned on a peace-with-Russia policy.

41st. Election

Today's presidential election is the 41st since the United States became a Republic. Such elections are always held the second Tuesday in the November of each Leap Year.

Most political observers gave the nod to Dewey, although Truman remained confident that the 16-year reign of the Democrats would be extended. Wallace avowedly no Communist, nevertheless was handicapped by the support of the American Communist party at a time when most Americans regard that ideology as a menace.

PEOPLE OF PEEL GIVE PARTY FOR NEW ONT. PREMIER

Thomas L. Kennedy and Wife Welcome 3,000 Guests at Legion Hall

Brampton, Nov. 2 (CP)— The people of Peel County gave a party Monday night for Tom Kennedy, the farm boy who became Premier of Ontario.

Thomas L. Kennedy, who recently succeeded George Drew as Ontario Premier, shook hands for more than two hours as some 3,000 of his neighbors — of every political strip—filed by Brampton's new Canadian Legion Memorial Hall. With him stood his wife, the former Minnie Patterson of Toronto, Ruth one of their four daughters, and the official hosts, Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Peel, and Mrs. Graydon.

One of the first to greet the new premier was William J. Lowe a Liberal, who held this seat from 1916 to 1918. Another Liberal was Dr. R. J. Hiscox, whom Mr. Kennedy defeated in the June 7 Ontario election. There was also Herbert Sovereign, C.C.F. candidate in the same election.

Jim Fletcher, a 78-year-old retired farmer who lives two miles out of town, was there to meet his old friend. What with his rheumatism and all he didn't figure he was up to standing in the line that stretched half way around the hall. But he made the effort.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Nov. 2 (CP)—Synopsis: There is still fog over some sections of Ontario this morning particularly in the Georgian Bay and Kirkland Lake regions. Skies are clear over Southeastern Ontario where temperatures are near normal. Over the remainder of the province cloudy and mild weather prevails with temperatures about 10 degrees above normal. The slowly moving disturbance over the central United States still threatens Southern Ontario and will probably cause occasional rain in the lower lakes region on Wednesday.

Student Sightseer Wants Free Air Hitchhike Home

London, Nov. 2 (CP)—Blonde, 24-year-old Alan Bluechel of Vancouver, after five months wandering around Europe "just sight-seeing," is trying for something new—a free Trans-Atlantic hitchhike home by air.

Alan, a graduate of the University of British Columbia, set out from Vancouver with $350 in his pocket and the urge to see the world. With only a couple of suitcases as luggage he's visited Rome, Geneva, Paris and southern France, as well as Panama and the Dutch West Indies.

"You can do it for very little if you're careful," he says.

DREW IS LIKELY TO SEEK SEAT ON DECEMBER 20

Boucher's Resignation Accepted by Officer

Ottawa, Nov. 2 (CP)—Date for a federal by-election in Ontario's Carleton constituency likely will be fixed for Dec. 20 to allow George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, to seek election to the Commons before the next session.

Mr. Drew conferred with Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent Monday on the election arrangements, but no date was set. Mr. Drew said it was up to the government to fix the date and he assumed it would be done at a meeting of the cabinet tomorrow.

"I am anxious that it (the by-election) should come as soon as possible," said Mr. Drew, after recalling that Mr. St. Laurent had stated last Friday that the by-election could be held Dec. 20.

Shortly after leaving the Prime Minister's office, Mr. Drew saw Russell Boucher officially resign as Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Carleton. Mr. Boucher handed his resignation to two of his party colleagues in the Commons—Dr. W. G. Blair of Lanark and W. R. Aylesworth of Frontenac-Addington.

They, in turn, presented the resignation to Jules Castonguay, the chief electoral officer. The round-about procedure was necessary due to the absence overseas of Speaker Gaspard Fauteux of the Commons, who ordinarily receives resignations and calls them to the attention of Mr. Castonguay.

Held Press Conference

During his busy round of activities, Mr. Drew held a 40-minute press conference and conferred with party officials at national headquarters. He said that he was assuming his duties as national leader as of Monday. Since his election as leader at a convention Oct. 2 he has been busy winding up his affairs as Premier of Ontario.

Turkey also sincerely desires her relations with Soviet Russia to be good, he added.

Following are the figures in kilowatt hours:

Over: Kitchener 5,080; Niagara Falls, 4,070; Owen Sound, 4,738; Sarnia, 15,390; Woodstock, 1,745.

JEWELLERY STOLEN

15,500 More Hospital Beds Needed in Next Five Years

Toronto, Nov. 2 (CP)—Ontario got 748 new hospital beds last year and will get 4,319 more during the next two years, the Ontario Hospital Association was told Monday.

But Federal Health Minister Paul Martin warned the province needed about 15,500 new beds during the next five years, with "5,000 or so during the succeeding five-year period."

Cyril J. Telfer, Ontario Government Hospital Inspector, said five new general hospitals would be started next spring—at Surbury Trenton, Leamington, Campbellford and Weston.

Mr. Martin said Ontario's population was increasing by 100,000 people a year, far outstripping existing accommodation.

Edna Nicholson, director of the Chicago Institute of Medicine, said the cost of supporting aged and chronically-ill people soon might become too heavy for the young adult population.

"We must strike at the root of the trouble rather than go on spending endlessly to build hospitals and beds for people who are resigned and must spent the rest of their lives in bed," she said.

She suggested special, small neighborhood homes for chonic and elderly patients.

At a meeting of the Women's Hospital Aids Association, Dr. E. C. Routley, secretary-treasurer of the hospital association's "Blue Cross Plan" said more than a quarter of Ontario's population—nearly 1,300,000—were enrolled.

Up to now the plan had covered only group memberships, but now "we can start to enrol individuals."

Trenton, N.S., Nov. 2 —(CP)— Three persons died, one was injured and six escaped today as fire raced through a hillside frame dwelling near this Pictou county town.

Mrs. Joseph (Alta) Oulette and two of her three children, Marion, nine, and George, five, were burned to death.

Escaping from the flames were Mr. Oulette and another child, Catherine, one; a married son. William, 22, his wife and a month-old child, and Gilbert George, 18, a boarder.

George suffered facial cuts and bruises as he leaped from a window to escape the flames and was admitted to hospital. His condition was not believed serious.

Three True Bills Returned by Grand Jury

Lindsay, Nov. 2 (CP)— True bills were returned today by a grand jury on two motor manslaughter cases, and one of attempted rape.

Douglas Lamb, 25-year-old son of Mayor Charles Lamb of Lindsay, will appear on a motor manslaughter charge. Lamb is alleged to have been the driver of a car which overturned, killing John Hortoon, 61, Lindsay.

Alex. B. Grant of Woodville, driver of a car in which elderly Alex McDuffie was critically injured, also faces a manslaughter charge. McDuffie died one week later.

Fishermen Lost In Fog Four Days, Grope Way Ashore

Thornbury, Nov. 2 (CP)—Four fishermen, William Oldfield, 75, Frank Oldfield, Alex Foster and Donald Heesman, were lost in fog at Pointe Au Baril for two days according to word received here. The men, who went out to lift their nets Friday morning in their 55-foot tug, finally reached shore at noon Sunday after groping their way through fog for five miles in a row boat.

Although the four men took their dinner with them when they left shore they carried no other food and had no means of cooking fish which they caught.

Says She Watched Man Trying on Women's Fur Coats

Toronto, Nov. 2 — (CP)—When a 70-year-old man started trying on women's fur coats in a west-central fur shop Monday night, the manageress kept on eye on him.

She claims he rolled up a Persian lamb coat valued at $350 and stuffed it under his overcoat. She trailed him when he left the shop until she met two police constables.

MACHINE AROUSES OPPOSITION

London, Nov. 2 — (Reuters) — Five ships were delayed today in London harbor when 412 wharfmen struck work because they objected to an automatic stacking machine which does the work of several gangs of manual laberers.

Former Inmate of Camp Dies Later of Exhaustion

Edmonton Nov. 2 (CP)—Police today pieced together details of a shooting near Gunn, Alta., Monday in which an Alberta government official was shot to death and his assailant died shortly after being admitted to an Edmonton hospital.

Dead are E. Hatson, superintendent of an Alberta government welfare camp near Gunn, and Henry Delphy, 78-year-old former inmate of the camp, used as a home for elderly men on provincial relief.

Hatson, said to have been shot from ambush, was felled by a undetermined number of bullets in the chest.

Delphy died shortly after admittance to hospital where authorities would not comment on the case beyond saying that the elderly man had been brought here by ambulance from Gunn, some 25 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Developments following the shooting still have to be fitted together but one source said that Delphy walked into the icy-cold waters of Lake St. Ann and was later found wandering along the shore of the lake.

He is believed to have died from exhaustion and pneumonia.

Residents of the tiny hamlet said that a "misunderstanding" is believed responsible for the shooting. They did not know what the misunderstanding was about but believe it to be a matter concerning the camp.

Government officials had no immediate comment.

An inquest is expected to be held today.

Woman's Anxiety Saves Lives Of Daughter, Family

St. Catharines, Nov. 2 (CP) — Because her mother could get no response knocking at the door or by telephone, Mrs. Frank Essex of Merritton, her husband and two babies are alive today. They were found overcome by coal gas but are now almost completely recovered.

Mrs. Harvey Burns of Niagara Falls, mother of Mrs. Essex, drove to the Merritton home Monday night to visit her daughter. No lights were on and she could get no answer by knocking on the door. A copy of the daily paper was lying on the doorstep. Thinking they were away, she returned home.

However, she called Mrs. Harry Essex, mother of Frank, and told her. Mrs. Essex started phoning the house, and then phoned other relatives. She insisted they go to the house.

A son, Albert Essex, tried the doors, then called provincial police in Merritton. They broke in and found Mr. and Mrs. Essex unconscious in an upstairs bedroom. Bobby, age two, was crawling around the living room and Terry, one, was asleep beside his mother. Mr. Essex, who works a midnight shift at a Thorold paper plant, was apparently getting up when he was overcome.

It was half an hour before the parents were revived. They were taken to hospital and placed under oxygen tents, while the children were cared for by relatives.

Cause of the near tragedy was thought to be the arrangement of dampers in a furnace pipe. A new section had been installed in the pipe to the chimney and there were two dampers in addition to the regular check damper. Both dampers were closed.

Provinces Invited To Discussions On Canada Highway

Talks Will Take Place Soon States MacKinnon

Ottawa, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Resources Minister MacKinnon today announced the calling of a Dominion-Provincial conference on the long-awaited Trans-Canada Highway.

He said the date for the discussions has not yet been set "but they will take place in the very near future."

Invitations have been sent to the provincial premiers inviting them to come to Ottawa to discuss the construction of the Trans-Canada Highway.

Mr. MacKinnon's announcement was brief and gave no further details.

He told reporters, however, that the invitations were sent out only a day or so ago and that there was not enough time yet to report any acceptances.

Mentioned at Convention

The question of a country-wide highway came up briefly at the National Liberal convention in August when Trade Minister Howe told the delegates the development of such a roadway was part of the Liberal program. He gave no details of what the government had in mind.

At the moment, there is no through highway from one end of Canada to the other. There are road lines across the country but some run through rough country and are in poor condition. Generally, Canadians motoring from Eastern to Western Canada travel part of the way through the United States.

Britons Get More Candy, Sugar, Fats

London, Nov. 2 (Reuters) — Food Minister John Strachey Monday night announced increases in the rations of candy, sugar and fats and the ending of rationing for all kinds of jam and marmalade. Strachey told parliament that the rationing of sweets has been increased from 12 ounces to one pound a month. The sugar ration is increased from eight ounces to 10 ounces a week.

Says Von Rundstedt Ordered Commandos Delivered to Gestapo

London, Nov. 2 (AP)—Lord Jowitt told the House of Lords today Field Mtrshal Gerd Von Rundstedt, awaiting trial on war crimes charges, once ordered Allied commandos turned over to the Nazi gestapo.

Lord Chancellor and Labor Government leader in the Upper Chamber, Lord Jowitt said British authorities intend to start his trial in March.

"Commando troops, if captured outside real battles, have to be turned over without delay to the nearest office of the gestapo. It does not matter whether they are in uniform or not. These measures are to serve the purpose of bringing to a quick and definite end such operations."

FOUR MEN KILLED WHEN OIL TRUCK AND CAR COLLIDE

Police Told Car Seemed to Go Out of Control and Swerved Into Truck

London, Ont., Nov. 2 (CP) — James Joseph Marco, 24, lone survivor of an automobile party of five involved in a traffic highway accident near here Monday night, escaped with such minor injuries that he was discharged from hospital today.

Killed were his two brothers, Lewis, 30, and Michael, 26, as well as Stephen Radley, 40, and John Gzuppson, 50. All were Brantford residents.

Police said they believe Lewis Marco was at the wheel of the car when it allegedly sideswiped a gasoline tank truck driven by Victor Ryall of London.

The men were pinned in the wrecked car which overturned after the impact. An inquest is pending.

Three of the men were apparenly killed almost instantly. The fourth, Czuppson, died en route to hospital.

Driver Unhurt

The truck was westbound and the car eastbound when the crash occurred. The truck was comparatively undamaged. The car was wrecked.

First to reach the wrecked car were Clarence Haycock and his three sons, who rushed from their farm home nearby. They flagged a truck in which three London men were riding.

The men used a bolt cutter from the truck to cut into the twisted metal and remove the bodies.

Ryall told police the car seemed to go out of control and swerved into the truck. He felt "a little jar" in his heavy vehicle, and that he did not know how serious the crash had been until he got out to investigate. There was no fog at the time.

All five men in the Marco car were hotel employees in Brantford. Michael Marco and Czuppson were married. The five had been given a day off from their work and were homeward-bound from a visit to London.

Bicyclist is Dead, Believed Hit by Tail Of Plane on Tractor

Welland, Nov. 2 (CP)—Harry Passfield, 53, of R. R. 3 Welland today died in hospital of a fractured skull sustained Monday in a motor accident. The bicycle he was riding west on highway 3A three miles west of Welland, was struck, police believe, by the tail assembly of a dismantled plane on a tractor truck driven by Brian Metcalfe, 41, of St. Catharines.

Provincial police are still investigating and no decision has been reached regarding an inquest.

Flying Game Wardens to Keep Watch on Northland's Fish, Fur

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 2—(CP)—Flying game wardens will patrol the lonely reaches of Ontario's north country this winter to guard the province's resources of fish and fur.

With two of the new Beaver-type aircraft and eight Norseman planes, long the workhorses of bush flying, the rangers will operate from nine provincial air service bases, keeping special watch for poachers.

George E. Ponsford, head of the air service, said in an interview at provincial headquarters here that the winter's combined operations by the air service and the Lands and Forests Department will mean a great deal to the game protection cause. The joint effort was announced recently by Lands Minister Scott.

"We are keeping in very close touch with the work of the lands department's fish and wildlife division," Mr. Ponsford said. "And I think that the results of our efforts will be beneficial to northern Ontario. We are trying to co-operate in every way with that department."

In past years the Ontario Air Service, which now boasts a fleet of 30 planes, found its main job in detecting and fighting bush

West Sectors of German Capital Settle into Blockade Routine

Berlin, Nov. 2 (Reuters) — After more than 100 days of economic isolation, the western sectors of Berlin have settled into a blockade routine planned and implemented by the Western Allied Military governments and the German city administration.

To the newly-arrived visitors, the British, United States and French sectors do not present a picture of a beseiged fortress. Western Berlin is separated from the eastern sector only by huge signposts.

Hundreds of thousands of Berliners cross the invisible demarcation line daily on their way to work or home. Street cars, subways and railroads carry other thousands across sector boundaries.

While in the Soviet sector traffic continues uninterrupted, sudden silence descends on the two-thirds of the city which form the three western sectors. Street cars and subways abruptly stop and iron gates close on stations in western Berlin.

Children of the public and Separate Schools in the city have been granted free skating hours by the Memorial Arena Rink Committee. At a meeting of the committee over the weekend it was decided to allow two afternoons a week for free skating. It was also decided to allow the use of the wrestling ring by the Canadian Legion for boxing bouts that will be carried on through the winter months at the Armouries. Ice is now being put in the Arena and it is expected that skating will be opened on Wednesday or Thursday. The ice plant was in perfect condition and the floor took the frost in approximately twelve hours after the machine was turned on.

FRESH TOMATOES OFF FOR SEASON

Market gardeners on the city market have written finis to fresh tomatoes for the season. Today there was only one basket available and it was of negligible quality. There was a plenitude of Autumn and Winter varieties of apples, however, at prices commensurate with those of last Saturday.

Heavy Demand For Imported Fruit, Vegetables

Heavy public demand followed the arrival here yesterday and today of the first shipments of American lettuce, tomatoes and grapes since February.

A survey of dealers this morning revealed that the public, more or less grape-hungry, purchased the fruit almost as fast as it could be unpacked.

Tomatoes also were in heavy demand with one or two dealers reporting a complete sell-out by evening. Some greener types were in evidence, and even these were selling well.

Lettuce was in brisk demand. Fresh shipments are arriving in the city today.

Price ranges were quoted at: tomatoes, 19-21 cents per pound; lettuce, 14-15 cents per head and grapes 27 to 29 cents per two-pound lot.

Deseronto Man Found In Ditch Near Cloyne

David Maracle, Deseronto, was admitted to the Belleville General Hospital shortly before midnight Monday evening suffering from head injuries believed to have been caused when he fell while walking on the highway south of Cloyne.

Provincial police at Northbrook who investigated the incident reported there was no evidence that the man had been struck by a passing car and it was believed he had tripped while walking on the highway striking his head on some object. The man was found in the ditch about one mile south of Cloyne.

The injured man was taken to Tweed where he was given first aid by Dr. M. G. Dales and later was taken to Belleville hospital where he is under the care of Dr. G. S. Cronk.

Utilities Will Seek to Quash Council By-Law

The Belleville Public Utilities Commission will seek to quash the by-law recently passed by council which would increase the membership of the commission from two to four members in addition to the Mayor.

The intention to seek to quash the by-law was made known when members of the commission approved of the matter at the commission meeting on Monday afternoon. Mayor D. L. Storey informed council of the commission intention at the conclusion of last night's council meeting.

If the commission action to quash the by-law is carried out the commission will claim that council has no right to increase the membership of the Public Utility Commission without a vote of the people. Other reasons would also be noted, it was stated.

Mayor Storey in announcing the commission's intention felt that council had been within its right in increasing the membership of the commission to four members and the Mayor. The by-law, he added, had been drawn by the Ontario Municipal Board.

"The recommendation to seek to quash our by-law was not passed by the commission until four o'clock this afternoon," stated the Mayor. "But at three o'clock a letter informing of this intention was received by our solicitor."

"It all goes to prove what I have contended before—that the business of the public utilities commission is decided before the commission meets," concluded Mayor Storey.

Motorist Leaves Scene of Accident After Hitting Boy

Police today are searching for the driver of a motor vehicle who last night while driving on St. Paul Street, knocked a small lad to the pavement and then drove away without ascertaining if the lad was seriously injured.

The small boy, four-year-old Russell Poste, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Poste, 82 Foster Ave., suffered abrasions about the nose and mouth and received a bruised shoulder. The lad was carried home by his playmate, Burton Johnston, age 9 years.

Mrs. Poste stated the boys had been playing football last evening when just as the lights went out at 5:30 her small son had been struck by the car. The driver stopped his car, got out, and after briefly looking at the child on the roadway, drove quickly away. The licence of the car was not ascertained.

Seth Linton Faces Trial for Death Of Two Men

Simcoe, Nov. 2 (CP) —Seth Linton, 41-year-old well digger will stand trial for murder in the shooting deaths of two men last June 6. True bills in both murder indictments were returned today by a Norfolk County Grand Jury.

C.P. Pope, special crown prosecutor, told Mr. Justice A.M. Lebel, that he wished to proceed first on the charge that Linton killed Lew Stewart, 44-year-old plasterer, whose wife had been acting as Linton's housekeeper. Linton is also charged with the murder of John Kipp, 32-year-old Vienna carpenter, the same morning.

Both men were shot with a .22 calibre rifle at Linton's home about 2 1-2 miles west of here and just south of Charlotteville. On the fatal morning the two men were accompanied by Mrs. Stewart who said she wanted her clothing from Linton's home, her intention being to return to her husband.

Mr. Justice Lebel told the Grand Jury Monday that he deplored the rise of what he called "false philosophies" of those who urge that "might is right" and that "man should live dangerously." He said those theories were current before the Second World War and were in line with other unsettling tendencies.

"To combat these false philosophies, we must have swift retributive justice for those who have chosen lawlessness and anarchy in preference to law and order."

Four Runaway Boys Find Stunt Not So Good

Four young Toronto school boys who yesterday ran away from home were quite willing to call the whole thing off early this morning when they were picked up by local police and taken to the police station. The boys, Arthur Brymaert and Robt. Johnston, age 14, and Ross Robinson, 15 years, were picked up at four o'clock this morning when they were found roaming the streets.

Local police got in touch with Toronto headquarters who contacted the father of one of the lads. He will drive to the city and pick the three boys up today.

Freedom Theme Of Address To Optimist Club

Choosing for his title, "This Freedom of Ours", Dr. Bert Howard on Monday revisited the Optimist Club as guest of honor. Beginning with a few words of advice, he stressed the value of participation in the Inter-Service-Club-Council and the help which that body can give to a young club.

Dr. Howard spoke of the cosmopolitan make-up of his student body, and of the inspiration they gained from contact with the "Displaced Persons" who are employed at Albert College. Telling of the dismal experience some of the latter had undergone in Europe, he pictured their genial re-orientation and deep appreciation of their new environment.

Speaking of the origins of freedom, he pointed out its basic components, among them education, self-compulsion self-discipline and co-operation. Dr. Howard was introduced to the club by Jack Sharland, and their appreciation was expressed by Perry Everett. Gord Carter acted as Sergeant-at-Arms.

POLICE COURT

28 Cases Listed But Only Two Heard in Court

Although 28 cases were listed for hearing on the Tuesday police court docket only two cases, both under the L.C.A., were heard before Magistrate T. Y. Wills. All other cases, all consisting of traffic and L.C.A. charges, were settled out of court.

As result court proceedings took only a very few minutes with the L.C.A. offenders being given jail terms in lieu of paying fines. One went to jail for ten days for a first offence and the second for one month, being a second offender.

One careless driving charge against J. Crowter of Gananoque was settled out of court with a fine of $5 plus $3 costs being paid while a Hillcrest resident paid $25 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident.

The charge against the man resulted following a rear-end collision with a Rawson bus on Station Street. When the man failed to remain at the scene of the accident he was followed in a car by two Bloomfield men who later notified police. Only small damage was caused as result of the accident.

Police Blotter

Theft of a motor car from a Front Street parking lot was reported last night to police by Thomas Patterson, R. R. 2, Belleville. Mr. Patterson stated he left his car on the lot shortly before 8:00 o'clock and when he returned at 11:30 the car had disappeared.

The disappearance of a parking meter head from its standard was reported to police this morning. The meter, on Pinnacle Street, in front of the Finkle Electric, was taken some time during the night, it was stated.

TURKEY SUSPENDS PASSPORTS

Istanbul, Nov. 2 — (Reuters) — Turkey has suspended passports for Turkish Jews seeking to emigrate to Israel, following intervention by representatives of Arab states, it was reported here Monday. About 400 Jews recently received permission to go to Israel but 500 other applications now pending would be rejected.

Labor Requests Representation On Hospital Bd.

Members of the Belleville Trades and Labor Council wish a representative from their organization to sit on the Hospital Board, city council was told Monday evening by their chairman, Thomas Rees.

"Belleville General Hospital is now owned by the citizens of this city and we feel that it would be in the interests of the people to have a cross section of the city on the hospital board," stated Mr. Rees.

Mr. Rees went on to say that there had been complaints that all was not as it should be at the hospital. "This may be true, or it may not be true," he continued. "That we do not know. But we do know that it is the working people who suffer most financially when hospitalization in their families is necessary."

In reply Mayor D. L. Storey pointed out that the hospital board had been set up this year and members were appointed for certain periods. He promised, however, that the matter would be kept in mind for next year.

Old Volume Reading Lessons Well Preserved

A link with the education past of the city came to light recently with the discovery in a Front Street building of a "First Book of Reading Lessons" used by teachers and pupils of eighty years ago.

The book, a thirty-six page publication, is approximately six inches by four inches, and is in an excellent state of preservation. It was found between the walls of the Empire Groceteria, owned by Frank Domenico, while renovation operations were taking place, by Stanley Harris, a carpenter.

The cover is of parchment, and like its pages, is in excellent shape. The printing has suffered little from the ravages of time and is clearly legible. The pages are just a shade off white, and not in the least disfigured or blemished.

The book was printed by the James Campbell and Sons firm of Toronto in 1868 and authorized by the "Council of Public Instruction for Ontario."

It was entered "according to Act of Provincial Legislature by the Rev. Egerton Ryerson, LL.D., chief superintendent of education for Ontario."

Mr. Domenico stated that if the City Library Board desires the memento of four score years, he will be glad to present it to them.

Picton

Local Resident Charged With Robbery Attempt

Picton, Nov. 2—While a former Dutch boy stood amused believing it a Hallowe'en prank, and other members of the store staff fled when they heard the words "I'll gun ya," a masked man entered the grocery store of Russell T. Gardiner on Main Street East. He was later captured by police as he walked down town, and identified as a local resident, Clare Leavitt. He has been charged with attempted robbery.

The store staff had been nervous due to the fact they believed a man had been watching the store during the evening, and had later entered and in a foreign accent asked for an ounce of ham.

Frederick Andre, former Holland resident, recently come to Picton, was one of three customers in the store. A man with handkerchiefs over his face and his hat pulled low, stumbled against the door post and then entered the store. He said something to Miss Bernice Allen, at the desk and seeing the masked man she fled to the rear of the store, Mrs. R. Smith and Mrs. R. Bowes accompanying her, related Andre.

"I thought it was a Hallowe'en prank and the man asked if I wanted to get hurt." I said "you are drunk" and he repeated in a louder tone of voice "do you want to get hurt?" I then asked him what he wanted and he said "nothing," and then said "money." The man kept his right hand in his pocket and I kept my eye on that after I learned it was not a joke. Mr. Gardiner ran out of the store's rear entrance and around to front dor and locked it. The masked man then ran out the back door. I helped police search for him and they found him walking down street," related Andres.

No weapon was found on Leavitt's person. He did not take anything from the store, Gardiner stated.

Thurlow Twp. Council

Thurlow Township Council at its regular October meeting concurred in a Belleville Chamber of Commerce resolution regarding the formation of a district committee to interview the Ontario Minister of Highways with reference to the expediting of the Trenton - Belleville segment of the proposed four-lane trans-provincial highway.

Reeve Harry Harrison and Deputy Reeve Seldon Honan were named to represent the township on the proposed committee.

Council authorized the issuance of $6,000 debentures for school purposes in School Section No. 5 at a previous meeting, but the by-law was re-introduced and amended to read "$4,000." Another by-law to issue $3,000 in debentures for S. S. No. 22 was introduced and received two readings. It was then ordered forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval.

Reeve Harrison was empowered to recall properties in the county tax sale list, if he deems it advisable. Machine operators Chumbley, Ketcheson and Belch were given a 10 cent per hour increase dating from Oct. 15.

"Hasty Pees" Hold Outdoor Regt. Exercises

In the first regimental tactical exercise since unit reorganization, nearly 80 all ranks of the Reserve Battalion, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment "captured" Fairfield's Bridge four miles north of the city on Sunday in what was termed by officers a well-executed series of movements.

The troops, representative of the various companies of the battalion from the district, were taken to the starting-off positions by army vehicles. The exercise was "laid on" by Major Max Porritt, while the general scheme was under the supervision of Lieut.-Col. Reg. Abraham, Kingston. It was the first regimental training scheme since Col. Abraham took over command of the unit.

The regiment executed a pincer movement and a river crossing under the directions of regimental officers and other instructors.

Rations, provided by Quartermaster Capt. George Hepburn, Picton, formed the regimental lunch which was eaten in the field.

Actually the scheme was a company one, although members of all companies of the regiment took part. The active commander of the company was Major Burtt, Trenton. Major Porritt acted as chief umpire.

Regimental Sergeant Major Angus Duffy was in command of the parade and movements in general consensus of all was that the first outside exercise of the regiment was a "very good show."

New York, Nov. 2 (CP) —The Senators and Representatives elected in United States elections draw the same pay—but the Senators are better off.

Senators are elected for six-year terms, members of the House for only two.

All members of Congress get $15,000 a year, with $2,500 of it free of income tax.

They get an allowance of 20 cents a mile to cover expenses travelling between Washington and their homes, when they take office and to attend sessions.

They get lavish suites of offices, maintained by taxpayers. They are allowed a minimum of $6,500 a year for office assistants, even when those assistants are members of their families. Congressmen doing special jobs get allowances for office help.

They have free postal franking privileges, free telegraphic services, an allowance of $50 a year for airmail and special delivery letters and $200 a year for stationery which they buy at cost from the capitol stores.

Prepare Early Meet to Discuss Atlantic Pact

London, Nov. 2— (Repters)—Preparations for an early meeting to discuss an Atlantic Defence pact have gone forward here during the weeks that the presidential election campaign has occupied the United States.

The coincidence of the visits here of State Secretary Marshall and Lester B. Pearson, Canada's new Minister of External Affairs, has given rise to some erroneous speculation in the British Press, including a suggestion that the United States, Canada and the five Western European Union powers would meet in Ottawa in January to draft the Atlantic pact.

There is no foundation in fact for this report, it is officially stated by British and Canadian spokesmen.

Nor is it believed that Marshall and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin made Atlantic Defence one of the principal subjects of their conversation last Saturday, when the two statesmen lunched with Prime Minister Attlee and the United States Ambassador in London, Lewis Douglas.

Diplomatic observers here believe that no meeting of prospective Atlantic Defence Union powers is likely to be called until after the results of today's United States elections are known and enough time has elapsed for a new administration to take its bearings on major international problems.

A meeting of the seven powers was probably discussed recently in Paris, however, with Washington as the most likely meeting place.

Ratepayers to Voice Opinion On Purchase of Land Outside City to Erect Rental Homes

City ratepayers at the forthcoming municipal elections will voice their opinion as to whether the city should purchase land outside the city on which to construct additional rental housing units.

This was decided by council last evening when members ratified a previous recommendation to take options on property immediately east of the Parkwood Heights and veterans' rental home area and to submit the question to the electors at the December election.

To a question asked by Alderman Armstrong, City Solicitor R. A. Pringle replied that the present city council had no authority to purchase land for housing, but stated that next year's council could either issue debentures for the amount needed or provide for it in the estimates.

Speaks of Need

Alderman Armstrong spoke of the need for additional rental housing in the city noting that there had been no rental units constructed in the city by private interests while there were now 250 applications for such accommodation. "If council proceeded to purchase the land for Wartime Housing the government would pay back up to $600 per lot for land and services," he said.

"It is immaterial to me whether this matter is placed before the electors, but if it were turned down the 1949 council would very possibly take a hesitant stand with regard to proceeding with additional rental housing.

Criticism Heard Claim

Alderman Allin pointed out that there had been considerable criticism heard on the street regarding council proceeding with projects which had not been voted on by the people. He could not see the harm in submitting the question to the electors.

Alderman Duffy asserted that the additional housing was needed now and submitted that placing the matter before the people would only serve to delay the issue. "It is not a question of finance because the government would reimburse the city within a very short time," he said.

"It is all right to get technical about these matters but in delaying we are keeping families in two rooms."

Alderman Hyde asked why lots in the county home property recently purchased by the city could not be used for rental housing. To this Mayor Storey noted that he did not know what price would be asked for these lots and suggested the matter be left to next year's council.

Alderman Follwell also proposed that the matter be left to next year's council as it was very doubtful if the contractor presently engaged in constructing wartime housing would have his present contract completed before January.

Suggested Price Too High

Alderman Lazenby questioned whether the speculation on the proposed property east of Parkwood Heights was good for the city. He felt that the price suggested was too high for rental housing.

Alderman Armstrong replied that the land owners in the area were ready to give the city options at the lowest figure which was paid for lots in the Parkwood Heights area. He denied there would be any speculation on the part of the city and pointed out that with the city developing the sub-division it would have to purchase the roadways.

"Alderman Lazenby may not be too far wrong" stated Alderman Clarke. "If the cost of the lots is too high then there may be speculation. We still have not received the money from the government for the 103 rental houses."

Delay in Procuring Deeds

To this Alderman Armstrong replied that the delay in procuring the deeds was the reason the city had not yet received payment from the government for the rental housing lots. He added that he would be agreeable to turn over 100 lots from the county home property for the construction of rental units.

When the recommendation was voted on council voted that options be taken on the property east of Parkwood Heights and also that the matter of purchase of the property be submitted to the people.

New tenders will be called for the installation of sanitary sewers in the Cherry Gardens area east of MacDonald Ave. A representative of interested ratepayers appeared before council asking that new tenders be called as additional contractors were ready to tender on the job. At a previous meeting council had awarded the contract for the job but the spokesman claimed the price was excessive and that the tenders had not been properly advertised.

Recommendation Approved

Alderman Hyde brought in a recommendation that new tenders be called for the job and this was approved by council.

Saturday Night Row Ends in Murder Charge

—Central Press Canadian

Herman Woodcox, 33, above, of Tory Hill, 15 miles south of Haliburton, Ont., has been haled in on a murder charge following shooting in the village's main street, resulting in the death of Arnold Gill. Witnesses said they heard a shot and saw Gill fall. It is reported the village could always count on its Saturday night fist fight when the loggers came to town.

Council voted to install a storm sewer on Moira Street, West, in front of the proposed site for the new fire hall, and also to hire a bulldozer to divert the course of the stream which flows through the site. Three lots on Boswell Street were recommended sold to veterans of the last war.

As chairman of the traffic committee Alderman Lattimer brought in a recommendation calling for moving of hydro poles from the south side of Dundas Street, West, to the north side of the street. These poles are immediately to the west of "Devil's Elbow" and create a traffic hazard. It was asked that the poles be moved as soon as possible.

Buy Drying Cabinet

Council authorized the purchase of a hose drying cabinet for the Belleville Fire Department at a cost of $775 from the Mine Safety Supply Co. If delivery cannot be given in ten days a drying cabinet from the Bickle-Seagrave at a cost of $795. Alderman Duffy stated that it was essential the cabinet be purchased immediately as hose were still wet from the last big fire.

Council accepted the resignation of Welfare Administrator George A. Whitman who has accepted another position outside the city. The city comptroller was authorized to ask for applications to fill the vacancy.

The by-law recently passed by city council with respect to early closing hours for grocery stores came up for discussion when Alderman Hyde introduced a recommendation calling for the repeal of the by-law. In introducing the recommendation Alderman Hyde stated that he had understood the by-law had been properly petitioned for but now it was revealed this was not the case.

Proper Petition

"The original petition was properly petitioned for," noted Alderman Armstrong, "and the city was obliged to pass the by-law as requested by 75 per cent of the grocery store operators."

Alderman Lazenby admitted that the original by-law had been petitioned for but argued the by-law had been proven bad in a court case. "Surely you cannot expect to pass another by-law on the same petition," he said.

"We have been asked by the grocers to do a certain thing and we are trying to complete that obligation—that is my version of the matter," stated Mayor Storey.

Require One-Third

City Solicitor Pringle noted that the original petition had been signed by 35 Belleville grocerymen, while only six had not signed the petition. To repeal the by-law it was necessary for one third to support a petition.

Aldermen Brown and Lattimer brought the discussion to a head when they noted that if grocerymen now wanted the early closing by-law repealed they must bring the proper petition before council. The recommendation to repeal the by-law was then withdrawn.

Under inquiries Alderman Allin asked regarding the progress on the MacDonald Ave. sanitary sewer. Mayor Storey replied that operations had been speeded up, while Alderman Armstrong said rock conditions had been encountered.

The same alderman wanted to know if the snow removal equipment was ready for operation. He was told that it had been readied at a cost of $600.

Council was in receipt of a communication from the Belleville Film Council inviting council to attend a special showing of a film depicting what was being done in other centres with respect to recreational centres. The showing of the film is on Nov. 9th.

Business Spotlight

(By The Canadian Press)

In terms of respective averages the stock marketslast week lost ground. The resiliency which has marked recent markets was not evident though figures at the end of the week were on the upswing.

There is evidence that the United States presidential election today has had an effect on the markets. Many Canadian businessmen have been sitting back in recent weeks viewing with apprehension the possibility of a Republican president.

A return to the old Republican tariff system would make a staggering change in Canadian economy, but little fear is apparent on this score. Thomas Dewey is not one of the G.O.P. clan noted for their isolationist leanings.

In view of the difficulty of securing scrap metal for a high level of steel production, suggestions are being made that Canada receive a reasonable proportion of the scrap metal being exported from Germany.

The introduction of the British steel nationalization bill in the House of Commons will be of great interest to all. This has been one of the most bitterly contested of the Socialist government's nationalization measures The Conservatives have promised a strong battle for the retention of the steel industry by private enterprise.

Selected industrials continued on a steady upward movement on the Montreal stock exchange. All groups strengthened in heavy trading on the Toronto stock exchange while coarse grains moved narrowly in the market on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Vescio Appeal Is Dismissed

Ottawa, Nov. 2 (CP)— The Supreme Court of Ontario today dismissed the appeal of Michael Angel Vescio, 23, of Port Arthur under sentence to be hanged Nov. 19 for the murder of 13-year-old George Smith of Winnipeg.

Decision of the judges was unimous.

The court ruled that despite some irregularities in the original trial there has been no miscarriage of justice and that the preponderance of evidence against Vescio was so great that no purpose would be served by a retrial.

The case was heard by the court last month, with Vescio's counsel Harry Walsh of Winnpeg arguing that his client should be granted a retrial.

Mr. Walsh argued that Vescio's rights were ignored at the original trial when the crown refused to allow E. J. McMurray, a lawyer employed by his family, to handle the case. Instead, a defence counsel appointed by the crown, John L. Ross, handled the case. Vescio claimed he was not consulted about Ross' appointment.

Preponderance of Evidence

Counsel for the crown, O.M.M. Kay, argued that the original judgment should stand. He claimed there was a preponderance of evidence that Vescio was guilty of the murder.

He was also charged with killing another 13-year-old, Roy McGregor, but was never brought to trial on the second charge.

Mr. Walsh withdrew from the original case in protest when Vescio was brought before the Court of King's Bench assizes the same day that a Magistrate's Court had committed him for trial.

At the time, Vescio stated he was not ready, but Mr. Ross, the crown-appointed defence counsel disassociated himself from the answer and said he was ready to proceed.

After the trial started, a juror fell ill. The jury was dismissed and a new jury empanelled which included nine of the original jurors. Mr. Walsh argued that the second jury was improperly constituted.

TRUE BILL FOUND IN ATTEMPTED MURDER CASE

Simcoe, Nov. 2 (CP)—A true bill was brought in by the grand jury today against Sylvio Blais, 45-year-old Hamilton tobacco-farm worker, charged with attempted murder of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Roberts of nearby Charlotteville.

The crown charges that Blais fired a .22-calibre rifle shot at the couple in the bedroom of the house in which they were living. No one was injured and Blais was overpowered by Roberts.

Trailers Barred as Permanent Living Quarters Within Limits

Trailers being used within the city limits as permanent living quarters were struck a blow Monday evening when members of city council ratified a recommendation of Thursday evening which in the future will bar trailers being used as permanent living quarters within the corporation.

Trailer occupants residing at the city tourist camp will be hardest hit by the new regulation and these people will be given only until Nov. 15th to move their trailers from the camp.

Discussion on the matter was raised in council Thursday evening when it was brought to attention of council that private interests were constructing trailers for placement on Sidney Street. It was assumed that permission would be sought for outside toilets and it was to block this move that the recommendation barring trailers from the city was passed.

Once Granted Permission

Previously, owing to the serious housing shortage in the city, trailer residents at the city tourist park had been granted permission to stay the winter at the Dundas Street park, although water service at the park would be cut off at the commencement of winter weather. The board of health had granted permission for the construction of an outside toilet with the understanding that this be taken down by May 1st.

Alderman Claude Tice, as chairman of Tourist and Publicity committee asked that the matter be fully considered before the recommendation was voted on. He reminded that council had voted to permit trailer residents to remain at the tourist camp for the winter.

Dealing with Emergency

"We are dealing with an emergency," stated Alderman Tice. "If these people are turned out of the tourist camp they will be down to the city hall asking for accommodation."

He stated that there were nine trailers presently at the tourist camp, their owners paying $4 per week. He said that in any event he would oppose trailers being placed on Sidney Street.

"I don't agree with Alderman Tice," replied Alderman Follwell. "If he is opposed to trailers on Sidney Street then he should also be opposed to trailers at the tourist camp."

He claimed that to permit trailers to remain at the city tourist camp would be to cause a slum area in what he termed a choice residential district. "Get them out of there now," he advised.

No Place to Go

Alderman Brown pointed out that if trailer residents were ousted from the tourist camp they would have no place to go. "If you throw them out of the camp, don't throw them on my lap as chairman of welfare," he asked.

Alderman Lummiss asked if the trailers had remained at the camp last year. To this Alderman Tice replied they had moved off on Nov. 1st.

"The crux of the whole matter is whether or not we stand by our building inspector," pointed out Alderman Allin. "We hire a building inspector and set certain standards and then permit that which we hired him to protect us against."

Alderman Duffy noted that the trailers might be moved outside the city, while Alderman Tice said that the recommendation if carried would affect all trailers in the city, not just those at the tourist camp. The recommendation barring trailers was carried.

Warden Testifies Urquhart 'Very Easily Led'

Kingston, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Howard Urquhart, 21-year-old Kingston Penitentiary convict "is very easily led," and gave prison officials "no trouble," Warden R. M. Allen testified today as Urquhart's trial for murder in the April 26 prison-break slaying of prison messenger John D. Kennedy went into its second day.

Convicted of murder last week in the same slaying was Austin Craft, with whom Urquhart escaped for four hours at the time Kennedy was shot to death. Craft was sentenced to be hanged Jan. 24.

Under defence questioning today, Warden Allen told the court that Urquhart's behaviour until the time of the break had been "very good."

Prison Guard Testifies

Another witness today was prison guard Edward Barrett. He gave the same evidence as at Craft's trial. He said he saw Craft shoot Kennedy at the gate of the prison and that Urquhart had crawled out of the rear trunk of Kennedy's car and was behind the steering wheel.

He said Craft swung open the outer gate and leaped into the car as Urquhart drove through.

WINS NOBEL PRIZE

—Central Press Canadian

The 1948 Nobel prize for physiology was awarded to Dr. Paul Mueller, (above), of Switzerland, for the discovery in 1939 of the insecticide known as DDT. Dr. Mueller first used his discovery in 1940 on refugees pouring into Switzerland and is credited with saving hundreds of thousands of lives that might have been lost to typhus and other lice-carried diseases. The only insect said to be impervious to Dr. Mueller's discovery is the thick-skinned ordinary housefly.

MAJOR MORRISON DIES, 1ST WORLD WAR VETERAN

Guelph, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Major John B. Morrison, 58, registrar of deeds for Wellington county, died Monday at his home in nearby Fergus. A former president of the South Wellington Progressive Conservative Association, Major Morrison was formerly identified with Beatty Bros. in Fergus and represented the firm on the continent for many years. A veteran of World War I, he was a member of the Guelph Garrison Club. Surviving are his widow, one son and three daughters.

JEAN MCALLISTER MUST GO ON TRIAL SAYS GRAND JURY

Mother Who Came From Scotland Not in Court as Bill Brought in

Lindsay, Nov. 2 — A Supreme Court Grand Jury decided today there is sufficient evidence to try Jean McAllister, a 25-year-old Scottish war bride, for the murder of her husband.

John McAllister, 29-year-old former Hamilton naval veteran, died of pistol wounds at a lonely cottage at nearby Kirkfield last Sept. 5 before he could be removed to hospital.

While the jury pondered the indictment, other war brides in and around this Victoria county community 69 miles northeast of Toronto rallied to support the woman accused of killing her man with a .22-calibre pistol in the couple's cabin at Kirkfield, 20 miles north of here.

Friends and sympathizers raised $91.25 last night by staging a blanket raffle to help meet the expenses of Mrs. McAllister's defence. County Sheriff Jasper Forman, who will be in the courtroom throughout the trial, presided at te drahw ed at the draw in the Canadian Legion hall.

The blanket was donated by Scottish-born Ada Bond of Hamilton. Its winner was R. E. Sharpe, Lindsay tailor, who bought the last 25-cent ticket of the 365 sold.

The support of the war brides matched the help given by townsfolk of Mrs. McAllister's hometown, who raised plane fare to enable the girl's mother, Mrs. Emily McInerney, to come here from Scotland to stand by her daughter. Three weeks ago the Overseas Ladies' Club here ran a rummage sale and turned over the proceeds, $126, to Mrs. McInerney.

The mother was not in court during Monday's proceedings. Since her arrival here more than a month ago she had visited her daughter at the county jail every day.

Further Hydro Restrictions

The repetition of the call to save power is understood now more than ever since on Monday the new order for power cut has been issued taking effect today.

There are to be, as shown by the notice issued by the Belleville Utilities Commission, two one-hour cut-offs, the one so far in use and the new hour cut-off being the sum-total of the half-hour of the hitherto afternoon shut-off with an additional half-hour earlier, bringing the lightless, heatless period in the afternoon from 5.00 to 6.00 o'clock. If these cuts do not bring the consumption down to the quota further interruption will be made beginning at 7.00 p.m. and running between that time and 8.00 o'clock. The fact is very clearly put, domestic users will have to make a saving of at least ten per cent in the amount of energy they consume so that the evening cut will depend on the extent to which domestic consumers will be able to make sufficient extra saving in their homes. A notice says if power is not interrupted by 7.10 there will be no evening cut.

7,300 kilowatt hours have to be saved in Belleville per day under the new schedule. That means the duty comes to every user of electricity to save. It is not a case of one or more saving and others using the same or more. It is a case of all accepting the restraints for saving to try to make unnecessary an evening shut-off between seven and eight o'clock.

Conditions are urgent, water is at its lowest in a long time and all must listen to the urgency of the appeal to save.

Austerity has hit this part of Canada as the orders go into force. And that is just the time for each consumer to lend every aid towards cutting down the consumption of electrical energy. It is clear that everyone must help. If some did not feel the first restriction they will at least notice it from now on. Every bit of self sacrifice of light and heating will help to ease the condition through which the consumers and the Ontario Hydro Electric System are passing.

In fairness to all, rules are necessary to spread out the power for every one connected with the system.

At least the situation has become really serious.

A full-hearted response to the urgency of the situation should be given and only necessary power used.

Claiming and Reclaiming

The Russians have announced a stupendous 15-year-plan of soil reclamation and development. The program covers 300,000,000 acres of land, includes 80,000 collective farms, and involves the planting of 3,000 miles of forest shelter belts.

With a characteristic blare of brasses, Pravda claims editorially that only under Communism is such planning possible.

It should be noted the Soviet program at present exists only on paper. Remembering the near-miracles of industrialization achieved in pre-war Russia (with the help of American engineers), no one will discount the possibilities of the program just announced. Yet it is easy to count your acres before they yield while ignoring the conservation and reclamation already achieved under a free system.

No one will quarrel with the fact that America's resources, including forests and farmlands, have been shamefully wasted — a waste "perhaps unequalled in human history," according to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Yet that is only half the story. Early reclamation of the arid and semiarid lands of the West was carried on entirely by private enterprise. When the job became too big for such methods, government stepped in without destroying private initiative. A single example is the shelter belt project initiated 15 years ago in the United States. Since then farmers in the prairie states have planted over 300,000,000 trees as protection against wind erosion. California has established 2,000 miles of protective plantings; Wisconsin nearly 6,000 miles.

These are modest achievements measured against the total Russian project — and inadequate achievements measured against the total American need. Yet they stand as monuments to the power of a slowly awakening public understanding and conscience in a free state. The Soviet's 15-year-plan may well act as a challenge to more strenuous efforts toward soil conservation and reclamation in the United States — efforts to which both major parties are already committed. But the progress so far made under a democratic system stands as an even greater challenge to the ruthless planners of the Kremlin. — Christian Science Monitor.

JUST FOLKS

ELECTION DAY

'Tis no iron curtain grim,
Just a bit of canvas thin,
Shielding her and shielding him,
With a ballot taken in.
None to threaten or dismay.
O'er the shoulder none to see.
Voter, on Election Day
Very proud you ought to be.

These the only guards we place:
That no tyrant shall appear,
Gun in hand and brutal face,
With your right to interfere

Once behind the canvas sheet,
With the ballot you are free.
There is no one you will meet
To demand your vote to see.

Over all the flag will fly
As a glorious guarantee
As a people we defy
Every foe of liberty.
When to vote we fall in line,
Done with bitterness and strife,
Every booth becomes a shrine
To our chosen way of life

30 YEARS AGO

NOV. 2ND., 1918.

A Gallant Chaplain. Information has now been received of the exploit which won recently the Military Cross for Captain the Rev. J. F. Nicholson, a chaplain at the front, who was curate at St. Mark's Church, Prescott, before enlistment. Advancing with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, Chaplain Nicholson, who was armed only with a walking stick, walked alone to a German dugout. A German officer came out and said that he and his men would surrender if their lives were spared. This, of course, was agreed to and a total of four officers and forty-three men came out of the dugout. At this stage the German senior officer said to Capt. Nicholson, "You are unarmed", being a chaplain Father Nicholson carried no arms, and he replied by placing his hand to his hip and saying, "Am I." At this critical moment the M.O. arrived and as he was armed, Father Nicholson told him to disarm the 47 Germans. Two Canadian runners came up; they were armed and this slender escort conducted the prisoners to the collecting depot. A week later Father Nicholson was gassed, but is now again on duty.

40 YEARS AGO

NOV. 2ND., 1908.

The treasurer for the hospital Tag Day reports that with two boxes yet to be turned in, the proceeds for the day amounted to $460.00.

In the year 1831 the first Presbyterian Church was dedicated in this city. It stood where the stately brick edifice known as St. Andrew's now stands and the old church is still well remembered by some Belleville residents. Nov. 1st. marked the 77th. anniversary of the dedication of the first church, which was known also as St. Andrew's. The anniversary was observed by the congregation of the "Kirk" in a fitting manner.

Hockey prospects are good for both an intermediate and junior team here this season. We are informed that Belleville will have a cracking good intermediate team in a group comprising Peterborough, Cobourg, Part Hope and Belleville. Prospective players are Dr. Gilbert, Pepper, Geen, Burke, Spanbenberg and others.

Mr. V. W. Root and family will leave here shortly to reside in Toronto.

Mrs. J. C. Jamieson of St. Paul, Minn., formerly of Belleville is visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Couldery, Avondale, Trent Road, will leave shortly to spend the winter at their residence on the Isle of Wight, England.

HOW MUCH OF YOUR LIFE DO YOU LIVE?

During the war a little girl wrote to her minister who was serving as chaplain in the South Pacific. She wanted to close her letter by saying she hoped he would not be killed. But she knew that a blunt statement of the matter would not be entirely appropriate. After much chewing of her pencil she ended with this statement: "I hope you will live all your life."

The chaplain no doubt chuckled when he read this, and we can well imagine that it precipitated in his mind a chain of reflection. He knew, as all ministers know, that many people in the world do not live all their lives — they live only part of them, and a very little and insignificant part at that. Some of them waste their time in frivolity. Some laze away the days and hours and years and never attain position worthy of their gifts. Others cast the better part of their lives to swinish impulses of passion, living as the Prodigal Son did in a pigpen in a far country, instead of in the Father's house of happiness and peace.

How often we need to ask ourselves the question, "Am I living all my life or am I living only part of it?"

"I hope you live all your life," wrote the little girl to her chaplain; to which each one of us may add the statement, "I hope I live all of mine — in the fullness of whatever powers I may have and not in their tragic neglect.

Expert Explains Scottish Names

Winnipeg (CP)—If you're not sure whether a Scottish name begins with "Mc" or "Mac"—use "Mac." So says Norman MacLennan, president of the Winnipeg Gaelic Society.

Mr. MacLennan presided at the society's second Caelidh of the season here.

Mr. MacLennan said "Mac" is a word meaning 'son' as in 'Robertson.' However, 'Mc' is just an abbreviation. It is not correct in either Northern Ireland

Scottish people at the meeting were told they could brush up on their Gaelic or learn it at weekly Gaelic classes. The instructor is a local high-chool teacher—Daniel MacLeod.

"He's the finest Gaelic teacher in Canada," said Norman Cameron, past president of the Society.

U.S. Facing Major Crisis In the Orient

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

The great military victory of the Chinese Communists in Manchuria represents a disaster for Nationalist China, and by that same token strengthens the hand of Moscow in its world revolution for the spread of Red ism.

This means that the United States, because of her special interest in maintaining the independence of China, is faced with another major crisis in the Orient.

Observers in China say that the Chinese Communists, with the great city of Mukden in their hands, may be expected to overrun the rest of Manchuria in the immediate future. This would intensify the threat against Nationalist China and certainly would hold out the possibility of a Red victory sweeping the country.

A Communist China would give Russia which might dominate the Orient, with its population of more than half the people of the globe.

Deep Concern

Small wonder that my colleague John M. Hightower reports from Washington: "Officials show deep concern over military, political, and economic reports from the embattled land (China). They no longer appear so confident as they once were that Generalissimo Chiang Kai- Shek's government can revive its powers of leadership and put an end to the disastrous civil war with the Communists."

Over the last weekend the United States approved $5,000,000 worth of arms purchases by Nationalist China. Shipment of ammunition and equipment of many kinds has been speeded up because of the collapse in Manchuria. Some Washington officials believe that America will be important in the defence of North China.

President Chiang Kai-Shek, tired and harassed but still full of determination, Monday declared in Nanking that China must "fight on." Said he:

"We have had reverses in the northeast (Manchuria) but the Communists are not yet in a position to directly menace North China."

There has been some speculation whether a coalition government of Nationalists and Communists could succeed. As a matter of fact the Reds themselves were debating this before their success in Manchuria. However, one suspects that they will have lost their interest in the subject, in view of their latest military victory.

Old Country Letter:

Communists In Trade Unions Must Make Decision

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

This is the period of decision for communist officials in British trade unions. They have been told the time for divided loyalty is over and they must choose between the party and the trade union movement.

The issue has smouldered for years. It flared up intensely last week, first when the general council of the Trades Union Congress accused the communists of trying to wreck British and European recovery and again when the National Union of Mine Workers rebuked its communist secretary, Arthur Horner, for statements "contrary to union policy.'

As far as the public is concerned, the conflict has crystallized in the person of Horner, ginger-haired little Welshman who fought against Britain with the Irish Republicans after the First World War. He organized the South Wales mining town of Mardy so thoroughly that it became known as "Little Moscow."

He is the founder of the communist party in Britain. Due to his influential position — he became president of the South Wales Miners Federation in 1936 and assumed his present position 10 years later — he has been allowed to show a bit more individuality than most communist party members.

Lately, however, there have been signs that the party is pulling the strings a bit tighter. Hints that they expected more support from Horner may have been responsible for his recent statement in Paris that British miners sympathized with the communist -inspired French coal strike.

Those remarks put fat in the fire. Will Lawther, a big bluff Scot who is president of the Mine Workers and also of the T. U. C., said Horner was speaking without the authority of the union. For almost a week they slanged at each other across the channel.

After Horner returned the union executive met and issued a statement disclaiming Horner's "unauthorized" remarks and adding "Recurrence of such conduct will not be tolerated."

In other words if Horner follows the party instead of the union line he will have to get out of the union.

Sinister Breed Of 'Spiv' Thrives In Unhappy France

By ALAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Paris, Nov. 2 — (CP)— A sinister breed of "spiv" thrives in unhappy, post-war France.

He lounges on street corners, cigaret in corner of mouth, waiting to peddle black-market goods or exchange French francs for dollars.

Tourists in the so-called "American quarter" around the Place de L'Opera know him well. He does his business brazenly. His target is persons whose clothes suggest North America and his approach is standard.

As you pass, the spiv falls in step beside you, asking in muffled tones whether you have any money to "change." The next tack, unless rebuffed immediately, is negotiation. This usually results in an offer of 400 to 450 francs for one American dollar (official rate 300 to the dollar).

Canadian currency, not quite as popular, may draw up to 400 francs.

It's a dirty business, but the spivs say they're seldom caught. And once they have American dollars, it's easy to obtain up to 480 francs for them from rich Frenchmen going to the United States or Canada.

The street-corner profiteers lock like North American gangsters, and probably many of them are. Despite the fair "living" they make, they dress disreputably and might be barred from a corner saloon.

They speak fair, sometimes flawless, English. One boasted to this correspondent of spending years in Montreal, Quebec, St. Johns, Que., and Halifax "picking up a dollar here and a dollar there." He was one of six money-changers who buttonholed me during a 100-yard stroll along the Boulevard Des Capucines, past the popular Cafe De La Paix.

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

There are still a few eccentric professors left. Morley Callaghan in his new novel "The Varsity Story," says that thirty years ago professors gloried in being distinct from business and other professional men, and expressed their individuality in both dress and behavior. Today, due to the domination of technology and engineering in our universities, professors all strive to be mistaken for business men.

But not this one I have in mind. In his opinion, the present state of confusion in the world is not the fault of the nations' leaders, not the fault of a declining master class, nor the fault of an uprising proletariat. He believes the ordinary Tom, Dick and Harry of this earth has become trivial minded. He thinks the interest and curiosity of the average man is no longer adult but juvenile.

The other day, he got on a street car carrying a large paper bag in which there was nothing whatever save a couple of wads appearance of containing something.

The professor sat down on one of the longitudinal seats in the street car, where he was visible to the largest number of his fellow-passengers. He set the paper bag delicately on his lap, and, after a moment, opened the neck of the bag slightly and peered down in.

Then, closing the bag tenderly, he gazed into space with a far-away smile on his face. A couple of blocks farther, he apparently could not resist another peek at the mysterious contents of the bag. And again, the absent tender smile on his face. By this time, everybody in the street car was aware of the professor and his bag. By an electric or psychic process, the curiosity of each one was communicated to others. The fourth or fifth time he peeked in the bag, everybody on the car was almost crazy with curiosity.

Then, in sublime contempt, the professor rose, squashed the empty paper bag, cast it away

THANKS TO DOCTOR UNNA

A reader reports her experience with Unna's paste treatment of phlebitis. She had thrombosis in the leg a year ago—but let her bed and keep off my feet, yet he had me coming to his office three times a week for shots and treatments. My foot and leg were so swollen I could not wear a shoe yet I had to walk from house to street, get in a car, and climb steps to get to the doctor's office. How could I keep off my feet?

"When this attack of phlebitis began I could see all the signs were quite the same as the one last fall, and I thought 'no use calling the doctor — I know enough to stay in bed and I can do a better job of it on my own than the doctor permitted me to last fall under his care.' Two weeks after the phlebitis began your articles appeared—Prevention of Thrombosis Monday Aug 23, and Treatment of Phlebitis Tuesday, Aug. 24. Since no one here had ever heard of the Unna's boot bandage we sent to Kansas City for Unna's paste, applied it as you described It worked like a charm and the swelling and pain rapidly disappeared. I wore the boot three weeks and when we removed it leg and foot seemed perfectly normal. We do thank you . . . it has proved a great relief and time saver."

In the article on Treatment of Phlebitis, for Tuesday Aug. 24, I described the method employed by a physician who has had outstanding success in the treatment of thrombo-phlebitis, and I said "It is not treatment you can give yourself." I am astonished that the reader did treat herself with such excellent results—but besides being a woman with brains she had the advantage of previous experience under some kind of ambulant treatment by her physician.

In the pamphlet on Varicose Veins (for copy send stamped self addressed envelope, but no clipping please) I tell how to make Unna's paste and how to apply Unna's "boot" — which is an excellent treatment in many cases of varicose ulcer, especially when there is some unusual reason why the varicose vein cannot be obliterated by injection treatment.

As the reader says, this Unna's boot, once placed, should be worn undisturbed for several weeks, provided it does not become too uncomfortable.

Few sufferers with phlebitis (inflammation of the vein) or thrombo-phlebitis (clotting in the vein) will get such relief from pain and swelling if they try to treat themselves. To get the relief I described in the column the skill and judgment of the physician is necessary—the physician can best judge the degree of pressure to make with the preliminary adhesive plaster bandage of the thigh. If the pressure is too great the boot will do no good. If the pressure is not great enough the patient will get little or no relief from pain.

So, then, if you have phelebitis thrombo-phlebitis, thrombosis blood clot in vein, varicose veins or varicose ulcer, don't run away with the idea that the Unna's boot is a magic remedy. Unna's paste is only the third of it; the other two-thirds of the magic is the professional knowledge and skill of the physician who applies the boot.

OUTDOING THE OTHER FELLOW

When you come into New York Harbor from the sea, you are met with a marvelous sight — probably one of the most inspiring of any in the world of like nature.

The great buildings seem to leap into the air and a grave dignity abounds about the crown of this incomparable city.

And yet, when I walk the streets of this marvel of cities, I wonder about the wisdom of these great buildings, some of which reach for over a thousand feet toward the sky. In other cities I see the same mad competition to "have the highest building in town."

On it goes. A bigger steamboat than the other fellow's, a bigger plane, a bigger battleship. Just a little while ago we finished our biggest war — and the world is strewn with wreckage which a thousand years will not be able to obliterate.

To beat the other fellow! Why do we not strive to improve on the other fellow, to render a more helpful service, to try to enlarge his lot and chance in the world? What is gained when we have outdone the other fellow along than to have narrowed our own soul and shrivelled our heart.

It seems to me that the world is improving on almost everything, except in its knowledge as to how to live. And that's the most important task in life!

Combinations, mergers, machine production — what are they all going to lead us to? In the cities homes are fast disappearing for mere places in which to sleep and take meals. The churches are being emptied. It appears to me that no age ever needed the church as this one of ours does. Not anything sectarian — but a place of peace, rest, beautiful music and talks by men in the pulpit who know all about the hunger condition of people's hearts.

The world is hungry. It craves spiritual food much more, even, than it does food for the physical body. But there must be a reduction to the human equation. We can never arrive at any happy state of being by making our god material success and our measure of triumph that of beating out someone else.

Let the cynic shrug his shoulder and smile at the Golden Rule—it, nevertheless, remains as the corner stone to any success or hap-

Crown Continues Case Against Howard Urquhart

Kingston, Nov. 2 — (CP)— The Crown continued its case today against Howard Urquhart, 21-year-old convict, accused of murdering John D. Kennedy, a messenger at Kingston penitentiary, when he and Austin Craft escaped from the prison last April 26.

Craft was convicted of the murder last week and sentenced to be hanged Jan. 2.

It was the second time in two years that Urquhart has come before Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay of the Ontario Supreme Court on a murder charge.

The first trial — in Toronto in 1946 — followed the fatal shooting of Meyer Tobias, a furrier. A jury reduced the charge against Urquhart and three other youths to manslaughter.

It was for the Tobias killing that Urquhart had been sent to the federal penitentiary for 20 years.

He and Craft, sentenced to 10 years for the robbery of a Hamilton bank, shot their way from the prison April 27. They were captured four hours later in a swamp north of Kingston.

During his trial, Craft took full responsibility for the killing and said he, alone, was responsible.

Two prison officials testified Monday after a jury of 11 farmers and an electrician was chosen.

Defence counsel Norman Borins said he would call Craft as a defence witness.

Prison guard Gilbert McBroom said he opened the prison gates to permit Kennedy to drive through the morning of the escape. Craft walked through the gate, apparently on his regular duty of loading and unloading trucks in the penitentiary enclosure.

Harold A. Blackburn, in charge of the prison garage, said Urquhart had been assigned to grease a car in the garage the morning Kennedy was killed.

Hospital Plan May be Used By Townships

Toronto, Nov. 2 (CP) — The Blue Cross plan for prepaid hospital care is considering the possibility of expanding into Ontario townships on a group basis.

Dr. E. C. Routley, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Hospital Association, Monday told the Women's Hospital Aids Association that "with 600 townships in Ontario, we are planning an experiment of going out into the townships on a group basis, working in conjunction with the township clerk and council, to find out what the rural people want to do."

He said any such move would be purely voluntary, with the people who enrol paying their fee along with their taxes.

Owen Sound, Nov. 1 — (CP) — In an effort to shift more of Owen Sound's industrial hydro load to the weekend, a proposed schedule has been drafted under which local industries are divided into three groups. Under the proposed schedule, all industries in the city would work two Sundays out of three, with each group shifting to a different two days off every 4 weeks.

Two Farmhands Arrested On Mischief Charge

Oshawa, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Two youthful farmhands were arrested Monday on a charge of "causing a public mischief," the aftermath of a flurry of Hallowe'en shooting on the East Whitby farm of J. J. Fleming.

Clarence Smith, 18, and a 16-year-old youth will appear in court today, police said.

Smith told police he had held off six armed men besieging the farm by firing a 12-gauge shotgun. He claimed that the attackers fired between 40 and 50 shots from .22-calibre rifles.

Provincial Constable Ray Hodgson said he arrested both youths on a public mischief charge but refused to give details.

Police said they had been unable to find any of the bullets that Smith claimed were fired.

U.S. Vegetables Quickly Snapped Up by Stores

Toronto, Nov. 2. (CP)—Forty-five carloads of American lettuce, tomatoes and grapes—first to arrive here since last February —were snapped up Monday by Toronto wholesalers and went on sale in stores a few hours later.

Most retailers reported a brisk business in the sales which followed relaxation of the ban against importation of certain fruits and vegetables from the United States.

One retailer said he sold U.S. lettuce at two heads for 25 cents. Last week two heads of Canadian lettuce sold for 19 cents.

California tomatoes sold at two pounds for 47 cents and imported seedless grapes at two pounds for [illegible] cents.

Trenton, Nov. 2 — (CP) — A contract increasing the average hourly wage by 20 to 24 cents, was signed Monday by the Downs, Coulter and Company and the United Textile Workers of America (A. F. L.), it was announced by the union Monday night.

The contract provides for a 10-cent increase in the basic rate for all employees and a 10-cent-an-hour, cost-of-living bonus. The wage increase is retroactive to Aug. 17, 1948, and the cost-of-living increase to Jan. 1, 1947.

St. Louis (AP) — A prowler stole Mr. Mildred Profitt's teeth Saturday night.

The 60-year-old woman told police she went to the basement of her home to tend the furnace. On returning she "ran into" an intruder, a tall young man.

Mrs. Profitt gasped with surprise and fright. The gasp ejected her lower denture. It fell to the floor and the prowler snatched it and ran out the front door. Along with the teeth he took $4 from a dresser.

Mrs. Profitt said she valued the denture at $50.

The Judge imposed a general suspended sentence "so you can get needed medical attention for your feet," then added:

Clearfield, Pa. (AP)—Charles E. Levan, 25, of nearby Pine Grove, killed two ringneck pheasants with a single shot the other day but the rare feat cost him $50. Game Warden John Spencer saw the shot and took Levan before a Justice of the Peace. Pheasants are out of season in Pennsylvania.

Foster, R. I. — (AP) — The contest for the double office of town treasurer and tax collector in tomorrow's election is a friendly family fight — between a husband and wife.

Although Foster is normally a Republican community, Mrs. Stone was elected in 1944 and re-elected two years later without opposition.

However, under Rhode Island's new primary law, the town's Republican committee was unable to endorse Mrs. Stone this year.

So the committee placed her husband's name in nomination, assuming that if he is elected he will turn the job over to Mrs Stone.

Stone's comment: "Unless the voters look at this thing as a joke, Lillian will be in."

His wife says: "Leslie, if you are elected I'll do just as good a job for you as I have for myself."

Claim Farmhouse Fired on By Fifty .22 Bullets

Oshawa, Nov. 1 (CP)— Four people said Sunday their farmhouse was fired on Saturday night by "between 30 and 50" .22 calibre bullets.

But police, who combed the district three miles north of here, said they couldn't find a single .22 calibre shell near the farmhouse.

They were sitting in the kitchen Saturday night when Smith took a shotgun from the wall, said he would look around because he suspected that Hallowe'en pranksters were in the vicinity.

Smith said he and Winacott climbed a hill where they heard voices so he fired "in the air" to frighten them away.

He said two bullets were fired back at him and "they were shoting to kill. They backed us right up until we had to run for the house."

Mr. Marnien said "this is a feud."

He said livestock, poultry and wheat had been disappearing from the farm since last Thanksgiving.

J. J. Fleming, owner of the farm, said he believed their story was "pure fabrication" and took the shotgun away from the farm.

Strong Evidence Given by Girl In Murder Case

Toronto, Nov. 2 (CP)—An 11-year-old Indian schoolgirl testified Monday how her grandfather scribbled "I am on a spot" on the back of a greeting card, a few minutes after he allegedly beat a woman to death in his attic room.

The girl, Audrey Powless, was testifying at the trial of Peter Powless, 60-year-old herbalist and self-styled Indian chief, charged with the murder of Mrs. Gwendolyne Pine, 41, last July 30.

Crown Attorney William Gibson read the message—written by Powless to his son—as the trial opened Monday.

The girl testified that her grandfather wrote the message on the back of a Father's Day card and "told me to put it away for my father. And then grandfather said goodbye."

Mrs. Elsie West, 35, testified she, Mrs. Pine and Powless drank wine in his room and then went to a hotel beverage room. Mrs. Pine was found beaten to death the next morning.

SCOUR COUNTRYSIDE FOR YOUTHS

St. Eustache-Sur-Le-Lac, Que., Nov. 2 — (CP) — A search party of 100 today scoured the countryside about St. Eustache, 25 miles west of Montreal, for some trace of two 17-year-old youths who disappeared while on a weekend duck-hunting trip.

The missing boys, Don Girwood and Charles Flynn of Montreal, set out in a canoe Saturday morning. They were to rejoin Maurice Ogilvy, 13, of Boulevard-Sur-Le-Lac at noon.

Another 30,000 H.P. Surges Into Hydro System

But Hydro officials said the new unit would not solve the province's critical power shortage. It would provide only enough power for a city of 25,000 people.

The generating plant later will be part of the province's plan to convert to 60-cycle power.

Polymer, a federal government corporation, was built during the war as a synthetic rubber and chemical plant. In addition to supplying power for its own industry, the new generating plant will serve other industries along the St. Clair River.

Gold Production Up 4.6 P.C. Over Same '47 Period

Toronto, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Bullion production of Ontario's gold mines was $52,960,943 for the first nine months this year, the Ontario Department of Mines announced Monday in its monthly gold bulletin. This is an increase of 4.6 per cent over the same period last year.

The industry milled 6,184,844 tons of ore up to the end of September, an increase of 7 per cent; recovered 1,507,597 ounces of gold a 4.58 per-cent increase, and 303,972 ounces of silver, a 42 per cent increase.

Bullion worth $5,923,128 was produced during September from 710,557 tons of ore from which 168,317 ounces of gold and 38,894 ounces of silver were recovered. Average grade of ore was $8.34, lowest since Dec. 1933.

Starratt Olsen, in the Red Lake district, reported production in September while the Berens River Mine in the Patricia district ceased production.

Choral Group Presents Masterly Performance

By Eugene Lang

For the second time within a month the music lovers of the city and district were treated to an evening of unexcelled vocal entertainment at the Collegiate Auditorium which contained the largest audience thus far to attend a concert under the auspices of the Community Concert Association. Every available seat was occupied, the crowd being such that additional chairs had to be supplied throughout the auditorium so that members could hear the incomparable singing of the De Paur Infantry Chorus which made its debut here last evening.

This ensemble, made up of thirty-five Negro veterans of the Second World War was organized within the 372nd Infantry Regiment of the U.S. Army in 1942 at Fort Dix, N.J. and presented more than 2,000 concerts for the American Armed Forces, during its three year travels to all theatres of war in Europe and Asia while in the service. It made its first transcontinental tour last season and has received the praise-worthy plaudits of critics and audiences alike wherever it has been heard. A record breaking tour of thirty weeks has been the result if this initial impression, and Canadian cities from Port Alberni, B.C., to Charlottetown have been privileged to hear this outstanding vocal group.

Gifted Conductor

Leonard De Paur, the founder and conductor of this choir has made a name for himself in the musical world and is one of America's most gifted young conductors with a very brilliant future ahead of him.

The program presented was of a distinctly varied type, and ran the gamut from works of contemporary American composers, unusual folk-songs from Latin America; songs of varied national origins from the last war, through time honored Negro spirituals to a final group of sacred compositions derived from four different creeds.

"Morning Hymn" by the contemporary American composer Isidor G. Henschel was one which immediately brought to the attention of the hearers the fine acappella which was to be featured throughout the rest of the concert. It was sung with the necessary religious feeling and showed the gradations of tone that this organization was capable of emitting, from the softest pianissimi to the most powerful of fortissimi. Two chorales, "Thou Hast Made Me Endless" and "Here is Thy Foot Stool" by Paul Creston were beautifully rendered with utmost finesse. Herbert Haufrecht's "Speak! for You Must," a work with a fugal treatment showed to all the tonal power and dynamic vocal artistry that Mr. De Paur could command from his gifted choir.

Spirituals Well Rendered

Six Negro Spirituals of varied emotionalistic content brought forth to the audience the true spirit of the overburdened and slave-ridden "Darkie" of days gone by. "Honor, Honor" arranged by the distinguished Negro composer Hall Johnson was given with the requisite amount of sonority while the ever popular "Deep River" was rendered with the devotion that this fine co-ordination of voices could impart to its broad melodious strains. R. Nathaniel Dett's "Listen to the Lambs", a "religious characteristic in the form of an anthem" according to the Negro composer himself was one of the finest renditions of the entire evening and sung to perfection. Three chain-gang songs followed in this Spiritual Section of the program. "Water Boy" was given so convincingly by the bass soloist and chorus that it was encored by the continued applause of the listeners. Two more songs of this type, "Tol' My Cap'n" and "Jerry" (Lord, dis timber gotta roll) were vocalized with all the fervor and lamentable pleading that were requisites for the superb harmonious deliverance as so dramatically portrayed by the choir.

The great Hebrew invocation of antiquity "Eli Eli" was given with a rich-textured feeling of sorrow and wailing as a direct opposite to the lively and quickly enunciated reiterations of the Russian Orthodox Church liturgical chant "Hospodi Pomiloi", a very difficult tongue-twister that went off without a hitch. Alfred Hay Malotte's immortal setting to the "Lord's Prayer" as arranged by Mr. De Paur for his choir concluded the regular schedule of the evening. A tenor solo was very effectively done of the words of this sacred opus against a sustained and ever-moving four-part harmony of rich tone coloring.

As an encore after the tumultuous applause of the most receptive audience had died down, the chorus under its very able conductor sang to the approval of all the very familiar College Song of Yale, its one and only "Whiffenpoof" song.

Mr. De Paur is to be highly commended for his sensitive and highly skilled arrangements of the various numbers performed. They showed an insight of great intelligence and forethought in each instance.

Five singers of high proficiency were given solo parts throughout the concert and added greatly to the overall vocal dexterity of the entire chorus. The Chorus was made up of seven first tenors, nine second tenors, eight baritones and ten basses.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Middleton, Charlotte Street, Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Celebrating the 50th anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. W. Herbert Middleton, 6 Charlotte Street, today were "at home" to a wide circle of friends and relatives who called to tender their congratulations on their anniversary.

The couple were married in Peterborough 50 years ago by the late Rev. Dr. Torrence and came to Belleville 25 years ago where they have gained many friends. Mr. Middleton was formerly district inspector for electricity and gas, having retired 10 years ago. Mrs. Middleton is the former Isabelle Davidson.

Natives of the Peterborough district, both Mr. and Mrs. Middleton agree that the time has passed quickly since they were married half a century ago. "It certainly doesn't seem that long," noted Mrs. Middleton as she recalled that happy occasion.

Born Near Peterborough

Mr. Middleton was born on a farm on the outskirts of Peterborough but early in life he was attracted to the bright lights and became associated with the Peterborough Light and Power Company. He was with this company when it was taken over by the Ontario Hydro. Twenty-two years ago he joined the inspection department for electricity and gas and was moved to Belleville. He retired in 1938.

Both Mr and Mrs. Middleton enjoy good health and have a keenness of mind which would belie their 78 years. They are members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, while Mr. Middleton also belongs to the Belleville Rotary Club, and is a member of the Masonic Lodge No. 155, Peterborough and also the Canadian Order of Foresters in Peterborough.

Ardent Bowler

He is an ardent member of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club and every day on which there is bowling he can be seen at the greens. He admits he used to like to fish but when his family was young he got tired of baiting hooks.

The Middleton's two daughters are former school teachers and are now both married. Mrs. Bruce McGregor lives at Oshawa, while Mrs. Harry Freeman resides at Preston. There are three grandchildren.

Women's club members from St. Andrew's volunteered today to assist at the Middleton home where felicitations and congratulations were received. The home was tastily decorated for the occasion, the dining room table being graced with a lovely three-deck layer cake signifying the 50th anniversary.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A Fiance and His Mother

It is a smart girl who makes careful note of the relationship between the man in whom she is interested and his mother. For this relationship will almost always provide a clue as to whether or not the chap will make a good husband.

It does not always follow that because a man is, as the saying goes, good to his mother, he will be equally good to his wife. On the contrary, if before marriage he has been good to his mother because he is completely under her thumb, it is almost certain that he is likely to make his wife very unhappy indeed.

Here is a girl of nineteen who was engaged to a young man of twenty. On her eighteenth birthday he gave her a diamond ring. After he had done so, his mother, this girl writes me, "talked it over with him and told him he was too young to get married. So I gave him back his ring because of his mother."

Following this incident, the girl says, she had a quarrel with the mother. "She told me she had heard a lot of talk about me," her letter says, "and she didn't think I was good enough for her son. Now we can't talk when we meet on the street because she makes a fool of me by yelling and calling me names. My boy friend has to go out of his house when he wants to call me on the telephone, which is every night, and we see each other one night a week at my aunt's house. He wants to get married when he is twenty-one, which will be in another year. But because of the way his mother treats me now, I'm afraid to marry him. Friends of mine tell me the trouble is that if she loses him, she will lose her bread and butter. But there are others who can support her.

"I have been told to go out and meet other boys. I have tried that but it didn't do any good because I am deeply in love with this boy and don't enjoy myself with other people."

If it is really true that his mother has heard unfavorable things about the girl, her opposition to her son's marriage might be justified. That is something only the girl herself knows.

If, on the other hand, it is true that her opposition is based upon the fact that she will lose her son's support when he gets married, that is another consideration.

If the boy's attitude when his mother told him he was too young to get married was such that the girl felt obliged to give him back his ring, he is probably a type that would feel he would have to put the support of his mother ahead of taking on the responsibility of a wife. For had he been a lad of courage and independence, he would not in the first place have told the girl what his mother said, and in the second place, he would never have allowed her to return his ring.

Under the circumstances I think the girl is quite justified in her hesitation. If, however, as she suggests, she is so much in love with him that she doesn't want to give him up at this point, then all she can do is to let things ride as they are for awhile and see what develops. If the boy shows evidence that he will stand on his own feet and make his own decisions, instead of allowing his mother to make them for him, she might take a chance on him. If he doesn't, she'd better forget him.

To Young Lovers: Take off the Rose-Colored Spectacles Now and Then!

Sometimes it seems as though half the women who write me are unhappy because they aren't married, while the other half are unhappy because they are.

The trouble is, most unmarried women idealize and overglamorize the mere state of matrimony. They imagine that once they have husbands and homes of their own, all problems would automatically solve themselves. The real truth is that problems usually begin when the honeymoon is over.

Sometimes the problems that come up in marriage are just those which inevitably come along in normal human life, and husband and wife meet and solve them together. That is a happy marriage.

Unfortunately, however, in a great many cases the problems that arise come because either husband or wife, and sometimes both, don't care enough to make the marriage a successful one, and then you have a definitely unhappy union.

Sometimes this lack of interest on the part of husband or wife shows itself in flagrant acts. A husband may be unfaithful; he may drink too much; he may gamble away the money that ought to go toward keeping his home, or he may even walk out and desert the wife he has promised to take care of all his life.

Or, on the other hand, a man may be physically faithful, sober and hard-working and yet make his wife completely miserable by his attitude toward her.

This is the sort of thing with which a wife has to contend who writes as follows:

"In one of your columns you spoke of a man who wrote you a letter that said, 'Did you ever have a feeling of being lonely all the time?'

"Please tell this man that I too have known what loneliness is, and have all my married life. If my husband gets his way in everything, he is very nice and pleasant, though never affectionate. If he doesn't get his own, he is moody, cross and sometimes downright nasty.

"It is a terrible feeling to be lonely and not wanted, and only those who have had to experience it know what it is really like. Sometimes I have been so lonely and so desperate and hungry for affection that I felt like running away. But then I thought of my marriage vows—for better or worse, for richer or poorer, till death do us part—and so I have stuck. But oh, what a battle, a battle I couldn't stand to go through another time!"

Now here is a woman who undoubtedly would have been far happier had she never married this man. For her, as for so many others like her, marriage has proved to be not the glamorous dream so many unmarried women believe it to be, but a dreary round through which she must go day after day with no hope of

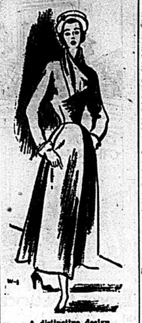
Doeskin Town Coat



A distinctive design

By VERA WINSTON

THE SIDE SWEPT closing lends a jaunty note to the silhouette of this well-bred town coat, fashioned of deep grey doeskin with matching buttons. The crushed collar effect is in one set-in piece terminating at the slim waist which is marked by a stitched seam. The skirt, which is fairly full, has concealed hip pockets.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Keeping the Face Clean

To have a lovely complexion, to be dainty and wellgroomed, you must be a dirt fighter. You have to fight morning, noon and night. Soap, of course, is your best and strongest weapon but, as far as the skin is concerned, there are other weapons—cleansing creams and meals, tonic lotions. If we all lived in a Garden of Eden, free of the horrid, black, greasy soot sent forth by chimneys, our beauty chores would be fewer and less arduous. There would be no dark-tipped pores; the texture of the average complexion would be finer, more delicate.

At this season of the year, after exposure to strong sunlight, the skin is in particular need of petting. Tan does not take itself away in one piece; it sometimes disappears in patches, making the face untidy. To restore the peaches-and-cream look, there is nothing more helpful than rousing old scrubbings with soap, warm water and a complexion brush. Moist heat softens dead skin scales; friction takes them away.

Don't forget that there is no such thing as camouflaging black heads under delicately tinted powder and rouge. It just can't be done. If make-up is to glorify, it must be placed on a clean, healthy skin surface.

Be fussy about the soap you use. While all of them are good, some may be better for the individual than others. Find one that lathers freely. If you are beset with blackheads, you might try a shaving soap. Rub it in with your fingertips, press it into the flesh. To pass a bar of soap over a washcloth and to give your face a few swishes will not make for a thorough renovating.

The complexion brush should be an item in every woman's beautifying equipment. The bristles must be fairly firm. Do not economize when making a selection. A poor brush with bristles that weaken when put in water accomplishes little or nothing.

To remove soap suds, it is better to use warm water than cold. That is best, too, if one is to apply a cream since any oily emollient is more effective in its results if the skin surface is warm and glowing.

Never Go to Bed With an Unwashed Face

Don't dig a coarse towel into the flesh. Dry the face with gentle pats. An excellent method is to wrap the towel around your flattened fingers. Begin patting on the chest and throat. Slap lightly along the line of the jaw, from chin tip to ear lobes. Go over the cheeks and the forehead briskly, but not roughly.

This practice is a sort of facial treatment in itself. It starts the blood streams dancing and they, in turn, invigorate the tiny fibres that give support to the epidermal coating.

Never go to bed with an unwashed face! That must be your beauty law.

GOOD MANNERS

How to sign the parents' names on birth-announcements

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When we send out the birth-announcements for our baby who is to be born soon, how should we sign our names to everyone? Should we sign "Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith", or "Edith and Alex Smith", or just "Edith and Alex?"

2. Should we send an announcement to the grandparents on both sides?

Reader

1. Beware of signing "Mr. and Mrs." to any informal card of any kind that you are sending to anyone! If you know a person well enough to send her or him an announcement of the birth of your baby, it would certainly be inappropriate to sign the formal name ("Mr. and Mrs.") to the card! The name you write at the end of an informal card is your signature . . . and your signature is your informal name. The cards you send to relatives and intimate friends should be signed by your first names only . . . "Edith and Alex." (Don't write the sign of and (&) spell out "and". Add the last name . . . "Edith and Alex Smith". . . when you think more name-identification is called for.

2. Yes, of course the grandparents won't need to be informed by card. . . . but I'm sure they will proudly welcome these announcement cards, to keep as delightful remembrances of that-so-important date!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My father, at very short notice, was transferred by his company to this city, a long distance away from our home-city. We had to move at once, and I was so terribly busy getting ready to move that I didn't have a chance to say goodbye to many of my friends. One of my very best friends is a boy who was away at the time, and since I know he was expecting to enlist in the service, I would like to write him a letter telling him the circumstances of our moving, my new address, asking him about his plan, and sending him my best wishes for his plan. Under the circumstances I have told you, would it be proper for me ("the girl") to write first?

Ginny

Indeed it is proper for you to write to this young man. . . and as natural, under the circumstances, as it would be for you to write to the other good friends you have left "back home". And with the possible changing circumstances of his life, it's very important that you write him, to assure him of your way of friendship-thinking and to send him your "best wishes, sir!"

Gifts for her sick boy-friend

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What would be a nice gift for me to send to my boy-friend, who is sick and will be in bed for some time?

L. G.

Books or a group of current magazines are the best of gifts for a man ill at home or in a hospital. Flowers or a flowering plant certainly add cheer and brightness to a patient's room, and are a friendly way of saying, "I'm so sorry you're ill, and I hope these flowers will bring you cheer." Fruit and candy or other sweets are suitable only if you know that these are permissible in your sick friend's diet. Solitaire games help in passing recuperation hours. If you want to send something that will be of great use now and afterward, how about a special pencil of a very-easy-to-write-with quality, or, if he hasn't one, a fountain pen, stamped with his initials or full name? And perhaps more welcome than any other gift would be a daily (or at least very frequent) cheerful letter or card or note, maybe with clippings, cartoons, stories or news items on things that particularly interest him.

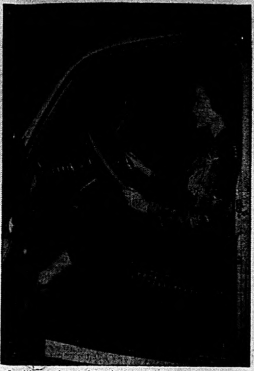
Watch Your Posture, Lady



Good setting posture is important particularly while driving. Correct position is shown here by Actress Jacqueline White

By HELEN FOLLETT

CORRECT posture emphasizes the good points of the figure, camouflages the poor ones, if they are present. It imparts an air of distinction, gives snap and style to one's clothes. It is suggestive of youth, energy and grace.

Carriage should be erect, but not rigid. The body must have ease and flexibility if it is to move rhythmically. The head must be balanced, chin on the level; poses that give fine lines to the throat and shoulders. Stand against the wall, heels, buttocks and shoulders touching the wall, backbone held tall. Let the arms be relaxed at the side. Then walk. See if you can hold that pose.

To let the shoulders fall forward is to cause the chest to contract, to weaken the delicate tissue of the breasts. The collar bones pop out on the thin girl, there is a roll on the upper back of the plump one. It seems a pity that girls and women of all ages do not pay more attention to this matter that is so vital to health, well being and appearance.

Correct posture makes for a slender waist because it takes up the slack at the midriff. It helps you to tuck your hips back and under. It gives smoothness and snap to the lines of the back.

When you wander through the buy-ways, looking for dry goods, glimpse the reflection of yourself in the shop windows. As few of us have full length mirrors we seldom see ourselves all of a piece. And figure changes may creep upon one. One must keep aware of these matters.

Good posture begins in the mind. Keep it ever in your thoughts. It is the attitude of courage, just as the slumped, slouchy pose is the attitude of despair and cowardice.

Remember that sitting posture is important, too. Don't slouch on the bottom of your spine or slump forward. Sit up straight but let your body relax and avoid a "ramrod" position.

N.H.L. All-Star Team Will Likely Take Ice at Chicago Against Leafs Without Practice

Chicago, Nov. 2 — (AP)—They scarcely need it, but the National Hockey League All-Stars probably will take the ice without practice for their second annual match against the Toronto Maple Leafs before a capacity 17,000 at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The Maple Leafs, who bowed to the Chicago Black Hawks, 2-1, at the Stadium Sunday night, stayed in town for the game. They worked out Monday and have another drill scheduled for today.

Most of the 18 All-Stars will drift into town today and early Wednesday and Coach Tommy Ivan of Detroit apparently has little chance to round them up for a test flight on the Stadium ice.

The visiting contingent includes goalie Bill Durnan, defencemen Butch Bouchhard and Ken Reardon, centre Elmer Lach and wing Maurice Richard, all of Montreal's Canadiens; five Detroit Red Wings — Bud Poile, defencemen Jack Stewart and Bill Quackenbush and wingers Ted Lindsay and Gordon Howe; goalie Frank Brimsek ,wing Woody Dumart and centre Milt Schmidt of the Boston Bruins; and the New York Ranger's defenceman Neil Colville, centre Ed Laprade and wing Tony Leswick.

The 1947-48 All-star first team as chosen by the league coaches included wingers Lindsay and Richard, centre Lach, defenceman Stewart and Quackenbush and Toronto's Turk Broda as goalie.

That'll ostensibly be Coach Ivan's starting lineup, excepting of course Broda, who'll be in the nets for his own team, last season's league and Stanley Cup champions.

Proceeds of the game will go to the league's pension fund. with a portion earmarked for the Daily News' veterans' fund.

In last year's inaugural All-star contest at Toronto, the Maple Leafs bowed to the hand - picked performers, 4-3. It was a costly exhibition for the Black Hawks, whose speedy Bill Mosienko suffered a broken leg.

Ronnie Lacelle Defeats McFater By One Point

Ottawa, Nov. 2 (CP)— Toronto's Alan McFater, 136 pounds, Monday night dropped a five-round lightweight Amateur Boxing decision to Ottawa's ace lightweight, Ronnie Lacelle, 139, by the slim margin of one point.

In the semi-finals, Oshawa's Stoney Drake was belted to the canvas at 1.25 of the third round by Bob St. Jacques of Ottawa. Drake took a nine count in the second round and another in the third.

Another Oshawa puncher, Bud Henry, was dropped in the preliminaries by Mac Plouffe, hard-hitting Ottawa lightweight. Henry went to the floor for nine counts in the second and two in the fourth before losing the decision in the fifth.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 2 (AP)—A few noses are slightly out of joint around this swank report, which exists mainly for golf and sleep . . . It seems that after the dates were set for the 46th north and south open tournament, several outstanding players were diverted to a P. G. A. sponsored event in Hawaii . . . it's a matter of prestige . . . Pinehurst, with no profitable galleries and no desire for them, won't meet the P. G. A. minimum purse of $10,000 . . . so the P. G. A. won't "sponsor" the event . . . "After all, this is our 46th year. The tournament is older than the P. G. A." commented one Pinehurst spokesman. "This is just a vacation for a lot of players; they aren't bothered by crowds and they have a good time." . . . Nevertheless, a lot of the top tournament stars apparently can do without a vacation. Of the first 10 on the money - winning list this season, the only ones here are Johnny Palmer and Clayton Heafner, almost local boys, and big Vic Ghezzi who registers from Englewood, N. J.

Sport Pitches

On appropriately named "Maniac Hill," the practice range at the Pinehurst Country Club, Claude Harman and Chick Harbert were watching young Jack Burke belt a few iron shots. He finished each swing with his club high in the air . . . "What's this business?" asked Harbert, extending one arm above his head. "You look as if you'd been riding on a street - car." . . . A moment later Harman was taking some slow, careful shots and Burke explained: That's his Wednesday swing. On Thursday the tempo is faster and by Friday it's really fast" . . . Retorted Harman, "You don't have to worry about my Thursday swing. I don't qualify to play many Thursdays." . . . After barely missing the course record with a 67 while his partner, Charley Bassler, had a 68, Dick Mayer suggested: — "Why don't we go out on the course and offer to match our best ball against a couple of guys who haven't seen the scores?" . . Fashion note: The popular costume now seems to be dark grey slacks and a lighter grey, short-sleeved, open-throat knitted shirt. Wonder what became of knickers?

Red-Hot Boston Trio Pacing N.H.L. Marksmen

Montreal, Nov. 2 (CP)— A forward line which in training camp a month ago was made up of three guys named Joe today is the toast of the National Hockey League.

Sandford, a big, long striding pivotman just two years out of junior ranks, shares top spot with Warwick, the mighty-mite Bruins obtained from New York in a trade for Billy Taylor. Each has 10 points.

In third place with eight points is Babando, another second-year man with the Bruins.

Ted Lindsay of Detroit, up near the top of the scoring list all last season, shares fourth place with two other players, Toronto's Ted Kennedy and Billy Reay of Montreal Canadiens. Each has seven points.

Sandford, Babando and Lindsay share goal-getting honors with five apiece, while Warwick tops the assists department with six.

In seven games netminder Harry Lumley of Detroit has allowed only seven goals for an amazing goal-a-game average. Lumley and Bill Durnan of Montreal are tied for shutout honors with two each.

Hero of Bataan To be Honored At Horse Show

New York, Nov. 2 — (CP)—The society, fashion and glamor set will make its annual pilgrimage to Madison Square Garden today to view the formal opening of the 60th annual horse show.

The show, which will continue for eight days, will be highlighted by a special military salute given to Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan, by the military jumping teams of Canada, France and Mexico.

For the first time in years, however, the mink and money mob will not see the United States military team, since it abandoned the sport and broke up its team soon after the Olympic games.

In all, 17 states and Canada are represented among the exhibitors of some 500 horses. Of these, 444 are entered in the open jumping, hunter, saddle and harness classes.

A total of $30,000 in prizes has drawn some 270 exhibitors.

The famed musical ride of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, not seen here since before the war will be back to add a crowning touch of color. Canada also will be represented by entries in the jumping events of the military team and civilian contenders.

The R. C. M. P. team is under Inspector William Dick of Ottawa, the military team is made up of Sqdn. Ldr. Douglas Cleland, St. Catharines, Ont.; Maj. Gordon Gayford, Maj. Charles Baker; and Lieut. W. R. Ballard of Weston, Ont.

Ballard also is entered in the civilian events and the other Dominion entrants are Vernon G. Cardy, Montreal; A. B. C. Farms of Brampton, Ont.; and J. Lance Rumble of Durham, Ont.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Member teams of the Belleville District Hockey League will dig out the paraphernalia this week and swing into practice action on the Memorial Arena front. Maestro Walter Gerow, who has his Arena crew working a top speed getting the ice installed expects to have everything in readyness by Wednesday evening and it is quite likely one or more of the teams will get the kinks out of their legs the same evening.

• • •

With the loop officially getting under way a week from to night it is likely that each squad will get in one or more practice licks before the big opening. Northern Electric who will pop up the curtain in the inaugural tilt against the Cooklan Rockets will, with the junior puckists, get into some kind of shape prior to the tilt as will Cobourg and the Trenton Hockey Club which are scheduled to perform in the nightcap of the twin bill.

• • •

Rockets are getting in some conditioning work under the supervision of Kenny McNaught and with a practice or two under their belts they should give a good account of themselves in the opener. Northern Electric have Plumley, 'tis reported, slated for pipe duty, Clare Williamson, Don Barrett, and other of the more or less veteran performers realy to go. What the other teams will trot out is something of a mystery thus far although if you believe all you hear, the loop will be nothing short of a miniature National Hockey League. We prefer to wait and see what does happen.

• • •

Pictorially and otherwise colorful, with accuracy to the nth degree, the splendid film "The Glory of Sport" the motion picture story of the 15th Olympiad held in London, England, comes to the McCarthy Theatre Wednesday, Thursday, for its inaugural showing here. The film, photographed in the rich pictorial glory of technicolor brings to sports and other fans of the city, the close-up highlights of the world's premier 1948 sports attraction. The Parade of the Nations, with the cream of world athletes, including our own from Canada, the individual and collective glory of the victors and the sportsmanship of the vanquished are shown in this outstanding epic of motion picture photography. The whole calendar of sport flashes in front of your eyes. From the lightning thrust of the sprints, to the swift action of basketball, tennis; the flurry of leather gloves; the grace and symmetry of the fencers, in fact all the roar, glory and glamor of the Olympics is here. Sports fans, no matter their favorite form of athletics should not miss this picture. It is a complete pictorial record of the greatest event in the history of athletics.

It is hoped that all available hockey referees, past, present and future will attend the Forum being conducted by the Ontario Minor Hockey Association at Kiwanis Centre, Friday night. It is free—and all whistle-tooters, especially those who intend officiating at minor games are urged to attend.

• • •

Hockey referees can make or break a game. Inefficient arbiting has been the cause of many otherwise good games ending in a fiasco. On the other hand, officials who know the rules and the finer points of the game, who are fearless in the face of argumentative odds, and otherwise know how to keep a game in hand, have brought order out of what could have been chaos. Belleville in immediate past has not been blessed with too many officials who come under the heading "efficient." One or two have carried the torch and on a number of occasions have been forced to carry the other fellow as well. This is not as it should be. There was nothing deliberate about the actions of these people. It was merely because they were not sufficiently acquainted with the rules and regulations—and consequently did not act when sometimes glaring breaches were committed.

• • •

There were squawks and howls of dissatisfaction from management, players and spectators. It was a situation that could and should be remedied. Now comes an opportunity for those who intend to take on the arbiting jobs, to better themselves. By attending the OMHA Forum, we think that much can be accomplished. And much learned. In fact no one is too old to learn, no matter what he is doing.

• • •

Hockey officials have to make split-hair decisions. In this game, the fastest sport in the world, things happen with lightning-like rapidity. An official has no time to scratch his head and think. He should have the answer at his tongue-tip. And he shouldn't hesitate when the answer flashes through his mind. You cannot turn out efficient hockey referees overnight. If this was the case they would be a dime a dozen. It takes practice and continuous study of the rules to be able to satisfactorily handle a hockey game, especially in these days of speed, goals and more speed. Officials should welcome the opportunity presented them by the OMHA to take a refresher course. Expert officials, it is reported, will be here from Toronto and other points to outline the finer points and to conduct a question and answer session. It will be well worth the while of any hockey enthusiasts and that includes a lot of players and fans we know, to attend the Forum on Friday.

Toronto Marlies In Cellar Spot Of Junior Group

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto Marlboros and Stratford Kroehlers battled it out for the cellar spot in the Ontario Hockey Association junior race last night, while the rest of the pack were idle.

Marlboros, although sparked by a solid performance by star forward George Armstrong, failed to come up with a win as Kroehlers defeated them 4-2.

The victory moved Stratford into fifth place, three-way tie with Guelph Biltmores and Galt Rockets with four points, 11 points behind the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees.

Bibber O'Hearn and Joe Beda put Kroehlers on the long end of a 3-2 count in the second frame. O'Hearn got his second goal of the night when he beat Roy McMeekin on a pass from Flanagan.

Two games are slated on the OHA bill tonight. The third-place Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen clash with the second spot Owen Sound Mercurys in the senior loop. Guelph Biltmores take on Galt Rockets in the junior circuit.

Expect to Launch New Senior Group At Brantford

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 2 (CP)—With the blessing of the O.H.A. executive, a new senior 'B' group is expected to be launched Tuesday night at a meeting to be held here.

Herb Jarvis of Grimsby one of the leading figures in organizing the group, expects to meet with delegates from Grimsby, St. Catharines, Brantford, Georgetown, Welland, Woodstock and Preston. While not all the cities mentioned are certain starters it is known they are interested and promised representation at the meeting.

Russell McLeod, Preston, feels he can pick up a good club from places adjacent to Preston that have no Senior B clubs and get a strong team.

St. Catharines reports the industrial league is not operating this season and enough good players could be selected there from last year's local circuit to ice a good club.

Grimsby is well set for both ice and players and wants to play. Welland may be doubtful. Woodstock's hesitation, if any stems from the fact artificial ice will not be available to start the season.

Brantford has many players left over from the team that won the intermediate O.H.A. title in 1946, Robin Bewson is dickering with Stratford. It is said Billy Leconte will be claimed by Paris for which team he starred last season, in the intermediate 'B' ranks. Leconte resides just outside the city limits here.

Horse Racing Plain Screwy In Britain

They call it "flat racing" to differentiate from Steeple-chasing, but it really isn't on the level. The tracks are seldom flat. They're gently rolling turf with sometimes pronounced upgrades as on the derby course at Epsom Downs.

In some countries tracks are called "ovals," but oval tracks are a rarity here. Most are shaped like canes, qustion marks or horseshoes, and some even like pretzels.

These twisted routes explain how Deuces Wild lost a 1 5-8 mile race at Alexandra Park this year although he was leading 20 lengths entering the stretch. The horse took a wrong turn and apprentice Jockey M. Hanes couldn't straighten him out in time to keep him in the field.

Practically all experts for newspapers have aliases, a handy shield if there is a run of losing tips. Newspapers also have cute ways of giving tips. The Evening Standard has a "cryptic" in which they hint at a winner and you confirm by turning the paper sideways and peeking at the white space in the fold.

The Daily Express has a selection feature named "Riddle-Me-Ree." It is the British equivalent of the singing commercial. Riddle-Me gives a two line rhyme and you guess what, to wit:

"My first as exclamation might signify delight,
"My next perhaps opinion or that which lies in sight.
"My whole may win Sandown's 4 o'clock race."

Sport Splendid Character Builder Says Campbell

Toronto, Nov. 2 (CP)—Sport and particularly hockey, as a character builder was upheld Monday night in a speech by Clarence Campbell, President of the National Hockey League.

"In my opinion, hockey now has reached the point where it is part of our way of life," he told the Young Men's Canadian Club "It is a national asset and it will I hope, continue to grow."

He said he foresaw the day when an arena in every community would join with the church and school in "moulding the character of the country."

Outsider Wins Melbourne Cup

The heavily-favored New Zealand runner, Howe, didn't place after being pocketed with a mile to go in the two-mile gallop. The winning time was 3:21, a record for the event.

Rimfire was ridden by tiny apprentice Ray Nevill, who will be 17 years old tomorrow.

A crowd estimated up to 90,000 watched the race, and almost the entire country stopped work for a few minutes to listen to the broadcast.

N.H.L. Highlights

As a result of games played last week every team in the N.H.L. has now incurred at least one defeat. Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins each won a pair and dropped one and are still pacing the pack. Miami, Nov. 2 — (AP)—Dewey Frazier was fined $50 Monday for sawing a rowboat in two and taking home the part he owned.

His lawyer told Judge C.C. Curry the fine was paid under protest and would be appealed.

Frazier and George Ford owned the boat jointly until last Wednesday, when Frazier settled a dispute over ownership and maintenance by use of a saw.

"I've got a new boat now," Frazier told the court, "and a new fishing partner. George wasn't much of a fisherman, anyhow."

They merely removed all the spoons and forks from the dining hall, forcing students and faculty members to struggle through a breakfast of cereal and stewed fruit Monday morning with table knives.

Last year they hung a real skeleton from the dining room ceiling, parked a car in the middle of the gymnasium floor and turned a live cow loose in the college library.

blockade compels western Berliners to remain at home at night or walk. Only the Soviet-controlled elevated railway runs on until late at night because it was technically impossible for the Russians to separate the Western-Berlin part of the track from that in the Soviet sector. As a result, elevated railway trains are grossly overcrowded.

After dark, air lift pilots can easily distinguish the western sectors from the remainder of Berlin. The latter is brightly illuminated while the western sectors are in darkness, broken only by patches of light at Gatow and Tempelhof airfields and in those districts which are supplied with electricity for two hours after midnight.

Food rations in western Berlin are fully met by means of the air lift. But housewives nevertheless face many insurmountable problems every day.

No food is legally available in addition to the rations, and the black market takes full advantage of the blockade to demand extortionate prices for whatever additional food is smuggled into Western Berlin.

But in spite of all difficulties, neither the German nor the Allied Communists have allowed the blockade to engender fear of despondency. Theatres and other places of entertainment are never short of visitors and the art of cheerfully making the best of a bad situation is highly developed.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

Make no mistake about choice of suits bid by partner. Somebody has been giving somebody some bum steers on the subject. And you can take this to mean a lot of bad bull, if you like.

You hear it said that a choice should be made when partner has bid two suits. How is this unwisely interpreted? Like this: Assist the first suit if you like it better; even without support.

Better believe this: A choice is not demanded if each suit is bid only once. Assist one of them only if you have adequate support for it. Otherwise keep a blooming trap shut about it.

When is a choice demanded? Only when partner bids two suits and rebids one of them. A choice then does not admit adequate support. With the same number in each, choose the one he bid first.

Give it a go in this deal:

♠8 3
♥10 8
♦Q 10 9 8 7 5 4
♣K 10

WEST
♠K Q J 9 5 2
♥None
♦A K 6 3 2
♣A 3

EAST
♠10 7 6 4
♥J 6 5 3 2
♦J
♣8 5 2

♥A K Q 9 7 4
♦None
♣Q J 9 7 6 4

The bidding went like this:

South	West	North	East
2 H	3 H	Pass	3 S
4 C	4 S	5 D	5 S
6 C	Dbl	6 H	Dbl

The three bids by south asked partner for a choice. With the same number in each, north changes to the first mentioned. Despite lack of support. Not because he feared the double.

West thought he had a good double of six clubs. East thought he had a good double of six hearts. However, south took advantage of the three heart bid that showed no losers in that suit.

Opening lead from west was diamond king. What happens?

MACEY LEADING SCORER

Minneapolis, Nov. 2 (AP)—Hub Macey of Houston took over the scoring leadership in the United States Hockey League during the last week's play, figures from the league's headquarters showed today.

Macey has slapped in five goals and aided in eight others for 13 points. His new total put him one point ahead of Ray Powell ofKansas City and two points ahead of Bert Olmstead of Kansas City Powell and Blades led the league at the start of last week's play

Powell had four goals and eight assists for 12 points with Olmstead counting five goals and six assists for 11 points.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 2 (AP)— A woeful cry has arisen in press agent circles. The moan echoes back from the Hollywood hills and can be heard above the sound of dropped options. It is the reaction of publicists to the news:

"Jane Russell says no more cheesecake."

Yes, Jane, the queen of the leg (etc.) art, has put her shapely foot down and says she'll do no more posing in airy costumes on leopard skins and haystacks. I hastened out to the San Fernando Valley to confirm the report.

"That's right," the shapely brunette replied. "I had seven years of posing and I'm tired of it."

Aha! Is this because she thinks leg art is deleterious to her acting career?

"No," she replied, tossing my theory to the four winds, "I just think leg art is stupid. When I see other girls posing in shorts for some silly gag, I think it's ridiculous."

"Yes, but that's because you're not a male," I ventured. She shrugged the remark into oblivion.

Leg art or no, the Russell career is getting a decided uplift. The third film of her career ("Paleface" with Bob Hope) will be released shortly. She is now playing "Belle Starr" in "Montana Belle" with George Brent.

Next, she is supposed to do "It's Only Money" for her boss Howard Hughes. Co-starring are Frank Sinatra and Groucho Marx. This seems an odd casting since Groucho is not particularly her type. And as for Frank, his build will hardly bear comparison with Jane's.

"I'll look as though I could throw him a few blocks," she remarked.

The cheesecake ban makes it appear that the gal is out to destroy the Jane Russell legend — that she's merely a photographable form.

DREW IS LIKELY

At the press conference, which brought comments on a wide variety of matters, Mr. Drew said he was pleased his predecessor, John Bracken, had announced that he plans to remain in the Commons.

"He will be a great source of strength to the party and a great help to me personally," said Mr. Drew. "I had hoped he would do that and I said so at the convention."

The new leader reiterated his opposition to Communism and said laws should be amended so that communistic activities could be outlawed. Such activities were subversive and should be outlawed by laws which are enforced through the courts.

On Dominion-Provincial relations, he said a re-definition of the powers of the various governments should be made before other problems are tackled. The British North America Act should include a clear definition of how amendments to it could be made.

Mr. Drew renewed his criticism of government officials who are not responsible to parliament, but said he was not referring to any individual or fixed group.

PEOPLE OF PEEL

"Well, Tom," he said, "now you're the new premier do I got to get down on my knees?"

"No, a little bow will be all right, Mr. Kennedy assured him.

Youngster Greets Premier

Gail Pinkney, 3 1-2 years old, was probably the youngest to greet the 70-year-old premier. As "old Tom" knelt down she obligingly kissed him for the photographers, and kissed him again and again, as the camera men asked for "just one more please." Gail's grandfather, William Pinkney, a boyhood chum of the premier watched approvingly.

He recalled the days, 50 years ago, when he and Tom used to play soccer for Cooksville.

He didn't recall any championships they had won but he thought probably they didn't have championships in those days.

Farmers and townsfolk, who have voted for Tom Kennedy for almost 30 years —and some of them who haven't —filed past in the line and then sat down to sandwiches and coffee, prepared by the Legion Women's Auxiliary, and hashed over old times.

Herbert E. Levy, a retired Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway man and a former Lakeview, Ont., farmer, remembered the first day he met Mr. Kennedy back in 1919.

"It was a business transaction," he said. "I went to see him to buy a load of manure. He's just the same as he was then—even with all his high honors."

HOLLYWOOD BOUND— Susan Fletcher, CBC movie critic of Toronto and Vancouver, boards a plane at Vancouver for Hollywood where she has been signed to play the role of a Yorkshire scullery maid in a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production "Secret Garden". Miss Fletcher got her contract after Director Fred Wilcox heard her telling stories in a Yorkshire dialect at a private party. (CP Photo)

Keep Your Eye On Electoral Votes In U.S. Election

New York, Nov. 2. (CP) — Keep your eye on the electoral votes when the United States election returns start rolling in tonight.

There are 531 electoral votes divided among the 48 States. The candidate who gets a majority of them—266—wins.

Why 531 electoral votes? Because that is the total number of members of Congress—96 Senators and 435 in the House of Representatives.

Each State is entitled to a number of electoral votes equal to the number of persons it has in Congress. For example:

There are 47 New York State members in Congress: Two Senators and 45 House members, and in New York the Republicans have a slate of 47 electors. So have the Democrats.

Does that mean the 2,999,999 popular votes for Truman wouldnot be included in the total national popular vote to elect him? That's right.

Suppose that in Illinois Truman gets 3,000,000 popular votes and Dewey gets only 1,000,000. Then Truman gets Illinois' 28 electoral votes and Dewey's 1,000,000 popular votes don't count.

But in these two States, Truman would receive 5,999,999 popular votes to only 4,000,000 for Dewey, but Truman would wind up with only 28 electoral votes while Dewey, because of his New York victory has 47.

A candidate could get more popular votes and yet lose the election because his opponent carried States with the most electoral votes. That has happened.

This year Truman, or Dewey, could make a sweep of 36 States and yet lose if his opponent carried only these 12 states: California, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Ohio, Texas and Wisconsin.

These 12 States have 289 electoral votes, or three more than the 266 majority needed to win.

The newly-elected House of Representatives then would choose the President from the three candidates receiving the greatest number of electoral votes.

In that case the total House vote would be 48, with each State —no matter how many members it has in the House—entitled to only one vote.

U.S. VOTERS

The same groups which forecast a Dewey victory have said the closest race of the election would be in the Senate, which now has 51 Republicans and 45 Democrats Republicans said they would hold control, while the Democrats replied they would take over.

The House of Representatives in which the Republicans won control during the "off-year" elections in 1946, was generally called to remain that way.

Just what the size of the vote would be was in doubt The Dewey forecasters have hinted that the prospect of a foregone conclusion would have a diminishing effect Truman's strong campaign finish however, brought out increasingly large crowds. Then, too weather forecasts throughout most of the country today were generally good.

But the crucial vote would be that of the electoral college There are 531 electoral votes among the 48 states, with 266 required for a winning majority.

Elect 33 Senators

Besides electing the president and vice-president, the voters today will name 432 members to the House of Representatives and 33 Senators. There are 435 seats in the House but Maine, in an early election Sept. 13, returned three Republicans. Maine also elected one Republican Senator The House standing is 243 Republican, 185 Democrats, two members of the American Labor party and five seats vacant.

There also will be elections for governors of 32 states, with 100 candidates in the field. At the moment there are 24 Republican and 24 Democratic governors.

Truman's running-mate, Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky has spent most of his adult life in congress and has been Senate majority leader. Dewey's vice-presidential candidate is Governor Earl Warren of California, who commands the support of California Democrats as well as his own party. Wallace's running-mate is Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, a colorful western politician who, like Wallace, forsook the Democratic party.

FOG CRIPPLES AIRLIFT

Berlin, Nov. 1 (AP)— A heavy fog over the Frankfurt area today crippled the airlift carrying supplies into blockaded Berlin. American planes stopped coming in at Tempelof airfield at midnight and fog kept all but a few planes out of service 11 hours later.

Shuttle planes from bases in the British zone were arriving at the R.A.F.'s Gatow Field in Berlin, however. There was an interruption due to fog there too, but full service was resumed after about four hours.

Polymer Plant Power Fed Into Hydro System

Sarnia, Nov. 1 — (CP)—Representatives of government, industry, business and municipal heads were at luncheon ceremony today in Polymer cafeteria when the switch was pulled which sent 60-cycle power from the Polymer power plant into the Ontario hydro electric power system.

Today's act was the first step in the opening of the hydro's new $10,000,000 plant at Pond Mills, near London, to which Polymer is contributing surplus power for use at peak loads.

R. H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, and other officials arrived about noon today from Toronto in a jet aircraft. A similar ceremony was to be staged later at Pond Mills plant.

Jury Absolves Police Constable

Hamilton, Nov. 1. (CP)—Investigating the death of Carl Kobialko, killed by a provincial constable while attempting to escape arrest near Winona on the night of October 24, a coroner's jury today found that the fatal shot was fired in performance of the officer's duty and that the deceased could not have been apprehended in a less violent manner. The jury also found that "the officer shot to stop him and not to kill."

Evidence of Russell Woodley and Provincial Constable D'Arcy Garrett, who fired the fatal shot, that they could see a revolver in the hand of one of the two men riding in a stolen car, which had been overtaken by Garrett's cruiser, and that at least two shots were fired in their direction from behind the stolen car after two men had alighted from it, were flatly denied by William Kobuck, second of the two men in the stolen car, and now under arrest.

Cripps Has Not Changed Opinion on Liquidation Of British Empire

Bristol, England. Nov. 1 (CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said Sunday he has not changed his opinion expressed in 1933 that it is "essential" to Socialism that the British Empire be liquidated. In reply to a question after an address on Britain's part in the economic recovery program, Sir Stafford said the liquidation of the Empire "is what we have done in the case of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon.

Six Applications For Television Licences Made

Ottawa, Nov. 1 (CP)—Recommendations of the CBC Board of Governors on applications filed at public meetings last week will not be made known until tomorrow or Wednesday.

A CBC official said A. D. Dunton, Chairman of the Board, is out of town on business for the day. Release of recommendations therefore would be delayed.

Heading the list of a dozen applications were six for television broadcasting licences. The television applicants included Al Leary, former Toronto radio commentator, Famous Players Canadian Corporation, and stations CFCF and CKAC in Montreal and CFRB and CKEY in Toronto.

Mr. Leary asked for deferment of action on his application until the United Kingdom treasury decides whether it will authorize the investment of British capital in the station which he proposes to operate in Toronto.

The Board is limited to making recommendations to the licencing authority in the Transport Department. The recommendations are almost invariably accepted.

Russians Refuse American Request Interview Woman

Vienna, Nov. 2 (AP)— United States authorities said Monday the Russians have refused two American requests to interview the woman companion of Irving Ross, slain American official.

The woman is Dana Superina, 42, who also was brutally beaten after Ross was bludgeoned and bayonetted to death in the Soviet zone of Vienna early Sunday.

She blamed four Russian soldiers for the crime, but United States officials still are seeking details.

The Provost Marshal's office advanced robbery as a probable motive for the murder. Officials said Ross' billfold with a few papers in it was found about 15 feet from his car.

In rejecting a United States request for an interview, the Russians said Miss Superina was too seriously hurt to be questioned. They also turned down a proposal that an American army doctor be assigned to the case.

Red Economic Sabotage More Deadly Than Hitler's

London, Nov. 2 (AP)—Communist economic sabotage is more dangerous to Western Europe than the destruction wrought by Hitler's armies, Sir Stafford Cripps said Monday.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer addressed the House of Commons. His words apparently were aimed also at citizens of the countries across the English Channel.

THE SECRETS OF HILLYARD HOUSE

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

The ocean had come into Hillyard House and was now going out again. I went to the head of the stairs and held my candle high and looked down. The water had gone from the lower hall; I went down and say a pallid reflection of myself behind the blue-gray streaks and spots of the old mirror that had come from Italy and whose only value lay in the great carved whorls and acanthus leaves of the frame. My face looked leprous, with my straight hair loosened and hanging lankly and my eyes frightened, I scared myself more than ever.

My feet had been soaked halfway up to my knees; I was conscious now that they were icy cold. My candle threw a wavering light about the pretentious big entrance hall and the rising sweep of the stairs. Everything was sopping wet, and when I opened the front door I could see the surface of the water almost flush with the upper step. The breathing, menacing water filled the whole world in the dark, and the limitless ocean behind it stretched to China.

Well, there were tides, and this one was drawing away, and by and by it would be morning. High tides must go out; that was the law.

"Liberty!" The name came like a ghost out of the dark. I could bear no more tonight, and I fainted, and Clay came wading up through the waters that brimmed the garden and carried me in to the couch in the library. He was trying to make me drink something hot and choking and I was gasping over it when I came to my senses.

And that is the hour I want life to give me back at the very end to remember.

Clay was soaked to the skin; there were deeps of water down the avenue, and he had had to leave his car two miles away and make the best way he could between the poplars. I put my hand up to his heavy mop of tawny hair.

"They didn't cut your hair." I had no voice.

"They —— My God, you're all right," he said, his own tone hardly more audible than mine.

"Clay, how did you know?"

"And they told you?"

"They told me you were coming on alone with Munro. I didn't like it. What was the idea?"

"I don't know," I whispered. We clung together.

"You were frightened."

"I was. But not now." The bliss of it, with those wet salty arms about me!

"Munro thought of course you'd gone ahead with the others."

"You met Munro too?"

"He was stuck. He had a flat tire. The roads are half under water; he's about a hundred miles down the road."

"Oh, and you helped him?"

"I only asked for you. I didn't stop there half a minute."

"What do you think?"

"Oh, Clay," I said, resting against him with a sight that tore from the very depths of my being.

"You're freezing," he said. "We can't have a fire here; it's all soaked. But we've got clothes upstairs—"

Champagne was dancing in my veins. Again I saw myself in the landing mirror. The same draggled hair and dirty face and mud-stained garments, but the eyes were different.

"Clay, we look terrible——"

"Anyone would, in that ghastly mirror by candlelight. Liberty, is there food in the house? Of course there is. Get into something dry and let's find it."

And from there on, of course, it was all delicious adventure. We ransacked the refrigerator; we attacked a makeshift meal by candlelight, makeshift, but good, too — heated up things and toast and lots of heartening coffee. The next day some of the men from the ranch would be over, a few days later everyone would return, but this was our hour.

"Clay, they let you out."

"You knew of course that Cal— that your grandfather died in the prison hospital yesterday?"

"Oh yes. But — but is this—a—a parole?"

"No. I'm out, Liberty," said Clay with his mouth full of omelet "because in a sense I never was in."

I looked for a long silent minute at the face I had once thought plain and that now held everything in it that I wanted to find in the face I loved best in the world.

"You mean——"

"I didn't want him to be alone."

"They let you?"

"They're shorthanded in the hospital there, as they are everywhere."

"And for a whole year you saw him?"

"Every day."

"Did he know, Clay?"

"No."

"He thought you had to be there?"

"I made him think so."

"Clay, was he miserable?"

"No. Cal had passed beyond the year when he cared very much. He knew he was going, Liberty, and that the whole thing was only a dream. Youth and power and money and charm and a beautiful wife to take to Paris and spoil—"

"Did he know my grandmother — did he know that his old wife had died only three days ago?"

"Not unless she met him, Liberty, as he crossed over."

"I know she did." I had been crying hard, had stopped; now I began again, but quietly this time.

We found a lantern in one of the storerooms that trailed out beyond the kitchen, and by its tunneled narrow rays we looked at the earth, dragged and shining where the plants had been, the gate and part of the fence had been washed down.

"It'll all rebuild, Clay."

"Nothing to it." The night was very still, the ocean had gone back into the ocean, but it was still brimming close to the cliffs. We flashed our puny light to and fro over the heaving top of it and heard the foghorn at Chinaman's Light: bra-ay. And then quickly, bray-bray.

"You're shivering," Clay said. "We'll see it all in the sunshine tomorrow."

We went into the house and saw that the firewood in the wood closet was soaked, as was the coal in the ranged japanned hods. Upstairs Clay's room was comfortable, everything else was bleak. I got into my warmest silk pajamas and my woolliest robe and went into his room.

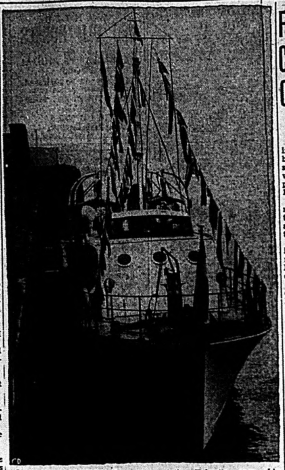
"May I stay here by the fire?"

"You take the bed."

"I truly like this better, Clay," I was already on the davenport, covered by the big Chinese rug, snug in the pillows, close to the fire.

"Whichever you like." He sat smoking and talking to me for a while, and then I went into a deep sleep, and when I awakened sunshine was on the old carpet and flooding the windows to the south, and Clay was gone and there was a smell of burning toast and coffee trickling upstairs when I was ready to go down, and old Tom Wing and young Tom Wing were in the kitchen. And it was all heaven.

THE END.



FLOATING SCHOOL—Next summer, the Fairmile class ship, shown here, will cruise the St. Lawrence with young Quebecers training for jobs in the Canadian merchant navy. The 86-ton, 114-foot craft was originally built for the Canadian navy but now has been converted to serve as a floating classroom for the Quebec government's Marine School at Rimouski. FORMER MIGRANT CONTROLS FLOW OF DP'S TO U.S.

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lake Success, N.Y. (CP)— An immigrant of 50 years ago has been named head of the Commission on Displaced Persons which will admit 205,000 displaced Europeans to the United States by July 1, 1950.

By next July 40,000 of that number will have been taken in—the same number as Canada is absorbing in the year which ends then.

Ugo Carusi, who came as an infant with his parents from Carrara, Italy, to the small town of Barre, Vermont, is the chairman of the commission.

Last year he went back to Europe, to consult with officials of the International Refugee Organization, a specialized agency of the United Nations which is trying to resettle 600,000 persons who lost their homes in the war.

His report urged immediate action to get displaced persons out of European camps "before it is too late for the individual to contribute to the strength, the culture and the ceremony of the nation which would adopt him."

Interested In Theatre

Son of a sculptor, Carusi is himself interested in the arts but concentrates on the theatre. He likes to sing and take part in amateur theatricals.

He is probably the only Washington official ever offered a Hollywood motion picture contract as a comedian. This occurred when he was visiting friends in the movie colony and took part in some amateur skits.

But the Hollywood offer was no temptation to this trained administrator who went to work at the age of 13, selling newspapers to support his family after his father died.

At the age of 20 he became secretary to the attorney-general of Vermont, spent subsequent years as executive assist to five attorneys-general of the United States.

In 1945 he was appointed commissioner of immigration and naturalization leaving this post for the present appointment.

Carusi, who earned his master of law degree at night classes, says he believes today's European emigrants have a greater opportunity than those of a generation ago.

"When my father came to this country almost 50 years ago, ev- [illegible] and there were few to help the newcomer," he says. "Now an arriving alien has things worked out for him and there are many volunteer organizations ready to give him a helping hand."

His plans for the D. P. program call for a staff of immigration selectors in eight areas of Germany, Austria and Italy—Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Salzburg, Vienna, Naples, Munich, Bremen and Berlin. From these points his workers will fan out to all the D.P. camps to interview applicants.

Revive Britain's Oldest Industry

London (CP)—Basketmaking in Britain is taking on a new lease of life. It is the nation's oldest industry, going back to the days of the ancient Britons before the arrival of the Roman legions.

In the period between the First and Second World Wars the industry was hard hit by imports from abroad. These were sold at prices which would not even cover the wages of British craftsmen. During this slump the willow beds specially cultivated to produce osiers for basketmaking shrunk from 9 000 acres to only 2,000.

During the war there was a big demand for home-made baskets. Large quantities were required for airborne supplies as well as for signal equipment. The willow growers re-organized their industry on a voluntary basis with complete success to meet these demands.

Now that Britain is restricting imports as much as possible in order to save spending abroad this activity is not only being maintained but increased. There are now 7,000 basketmakers and the aim is to raise the figure as high as 25,000. This will include blind and disabled persons for whom basket weaving is an occupation particularly well suited.

BERLIN AIR LIFT COSTS BRITAIN $9,200,000

London, Nov. 2 — (AP) — The Berlin air lift cost Britain £2,300,000 ($9,200,000) up to Oct. 26, parliament was told Monday.

The figures were supplied by Christopher Mayhew, Under-secretary for Foreign Affairs, who said the cost during October averaged £185,000 a week.

Australian Chummy With Deadly Snakes

Yarra Glen, Australia (CP)— If you want to get on friendly terms with a poisonous snake here's how to do it.

At least, it is the way Alec Wilcox, of Victoria town, gets chummy with Australia's most deadly reptiles.

Wilcox says he catches them by the tail and swings them around in the air a few times and then, with a confident, but kind manner of authority shows them that he has no fear for them and is, in fact their master.

He has never been bitten, but he carries a razor to lance a possible wound.

"You can see for yourself they want to make friends," said Wilcox, producing a couple of deadly copperheads from under his shirt. The snakes began to slither around his body and arms and finally went back to their hiding place under his shirt.

Wilcox catches the snakes in the river flats near his home. He and his wife, also a snake catcher, intend to train one as a pet "as soon as we get time."

TRUMAN'S ELECTION CONCEDED BY GOV. DEWEY

Peace, Prosperity Victory Promise Of Pres. Truman

Says He Will Continue To Serve to Best of Ability

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 3 — (AP) — President Truman promised today to dedicate himself "to the cause of peace in the world" and "prosperity and happiness at home" as he won one of American history's greatest upset political victories.

He promised to "serve the American people to the best of my ability" in the four years ahead.

And he acknowledged the congratulations of his defeated opponent, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, and commended him for his "fine sportsmanship."

"I feel very deeply the responsibility which has fallen to my lot as the result of the election," said his simple statement. "I shall continue to serve the American people to the best of my ability. All my efforts will be devoted to the cause of peace in the world and the prosperity and happiness of our people here at home."

Thanks Dewey

And he wired Dewey. "I thank you sincerely for your congratulations and good wishes. Your fine sportsmanship is deeply appreciated. We jointly owe congratulations to the American people who have once again shown the world the vitality of our free institutions."

Cheers went up from his headquarters in the Hotel Muehlebach penthouse as word of Governor Thomas E. Dewey's concession of defeat was conveyed to him.

ABBOTT DEFENDS BUDGET POLICY OF GOVERNMENT

Indicates Surplus Will be Between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000

Montreal, Nov. 3. (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said today in an address his departmental experts have estimated that the 1948-49 surplus will not diverge "by any very large amount" from this year's budget forecast of $489,000,000.

He indicated the surplus might range between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000. In defence of the government's policy of budgeting for surpluses in "good" times, he said:

"Surely a budgetary surplus of somewhere between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 in a year when our national income will probably exceed $15,000,000,000 is not unreasonable".

In an address prepared for delivery before a Montreal (Optimist) Service Club, he noted that published treasury figures for the six months ended Sept. 30 showed an excess of revenue over expenditures of $469,000,000—just $20,0000,000 short of the surplus forecast for the entire fiscal year.

Some, he went on, might take this to mean that the surplus for the full year would be near $1,000,000,000 and contend that the government's budgeting policy was radically wrong".

Heavy Expenditures

However these predictions were based on the assumption that the surplus would continue to accumulate in the last six months of the fiscal year at the same rate as it did during the first six months.

Actually, a substantially larger proportion of governmental expenditures occurred during the last half of the year and this would pull down the surplus.

Another important factor accounting for increased late-year expenditures was the fact many large construction contracts let early in the year did not come up for payment until some months later. These included undertakings of the Defence, Public Works, Transport and Resources Departments.

Rooting Trend Seen Leaning to Truman

Toronto, Nov. 3 — (CP) — Canadians watched the closest United States presidential election in 40 years from a ringside seat and an unofficial appraisal of the rooting section north of the border indicated a Truman trend.

Displaying undiplomatic but neighborly partisanship in Truman's battle with Thomas E. Dewey, they seemed to have installed the President as favorite from the time the polls closed, and interest ran high as the returns trickled in.

Most Canadian spectators admitted scant knowledge of the finer political points of the campaign. A new Congress was being elected, but they didn't seem to care. Their attention was riveted on the see-saw presidential race.

A Canadian Press survey showed preference for Truman was based largely on a feeling of familiarity after three years of friendly association with the man in the White House. The President also captured the support of many whose imagination was taken by his gallant fight as the underdog.

Across the country, newspapers held open CP leased wires past the regular closing hours to obtain up-to-the-minute returns. Western papers, normally "off the wire" at 3:30 a.m. EST, remained on the circuit throughout the night. At least one paper, the Victoria Colonist, published an extra edition.

DEMOCRATS WILL LIKELY HAVE FAIR MAJORITY

Break Tie in Senate, Grab Majority in House

Washington, Nov. 3 — (AP) — Democrats clinched control of the United States Congress today.

Indications were they would have a comfortable working majority in the House when all the votes are counted.

Including holdovers and members elected Tuesday, the Democrats counted 49 Senate seats and were leading in three other states. An actual Senate majority is 49.

Senate
Democrats — 54 seats.
Republicans — 42 seats.
Democrats — 229 seats.
Republicans — 205 seats.
American Labor Party — 1.
(The Republicans control the present House 243 to 185, with two American-Labor members and five vacancies.)

Democrats Also Win Control in House Of Representatives and Senate In One of Bitterest Political Battles

Challenger Trails Almost From Start in Popular Vote

By LLOYD McDONALD
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Nov. 3 — (CP) — Harry S. Truman's election to the presidency of the United States was conceded today by his Republican challenger, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The concession, which came unexpectedly at 11:15 a.m. EST with several key states still in doubt, climaxed what may go down as the most exciting presidential election in modern American history.

Truman, given no chance by practically every political dopester, fought his campaign courageously to the finish and brought a surge of support that sent him and his Democratic party back to power, not only in the White House but in the Senate and House of Representatives as well.

It is the first time any United States administration has been elected to power for two decades. Truman holds office until 1952.

James Hagerty, Dewey's press secretary, announced that Dewey had conceded the election in a telegram to Truman. It read:

"My heartiest congratulations to you on your election and every good wish for a successful administration, and I urge all Americans to unite behind you in support of every effort to keep our nation strong and free and establish peace in the world."

The last Republican hope that Dewey might nose out Truman in the electoral vote, even though he was trailing well behind in popular balloting, apparently faded with late California returns which put Truman narrowly in front in that state.

Personal Triumph

Truman's personal triumph and that of his party put to an end the Republican hold on the administration which Dewey's forces gained in the "off-year" elections of 1946.

For Truman, the victory was a tremendous personal achievement

With a fighting campaign, the Missourian roused his party from despondency and led it to a victory which also all its leaders except the President himself had written off months ago as an impossibility.

For Dewey and the team around him, it was the bitter end of a 10-year dream. The New York Governor has been aiming at and working for the presidency that long.

He broke precedent when he captured the Republican nomination this year after a losing race against Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944. He can hold little if any hope that his party will entrust its banner to him again.

With a working majority of his own party in Congress, Truman can submit the legislative program over which he and the Republican-dominated 80th Congress quarrelled—quarrelled – so much that Truman called the Congress "idiot" and the "second worst" in American history.

This program includes power to put on price controls, housing legislation, and the so-called "civil rights" measures, favoring the Negroes, which led many southern Democrats to break with Truman.

Even before the President's victory was assured, the returns had clinched Democratic control of Congress, wresting it away from the Republicans who won it two years ago.

Lineup Indicated

The indicated Congressional line-up is:

Senate: 54 Democrats and 42 Republicans.

House: 243 Democrats; 188 Republicans, and one American-Labor.

Governor Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, leader of the "States' Righters", a dissident group of Southern Democrats who opposed Truman's anti-Negro-segregation legislation, was in front in four States having a total of 38 electoral-college votes. He had won Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina, and was leading in Louisiana. In Tennessee, two electoral votes are in doubt between the Truman and Thurmond

In Wall Street which had anticipated a Republican victory, the initial reaction to the election's outcome was a break in prices of many stocks. Utility stock prices especially fell.

For the rest of the world, the outcome meant double assurance that there would be no shift in United States Foreign Policy. The present policy has been call-

Win or Lose Truman's Vote Tally Shows His Leadership

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP) Win or lose on the final count, Harry S. Truman's huge vote tally in the presidential election demonstrated a quality of political leadership that measures well by the Roosevelt yardstick.

Five months ago organization leadership in the Democratic party tried to dump Truman. He couldn't win, they said. Henry A. Wallace organized a splinter Progressive party. A group of southerners bolted the Democratic Convention in anger over Truman's civil rights program and formed the States' rights party. Poll takers counted Governor Thomas E. Dewey as good as elected.

1. Truman's own personal fight against the overwhelming odds of a party split over his nomination, splintered by factions, apparently crumbling under the load of 16 years of continuous rule.

2. His choice of issues, including what he called the "idiot" 80th Congress—the second worst in history. He hammered at:

(A) Enactment over his veto of the Federal Taft-Hartley Labor Law so bitterly opposed by organized labor;

(B) Failure to vote legislative controls for a soaring cost-of-living;

(C) Failure to provide a long-range program to relieve the housing shortage;

(D) Lack of action on his civil rights program — a recommendation that cost electoral votes in the south but doubtless added to his popular vote in the northern cities.

3. Farm belt uneasiness in recent weeks over grain price declines, stirred by Truman's arguments that the 80th Congress crippled the price-support program and that a Republican administration would bring back 1932 farm conditions.

Surprise is Main World Reaction Following Truman's Election Victory

(By The Canadian Press)

World reaction to President Truman's election victory today followed the same pattern of surprise — with admiration in many quarters — as in the United States.

But the most concrete immediate result was the effect on world financial markets, which registered sharp losses as traders were taken by surprise at the victory over the favored Republicans.

Wall Street reacted violently at the news with drops of as much as $4 a share. Even Canadian issues on the New York Exchange were affected.

In London, United States issues slumped, but domestic shares remained firm. The Canadian markets followed the New York trend but less violently.

European newspapers, most of which had confidently predicted a Dewey victory, played the results prominently.

Jaboc Malik, second-ranking Russian United Nations delegate at Paris, said "amazing is the right word." Andrei Vishinsky, Foreign Affairs Department, said the result "really makes little difference because of (American) bi-partisan foreign policy."

Sir Alexander Cadogan, chief British United Nations delegate, said "I think everybody is surprised." Other British delegates said they were "bowled over."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said in Lyon, France, a Truman victory "would be a very good thing for the United States and for the world." She said she was "very surprised at the early returns."

Although a new Congress also was being elected, they gave almost all their attention to the presidential race.

A Canadian Press survey showed the preference for Truman was based partly on a feeling of familiarity with the Missourian who was plunged into office from the vice-presidency when Franklin D. Roosevelt died three years ago; and partly on sympathy for the underdog, pick-

5 C.N.R. Workers Injured When Gas Jiggers Collide

Five Canadian National Railways section employees are in Belleville General Hospital suffering from injuries sustained early Tuesday evening when two gasoline jiggers crashed headon near Drummies Corners, 12 miles east of Belleville.

Most seriously injured of the five taken to hospital is Jack Brennan of Napanee who sustained a fractured skull and also a fractured elbow with possible leg fractures.

Others injured were Clarence M. Taylor, Deseronto, broken leg; Morris Waterbury of Marysville, head injuries and cuts; Arthur Knight, Shannonville, facial cuts, broken wrist and knee cap; and Amos Maracle, Marysville, head and nose injuries and possible internal injury. Harry Amos of Napanee was unhurt.

According to reports the accident occurred as the crews of the two jiggers were returning home from work, the head-on crash tossing the men onto the double track. Two freight trains passing a short time later were flagged down, the crew assisting in getting the injured men away to hospital.

Four of the injured men were taken to hospital in the Quinte ambulance, while at the hospital the men were attended by Dr. E. G. Kennedy and Dr. Austin Walters.

Railroad officials stated the accident occurred at five o'clock but did not elaborate on why the jiggers were travelling in opposite directions on the same track.

Good Supply Fuel Oil, Coal in All Parts of Canada State Officials

Ottawa, Nov. 3 (CP)—There's at least one glimmer of light as Canadians enter a winter of high prices and congested housing—the fuel situation looks good. Federal officials who keep an eye on coal and fuel-oil supplies are happy about the prospects.

"Even with consistent and intense cold this winter we should get by comfortably in all parts of the country," an official said today.

Both the fuel oil and coal situations have changed for the better —not just since last winter, but also in the last few weeks. Imports of coal have increased. Bigger Canadian coal production has helped round out the supply.

"The situation is very comfortable for all types of coal," the official said. "There is a good supply of coke for steel and metallurgical plants and coke as a byproduct is in free supply."

789,810 tons of coal and the country imported an additional 23,219,101 tons. It exported 844,055 tons, thus leaving a total supply for domestic use of 35,164,856 During the same period last year the supply for Canadian use was 31,677,645 tons. During the nine-month period the country produced 10,617,689 tons, imported 21,538,232 and exported 478,276 tons.

Production and imports of fuel oil also are larger this year. The supply has increased sufficiently to permit some manufacturers of oil burning heating plants to offer additional equipment with a guaranteed oil supply—and with the government's approval.

"There's been a big change even from six weeks ago," federal sources said. "The late fall has resulted in a big saving. There is much better geographical distribution of fuel oil than last year

WEARING APPAREL TAKEN FROM CAR

Wearing apparel valued at approximately $95 and consisting of women's and children's lingerie and hose was stolen from the car of Morton Sher, 36 Hillside Street, some time Tuesday evening.

Sher reported to police that he had been making business calls along Front and Pinnacle Street when shortly before 8 o'clock he noted that the merchandise was missing from his auto. The car had not been locked, he told police.

MANY PORCH LIGHTS SEEN ALONG HIGHWAY

That the recent power quota cut, resulting in extra cut-offs during the day, meant little to householders on the No. 2 Highway west of the city, was the thought of a passing motorist last evening.

By actual count, 20 houses in the area bordering the highway between the city and the western C.P.R. crossing had one or more porch or verandah lights burning. In Toronto authorities threaten heavy penalties to householders using these lights and thereby wasting power.

ELECTION SURPRISES AMERICAN VISITOR

An instance of the reaction of the American public to the turn in the presidential election is the statement that was made by an American citizen in Canada who contacted this office for a report of the situation.

When informed that the election had been conceded to Truman, the inquirer said "Gee, I just can't believe it."

It Appears There's More Than One Way to Get House Well Cleaned How? It is Really Very Simple!

This is a story for housewives.

It centres around one of your more enterprising counterparts whose Sunday foresight over the weekend had the spouse, baffled, bewildered, a trifle befuddled, and at times mentally dazed.

But the story has a happy ending. Even the man of the house, the "victim" of the plot, wound up smiling happily at the surprising denouement.

It seems that the Hungry Spouse, hereafter known as the "H. S." developed a weekend craving for roast chicken. Accordingly he selected a choice bird and took it home. Rising rather late Sunday morning the H. S. and the good lady decided to make a two-meal day of it with breakfast at 11 a.m. and the chicken dinner at 5 p.m.

All went well. The H. S. pottered around the place doing a chore here and a chore there. About four p.m. the appetizing aroma of roasting chicken, sage and onion dressing, wafted through the kitchen. He inspected the range and noted the creamy mashed potatoes, creamed cabbage, etc. He was about this time reduced to the "drooling" stage. Mentally he visualized a golden brown drumstick, snow-white breast meat, golden gravy bubbling over white mounds of potatoes, and other vegetables.

Bad News

A telephone tinkled in the hall. A minute later the lady of the house called the H. S. "What do you think?" she asked, "Aunt Tillie, Uncle Ned, Cousin Murgatroyd Cousin Abigail Slapsaddle and little Theophilus are on their way from Applejack Centre and will be here for dinner." (Note, the above names are ficitious).

The H. S. slumped in the kitchen chair. Five other mouths to feed—and only one chicken. His Sunday dinner, it seemed had gone aglimmering. He knew his relatives. When they opened their mouths at the table—and closed them, a pound of meat had disappeared.

Then the good lady had an idea. "I've got tinned meat, let's give 'em that," she said.

The H. S. rubbed a sparsely-thatched cranium. "That's an idea." Then his face clouded. "No, you can't do that. They can smell the chicken cooking. The're you're relatives, and if I know 'em they can smell chicken cooking five miles away. They probably got a whiff of this bird—and they live fifteen miles from here. Nope, that's out."

"Well," and the lady began to busy herself with the job at hand. The H. S. was desperate. There was nothing he could do. He might salvage a nibble of that chicken—and he might not. It all depended on where he sat."

Another Blow

Then came the next blow.

The kitchen door opened. In walked his son and wife. "Hello, dad," the son called out. "Guess we're just in time for dinner. Chicken, too. We sure hit the right day."

The H. S. threw up his hands in despair, and slumped in a nearby chair. This was the crowning blow to the day's disappointments. Now it meant seven guests, a total of nine to dine off one chicken.

He looked at the golden-brown bird simmering in its rich juice on the stove. Silently he bade it good bye.

But being a good husband, and with the company expected to arrive momentarily, he decided to help the good lady. He charged on the bathroom. He cleaned the tub, the wash bowl. He seized a mop and washed the floor. Guest towels were arranged.

Dust, imaginary and otherwise disappeared as by magic under the skill of his fingers and dustcloth in the living and dining rooms. Meticulously he went over the house, dusting here, rearranging there. He'd show these pesky relatives, that if they only had one chicken to share, they'd eat it in clean surroundings.

No Sign of Guests

He glanced at the clock. They should be here by now. He rushed outside and glanced up and down the street. No sign of a neighbor, even. Back in the house, a smiling lady was setting the table. Dinner was almost ready.

"They should be here any minute," the H. S. announced. "I'll go see again." He went outside and inspected the street. No luck. A few minutes later, he went out again, Same result.

Back in the kitchen the chicken lay in its roasted splendor. Rich gravy simmered on the stove. The vegetables were done to a turn.

"We start dinner," announced the lady, "by that time they should be here."

The H. S. looked at his wife. This shouldn't be. But it was at least a chance to get one mouthful of that succulent bird before the "mob" arrived.

"I'll give 'em one more chance" he said as he went to the front door and out on the street. Not a soul was in sight.

Eats Well After All

He strode back to the kitchen and sat down at the table. The dinner was served. Looking up he noticed smiles of satisfaction on the faces of the lady and his son and daughter-in-law. There was a more or less strange atmosphere of something supressed during the meal.

Finally when he pushed his chair back, his chicken appetite satiated to the full, and the world appearing in a rosy light, he heard the worst.

"It was all a joke, dad," quoth the good lady. "That telephone call never happened. Thanks, however for the good housecleaning job."

The rest of the story remains unwritten.

Truckload of Liquor Destroyed After Collision With Minister's Car

Thousands of dollars worth of assorted liquor went up in fire and smoke and an undetermined quantity is said to have disappeared in an unknown car, following a transport-car highway crash Tuesday evening four miles east of Napanee.

The accident occurred when a heavily loaded Calvert Distillery transport was in collision with a car driven by Rev. J. A. Haw, United Church minister at Morven. The accident occurred almost directly opposite the church parsonage.

Driver of the transport, and his helper whose names were not learned, were taken to Kingston hospital while Mr. Haw was treated at the scene for injuries which were said to be of a minor nature.

The transport burst into flames following the impact and fed by the liquor the fire raged out of control until Napanee and Odessa fire brigades arrived and put out the blaze.

The liquor load was stated to be a complete loss but police in the Bay of Quinte district are searching for a 1937 model car which was said to have been loaded with liquor from the wrecked transport and disappeared from the scene of the accident.

Consumption On Tuesday Over New Power Quota

Due undoubtedly to the cloudy day which caused more lights to be burned than normally, hydro consumption in the city Tuesday was 4,503 kilowatts over the new lowered quota of 96,700 kilowatts, it was stated today by hydro officials. Total consumption of electricity for the day was 101,203 kilowatts.

Monday's consumption for the city was 96,960 kilowatts which was almost exactly the new quota of 96,700. Figures in yesterday's Ontario Intelligencer gave the consumption as 7,213 kilowatts under the quota, but this was figured on the previous quota of 104,000 kilowatts.

Yesterday there was some indecision on the part of local hydro officials whether a third power interruption from seven to eight o'clock in the evening would be necessary in addition to the one-hour cuts during the morning and afternoon. At the last moment, however, it was decided that the evening cut-off would not be necessary.

Local manager of the public utilities Mr. O. H. Scott stated that he did not expect an evening cut-off would be necessary for today (Wednesday).

Kiwanis Juniors Given Jackets By Local Club

Members of the Kiwanis junior baseball team received windbreakers from the club, two new members were initiated and the members heard a splendid travelogue story of the Far East by P. R. M. Wallace of Toronto at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club held on Tuesday at Kiwanis Centre.

The presentation of the leather windbreakers was made by President Ted Schwab and a suitable reply was given by Chuck Barnett, coach of the team. Those who received their windbreakers of Blue and White with the Kiwanis Crest were Garry Schreider, Dave Lockyer, Johnny Green, Bobby Bunton, Joe Nolan, Art Galbraith, 'Huck' Reeves, 'Mouse' Bush, Russ Soules, Bobby Strahan, Pete Jones, Don Semark, Arthur Wright, Morris Bradshaw and Chuck Barnett.

The Governor's Award for the third quarter was presented to local club for the district and the Division Award for the third quarter was also won by the Belleville Club and with one-quarter to go the Club can sweep the boards this year with a 100 per cent achievement. The sympathy of the club was expressed to Mr. and Mrs. James Cowan in the loss of their son, Frank. The two new members, Stewart Robb of Northern Electric and Bernie LaPointe of Borden's Milk were introduced by Dr. Reg Anderson and Wally Warner and the induction ceremony was conducted by Cliff Baragar. The attendance prize, donated by Jack Sills, was won by Don Stanton.

Mr. Wallace, who was introduced by Leo LaFleur, Kiwanian of Kingston, told of his trip of 25,000 miles by air in 125 days. He described Honolulu, Midway Island, Wake Island, Guam, Hong Kong, Singapore, Java, Batavia and other far eastern spots. His talk was most interesting and descriptive and the thanks of the club were expressed by Frank Greeggan.

Community Chest Fund Reaches Half-Way Mark

Returns of the past few days continue to increase the total of the Community Chest Campaign. The total number of subscriptions obtained to date, however, is somewhat less than one-third of the total subscribers of last year. Campaign officials are urging the continuance of the effort on the part of workers in order that no subscribers will be missed. With over two-thirds of the subscribers to be heard from and the total amount of subscriptions at the half-way mark of the minimum objective of $16,000 there is every expectation that the campaign will be over-subscribed.

The officals appeals to the citizens, however, to wear the Red Feather and send in their subscriptions direct to the Chest headquarters at the Y.M.C.A. if they have not yet been canvassed. They also urge canvassers to complete their work as quickly as possible. It would be most unfortunate if any of the below-cost services of the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Children's Aid Society or the Y.M.C.A. were withdrawn for lack of funds, with contributions from two-thirds of the former subscribers not yet received.

A special meeting of the executive will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday at 4 p.m. when a full report of the campaign will be presented.

Citizen in Hard Times Costume Given Donation

"Fine Feathers Make Fine Birds," according to an old adage, but a resident of this city discovered on Monday night that the birds in bedraggled plumage sometimes get in the money.

It happened this way.

The gentleman in question had been invited to a "Hard Times Party," on Monday and accordingly, garbed himself in costume befitting the function.

Arrayed in a ragged shirt, perforated pantaloons, three days growth of facial shrubbery shoes from which his toes peeked, a discolored handkerchief in lieu of a cravat, and in general looking the perfect counterpart of the King of the Hoboes, he hied himself to the scene of the festivities.

On his way to the party, he remembered something he had forgotten to do in the service station where he is employed. So he paused there for a moment.

Coming out of the office he heard a horn toot. Stopped at one of the gas pumps was a battered jalopy, vintage, 1924. Seated in the wreck was a man who might have been going to the Hard Time affair himself, according to his dress.

Our hero approached and asked the man his needs.

"Put in a gallon, bud" the customer smiled.

That was done and the customer reached in his pocket for the necessary change.

As the other turned away to put the money in the office, the customer hailed him.

"Hey, bud" he smiled, "C'mere."

As our friend approached, he held out his hand.

"Take this, bud," the driver grinned," by the looks of things you need it more than I do."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Nov. 3 (CP)—The Democratic victory in the United States elections today sent prices reeling in early trading on the Toronto stock exchange. Industrial, base metal and western oil lists dipped sharply in the first hour but began to recover in later trading as prices edged ahead slightly from the opening slump.

Industrials slumped on losses ranging up to about three points and then steadied before attempting a slight recovery. Every group suffering declines with paper and steels among the hardest hit as Blue-Chip stocks dipped sharply. Utilities were also down and foods, refining oils and liquors weakened.

Base metals were down with the big four leading the list. Consolidated Smelters lost 2 3-4 and Hudson Bay was down two points. Waite Amulet, Pend Oreille, Noranda, International Nickel, East Sullivan and Golden Manitou were among the losers.

Golds showed a slightly easier tone as a few juniors traded heavily, Nicholson, Tech Hughes Hollinger, Kerr Addison, Giant Yellowknife and Negus weakened.

Polls Take Worst Licking Since '36

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)— It was precisely as President Truman predicted:

Not since 1936 when the Literary Digest poll picked Ald London over Franklin D. Roosevelt (final official result: Roosevelt won 46 states to two) have the polls taken such a whipping.

Dr. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Opinion who had predicted a Tom Dewey victory in the presidential race, was one of the few pollsters up for early comment. He said:

"This is the kind of a close election that happens once in a generation, and is a nightmare to poll takers.

"Here are the pertinent questions to which we are seeking the answer:

"1. Which voters stayed home?

"2. What about the undecided vote?

"3. Did the Wallace strength early in the campaign return to Truman?

"4. How much help did the National ticket get from local and state candidates?"

Senator J. Howard McGrath, Democrat national chairman, had urged Gallup and Archibald Crossley, director of the Crossley poll to "properly adjust" their figures to conform with percentage errors shown in the last two presidential elections.

Such an action he had contended would show an advantage for Truman instead of Dewey.

In its final tabulations, the Gallup Poll said Dewey would receive 49.5 per cent of the vote and Truman 44.5 per cent.

The Crossley poll predicted that Dewey would get 49.9 per cent while the president would receive 44.8 per cent.

In late August, Elmo Roper, director of the Fortune magazine poll, predicted the New York governor would receive 52.2 per cent of the vote while Truman would receive 37.1. Roper stood on these figures to the end of the campaign.

In the newspaper field — the Times, Herald-Tribune, Journal - American, and Sun — four New York City newspapers predicted Dewey would receive from 330 to 345 electoral votes.

Other papers which supported Dewey included:

Chicago Tribune, Boston Herald, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Daily News, New York Daily News, Des Moines Register.

FIRST TIME IN 8 DAYS NO DELAY BY FOG

Port Colborne, Nov. 3. (CP)—For the first time in eight days the Welland Ship Canal operated a full 24 hours without delay by fog.

During the past week vessels were delayed a total of 80 hours by heavy, pea-soup fog, with interruptions ranging from six to 18 hours.

The fog struck at the peak of the Fall shipping season as vessels were rushing cargoes before the close of navigation. A south-has been evidenced in Europe over the widely-held pre-election expectation that a change in political administrations was coming.

DEMOCRATS

In Washington, speculation already is running high that Truman now will make many shifts in his own administration.

This is based on the view that he got little help in his campaign from many democratic office-holders who had looked on it as a lost cause.

Then the issue would go to the House, where the Thurmond party would hold a balance of power, since each state has one vote to determine the presidency. The representatives of the traditionally "solid" Democratic south would not be expected to vote for a Republican; but they might bargain the presidency against elimination of Truman's civil rights proposals.

The only other candidate regarded as a serious contender — Henry A. Wallace of the new Progressive party — failed to win a single electoral - college vote, although he drew support from Truman in several key states and almost certainly lost the president the 47 electoral votes of populous New York State.

Forecast Falls

It had been generally forecast that Wallace would draw off many more votes from Truman than he did.

But almost every election forecast was toppled by Truman's strength. The national public opinion surveys were unanimously upset.

Some of the best-known opinion-takers continued to insist in radio interviews that Dewey would be elected. Finally, they weakened and declared the result in doubt. One of them, interviewed on the air about 2 a.m. EST, was asked the reason for the shift. He replied:

"In brief, I don't know."

The Republicans started with almost-flat victory claims Tuesday night, while the Democrats were cautious. Then, as the night wore on and Truman continued to lead the popular and electoral vote, the Democrats became more and more confident, even though the Republicans still maintained little doubt as to the final outcome.

Situation in Confusion

By midnight, both parties were admitting that presidential situation was in confusion.

Just before 5 a.m. Senator J. Howard McGrath, Democratic National chairman, reasserted in New York his belief in a Truman victory, though he did not rule out the possibility of a stalemate that would have to be decided by Congress.

Soundly-defeated, Wallace told reporters his party nevertheless would carry on and attempt to organize throughout the country.

The election, while of major interest to Canada, will not have any effect on the Dominion, since both Republicans and Democrats have parallel policies on foreign policy and defence, in which Canada plays an important role.

Certainly Ran Well

Whatever the final outcome, Truman certainly had contributed to the "red faces" he insisted the poll-takers would wear. He chalked up 22,000 miles of travel and made 272 speeches—all of them in a fighting mood — in one of the most intensive political drives in the modern United States.

Dewey on the other hand, held his travelling to about 16,000 miles, and his speeches to 171. He refused to engage in rough-and-tumble debate.

Dewey pitched his campaign to the theme of unity— the one factor he pictured as vital to win the elusive peace and bring inflation under control at home.

In his "give'em hell" campaign the President lumped the top-heavy Republican House and the slenderly held Republican Senate to call it the country's "second worst," "idiot" Congress.

The sweep which carried Truman into the lead in the popular vote gave Democrats some added profits in governorship races.

Early today the Democrats had unseated Repulican governors in four states—Ohio, Illinois, Connecticut and Delaware. A Republican ousted a Democratic governor in Utah.

People Go Wild

But millions who had shrugged their shoulders at the campaign speeches went wild as newspapers, the radio and television screens followed the ding-dong battle through the night.

Silver-haired, bespectacled Truman was virtually unknown outside his own country before he received the vice-presidential nomination at Chicago in 1944. He had been in political life many years however, going to the Senate from Missouri in 1934 after a period in State politics.

The death of Roosevelt thrust him into the limelight at a time when the presidential position had reached an unprecedented position in world affairs.

Dewey has been in the news

In 1940 he sought the Republican nomination but lost it to Wendel Willkie, who in turn was defeated by Roosevelt's third-term victory. He became New York State's Governor in 1942 and again fought for the White House in 1944 only to lose heavily as Roosevelt was sent back for a fourth term.

Chosen Third Time

Then, last June, the Republicans chose him again as their leader in a year when the party, with its congressional victory in the 1946 "off-year" elections achieved, felt that time had at last run out on the Democrats.

Wallace had a long career with the Democrats before he formed his Progressive Party. Even after he was ousted from the Truman Cabinet in 1946 he continued making speeches in support of the Democratic administration.

Thurmond was little known outside the Southern States before he took over as head of the rebellious southern group. However, he had been a leading Democratic figure in the south, eventually being elected to the South Carolina governorship.

Mean Temperature Considerably Below Last Year

Despite the fact that there was very little hard frost during the month, Old Man Weather played rather a mean trick during October when the mean temperature was considerably below that of a corresponding period last year.

The mean temperature for the month was but 47 degrees as compared with 55 degrees for October 1947. High temperature was but 68 degrees with a minimum of 24, while one year ago it was 78 and 26. Rainfall during the past month was 3.10 inches, while one year ago it was but .70 inches.

Degree days— that is the increase in temperature needed to bring homes up to the required 70 degrees—were also greater. Degree days for the last month totalled 561 as compared with 318 one year ago.

Fast Thinking Averts Major Fire Disaster

Quebec, Nov. 3 (CP)— Fast-thinking on the part of a Sillery Yacht Club member, Joseph Gagnon, was reported to have averted a major disaster Tuesday night in the lower part of suburban Sillery when fire broke out simultaneously aboard the oil tanker Britamlube and the wharf.

The tanker was unloading its cargo of oil into one of three oil pipelines underneath the wharf when a "violent explosion" occurred. Flames shot up aboard ship and to the mouth of the pipeline which lead to large oil tanks on the Sillery shore.

The yachtsman was reported to have closed the valves of the burning pipeline thus avoiding possible spreading of the fire to the tanks.

Cause of the explosion was not known today. One report had it that the explosion occurred in one of the ship's motors while a later report said a windblown cigaret probably landed in an oil patch on the wharf.

Damage to the tanker was light. As soon as the flames sprang up, ropes holding the ship fast to the wharf were cut and the tanker pulled into the stream under her own power and remained in mid-river until the flames were extinguished.

The wharf, extending about 200 feet into the water, caught fire like a flash from the oil on it but firemen assisted by the fireship Lanorale succeeded in quelling the blaze before serious damage was done.

Pearson Finally Arrives in Paris

Paris, Nov. 3 (CP) —"P for Pearson" finally made it today!

The RCAF Dakota landed at Le Bourget airfield 24 hours after setting out from London, and from it emerged L.B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister, with a big grin and a cheery wave.

He came to take over leadership of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations, succeeding Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier.

"I knew I'd finally make it," Pearson chuckled as he climbed from the green aircraft with a red Maple Leaf on the nose. Then he turned to say goodbye to Flt. Lt. Jack Mills of Montreal, pilot of the plane which was forced back Tuesday after reaching the fog bound French coast.

"I think I'll go to bed and make the reporters come to me," he said. Later he added that he would try to make a first appearance at the United Nations sometimes during the afternoon, perhaps in time for the expected plenary session on atomic energy.

"Otherwise I have nothing to say beyond the fact that I am

Wallace Saved Dewey from Being Swamped in N.Y.

Albany, N.Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey squeezed through to victory over President Truman in New York State by a scant margin of approximately 40,000 votes.

With only 20 districts missing—all in small upstate Republican counties — the Republican nominee had a plurality of 38,410.

It was one of the closest presidential contests in the history of the state. It gave Dewey 47 sorely needed electoral votes.

The display of Truman strength and that of other Democratic candidates came as a surprise to Dewey's campaign managers. They had predicted a 600,000 landslide for the governor.

Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive Party's candidate for President, plainly cost Truman a triumph Tuesday in the Empire State and saved Dewey from being swamped.

Wallace, running under the American Labor Party banner, polled approximately 507,500 votes, the largest number he received in any state.

Nevertheless the Democrats gained eight congressional seats to capture control of New York's delegation in the House of Representatives. Seven of the seats now are held by Republicans. The eighth, in the Bronx, was won at the expense of representative Leo Isacson, American party member.

The New York line up in the House next year will be: 23 Democrats, 21 Republicans and one American Labor. Representative Vito Marcantonio, A.L.P., was reelected in Harlem's 18th district.

Public Opinion Polls Under-Rate Democrat Strength

New York, Nov. 3 — (AP) — The gallup poll, which predicted a safe margin for Governor Thomas E. Dewey, early today gave two reasons why President Truman piled up such a big vote in the United States election Tuesday:

1. He "recaptured" many votes from Henry A. Wallace.

2. A lot of the "undecided" voters in the poll voted for Truman.

Dr. George Gallup's American Institute of Public Opinion predicted in its final announcement Monday that Dewey would get 49.5 per cent of the vote and Truman 44.5 per cent.

At 6 A. M., EST today, with Truman's popular vote more than 1,300,000 ahead of Dewey's, a Gallup spokesman issued this statement:

"In the closest presidential race since the Hughes-Wilson election in 1916 all public opinion polls—national, state and local — have underestimated the Democratic strength.

"The polls without exception showed a steady decline throughout the campaign in Wallace's following, but on election day his support skidded sharply.

"Polls earlier in the year showed that what votes the progressive candidate would receive would come almost entirely from the Democratic party.

"Over 3,000,000 voters remained undecided on their presidential choice right up to the week before election. Obviously substantial numbers of these undecided voters cast their ballots for President Truman."

Englehart Woman Dies of Injuries

Toronto, Nov. 3 — (CP) — Mrs. Evelyn Kingston, 27-year-old Englehart woman, died in hospital here today from a fractured skull received eight days ago in a highway collision eight miles north of New Liskeard. She had been unconscious since the accident, and never knew of the death of her seven-month-old son, Arthur, in the same crash.

Injured in the same collision were her husband, Steve Kingston, with facial cuts, and his mother, Mrs. Amy Kingston, who is now in a Kirkland Lake hospital with a possible punctured eyeball. Mr. Kingston's 13-year-old sister, Esther, was also hurt, but his son, Michael, two, was unharmed.

Mrs. Kingston had been rushed 321 miles by ambulance in the hope that a Toronto brain specialist might save her.

Canadian-Born U. S. Senator Re-elected

Foster, R. I., Nov. 3 (AP) — A family election battle ended in favor of the husband Tuesday night.

Leslie Stone, the husband, slipped in ahead of Mrs. Lillian B. Stone, his wife, for the town treasurer and tax collector.

Stone, running on the Republican ticket in this small town in the northwestern part of Rhode Island, won the jobs by pluralities of five and seven votes.

Mrs. Stone, the Democratic incumbent, has served in those positions since 1944.

Stone said he was turning over his newly-won duties to his wife. So she'll still remain on the job.

Kewanee, Ill., Nov. 3 (AP) — The late President Roosevelt carried the city of Kewanee in 1944 by 346 votes.

President Truman carried it Tuesday — also by 346 votes.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3 — (AP) — Thomas Goldberg, a Republican committeeman is being held on $500 bail by Ethan Doty, United States Commissioner, on charges that he purchased a vote in Tuesday's election in violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

Boston, Nov. 3 — (AP)—Rejection of a birth control measure by Massachusetts voters appeared certain today as election returns were tabulated.

The measure, sponsored by the Planned Parenthood League, called for an amendment in Massachusetts State law to allow doctors to prescribe contraceptives for married women whose health would be endangered by pregnancy.

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston said the two Roman Catholic Bishops in Massachusetts led opposition to the measure, previously defeated here in 1942.

"Brother, what an experience!" said Hughes.

Truman Retired Without Giving A Statement

Independence, Mo., Nov. 3.—(CP)—President Truman, cloaking his movements in mystery, stayed up until the early hours today, hopefully studying returns in his fight to remain in the White House.

He finally retired without making a statement.

Where he received the returns was a mystery, for neither his family nor his staff revealed the President's hideaway after he left his home early Tuesday night.

He was to have gone to bed early, but he slipped away in an automobile sometime after dinner. Only a few knew where he went.

With the final results in doubt, his associates said the President's prediction that the returns would leave the poll makers "red-faced" already had been borne out.

States in which he had not been given a look-in by the public opinion samplers fell into the Truman columns and he was making it a nip-and-tuck affair in others.

Tuesday night crowds, calling for the President's appearance at the home, were told by his daughter, Margaret, that he was not there and she did not know his whereabouts.

Ross, his press secretary, refused to say. He took the position, "the President is entitled to one night of privacy".

Report Marshall To Resign Post

Paris, Nov. 3 (AP)—State Secretary Marshall of the United States will resign next Jan. 20 regardless of the outcome of the presidential election, an informed source in the American United Nations delegation said today.

The source said there had been many recent reports that Marshall might resign.

Marshall, the source said, plans to retire to his farm.

There was no confirmation of this statement from Marshall who earlier in the morning appeared at the United States delegation headquarters. He posed for photographers and listened to broadcasts of election returns with John Foster Dulles, and Warren R. Austin, United States delegates.

"On the elections?" Marshall asked with a smile.

Pressed by reporters, he grinned and said only:

"Gentlemen, I am an episcopalian."

U.S. CONGRESS

Long before the vote-count was completed, the Democrats had turned out six Republican Senators in winning 18 of the 33 contested seats. They led in six other races. Republicans had elected only seven and were leading in two races. Only one-third of the Senate had elections this year.

Battle For Lower House

In the battle-royal for supremacy in the Lower House—the Chamber the Republicans were sure they couldn't lose—Democrats had ousted 40 or more Republicans and one American Labor party member.

Not one Democrat who stood for re-election had been turned down. Speakers Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts and most other Republican big wheels in the House survived the Democratic onslaught. These included Republican leader, Representative Charles A. Halleck of Indiana; Chairman John Taber, New York of the appropriations committee; Chairman Charles A. Eaton, of New Jersey, the Nova-Scotia-born chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee; Chairman Leo E. Allen, Illinois, of the Rules Committee; Chairman Jesse P. Wolcott, Michigan, of the Banking Committee; and Chairman Clifford R. Hope, Kansas, of the Agriculture Committee.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of the House un-American Activities Committee pulled through in New Jersey. But one of his Republican colleagues on that controversial committee, John McDowell of Pennsylvania, was defeated.

Confident Republicans entered the Senate contests with 51 seats of which only 18 were at stake this year. Most Republican leaders expected to retain their six-vote margin or at worst end in a 48-48 tie with the Democrats.

They won the first contest last September when Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith won the Maine Senate seat.

But the first returns Tuesday night indicated many voters shared to some degree Truman's estimate of the lawmakers. Among Republicans defeated were West Virginia's Senator Chapman Avercomb, and Senator Joseph H Ball of Minnesota.

PEACE, PROSPERITY

A long line of old friends, including newspaper men who have covered his campaign, swarmed into the living room of the suite to shake the president's hand and to congratulate him on the "give-'em-hell" campaign which upset the dopesters.

The impromptu celebration also included secret service men, who dropped their non-political role to shower their congratulations upon "the boss" to whom the whole White House detail is devoted.

Truman was surrounded at one point by old comrades of the First World War with whom he served in France.

The president was smiling as the full import of his victory became apparent.

Charles G. Ross, the President's secretary and an old high school mate of Mr. and Mrs. Truman in Independence beamed at everyone he saw.

"The President was certain some hours ago of his election," Ross said.

Sleeps in Hideaway

He arrived at his penthouse in the Hotel Muehlebach at dawn to tell how he slipped away to Excelsior Springs Tuesday to spend election night in a hotel hideaway.

Sitting there in his shirt sleeves, with sleepy eyed reporters huddled on the floor around him the President looked happy and confident, but he awaited a certification by others on his hard-fought struggle with Governor Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican nominee.

While newspaper men wondered as to his whereabouts he left his home at Independence at 3 p.m. Tuesday to drive to Excelsior Springs, 32 miles away to spend the night in the Elms hotel.

"I got there about four, took one of their hot spring baths and rubdowns," he said. "Then I ate and went to bed.

"I woke up around midnight, heard a news broadcast and went back to sleep. I woke up again about 4.30 a.m. heard another broadcast and had breakfast in the penthouse."

Made Fight of Life

The president wouldn't talk about the election returns, other than to say he had made the fight of his life because he believed in the campaign he made.

He said he would not have any comment on returns before 11 a.m. EST, but there was no doubt that he was pleased with the way things were going.

Gift for Humanity's Sake

There is reported in Britain a gift of $1,800,000 from a 68-year-old Englishman to aid research in the prevention and cure of rheumatism. The donor is himself a victim from this affliction, Captain Oliver Bird. The money goes to the Nuffield Foundation.

Millions of persons have rheumatism, one of the most widely spread maladies from which humans suffer.

This magnificent gift is the evidence of the will of the giver to help his fellow men. Any discoveries which may come as a result of this generous contribution to the cause of suffering humanity will become the possession of mankind. The history of medical science and the science of health have in recent years recorded advances of the greatest value to the race. The discovery of insulin, the sulpha drugs, penicillin and many others have helped to ease the troubles which mankind has to face. Further progress all along the line in battling disease may be expected for science and the scientist will not give up the battle but consolidate their victories over disease and illness.

Noise

Industrial Health Bulletin points out the damaging effect of continued exposure to noise in impaired hearing, chronic fatigue and decreasing mental and working efficiency.

Most people know how at some times noise has a shattering effect on the mind. The National Safety Council realizes the effect of noise and points out that the character and quality of the noise are of the greatest importance and "where noise cannot be eliminated efforts at changing the character of the sound have met with remarkable success."

The main sounds of different frequencies and pitches give noise its harsh quality while the combined intensities of the various sounds produce the overall effect of the noise.

Noise is shown having destructive effect. Modern man is subject to the influence of many sounds which no doubt have an effect upon the physical and mental health.

Life today is subject to these sounds which cannot but vary greatly from the sounds which our forefathers knew in the ordinary course of their lives.

Less confusion of sounds one clamoring to rise above the other would seem to be an ideal towards which attention might be drawn. Life before this modern age had its natural rhythms and there particularly was rhythm of sound for the sounds of nature have the quality of making the human ear attuned to them. But today there are strident sounds which would appear to have a shattering effect upon the human organism.

One thing is certain, mankind has not always been subject to the great number and the volume of modern sounds. To these, human beings have not become accustomed as they have to the sounds of nature through many generations.

The study of the effect of sounds in industry is now under study.

Quiet Observance

Hallowe'en has passed and leaves enjoyable memories in the minds of the young and their elders. It was to be noted that this year the observance was very orderly with little to recall unpleasant memories in the mind of anyone in the city.

Organizations have done a good work in helping to bring back the observance of the occasion to one of enjoyment without the ill-results of destructiveness. They are sponsored by public spirited men and women who know that stressing the happier phases of such a celebration cannot fail to leave abiding results in the tender minds of many of those who celebrated this year's festive occasion. Children with a happy thought attached much of their attention to attire and the results were most happy. They had their fun, their minds were invigorated and they have only happy memories of Hallowe'en 1948.

The whole tenor of the observance was that of order and good will. In all this spirit of celebration little out of the way was to be noted. One instance of the latter was the damaging of a verandah on the West Hill by pulling out a post, making repairs necessary. That was the work of someone with a misguided mind for his deed could give no true satisfaction but rather must leave a bad mark on the perpetrator's mind. Fortunately this was quite out of trend with the spirit of the good natured celecration as the boys and girls and older boys and girls of the city observed.

LIFE GROWS UNDER SACRIFICE

The Gnostic heretics centuries ago tried to save the memory of Jesus from the shame of the cross by maintaining that, as a matter of fact, Jesus had really never been crucified. God was supposed to have snatched Him from the cross before He expired.

But the Church refused to accept this and went back to the stark and true realism of facts, namely, that Jesus died on the cross. When He laid aside His glory and humbled Himself to come into the world and to be incarnate in human flesh, He went the whole way in incarnation. His death was not a make-believe death, it was a real death. And furthermore, it was a hideous and frightful death, because He who had no sin Himself chose to go down into death voluntarily assuming as His own the sin of the world. He asked God to transfer the sin of the world to His account — if we may use a modern banking expression — and then, assuming the infinite liability of that great debt, He asked God to punish it in Him, that the power of sin might be forever broken.

Vicarious sacrifice is the reality upon which the whole life of the spirit is built, and as it was true for the Lord of all good life, so is it true for every disciple of that same Lord. Sacrifice is not something which cramps and represses life; it is the one thing which expands and glorifies it.

SIGNS

Someone should write a book upon "Signs." How interesting it would be! The author could go back to the very earliest of times and gather a mass of material that would keep any of us up late at night, delighting in such a curious lore.

The old Inn signs, the road signs, book shop signs, and the

Mackenzie's Column: Great Military Victory in China Triumph for Reds

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

Tuesday in discussing the Chinese Communists' great military victory in Manchuria, I said that this also was a triumph for Russia and that it vastly strengthened the hand of Moscow in its world revolution for the spread of the "ism."

In this connection I branded as buncombe the claim that the Chinese Reds are just humble agrarians without any Soviet affiliation. We return to the subject again because of its great importance to the countries which are battling Communism, and because we have had a fresh development which gives undisputable proof of the falsity of the agrarian tale.

Mao Tze-Tung, chairman of the Chinese Communist Party, has written a report of the Red successes in China for the bulletin of the cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) which has headquarters in Bucharest, Romania.

Mao Tze-Tung reports to the cominform, which is the voice of Moscow. He says in his account (which presumably was written before the fall of Mukden, capital of Manchuria) that his forces occupy 907,000 square miles of territory, or about 24.5 per cent of China. He also claims that 168,000,000 people, or some 35 per cent of China's population, are under Communist rule.

Whether his figures are accurate, the fact remains that the Chinese Communists threaten to overrun the entire Orient. The nationalist China of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek is pretty well shot to pieces—politically, economically and militarily.

Near-victims of coal gas fumes were Mr. and Mrs. George Kellner and their two sons, age three years, and five months

The family moved to Otterville Saturday, taking rooms at the rear of the home of Mrs A J Collver

First indication that there was something wrong came when Mr. Kellner appeared at the door of the house about 10 a.m. Tuesday and, holding his throat, called to J. K. Wardell, who was entering his store nearby.

Mr. Wardell immediately summoned Dr. H. H. Batson and Mrs. Claude Morrison, R. N. Dr. Batson had Mrs. Kellner removed by ambulance to hospital in Tillsonburg, and Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Ivan Leitch took the children to their homes. It was reported that Mr. Kellner was confined to bed in his own home.

The accident occurred, it is believed, after the Kellners, unfamiliar with the chimney in the house, checked the coal stove too closely before retiring to bed, Monday night.

NERVES OR NO NERVES EVERYBODY NEEDS IODINE

Fifteen or twenty years ago it was the fashion for the born "surgeons" to break into print whenever they found the opportunity to warn the public of the "dangers" involved in taking an adequate daily or weekly ration of iodine. Some of these presumptuous "specialists" even ventured to take a dim view of the use of iodized salt in place of ordinary salt in the home. But the statistics in the course of ten years showed that the little brass "surgeons" or "specialists" were talking through their hats, for the number of goitre operations throughout the Great Lakes region, where both simple goitre (in school children) and exoutalmic goitre (in young adults) had prevailed more than elsewhere in the United States, had steadily decreased since the people had learned to use iodized salt instead of ordinary salt and, some few thousands of them, at any rate had learned to take an Iodin Ration regularly as recommended for every growing child and adult by Doc Brady.

This is not the place to debate the question of how much iodine each individual requires to maintain good nutrition. The nutrition authorities are still reluctant to commit themselves about it, although they acknowledge that every child or adult requires a wee, wee bit of iodine daily—as much as 0.1 milligram—which, in English, is enough, I imagine, to irritate a flea if you put it in his eye. I'm afraid the self-constituted "authorities" who presume to determine such things are talking through their berets too. I am more impressed by the view expressed by Dr. Quigley, author of The National Malnutrition (Lee Foundation). In an address published in Nebraska State Medical Journal Dr. Quigley said iodine deficiency is nearly universal and the quantities needed for optimum health have been very much underrated; these quantities must be raised to ten times or a hundred times the maintenance ration—which, would still be from 1 to 10 milligrams—or from 1/65th to approximately one-sixth of a grain of iodine daily.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Exposure

I heartily agree with your teachings about harmlessness of "exposure" to cold or changing weather and "insufficient" clothing. But why do people suffer more with the CRI in the winter than in the summer? (Mrs. D. F H.)

Answer—Because people are more exposed to the respiratory infections in the winter—when they are indoors most of the time This applies to pneumonia, tuberculosis, diphtheria and measles as well as to less dangerous respiratory infections.

Ganglion

Small lump directly over pulse on right wrist. Doctor calls it "ganglion." Strapping did not help it. It is not painful. If it is not removed will it disappear in time. (E. W. A.)

Answer—Mine disappeared after ten years or so. It may be removed by a simple operation under local anesthesia if it troubles you too much.

Stupid Doctors Too

After I received your pamphlet It is Stupid to Suffer from Piles I consulted three different doctors here in ——— and none of them would give the injection treatment. They said I must go to the hospital for operation. (K. V. A.)

Answer—The injection treatment (ambulant, office) is not applicable to external piles, only to internal, "blind", bleeding piles. Trouble is that too many doctors are still thirty years behind the times and too stupid or obstinate to acquaint themselves with modern techniques.

Care of the Feet

We recently moved into our new home. Cement floors covered with asphalt tile, radiant heat in floors At the end of the day I feel unusually tired and my feet and legs ache. What kind of shoes should I wear? (Mrs. W. E. F.)

Answer—It is probably from the hard work of moving and settling in the new house. Better care of the feet, better nutrition —send stamped self addressed envelope and 25 cents for booklet Care of the Feet.

Mayor C. Cox Looking for New Fields to Conquer

Port Arthur, Nov. 3 (CP) — Charles Cox, mayor of Port Arthur for 15 consecutive years, appears to be looking for new fields to conquer.

Elected member of the Ontario legislature for Fort William in the Provincial elections last summer, he now is reported to be seeking the mayor's chair in both cities. Ultimately he hopes to amalgamate the lakehead into a city of 65,000.

Since he defeated Mayor Garfield Anderson of Fort William in the provincial election last summer, Mayor Cox has said more than once he would "probably" run for mayor in each city. Close friends believe he is only awaiting an opportunity to make a public statement.

He has shown considerably more interest in Fort William since Mayor Anderson, defeated C.C.F. candidate at the last Provincial election announced he would not seek re-election at the Dec. 5 municipal election.

He represented Port Arthur as a Liberal in the Ontario legislature, from 1934 to 1941. He was a minister without portfolio in the first Hepburn government.

If he runs and is elected at Fort William, it is conceded that he will certainly stand for Mayor of Port Arthur too. Many of his enemies— and enemies — have speculated over his position in case of a sharp civic issue between the two cities.

"I would deal with that problem when the time comes," he has said.

Financial Terms Newfoundland's Entry Discussed

Ottawa, Nov. 3 — (CP) — The financial terms of Newfoundland's entry into confederation as a 10th province were discussed Tuesday at a meeting between a committee of the cabinet and representatives of the island.

No statement was made following the meeting, but an official connected with the negotiations said another meeting will be held Friday. He said it was likely that some statement on the progress of the negotiations will be made then.

The meeting marked the first time that the delegations tackled the contentious question on finances. There have been rumors that the Newfoundland delegation is seeking better financial terms than were offered a year ago when representatives of the island came to Ottawa to sound out the federal government on possible terms of union.

Representatives of both Canada and Newfoundland have shied away from any public statements on the financial question. One source said that Newfoundland, in a prepared brief, had shown a draft of the kind of budget the island would need as a province.

He said that the budget was being altered as the discussions progressed, but he declined to elaborate.

As a colony, Newfoundland collected between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000 mainly from customs and excise taxes. As a province, the island will lose the right to collect customs and excise taxes and as a result only about $3,000,000 of its present revenue would be left to it.

The question of filling the gap between the revenues Newfoundland collected as a colony and the revenues it would collect as a province is what is confronting the delegations, meeting spasmodically since Oct. 6.

In the financial terms offered a year ago as a possible basis of union, the federal government estimated that Newfoundland's entry into confederation would add at least another $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to the federal government's annual expenditures.

PRAISES INDUSTRIAL FAIR

Kingston, Nov. 3 (CP)— Educational Minister Porter Tuesday night praised industrial fairs as a means of informing the public about new developments in industry.

Speaking at the opening of a Kingston Trade Fair and Fashion Show, he said:

"Education can be found not only in text books but in industrial displays which set forth ideas of what can be accomplished in industry. These ideas would give rise to others, resulting in untold benefits for industrialists."

SUSPICION!

Six-year-old Bernhard Pfister had never seen white bread in his short life. He was born during the war when black bread was the only bread. He was reared on it and believed that it was the only kind that existed. So you can't blame him for being a little suspicious when he gets the first white bread made from flour sent for the U.S. He is shown dubiously examining a loaf and a roll of the new bread after he had been given his allowance at a bread line in Vienna.

London Letter:

Cafe of New Hope Frequented By Ex-Prisoners

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 3 (CP)—Every morning, as the great steel doors of Wormwood Scrubs Prison swing open, men in drab, utilitarian clothes can be seen walking rather self-consciously across the road to a little wooden hut that has no name.

The hut is just one of many free canteens operated throughout Britain by the church army—but some call it "The Cafe of New Hope."

Here ex-prisoners are given a cup of tea, a cake, and—however desperate the tobacco shortage—a cigaret. They also receive a friendly smile and a word of welcome from Sister Emily Hurt who for 12 years has acted as hostess to men who have "served their time."

Sister Hurt, a pleasant-faced matronly woman, has been in the church army service 36 years. Her uniform is grey; her manner bright with warmth and friendliness.

"Come and have a cup of tea," she says, "It'll buck you up." Soon she has the visitors at their ease and has gained their confidence Even hardened criminals seem to respond to her friendliness.

A man who had been inside six years told her: "It was no worse than being in the army. They don't serve the food on a silver plate, but it's good and there's enough of it."

Another(an old man who had been jailed for receiving stolen property, told how his health had improved in prison.

The majority say they never want to see the inside of a prison again.

Not all of Sister Hurt's visitors —she has an average of 500 a week—are released prisoners. A large number are the relatives of prisoners, for every jailed man is allowed two visitors a week.

"One old lady travels down here from Glasgow once every month," Sister Hurt said. "Her son has been in prison nearly three years. She finds the journey a bit of a strain and usually takes a cup of tea here first."

Trying to Hurl Wife, Self Beneath Train, Man Killed

Detroit, Nov. 3. (CP)—In an attempt to throw himself and his wife under the wheels of a freight train, Thomas Hamilton, 30, was killed on Tuesday on the New York Central tracks a block from his home.

The wife Mrs. Orlene Hamilton was injured slightly when she was brushed by a moving boxcar. She is in receiving hospital. Mrs. Hamilton, mother of three small children, told Detective Paul Montgomery, of the homicide squad, that she and her husband quarrelled and were separated for two weeks. He returned about a week ago.

Monday night, she said, he threatened to take the children away. They reached an apparent reconciliation and early today he asked her to go for a walk.

They sat on the railroad embankment for about an hour, she said. When the train approached, she said, they arose and suddenly her husband seized her and tried to pull both of them under the wheels.

She wrenched herself free as he threw himself on the tracks, she said.

Killed Gandhi Purely for Benefit Of Humanity

New Delhi, Nov. 3 (AP)— Defence lawyers released today a statement signed by Narayan Vinayak Godse saying he killed Mohandas K. Gandhi "purely for the benefit of humanity."

The 68-page statement invited the court now trying Godse to pass the maximum sentence of death by hanging, saying, "I do not desire any mercy shown me nor anyone beg for mercy on my behalf."

The statement was released by the defence after four months of the trial of Godse and 11 others accused of aiding and abetting him in the Jan. 30 assassination of Gandhi. It was not introduced in court today because of a last minute move by the prosecution.

The prosecution indicated it would conclude its questioning at the end of the week and that Godse's statement would be introduced Monday.

In his statement Godse expressed "confidence about the moral justification" of his act in firing the fatal shots, and appealed to posterity to "weigh my act and find the true value thereof."

Minnedosa Riding Goes With Govt.

Minnedosa, Man., Nov. 3 (CP) — Complete returns from the 29 polls in this Manitoba riding Tuesday night gave H. S. Rungay, the successful Coalition candidate 3,443 votes and his C. C. F. opponent, Ralph Frith, 1,352.

Mr. Frith, who failed to poll half the votes received by Mr Rungay, forfeited his $200 deposit.

The by-election was necessitated by the resignation of Dr. E. J. Rutledge, who represented the riding as a Progressive Conservative in the province's 55-seat legislature.

The election of Mr. Rungay, a Liberal-Progressive, makes the House standing: Progressive Conservatives 12; Liberal - Progressive 26; Independent 3; Social Credit 2; C. C. F. 10; Independent Progressive - Conservatives 1; Labor-Progressive 1.

Plea for Better Treatment Of Student Nurses

Toronto, Nov. 3 — (CP) — A plea for better treatment of student nurses to induce more girls to take up the profession highlighted Tuesday's annual meeting of the Ontario Hospital Association.

Ontario Health Minister Kelley told the association inadequate pay and inconsiderate treatment are two of the main reasons for the province's present acute shortage of nurses.

Speaking of preliminary findings of Ontario's $195,000 health survey, now under way, Mr. Kelley said some hospitals expect student nurses to work for nothing and others pay them as little as $5 a month.

In his first public statement on the extensive survey of health and hospital conditions, he said he "shivered" when he recalled some of the findings.

"In one hospital, for instance, the obstetrical ward is on the third floor," he said. "Just think what would happen if there was a fire there."

Pearl Morrison, superintendent of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Toronto, was elected to succeed J. McIntosh Tutt of Brantford, as president of the association. Vice-presidents elected were John R. Marshall, Peterborough; Sister M. Pascal, Toronto, and R. J. Wetherill, St. Catharines.

Mr. Tutt warned that hospital costs might continue to increase, despite the sharp rises in almost every hospital in Ontario this year. Hospitals made every effort to control costs but were unable to set aside depreciation funds.

'Women and Better Tomorrow' Theme of Meeting of Women's Institutes Being Held in City

Choosing as its theme "Women and a Better Tomorrow" the Women's Institutes of the combined districts of Hastings, Northumberland and Prince Edward opened its convention at the Belleville Collegiate Auditorium on Tuesday morning with a large registration. Mrs. R. Badgley, Shannonville, area chairman, presided at the morning session.

The roll call for the districts was answered by short reports on each district. For Prince Edward, Miss A. Brickman replied that the Institute is now on the threshold of its fifty-first year of work. "The first fifty years are gone but the future is ours," she stated. "Our motto is home and country and with that in mind we must take our knowledge of yesterday and add it to the future if we are to be a factor in rendering service to the community. I urge you to have an aim or objective, a long range plan to do a precision job. Success is due to the faithfulness of many. We are here on an important errand, to take back new ideas and visions. Pretend you are packing a parcel to take home, a parcel complete with good-will, tied tightly with friendship, and let us practise love, friendship, good-will and co-operation." Miss Brickman stated that there are ten flourishing Institutes in the district.

Reports for Northumberland

Mrs. F. S. Harnden reported for Northumberland West explaining that the first meeting was held in 1901. She mentioned the reforestation that has been undertaken in this district. There are nine branches of the Institute with a membership of 354.

For Northumberland East Mrs. Lorne McDonald of Colborne replied with the information that there are 338 members and seven girls' clubs in the district. She outlined the industries in which the people were engaged and spoke of the future opportunities offered.

In North Hastings difficulties were experienced due to the long distances. This district covers an area thirty-five miles one way and one hundred miles another. There are 580 members, who are active in many activities. A district rally was held and it was suggested that this district be divided. Mrs. E. Irwin of Campbellford made the response.

Answering for West Hastings Mrs. L. Rodgers, Stirling, told of the rally held and explained the five girls' clubs which had been formed.

In the absence of Mrs. Elliott of Plainfield, Mrs. D. Aikens of Belleville replied for East Hastings. There are six branches, and some of their activities were to form a book of memory for the boys who died in the war, and helping with the treatment of a blue baby.

Present Gleanings

Mrs. A. Mitchell, a director of the Board, presented some gleanings from the district annuals. From one branch the Institute has spread to every corner. It gives help to rural communities. In North Hastings a discussion of woman's place in civic affairs took place. There were splendid and inspiring reports from each district with a noted increase in membership. Girls' work is going ahead, they learn to take responsibility, to do sewing, cooking and homemaking. Parliamentary procedure was followed at all meetings. Women were urged to take more interest in politics by attending nomination meetings, school board, and municipal meetings. The life of a nation lies with the rural people, they should be kept wholesome and contented. Each year has shown marked progress, and now they are ready to march on inspired to put forth their efforts into a stream which will flow to the benefit of all people.

The financial report was given by Mrs. H. Ketcheson, and the auditor's report by Mrs. Harrison.

Advocate Use of Radio

In presenting the publicity report, Mrs. Morley Sine, Frankford, stated that the best publicity was the member's own enthusiasm. Good publicity has dignity and commands respect. Catering for booths, sales and banquets shows the W. I. has initiative. One district has a rural film council, the only one of its kind in Canada. The Institute plans to keep its objectives before the public so their aims will be accepted. They have made use of radio stations CJBQ and CFRB, and advocate more use of radio time.

Miss Anna Lewis explained that through the United Emergency Fund parcels of food may now be purchased in Britain by sending the money, instead of sending food parcels and paying postage. She also explained the five scholarships of one hundred dollars which are given to girls entering Macdonald Hall in Guelph.

Mrs. G. McDonald offered two solos "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" and "Loch Lomond", accompanied by Mrs. M. J. Parrott, Belleville. Song leader for the community singing was Mrs. Roy Sills of Holloway.

Mayor Welcomes Delegates

Mayor D. L. Storey was present at the afternoon session of the Women's Institute Convention to officially welcome them to the city. Mrs. G. McCubbin, Warkworth replied to the address by expressing their appreciation of the gracious hospitality which they always enjoyed in Belleville and to hope they might return in the near future for Christmas shopping.

Before introducing Mrs. J. R. Futcher, President of F.W.I.O. whom she described as a woman of great understanding and knowledge of Institute work, Mrs. Badgley presented her with a corsage. Mrs. Futcher praised the friendliness of the Institute women which was outstanding. She explained that she had attended eleven conventions this year. The achievements of the organization are recognized throughout the province, and this reputation for unselfish interests must be maintained. Many organizations appeal to the Institute for support. Minister of Health Russell Kelly had called a meeting to discuss the health needs of the people of Ontario. If a health unit is needed this is the time to push it because the money is there. In Northern Ontario the women are doing the work of pioneers.

Large Sum Donated

Nineteen thousand dollars was presented to the Ontario Agricultural College, the interest to provide five scholarships of one hundred dollars to rural girls who take the four year course provided at Macdonald Institute.

Mrs. Flutcher visited the Junior farm girls and found them capable and energetic.

There are almost thirty-nine thousand members in the Institute in the province. Rural women need the Institute and it needs them.

At Cornell the International President, Mrs. Sayers of Iowa who was appointed at Amsterdam spoke on the subject "Country Women's Requirements for World Citizenship," and Mrs. Flutcher gave her audience the highlights of her talk.

"In the first place we must accept the world as it is today. There are no more isolated places now. When the Japs invaded Manchuria in 1931 it seemed very far away, but it started a fire that swept around the world and took my son out of my home to Guam, so I found that I am involved in mankind."

"We need to understand that no sector of the world's industry can stand alone. Restrictions in trade hem in a small country and lower their standard of living. I feel strongly on the matter of lowering the tariff on farm products. If by so doing we can make a better world then I am in favor of it. The most important thing in the world is to make a peaceful world for our children."

Must Have Knowledge

"We need to have a knowledge of world affairs and economic problems. Women need to accept political responsibility. Most women shun what they call dirty politics, but let us remember that holding aloof from them is what makes them dirty. Women have never yet exerted their power for things that are just and right. Too many blindly follow their husband's thinking. The voice of women must remind statesmen that their most urgent task is to foster conditions that make for peace.

"We must actively promote the spirit of brotherhood. Let us be patient with the United Nations organization. It is the only working organization we have, and the road to the world federation of free states will be a long hard road."

Outlines Program

Continuing, Mrs. Futcher outlined a program for a planning conference for Institute officers which they hope to hold in Guelph in the Spring for the purpose of cultivating and training leaders in the work, to give them an opportunity to become acquainted with the provincial board, and to learn to do things in a provincial way. Tentative plans are underway also for a few days Summer vacation at Guelph for members where they can rest and take light courses possibly in table or holiday decorations.

"Institute work," said Mrs. Futcher, "is worthy of your best effort. Put enthusiasm into the work. Be loyal. Don't belittle your individual effort, it leads to better relations in your home, community, province and nation. Prepare yourselves for world citizenship".

The Social Welfare report was given by Mrs. W. A. Goodfellow of Codrington.

Among suggestions for roll call were "Do's and dont's for sick rooms," "Something I hope to accomplish this year," "Cure for the Blues". Some subjects were rearing of pre-school children and preparing our youth to be healthful citizens. Projects included money sent for relief organizations, Red Cross, Cancer Society, and Society for the Blind. Parcels for Britain were packed, one institute sending 280 boxes of food. Valentine and Hallowe'en parties for families were given. Farm Forum meetings were held where discussions were enjoyed; free X-ray clinics were brought to some localities; British and Dutch immigrants were welcomed; some districts formed Blue Cross hospital units; girls' clubs were helped; aged people were given small gifts; a school nurse helped with a baby clinic.

Report on Citizenship

In giving the report on Citizenship, Mrs. George McCaw, Picton, said that papers had been given on the United Nations; on our local heritage; on temperance laws and rules; how I can be a good companion to my husband and family; better home life, selecting a partner for life as carefully as certified seed for your garden; and Elizabeth dedicates her life to the nation. Projects included welcoming newcomers and having classes to teach them English and prepare them for citizenship. In one branch all the school trustees are women. Films of national interest were shown, and members urged to talk democracy and stamp out communism, attend church and Sunday School, and provide young people with wholesome recreational facilities.

Discussing the report, Mrs. Futcher stated that the highest form of citizenship is using your ballot and the lowest form is espionage. Home is the first and best training ground for citizenship.

The report on historical research was given by Mrs. F. Brown, Roseneath. One meeting each year is given to historical research. Some topics were the discovery of penicillin; the founding of the Canadian Post Office; the local war memorial; and exhibits of curios and historical relics, clothing made and worn by grandmothers. The current events of to day are the history of tomorrow. New citizens provide opportunities for the Institute members to add lore to the village histories Tweedsmuir history books were made.

Panel Discussion

Commenting on the value of historical research, Mrs. Futcher quoted "He who knows his own generation only, remains always a child."

A panel discussion under the direction of Mrs. Clifford Clancy Harold, was based on the convention theme "Women and a Better Tomorrow."

Mrs. Broad opened the discussion with a discourse on women in agriculture, stating that every county Federation of Agriculture must have a representative of the W.I. on it. Groups discuss health cost of production, and radio forums. The lack of medical facilities in rural areas, and the growing lack of doctors is a matter of concern. High prices and the poor quality of some lines of merchandise were subjects to occupy the thoughts of women.

Miss Vankleek presented the part women take in the cause of temperance. Increased drinking is alarming with the consequent increase in accidents, broken homes, crime, disease, and venereal diseases. The consumption of alcoholic drinks has a detrimental effect on our youths, and our economic life suffers. For every dollar spent on liquor eighty-five cents has to be spent on administration of courts as a result.

Could Solve Problems

Women in public life was presented by Mrs. Bateman. If women used their influence they could solve many problems. They are essentially homemakers and they will fight for a better tomorrow for their homes. Women should not be smug and disinterested.

Miss Richards stated the part of women in municipal life and thought women should work for better local government because this touches most closely our intimate lives. They should be well informed and keen students. They should train and elect women to act on school boards and municipal councils. In the average community only one-third go to the polls. A minority group chooses the government which so profoundly affects our lives. Democracy moves when it is pushed and women must get ready to give it that push.

The open discussion which followed brought out some interesting solutions to some of the problems presented.

A piano duet was given by Mrs. Parrott and Mrs. M. Ryan both of Rural Route 4 Belleville.

Demonstration Given

At the evening session of the convention the Homemakers Clubs composed of girls from the districts which is sponsored by the Institutes gave a demonstration of some of the practical things they are taught. This was under the direction of Miss E Irvine and Mrs. Elmer Young Mountain View. The Grafton Club demonstrated how to pack a weekend bag. A garden exhibit of vegetables was displayed with the commentator Miss Aldythe Arthur of Wooler. Trays for the sick room were explained, and lunches for children as well as table settings. Dresses which were made by a group were modelled by the seamstresses. These were plannd to show the versatility of cottons. Group completed their demonstration with an original song. A group from Plainfield showed the steps in canning tomatoes.

A technicolor film depicting the fiftieth anniversary of the foundling of Institutes was shown. A colorful pageant showed how the original organization in Stoney Creek, Ontario has spread to many countries throughout the world. The picture "Let There be Light" outlined the work of the various branches and their hopes for the future.

Women's Activities

W.A. OF BRIDGE STREET

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Association of Bridge Street United Church took place in the S.S. on Friday, Oct. 29, at two-thirty p.m.

The President, Mrs. R. B. Morden was in the chair and conducted the business portion of the meeting.

Miss H. Sulman, whose group was responsible for the program was then called upon to take charge of the balance of the meeting.

Miss Downs took charge of the devotional part of the service and then Miss Sulman introduced the Speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. W. P. Youdale, who had recently returned from a four months' sojourn in England, to tell the ladies of her impressions of a Post-War England.

Mrs. Youdale started her address by telling several interesting and humorous incidents that took place aboard ship on her trip to England, and then went on to say that at the present time the main topic of conversation over there is food, and said that the people aren't actually hungry but their diet is so restricted that it becomes monotonous.

It takes all morning to shop and takes a lot of judicious planning to make the food rations stretch over the whole week. Bread and fish are not rationed but the bread will not keep more than two days and is dark in comparison with what we have here.

Eggs are very scarce and while she was there they had about one egg per person every three weeks. Of course, Mrs. Youdale said the Black Market does a flourishing business there as elsewhere in Europe, and for those who can afford it butter is $2.50 a lb., and eggs, $3.00 a doz.

In order for the British people to exist, all the beautiful things they make are for export only and as a result their lives are very drab.

The people are not poor, nearly all have money to spend but everything is rationed and there is nothing to spend their money on, as a result a lot of them spend it in drinking, gambling and smoking.

Hats and shoes are no longer rationed but each person is allowed only 24 coupons a year for clothes. The Govt. has set the prices for utility clothes and these are quite nice and made of good material but of course are not the fabric and style of the luxury clothes which are terribly expensive and only within the grasp of a few.

Travelling in England is mainly by bus these days as the fares on the government owned trains are so high.

A good many of the beautiful homes in England are empty on account of the exorbitant taxes. Some of these have been turned into private hotels.

Mrs. Youdale mentioned that the churches are very poorly attended and most of them are very shabby and dirty.

In conclusion, Mrs. Youdale said she thought what she would remember the most was the beauty of the scenery and closed with the quotation of Keats—Truth is Beauty, and Beauty is Truth and that is all ye need to know.

On behalf of the W.A. Mrs. H. Rollins expressed appreciation to Mrs. Youdale for her splendid address.

GOOD SUPPLY

"Theare is a slight shortage in British Columbia due to a strike in California which has been going on since September, but there's nothing serious even there."

The latest figures available from the Bureau of Statistic's light fuel-oil supplies cover only the first eight months of the year and do not include the reported improvement in supplies in the last few weeks. Even so, however, they indicate that about 1,100,000 barrels more fuel oil of the type used in domestic heating was available than during the same portion of 1947.

Canadian refineries had shipped 7,421,366 barrels of light fuel oil by the end of August and imports at tat time totalled 3,004,181 barrels. Stocsk on hand—in the form of producers, dealers and industrial users inventories—at Aug. 1, were 2,385,297 barrels. Export had totalled 313,427. This left a napparent total supply, of 9,859,873 barrels against 8,740,874 at the end of August, 1947.

Athol Community Hall Officially Opened by Party

Picton.—Illustrating what a rural community can do to provide recreation in its own community, the village of Cherry Valley has officially 'opened' a hall built 78 years ago, for that purpose. For the past two years, that rural community has held parties as a means of raising funds and without special canvass secured $2,500. As a result, the old hall has been entirely renovated, and is being used practically every night for some type of sport or entertainment, whereas it was seldom used.

Under the energetic leadership of Philip Dodds, the whole township of Athol, along with many other friends, joined in the effort, having such good times that soon the hall was unable to hold all who wished to attend the parties held each Friday night.

With funds on hand, a basement was excavated, the old stove in the hall thrown on the junk heap, and a new and modern furnace installed. Then came the building of a modern, portable stage which is removed when sports are held. An addition was built as a cloak room, modern cupboards and work tables built in the kitchen and new floor covering laid there. Dishes and silver to serve 200 people were purchased as well as a variety of cooking utensils. New curtains were purchased for all windows. The hall ceiling and walls were given two coats of paint and coat racks built.

All this work preceded the final big step, the laying of a hardwood floor. This work was completed at a cost of nearly $800, and was cause for a special celebration. All who had assisted in staging the parties were invited to attend the official 'opening' and once again the hall was packed.

Reeve Elmer Vader officially cut satin streamers which marked off the floor and at the same time he took opportunity to pay tribute to Mr. Dodds for the great amount of time he had given in organizing the project. On behalf of the township, Miss Marguerite McNally presented Mr. Dodds with an electric razor. In his expression of thanks, Mr. Dodds urged that the hall be renamed Athol Community hall and that it be used by all parts of the township by both young and old. He presented Reeve Vader with a hunter's hat and Mrs. Vader with a bouquet of chrysanthemums, in appreciation of their co-operation.

Dancing and serving of refreshments brought to a close an historic occasion in the life of the village and the township of Athol of which it is the centre.

Ask Tamblyn's

LONDON, ENGLAND: "My young niece will, we hope, graduate from Oxford next June. That may provide reason for a family re-union. What is the least amount needed to finance such a journey with a stay in England of two to three weeks? I shall be staying in a boarding house. Where should I apply for accommodation?"

Return ship fares to London next June are: Tourist $320 (sold out), Cabin $560 (sold out), and First Class $750 (reservations should be made immediately). Added to this would be train fare to Montreal plus ship voyage tips, about $30. Transatlantic air flight costs $649.80 return with no meal costs. Accommodation in London guest-house runs from $3 to $5 daily, with meals. Reservations could be made through British Travel Association, 372 Bay Street, Toronto. It certainly sounds like a grand family party.

KITCHEN COLORS: "We are building a new house and I would like some help with kitchen colors. What about woodwork, cupboard and furniture?"

Kitchens need the clean look far more than the new look. Consequently, ivory, yellow, and apple green are favorite colors. Ivory walls, ivory cupboards with deeper yellow shelf edges and under shelves combine well with blue linoleum-covered work surfaces. Add glazed chintz, blue and white striped curtains and it's a colorful ensemble. Pale green walls and cupboards combine with yellow mottled linoleum table tops and beige linoleum flooring. Sherwin-Williams have color chart folders available on request.

FELT CHRISTMAS GIFTS: "Where can I get a book of instructions in making felt gifts such as book covers, knitting bags and so on?"

We have not been able to locate a book on felt-craft. However, Mrs. M. Rennick, Downsview P.O., says if you write her, she will help you. Mrs. Rennick did a highly successful felt demonstration at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Mercurys Creep Within 4 Points League Leaders

(By The Canadian Press)

Owen Sound Mercurys, with eight points, crept within four points of the league-leading Hamilton Tigers Tuesday night.

Mercurys, paced by Mike Shabaga with one goal and assists, nosed out the third-placed Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 3-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association senior game.

In the only junior tilt, Guelph Mercurys moved into fourth place besting the fifth-spot Galt Rockets 3-2 at Galt.

Owen Sound garnered two goals in the first period and one in the third while Dutchmen scored in the second and third sessions.

Pat McReavy notched the first Owen Sound goal when he tipped in Mike Shabaga's rebound. Less than two minutes later, Shabaga scored on McReavy's pass to put Mercurys two up.

Owen Sound made it 3-1 when Bruce Small scored on a three-way pass with Fred Smith and Shabaga. Minutes later Bill Dinning retaliated for Kitchener, counting on a 35 foot screened shot.

The Rockets defeat left them in a fifth place tie with Stratford Kroehlers.

Ron Bell opened the scoring for Galt in the first period, slipping the puck in after drawing out goaler Dan Kewley. Biltmores tied it up in the second frame when Butch Martin blasted a long shot that caught the corner.

Bell got his second goal when he put Galt up 2-1. Lorne Ferguson came back for Biltmores minutes later and nipped the equalizer shortly after Galt's Tom Burcham drew a high-sticking penalty. Frank Bathgate got the clincher for Guelph minutes later.

In the junior circuit tonight, Galt clash with Guelph, Oshawa Generals meet the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees and Stratford Kroehlers play the third-spot Barrie Flyers.

Only one game is slated in the senior loop. Stratford Indians clash with the cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The scoreless game played in Montreal on October 23 between Canadians and Detroit Red Wings brought to mind the fact that scoreless games today are quite an oddity. There have been only 11 scoreless games played in the N.H.L. during the past 10 years, says an N.H.L. release.

• • •

The October 23 goal-shy tussle in Montreal was the first scoreless game to be played at the Forum since March 10, 1936, when Montreal Maroons played to a scoreless stalemate with New York Rangers. Last time Canadiens were engaged in a game lacking any scoring on Forum ice was back on January 13, 1934. The old Ottawa Senators were Canadiens' opponents that evening.

• • •

Two scoreless games were played in the Montreal Hockey League last season and both were played in Boston. On November 30 the Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs shut each other out, while on March 17 the Bruins played through 60 minutes of scoreless hockey with Detroit Red Wings.

• • •

The seasons of 1944-45 and 1939-40 also saw two goal-less contests recorded. Two scoreless games are the most recorded in a single season during the past 10 years. In the 1942-43 and 1938-39 seasons not one scoreless game was played throughout the entire schedule.

• • •

Before the 1941-42 season a 10-minute overtime period was played in an effort to settle all deadlocks. In the three seasons before 1941-42, and when the overtime sessions were in vogue, there were still three league fixtures that ended in scoreless draws.

• • •

Meet the "Diesels"! That is the new name of the Canadian National Railways Recreation Association hockey club which filed an entry with the Belleville District Hockey League last week. And it is something new in athletic squads' names. Railroad representation in the field of sport here has always been known as the "Nationals", "Grand Trunks" etc. The new name "Diesels" is in keeping with the trend of progress. So don't be surprised if you hear the Northern Electric squad has been baptized the "Sparks", the Trenton H. C. the "Scotties" (MacDonald is the manager); the Napanee Legion, "The Swaddies" or "Sweats" and the Cobourg squad adopt their "Orphans" title of a year ago, as few in their own home town it appears seem to know anything about them.

• • •

But to get back to the CNR. It seems that the newly-formed Recreation Association which was born a few days ago, has already blossomed into a surprising infant of toddling proportions, which promises to reach near-maturity this winter season. The association now boasts a membership of over 400 (at a buck a throw) and it's bursting at the seems, so we are informed. The new organization is preparing an extensive program of recreational endeavors for the coming year, of which hockey is but a part.

• • •

However, hockey is the paramount effort for the nonce, and since the official acceptance of the club entry by the league master-minds, Prexy Al Meagher and his committees have been busier than the traditional hives-stricken one-armed collection-taker.

• • •

At a well-attended meeting, the first since the baby was born, the boys got down to hockey brass tacks and turned out some honest-to-goodness work. For instance they named the well-known former hockey star of this city Jim Ethier, coach of the new "Diesels". Harold Bawden, of softball and umpire fame, is the trainer of the squad, while chairman of the Hockey Committee and manager of the team is Mac 'Red' Carson, sorrel-topped baseball and softball star of the city.

• • •

Ethier comes from a well-known sports family of the city whose name has been synonymous with hockey, baseball and softball over a period of years. Jim was one of the better defencemen here a few years ago and his experience and ability should stand him in good stead in his new job. Harold Bawden, corpulent trainer, is another well-known sportsman of the city, having been associated with softball teams here for the past decade. He packs plenty of weight, and the boys will know they've been on the rubbing table after "Bawdy" rolls those ham-like hands of his over their bodies. Mac "Red" Carson, newly-appointed manager is another softball, baseball and general sports luminary whose name has long been associated with athletics here.

• • •

And when the "Diesels" step on the ice for the first time, they will be all dolled up in their new dazzling dark green and brilliant yellow sweaters. On their sweaters will be a large Maple Leaf with the letters "C.N.R." superimposed. On their backs they will wear large white numbers. They'll be the Beau Brummels of the league, or at least nearly so, because we are informed the Cobourg Orphans will step out on the ice arrayed in the colorful garb of the Galloping Ghosts football squad of that town. Gold and red and something or other.

• • •

And from what is going the rounds, the "Diesels" should be a power to be reckoned with in the Belleville District Hockey League. Several well-known veterans of the city garnished with some smart newcomers are said to form the team.

• • •

Manager Bill Cook of the Belleville Rocket juniors announced that the first practice of the squad will be held in Memorial Arena Thursday night from 7 to 8 o'clock. Bill placed emphasis on the fact, that contrary to rumor, no positions on the Rockets team have been filled. All assignments, appointments, etc., have yet to be made and will be made on player merit only. He invites all hockey-inclined youngsters of junior age to turn out on Thursday night. Bring your skates and sticks.

• • •

Bill O'Malley, one of the best officials in the Trent Valley Hockey League last winter, has filed application for a position as a referee in the Belleville District Hockey League. O'Malley comes well recommended, and his application will be passed on by the executive within the next day or so.

Retiring Prexy Says Football Is too Costly

Winnipeg, Nov. 3 (CP)— After four years as head of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, retiring president Arthur Uniac Chipman has come to the conclusion football is becoming too costly.

Stressing the need to develop home talent, he said that the Bombers had to be subsidized "substantially" this season even though "we had a wonderful attendance at our seven home games." This was due partly to the big salaries paid American imports.

"We should quit trying to live up to the Joneses," he said. "Winnipeg with a population 1-3 the size can't keep pace with Toronto and Montreal. The sooner we realize it the better it will be for all associated with football in the West."

Apart from suggesting that western terms forget about American imports, with a resultant heavier concentration on home brews, Chipman also recommended that the home talent share in a player pool at the end of the season rather than get salaries.

Chipman thought that hiring of a "high class coach—and I really mean high class" would put Winnipeg in a position where players could be developed locally and it would be possible to compete on even terms with the East in two or three seasons.

"If we, Regina and Calgary all returned to home brew talent Edmonton and possibly even Saskatoon might come in a league."

Chipman said he did not know how officials of Calgary Stampeders or Saskatchewan Roughriders might feel about the matter although he had the idea that the proposal might be well received in Regina.

Sports Roundup

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 3 — (AP) — The golf experts around here will tell you that the most promising young player to make the tournament circuit this year is Jackie Burke, a transplanted Texan who plays out of White Plains, N. Y. — One thing that's certain, Jackie is trying.

He had a 71 in Tuesday's first round of the north and south open then went right out and began practicing his putting. What's more, he has the best pros in the business watching him when he practices . . the catch seems to be that Jackie, whose father tied for second place in the 1920 National Open, is 24 years old and a war veteran.

He's not a kid, in the sense that Bobby Jones was when he reached the semi-final of the National amateur, or that Francis Ouimet and Gene Sarazen were when they won the Open at the age of 20. What some of the old timers want to know is: "Where are the kids who should be making the golf headlines," and if there aren't any, what's to be done to get the small fry interested in golf?

Election Note

Freddie Corcoran was following Sammy Snead around the course yesterday and "naturally" comparing him to Ted Williams. When Slammin Sam was delayed in a tee, Fred remarked "Well, Dewey is leading."

Snead perked up his ears "Is he," asked Sam. "What did he go out in?"

Joe Dimaggio Visits in Toronto On Way to Hunt

(By The Canadian Press)

Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee Clipper, stated Tuesday night at the suburban home of Toronto movieman Arthur Gottlieb before motoring today on a hunting expedition at Gottlieb's camp north of Ottawa.

Toronto Argonauts Tuesday night nominated centre Doug Turner and lineman Don Durno for the 1948 Jeff Russel Trophy, awarded annually to the Big Four football player voted most sportsmanlike and the most valuable to his team.

The winner of the award will probably be announced later this week.

Veteran lineman George Shields was voted the Jimmy Keith Mcmorial Trophy, awarded annually to the member of Toronto Beaches Indians showing the type of spirit, loyalty and ability of the late Jimmy Keith former Balmy Beach outside wing. The selection was made by the Beaches' players.

President Clair Warner of the Western Football Conference announced yesterday that Hec Creighton of Toronto would be unable to officiate in the two-game Western Canada final between Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders. Earlier, arrangements were made to bring the veteran arbiter west but in a telegram to Warner, Creighton said he could not make the trip because of previous commitments to the Big Four Union.

Canadian featherweight champ Jean Richard scored a technical knockout victory over Lou Alter at Montreal Tuesday night in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round non-title fight. Richard scaled 129 3/4, and Alter 125½. Referee Bobby Leitham stopped the fight when Alter was unable to answer the bell for the sixth round.

The American Hockey League Buffalo Bisons Tuesday sold Jack McGill to Providence Reds for an undisclosed amount of cash and the bargaining rights to left winger Fernand Laliberte, it was announced at Buffalo. The 20-year-old Laliberte, now with Montreal Nationals in the Quebec Junior League, belongs to the Reds.

Regina, Nov. 3 (CP)— As the hockey season rolls around, youngsters head for tryouts with professional clubs of one kind or another.

Some stick and some don't, but regardless, the pros receive a blasting on occasion for the strings they tie to the young hopefuls.

Looking at form C—a National Hockey League contract signed by players trying out with pro clubs —Murray (Moose Jaw Times Herald) Brown says there are pro and con angles one should consider.

"It sounds pretty one-sided," he says, adding that it is "usually negotiated in consideration of a modest bonus and officially places the young player on the chattel list of a professional club."

But, he says:

"The question is, how long would the pro clubs support so-called amateur teams if there was no form C?"

Brown uses Moose Jaw Canuck Juniors affiliated with the National League Chicago Black Hawks and strong contenders for Western or Memorial Cup honors for the last several years, as an example. He wonders if Hawks would continue their present working agreement with Canucks if it weren't for form C.

Without the contact pro teams would have no protection," says Murray. "They would have little or no control over the players and would be out of pocket if a player on whose development they had spent considerable money decided to switch allegiance."

Howie Meeker Unable to Play In All-Star Game

(By The Canadian Press)

Coach Happy Day tonight throws his ailing Toronto Maple Leafs into action against the National Hockey League's dream team at Chicago.

It's the league's annual All-star game, between the champions of the world and a star-studded squad picked last wear by the league coaches.

The All-Stars—whose roster reads like who's who of the hockey world—won the game 4-3 last year. The Leafs, now in fourth place in the league, have been far from impressive in seven games this year.

Leafs probably will be without right - winger Howie Meeker who sat out Tuesday's practice scrimmage. Bothered by a toe he broke in the first game of the season.

Coach Tommy Ivan of Detroit Red Wings may have to send the All-Stars into the game without a team practice.

But practice or no practice he'll be icing a squad that spells trouble for any hockey club.

The game is expected to bring out a capacity crowd of 17,000 to the Chicago stadium and put $30,000 into the coffers of the National Hockey League's Pension Fund for players and the Daily News Veterans Rund.

It marks the only activity in the league between last Saturday's games and the scheduled Saturday night tilts.

Saturday the first-place Detroit Red Wings play Canadiens at Montreal and Toronto is at home to the fifth-place New York Rangers.

Ivan has had little chance to drill his squad, some of whom are not expected to arrive in Chicago until today.

His club comprises Bill Durnan of Montreal and Frank Brimsea of Boston, defencemen Bill Quackenbush and Jack Stewart of Detroit, Neil Colville of New York and Butch Bouchard and Ken Reardon of Montreal; and Woody Dumart of Boston, Tony Leswick of New York and three Red Wings—Bud Poile, Ted Lindsay and Gordon Howe.

Forward Edgar Laprade of New York was named to the All-Stars last year, but injuries from a pre-season auto accident have kept him on the bench all season.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By SHAUN McQUILLAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 3. (CP)—The authoritative Marylebone Cricket Club's cricket sub-committee held a three-hour post-mortem at Lord's ground on the last disastrous Test series, and decided England is down but not out.

The Australians won four matches and drew the other in the five-game set.

The chairman, Sir Pelham Warner, said the findings were:

"1. Our men were living on poor food and under the strain of war for a long time. That affected them.

"2. We needed one good all-rounder like Hammond, or Australia's Keith Miller.

"3. The lack of a good fast bowler was fatal.

"After the First World War England cricket slumped for a few years, and then we produced the finest teams of all, about 1928 and 1932. We will recover again. "All our young cricketers of 1939 lost valuable years, and they are now bordering on the 30s. We will have to concentrate on younger players again.

"The youngsters were well looked after during the war, and there must be good players among them. 'But the causes of this present slump are obvious: the period of ill-feeding went on too long, too long altogether."

At the Olympic offices in London's swanky Mayfair, officials and auditors still grapple with a host of figures. Some indication of Olympic Games receipts will be announced soon but a firm figure may not be struck until early 1949.

Unofficial estimates say spectators paid more than £1,250,000 ($5,000,000) to watch the games. The take is said to have topped £500,000 with an additional £25,000 for film rights and other concessions.

Expenses are believed between £450,000 and £500,000. Camps for overseas athletes cost £120,000. There probably will be a four-figure balance, which according to the Olympic protocol, must be given to British amateur sports organizations for the furtherance of sport.

John Molyneux, 16, apprentice-jockey son of a Liverpool boiler-maker rode his first public race at Lingfield the other day—and won. His mount, Parasol, a four-year-old daughter of Midday Sun, 1937 Derby winner, beat six other runners for the Eridge Apprentice Stakes at odds of 9 to 4.

For two years since he left his school near Aintree racecourse, curly-haired "Moly" has worked as a stable lad in G. B. Barling's Newmarket Stables.

For half the 1 1-4-mile course Parasol was last. "But the lad kept his head and didn't use his whip—I had told him not to," Barling said afterwards.

MOTORCYCLIST KILLED

Toronto, Nov. 3 (CP)—Elis Karjala, 27, was killed early today when his motorcycle hit the centre span of a bridge in southwest Toronto. A passenger, David Eagan, was taken to hospital with a scalp wound.

Frank Filchock Most Valuable Player in ORFU

Toronto, Nov. 3.— (CP) — Frankie Filchock, the forward-passing sensation of this football season today become the second successive American import to win the Imperial Oil trophy, awarded annually to the most valuable player in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

The quarterback and coach of Hamilton Tigers, who swept through the nine-game union schedule without a defeat, succeeds Bob Paffrath, now with Ottawa Rough Riders, as the choice of players on his own and opposing teams for the award.

The 32-year-old native of Pittsburgh, Pa., held a decisive edge in the balloting, result of which was announced today by Harold Bailey, O.R.F.U. secretary. Each team votes for two of its own players and one member of another team and the votes are pooled.

The award brings anothetr honor to the man who came to Canada last year after his suspension from United States football on a charge of failing to report a bribe offer. Filchock protested the charge—he played the game of his career for New York Giants in the professional playoff in question—and some football men since have decided he was the scapegoat in a blare of U.S. publicity on gambling in sports.

His acceptance in Canada was slow. At first, the Big Four Football Union refused to consider him eligible and ruled that all games he played for Hamilton would automatically go to the opponents. The Tigers used him anyway and in mid-season named him coach about the time the Big Four relented and ruled him eligible.

This year the Tigers went into the Ontario Rugby Football Union and he built up a set of native-son receivers, notably Jack Harper and Jack Stewart— fellows who could snatch and hold throws they say hit a man's hands like a feather no matter what the distance.

Unofficial statistics show that in nine games this season Filchock attempted 129 passes and completed 83. Around a dozen were intercepted. But about 24 were direct touchdown passes.

"Our Gang" Dunks Newspaper Team In Major B

The "Our Gang" team in the Tuesday night Major "B" League really ganged up on the pesky printers from the Ontario Intelligencer at the weekly bowl session last night, and sent the paper boys home weeping on the wrong end of a 4-0 score. The "Gang" rolled an impressive 3328 score as against 2618 polled by the Hardwick-led crew.

Saco defeated the lowly ANAF Veterans team by the same score, while the "Just Us" team disposed of Black's Meats by a 3-1 count.

E. Moore was top bowler of the evening. The "Just Us" bowler rolled high single of 316 and also the high triple of 724. A. Hitchon of Sacos was the only other kegler to top the 700 mark in the triples, getting 717.

The scores:

Sacos, 4 points	2774
ANAF Veterans, 0 points	2004
Just Us, 3 points	2977
Blacks, 1 point	2932
"Our Gang," 4 points	3328

Business Spotlight

(By The Canadian Press)

Thousands upon thousands of trees now are being hacked down in Canadian woods and being moved to the United States. The Christmas tree business is in full swing.

Last year 6,781,118 fir and spruce were shipped for $1,901,033. It looks as if the take will be even bigger this year.

More than half the evergreens are cut in Quebec and the Maritimes. New Brunswick and Nova Scotia shipped more than 1,500,000 last season.

The Christmas tree export trade to the United States had doubled in the last 10 years. There's still room for it to get bigger for the U.S. uses about 15,000,000 trees each Christmas.

On corner lots in United States towns and cities the trees sell from $1 up to $5 apiece. Price, of course, depends on size and shape

Hollywood, Nov. 3 —(AP) — Fashion designer Edith Head has combined anatomical parts of 9 film actresses to form the perfect dummy.

This is a literal dummy, one used for fashion scenes in "Bitter Victory." A perfectionist, Miss Head had to make it the best. Choosing from the stars she has designed for, she picked this list:

Neck—Diana Lynn, 13 inches.
Shoulders—Barbara Stanwyck.
Bust—Olivia DeHavilland, 34 1-2 inches.
Waist—Loretta Young, 24 inches.
Hips—Lizabeth Scott, 35 1-2 inches.
Arms—Hedy Lamarr.
Hands—Veronica Lake.
Legs—Marlene Dietrich, of course.
Feet—Mona Freeman.

Football First

Jane Russell tells me her husband, Bob Waterfield, will not give up pro-football as reported. He'll see another season or two with the Los Angeles Rams. Meanwhile, he's seeking an auto agency in the San Fernando Valley. Jane would like to see him star in a western series. He's got the looks and build for it.

Dinah Shore is bragging about her disc "Buttons and Bows" showing over the 1,000,000 mark in sales. She and other record stars are eying sheet music again in preparation for the renewal of waxing.

"Mister Roberts" is still in doubt as a film. Johnston office censors would remove much of the play's lustiness, and it's a question whether enough would be left for film material. At any rate, James Stewart will replace Henry Fonda in the show next summer, giving Hank a chance to do a picture, much needed for his movie career.

Randolph Scott heads for a three month trip after "Wild Bill Doolin." He'll visit his mother in Charlotte, N.C., and may cruise to South America. "I want to get away from my creditors," jests Randy, reputed to be one of the wealthiest guys in town. An exaggeration he claims.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The fancy doings of Oxpert Ewings are not his only troubles. What cooks his doughnuts is that opponents can make the bids he doubles.

South became the declarer at a doubled contract of six hearts in this deal:

♠8 3
♥10 8
♦Q 10 9 8 7 5 4
♣K 10

WEST
♠K Q J 9 5 2
♥None
♦A K 6 3 2
♣A 3

EAST
♠10 7 6 4
♥J 6 5 3 2
♦J
♣8 5 2

♥A K Q 9 7 4
♦None
♣Q J 9 7 6 4

In the first round of bidding, south opened with two hearts and west said three hearts. This bid by west is known as an overcall in opponent suit. Among other things, it promises no heart losers.

No heart losers may mean that he has the ace of hearts alone. Or no hearts at all. Therefore, he expects to ruff any heart tricks for which he does not hold the tops. It assumes some other suit as trumps.

In a defending pair, such information is essential if the hand is also strong enough in other suits. But it also advises the other side what to expect. Declarer took advantage of this to make the slam.

The opening lead from west was diamond king, which south ruffed. If west has no hearts, east must have the five unseen trumps. So it was necessary to enter dummy for a trump lead through east.

A club was led from south. If west did not go up at once with the ace, dummy would have won this trick. But west captured this first club with the ace and hopefully led spade king.

South had this trick with the spade ace and entered dummy with a second club lead. Trump ten was led from dummy. East refused to cover with the jack and south played small for a finesse.

This trick held and dummy led heart eightspot. Again the east hand ducked and south won with the nine. Trumps were pulled with the three south top hearts and south clubs were good.

West started to ball out east for going six spades. He was stopped cold with: "Anybody but a dope would have led his second top diamond and set the slam. But you have to sit in judgment."

Quebec Liberal Members Endorse Hon. St. Laurent

Ottawa, Nov. 3 (CP)— A caucus of Quebec Liberal members of the commons has unanimously endorsed acting Prime Minister St. Laurent's leadership of the Federal Liberal Party.

The causus, held in camera Tuesday, also confirmed the appointment of solicitor general Jean as director-general of Federal Liberal Party organization in Quebec.

A member of the causus said the meeting was unique. It marked the first time that members from Quebec had been called to an in-between-session caucus to discuss organization and other matters.

"We were called here to express our views on various matters affecting the government," he added. "Quebec is giving the lead to other provinces in this matter. Theqther provinces are free to call meetings similar to this one if they so desire."

Two requests, it was learned, were made by the 40-odd members attending the meeting. These were for tax reductions and improved family allowance legislation.

No Hint of Election

There was no hint given by Mr. St. Laurent, who attended briefly, as to when the next general election will be called, or when the next session of parliament will begin.

One member said that, in his opinion, a Federal General Election will not be called until April, 1950, just a few months before life of the present parliament expires.

However, there has been some speculation that the government would call an election in October of next year.

The same member said the caucus asked the ogvernment to reduce income taxes sharply in the next budget and earmark income tax revenue for specific purposes.

Taxpayers would not mind paying taxes, he said, if they knew that the revenue was to be used for family allowances, old age pensions or other welfare services. Some people now believed the revenue was being "given to England."

Profits Jump 25P.C. Over Same Period Last Year

Detroit, Nov. 3 — (CP)—Chrysler Corporation sales in the first nine months of 1948 soared to $1,069,901,744, while profits, including dividends from foreign subsidiaries, jumped 25 per cent over the same period in 1947. K. T. Keller, president of the Corporation, told stockholders that sales had increased $80,501,402 in the period.

The sales were the highest in the company's history for a nine-month period and earnings were equivalent to $6.88 a share as compared with earnings of $5.50 a share for the same three quarters in 1947. Net earnings for the three-quarters also established a new high. The previous peak profit three-quarter period was in 1947 when net earnings totalled $47,873,000.

The warehoure jammed to capacity with furniture and household effects, was a total loss It is reported that only a small proportion of the furniture stored was covered by insurance.

There are gas tanks in close proximity to the building and for a time police evacuated nearby houses in care of an explosion several moving vans belonging to the company were saved.

Fire department officials stated that the building had been inspected within the past week.

THE VENABLES

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

Dark fog came in from the ocean during the Autumn afternoon and made mysterious the steep San Francisco street and the rooms of the brick house. The house stood in a row of detached wooden dwellings much alike; it was the only brick one on the block. The others had bay windows. Its face was flat and decorated by a cast-iron balcony.

Between the houses were long fenced lanes; narrow passages for the coming and going of butcher boys and school children. Before each house was a strip of garden bulkheaded above the street, and fenced with short fat poles and posts of wood painted gray and mottled with dirty white to look like granite.

The brick house had "come around the Horn." The children who lived in it had no idea what that meant nor did they care. But they liked the thought that there was something unusual in the low-ceiled rooms.

They boasted among themselves of the windows that came down to the floor, the balcony that was considered too dangerous to use, the china doorknobs painted with lilies and roses. All these had "come around the Horn."

In their garden was a rare bush — a japonica. It stood among the pampas grass and bridal wreath, the pepper trees and lemon verbena. Their mother occasionally cut a blossom from the graceful little tree, polishing the shining leaves, making much of it.

"What a lovely camellia, Willie," her friends would say.

"It's not a camellia; it's a japonica. Mr. V. bought it himself right after we were married."

"Mr. V." was Paul Standish Venables — Lily's and Flo's and the other children's father. His wife had alluded to him thus in early married years. After that he had been "Papa," and finally, shyness overcome, he was "Paul."

As soon as it was fairly dark, when sewing in delicate white hands was no longer visible and the rooms had taken on ducky shadows lighted by the coke fires, Dolly came through with the gas-lighter. Dolly was the one servant in the nine-room house.

The mistress of this establishment was Wilhelmina Hawkes Venables, now lying exhausted and silent and thoughtful with her ninth child in the curve of her weak arm. Mrs. Howden had rolled him up into a solid sausage of swaddling and had put him there, and Willie had been too weak to move either him or her arm since.

Her mother, old Mrs. Hawkes, a stout, short, breathless woman with an enormous bosom upon which a little watch, attached by a gold ribbon bow, lay as upon a level plateau, sat panting at her bedside.

Willie lay spent, the child had been born two days ago, just about this hour of dusk, but still she didn't seem to be able to move. She had not been like this with any of the others. It seemed to be getting harder all the time, except of course for the first time.

That child had been a boy, Arthur, who had died at three months. The first burning Summer days of her first labor, when Willie had moaned and had tried to walk, had stumbled to the bed only to writhe away from its tumbled sheets again, had all been in vain. Her pretty child had died.

Thirteen months later Lionel had been born, and after a few weeks of waiting had also died. Then another thirteen months and Lily, sturdy and adored and reassuring, had arrived, and before Lily had reached her second birthday, Florence. After Florence had come George, and a Willie who had died, and little Wilhelmina, always called "Weeny," and Virgie-Lou.

And now to the line was added this little fellow, a small mottled baby, already showing the red of the Hawkes' hair on his palpitating little crown.

And Willie was tired out. It seemed to her that she never would want to move again.

She had told her mother something of her utter discouragement in the long afternoon hours, and Mrs. Hawkes, shrugging her stout shoulders, had laughed ruefully, sympathetically.

"They say if the men had to have every other one there'd only be two children in every family," she had said. But Willie, who had laughed at this invariably before, hadn't laughed now. The thought of her husband made her feel something like hate.

He would probably walk home from his office; it was a good mile but he loved it. He would come into this room breezy and fresh, his hard cheek cold, and just his leaning over to kiss her, the touch of his bushy mustache, would weary Willie, antagonize her.

"Well, you don't have to go through it again for a while," her mother had said comfortably.

"I'm thirty-eight, I've been married sixteen years," Willie had presently said, reflectively. "I could have five more."

"Your grandmother Roswell had a baby the day she was fifty-six. That was Aunt Lilian that had the fits."

To this Willie had made no answer. She had closed her sunken eyes; tears had slipped down her pale cheeks.

"Nine's enough," she had said after a while, in a whisper.

Dolly came in and lighted the gas. The sudden brilliance hurt the sick woman's eyes, and she put up a quick feeble hand to protect them.

"Push that bracket back, will you, Ma?" she murmured.

"Dolly, have you seen the baby?" asked the old woman.

"Didn't I give him his first bath, Sunday night?" Dolly came over, extinguished her lighter extinguishing her lighter, looking down at the sleeping infant. "He looks like Flo," she commented. "Flo says you're going to name him Cleveland."

"Flo did? I wish to goodness—" Willie's little flare of impatience died almost before it had gotten started. "What possesses her to say things like that?" she murmured, smiling half in amusement and half in discouragement. "Who's home, Dolly?"

"Lilly and Flo's home; they are givin' Virgie-Lou her supper in the kitchen, and they says they're going to get her to bed for me. But Georgie and Weeny's over to Personses'."

"Have you any of that chicken soup, Dolly?" Mrs. Hawkes was asking.

"No, ma'am. Uncle Roswell come in and et it," Dolly answered simply.

Willie felt a sharp pang of disappointment. She had thought more than once this afternoon of the soup.

"I'll have tea, Dolly, and toast."

"Want that 'fore they have their dinners?"

"What time is it now?"

"Round five."

"Yes, I believe I'd like it as soon as you can get around to it." Quite suddenly she was ravenously hungry. "Have you got a good dinner for Mr. Venables?"

"Corn beef and cabbage. It don't seem a real good piece. I've had it on the fire with the irons most of the day, but it don't give to the fork at all."

"Isn't there any chicken for Mr. Venables?"

"I give it to them last night."

"Well—" He hated these bare, unimaginative dinners; a great chunk of beef, a great dish of cabbage, cut bread slipping about on the plate, Sunday's cocoanut cake for dessert.

Mrs. Howden came to take the child over to the fire, to sit mumbling and fussing over him, and Willie rolled on her side and enjoyed her tea.

Her mother watched Willie in satisfaction.

"Lily and Flo's putting Virgie-Lou to bed; you'd die to see them," she said. "I declare that Lily's like a woman."

"Flo's really more motherly with them." Willie pushed the finished tray back on the chair, twisted around on her pillow again, wiping her mouth on her handkerchief and smiling. Dolly had forgotten the napkin again. She felt better, and here was Paul.

He was a square-built, rosy man in his early forties. There was gray here and there in the tough thick light hair that curled musician-fashion about his ears.

"Well, did that taste good?" he asked, removing the tray and sitting down in the chair after he had stopped to touch his lips to her forehead.

"You haven't had your dinner, have you dear?" she countered lifelessly.

"Not yet. The girls are putting Virgie-Lou to bed. I don't think Dolly's quite ready. Well, how's the boy?"

Willie indicated his neighborhood with a faint movement of her head. Her husband walked to the rocker where old Howden was sitting, looked at his son speculatively.

Three little girls had come into the room. Lily, thirteen, was a beautiful quiet-eyed child with fair hair; Flo, two years younger, was heavier and tall, with red hair and light eyes. Virgie-Lou, a baby of two years, came to her mother, laying her freshly washed face against her mother's and beginning to weep.

"We hurt her hair doing it," Flo explained defiantly. She looked expectantly at her mother; anyone who hurt the baby was usually in disgrace. But Willie had no fight in her tonight.

"And we gave her her supper too," Flo stated.

"We wanted to help you, Mother," Lily added virtuously.

"Mother, I love the smell of the room when there's a new baby," Flo said brightly, going to the basket.

"Florence," said her mother, "what on earth possessed you to tell people I was going to name him Cleveland?"

Flo stood straight and abashed, reduced instantly from a very luxury of maternal illusion to culpable little-girl-hood again.

"I don't know, Mama." All her bright interest in the new baby, all her enthusiasm for helping in this domestic crisis, were gone. She was a homely, tall, red-headed little girl looking furtively about under lowered lids for a way of escape, like a cobra—bored, nervous, resentful.

"Well, go down to your dinner with Papa — that was the bell. Take the tray, will you Paul? Can you take it, Lily?"

"Oh, yes, Mother, of course!" Lily could do everything. Flo leaped ahead to open the door for her burdened sister, stumbled against it, barely saved upsetting the tray. Her elbow hit the wood with a sharp crack; she immediately said that she was not hurt, but as she went downstairs she was crying.

Willie had felt quite bright and amused while they had all been in the room, but now she was tired and uncomfortable again. Her head ached, and her body, bandaged and strapped tightly, was sore.

She had not felt right since this baby had started coming. She had suspected that she was to have another at Christmas-time; the dread of it had spoiled Christmas Day. Hattie and Daisy, her unmarried sisters, had been quite scornful over it; Willie was a perfect fool to go on this way! But the married sister, Ida, had merely sighed as Ma had — had said only, "You don't seem to have any luck, Willie."

And Paul had looked thoughtful, had ejaculated "Whew—w!" before reproaching her mildly: "I kind of wish we weren't in for all this, dearie. We've got five of 'em. That's about all any man can raise these days."

After dinner Willie's mother and husband and the children, smelling of cabbage, tea, bread and butter, streamed back into the room, but it was not long before the little girls drifted away to do their homework, and Paul, after a few kindly words and a not too critical reference to the corned beef, said that he would go downtown.

"Take the car, Paul!"

"I will."

Willie felt a little pang of longing to go with him. She had not been out very often at night for all her thirty-eight years. She remembered going downtown with her father once, on election night, and she had sometimes been to the Tivoli and the Alcazar with Paul, during their early married years, when a good play came to town or a good performance of an operetta was given. The Mikado and Girofly-Girofla! How delightful they had been.

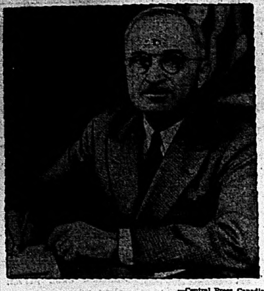
HE WAS RIGHT ALL THE TIME



—Central Press Canadian

Before the presidential elections in the U. S., it seemed to many observers that Harry Truman was the only one confident that Truman would be re-elected. But here he is ready for another term behind the White House executive deck.

Truman Victor in 28 States, Has Total 304 Electoral Votes, Dewey With 16 States Has 189

Washington, Nov. 4. (AP)—With about 94 per cent of the vote counted from Tuesday's presidential election, President Truman had won or appeared assured of victory in 28 states with a total of 304 electoral votes.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York seemed certain to carry 16 states with 189 electoral votes, 77 short of the 266 needed to capture the presidency.

On the basis of incomplete returns this morning, only two states—California and Idaho—conceivably could shift against the President. And in both states, Truman's lead appeared sufficient to give him their combined 29 electoral votes.

The only state now in the Dewey column which conceivably could shift to Truman is Indiana with 13 electoral votes.

In popular vote, returns from 122,349 of 135,884 voting units gave Truman 22,288,519, Dewey 20,420,065. Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive Party candidate, had 1,030,781 votes and J. Strom Thurmond, the State's Rights candidate 864,303.

On the basis of incomplete returns Thurmond, the governor of South Carolina, carried four States—Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, with a total of 38 electoral votes.

In popular vote, returns from 122,349 of 135,864 voting units gave Truman 22,288,519, Dewey 20,420,065. Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive Party candidate, had 1,030,781 votes and J. Strom Thurmond, the State's Rights candidate 864,303.

On the basis of incomplete returns Thurmond the governor of South Carolina, carried four states —Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, with a total of 38 electoral votes.

States making up Truman's anticipated 304 electoral votes are Arizona (4), Arkansas (9), California (25), Colorado (6), Florida (8), Georgai (12), Idaho (4), Illinois (28), Iowa (10), Kentucky (11), Massachusetts (16), Minnesota (11), Missouri (15), Montana (4), Nevada (3), New Mexico (4), North Carolina (14), Ohio (25), Oklahoma (10), Rhode Island (4), Tennessee (12), Texas (23), Utah (4), Virginia (11), Washington (8), West Virginia (8), Wisconsin (12), Wyoming (3).

States giving Dewey his 189 electoral votes are: Connecticut (8), Delaware (3), Indiana (13), Kansas (8), Maine (5), Maryland (8), Michigan (19), Nebraska (6), New Hampshire (4), New Jersey (16), New York (47), North Dakota (4), Oregon (6), Pennsylvania (35), South Dakota (4), and Vermont (3).

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Nov. 4 (CP)—Synopsis: Skies are overcast throughout Ontario and light rain is reported in many sections. The rain will end this afternoon over Southern Ontario and tonight in Northern sections of the province. However another more intense disturbance now over Kansas will move rapidly northeastward bringing more rain and strong southerly winds to the entire province on Friday. Temperature will continue above normal on Friday but cooler weather is expected for the weekend.

McAllisters Tell Of Incidents On Fatal Sunday

Lindsay, Nov. 4. (CP)—The Crown today neared completion of its case against Mrs. Jane McAllister, 25-year-old war bride charged with murder in the pistol slaying of her husband, John.

The father and the brother of the 29-year-old Hamilton naval veteran Wednesday told of the events preceding the Sept. 5 death of John McAllister in his log cabin home at nearby Kirkfield. Neithed William McAllister, the father, nor his son, Bruce showed any bitterness toward the redhead from Scotland who listened intently to their matter-of-fact recital.

The McAllisters said that on the fatal Sunday, the young couple, John and Jane, had a happy visit with the husband's parents. About 10 p.m. they left for the cabin.

"John said he had to get up early and go to work and he decided it was time he and Jane went home," Bruce McAllister said. "He said, 'Come on, Pet, let's go home.' And she said, 'Aye, Mac, I'm coming.'"

Twenty minutes later, John McAllister, a bullet hole through the back of his head, lay dying on his cabin bed. A cat dozed on the foot of his cot, while a kettle on the gas stove was still warm.

Thomas Wilson, a neighbor, said that was when he heard moans and entered the cabin. He said he found McAllister breathing with difficulty and apparently in pain. Before a doctor reached the cabin, the man died.

Provincial police organized a search for Jane McAllister. As dawn broke, the barefoot and hysterical girl emerged from the surrounding woods and was charged with murder. In the bush enar the cabin, officers found a .22-calibre single-shot revolver.

Guard Dies Following Slugging During Jail Break at Buffalo

Buffalo N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP) — A jail guard died today after he had been slugged with a broken mop handle by one of five prisoners who escaped. All the fugitives have been captured.

Joseph Wachowiak, 45, died in emergency hospital of a head injury.

Sheriff Arthur D. Britt said the guard was knocked unconscious and locked in a cell Wednesday night when the prisoners broke out of Erie County jail in downtown Buffalo.

Another guard, Fred A. Hinkley, 59, also was struck on the head. The hospital reported his condition was good.

Within 15 minutes after the break, Joseph Feeney, 16, Carl Armstrong 16, and Richard Ericcson, 21 were caught a few blocks from the jail.

The other two, Robert Callaghan, 18 and Stephen R. Tuskan, 31 were captured today.

The sheriff announced he had dismissed the jailer, principal guard and Deputy Sheriff who were on duty when the break occurred.

Britt said that one of the prisoners apparently took a key from Wachowiak's belt, locked the guard in a cell, and ran up and down the cellblock shouting "who wants to come along?"

He said he had not found out how the prisoner got to Wachowiak. The guard never regained consciousness.

Hinkley was struck when he met the five leaving the third floor cellblock. The prisoners then went down an elevator.

Britt said they grabbed keys to an outer door from the desk of a deput, sheriff who had dashed to a switchboard to call city police when the prisoners appeared.

45 MIN. EVENING POWER CUT-OFFS COME IN TORONTO

Electricity Will be Cut Between 7 and 7.45 P.M.

Toronto, Nov. 4 (CP)—For the first time since the wartime practice blackouts, citizens of this city of 700,000 will have darkness in their homes for three-quarters of an hour this winter.

Mayor Hiram McCallum announced today that because the city has continually exceeded its daily power ration under Ontario's conservation plan, its electric power will be cut between 7 and 7.45 p.m. The evening cut extends two hour-long day cuts already in force.

Street lights and trolleys will be unaffected by the evening cut, which starts Monday and will extend through Friday. The day cuts were for different times in various sections of the city but the evening stoppage is for the whole town at once.

"We have no alternative but to order evening cuts," said the Mayor.

The city, which recently exceeded its power quota of 4,835,250 kilowatt hours, is faced with a reduction of 305,250 in the daily ration.

An exception to the evening cut will be buildings at the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds, where the Royal Winter Fair is scheduled to open Nov. 16. The Mayor said switch-pulling with so many people in that locality would be dangerous.

Chairman Robert Saunders of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said today enough idle generators to supply more than 100,000 Toronto homes have been found during the last month and hooked into the provincial system. This may mean avoidance of further cuts, he said.

Recent complaints that present power restrictions will adversely affect local hydro commissions financially will be considered by auditors, said Mr. Saunders. He added that they are reviewing the entire hydro structure and it is possible that adjustments will be recommended.

Joe Rosenkrantz Wins Election, Doesn't Know It

Lewiston, Idaho, Nov. 4 (AP) — Joe Rosenkranz won his first political victory in Tuesday's election, but he doesn't know it yet.

In fact, the 5,447 Nez Perce county voters who elected him state representative on the Democratic ticket aren't even sure Joe is alive.

Rosenkranz and another Lewiston man, W. J. Bolick, haven't been seen since Oct. 24. On that stormy Sunday their red Stinson plane disappeared in the wilds of the Selway - Lochsa area of North Central Idaho.

Air and ground searchers have found no trace of the men.

In Tuesday night's game here with Guelph he had a bone broken in his elbow when boarded. He played out the game and it was not until Wednesday night that the fracture was discovered.

U.S. Bomber Hits Derbyshire Peak, 13 Aboard Killed

Glossop, England, Nov. 4 (AP) —A United States Superfortress smashed into a granite peak in a heavy mist Wednesday and burned. Apparently all 13 airmen aboard were killed.

A Royal Air Force mountain rescue squad found seven bodies among the scattered and still-burning fragments before the dense mist ended the search. The search crew of 30 will resume at dawn.

The rescue team expressed belief all the airmen were dead. Planes which spotted the wreckage earlier reported no signs of life.

If the plane had been flying 50 feet higher it would have avoided the crash.

The plane hit a peak called Kinder Scout, a granite outcropping of the 150-mile Pennine Chain which runs through England and Scotland.

The big bomber took off during the morning from Scrampton air base, near Lincoln, for Burtonwood, Lancashire, a new repair and servicing centre for United States heavy aircraft based in England.

A police officer at near-by Hayfield said it was heard flying low over the town through broken clouds just before the crash.

The plane arrived in Britain last week from the United States. The United States Air Force has been basing 90 or more of the big bombers in the Lincoln area.

Farmer Sentenced To be Hanged On January 21

Winnipeg, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Convicted of the murder of his son, George Hrynyk, 69-year-old Vita, Man., farmer, was sentenced last night to be hanged at Headingly jail Jan. 21.

An assize court jury deliberated for almost four hours before returning the verdict of guilty. It was combined with a strong recommendation for mercy, which will be forwarded to the Department of Justice with the transcript of evidence and report of Mr. Justice P. J. Montague who sentenced Hrynyk.

The convicted man merely nodded without changing his expression when a court interpreter translated the verdict to him. But his voice shook a little as he replied when the judge asked him through the interpreter, if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

"What can I say. I have nothing to say. I can only thank you."

Hrynyk was found guilty of stabbing his son, John, 37, in the stomach with a long slender British Crimean War period bayonet that had a five-inch blade. The son died of the wound Aug. 23, 12 days after the stabbing. The stabbing occurred after an argument earlier in the evening.

Ballot Counting In United States Takes Long Time

New York, Nov. 4 — (CP) — More than 12 hours passed after all polls closed in Tuesday's presidential election before Governor Thomas Dewey of New York conceded victory to Harry S. Truman.

That was an indication of the almost - unprecedented closeness of the contest.

But it was more than a close vote that caused the delay. It was the complexity of American elections.

The result of a Canadian general election often is known with certainty before the last polls close in British Columbia. The party which elects most members of parliament forms the new government. Its leader normally becomes prime minister.

In the United States federal, state and some local elections are concentrated on the same day.

All on the same ballot — which sometimes looks like a rail-and-steamship ticket for a trip around the world — may be the names of the presidential candidates, the names of the vice-presidential candidates, the names of senatorial candidates, the names of candidates for the House of Representatives, the names of candidates for the state governorship and lieutenant - governorship, the names of candidates for the state senate and legislature, the names of county court judges, the proposals being advanced for amendment of state or even municipal constitutions.

To count the ballots for members of parliament at a poll in Canada may take a few minutes or an hour or so.

To count the ballots at some United States polls takes all night, all next day, and sometimes longer.

RUSSIA REJECTS CONTROL PLANS OF ATOMIC ENERGY

Assembly Debating Two Major Proposals

Paris, Nov. 4 — (CP) — After Russia today rejected a western proposal for control of atomic energy, Canada's Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton told the United Nations General Assembly that Canada will urge an early "high-level" meeting of the six countries primarily concerned with atomic energy control.

McNaughton firmly denied that international negotiations have reached a dead end.

Earlier, Andrei A. Vishinsky, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister said that there is no basis for agreement between the east and west on atomic controls.

Presses for Meeting

The Canadian delegate said he would press for a meeting of the six countries — the Big Five and Canada — at the earliest possible moment.

The Dominion also would propose that representatives at such a meeting should be on the high level appropriate to the nature of the "political difficulties" blocking international atomic controls.

"I would like to make it clear we believe the six sponsoring powers should have the responsibility of removing political difficulties so the Atomic Energy Commission may proceed with a solution of the technical difficulties," he said.

McNaughton spoke of the Canadian resolution now before the assembly. One of the resolution's clauses calls for a meeting of the six sponsoring powers.

The resolutions' main provision — and principal point which Canada has been trying to get across — asks the assembly to approve what are known as the majority principles of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The United States delegate, Warren R. Austin, opened the atomic battle Wednesday with a demand that the delegates approve the majority report of the Assembly's political committee, which backed the western view on atomic energy.

The Assembly is debating two major proposals.

The political committee reported the western majority plan to the Assembly. This plan calls for the five great powers—the United States, Britain, France, Russia and China—plus Canada to consult among themselves in an effort to find a solution to the atomic problem.

It also calls for the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission, a six-power body, to continue its talks on world atomic control from the point at which they were suspended last Spring.

Truman Given Winner's Welcome At Jefferson City

Washington Post Invites President to 'Crow Banquet'

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 4. (AP)— Missouri's capital city gave President Truman a winner's welcome today.

Thousands of Jefferson citizens jammed the rail yards from the station platform to cheer the "little man from Independence" who won election to the presidency against what the experts thought were impossible odds.

The crowd started cheering and waving even before the special train came to a stop to pick up water.

There was no official estimate of the crowd, almost impossible to count because it streamed along the tracks, crowded a loading dock and hung from nearby factory windows.

But the tumult was almost deafening.

The President told the crowd that with election he had new and great responsibilities and he asked for public help.

He said he wanted to read a telegram from the Washington Post, inviting him to a "crow banquet".

The telegram said newspapers, radio commentators and pollsters would be required to eat tough, old crow but the President would get turkey.

Expect Garson To Seek Ottawa Cabinet Post

Winnipeg, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Premier Stuart Garson is expected to inform his supporters in the Manitoba government tomorrow that he intends to resign as provincial government leader to accept a post in the federal cabinet.

This was reported today by political observers following announcement that the premier has called a caucus of all supporters of the coalition government for tomorrow.

Private members were not informed of the purpose of the meeting, but were told it was important that they attend.

No word has come from Ottawa yet concerning entry of Mr. Garson into the federal field, but rumors have been widespread ever since the National Liberal Convention. The justice portfolio is the one believed earmarked for the premier.

Reports in Manitoba are that Mr. Garson will likely seek to represent Marquette in the Commons should he accept a federal post. The seat at present is held by J. Allison Glen, formerly minister of mines and resources. Mr. Glen, who resigned his portfolio because of ill health, is expected to step out of Commons to make room for the Manitoba premier.

Pollsters Still Reeling from Licking, Political Polls Likely to Disappear

New York, Nov. 4 — (CP) — The pollsters still were reeling today from their worst licking since 1936.

Poll directors who could be reached for comment said Wednesday an analysis of voting statistics when they are all available will likely tell the tale.

Dr. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, predicted Dewey would get 49.6 per cent of the popular vote and Truman 44.5. Wednesday night, Truman had 49.8 and Dewey 45.8 per cent.

Gallup said the answer would lie in the replies to the questions:

Which voters stayed home?

What about the undecided vote?

He said that 47,000,000 voters did not go to the polls Tuesday. Were they Republicans or independent voters? he asked.

Some 3,000,000 voters had not made up their minds in the final week of the campaign. Many of them must have cast their votes for the Democratic ticket in the election.

Archibald Crossley, director of the Crossley poll, which forecast 49.9 per cent for Dewey, and 49.9 for Truman, offered the suggestion that the poll showed that the Truman and Dewey vote would have been even if every voter had exercised his franchise.

Elmo Roper, director of the Fortune magazine poll which predicted 52.2 per cent for Dewey and 37.2 for Truman was not available for comment.

In 1936 the Literary Digest picked Alf Landon to beat Franklin D. Roosevelt. Soon thereafter, the Literary Digest quietly went out of business.

At least one pollster got a laugh out of the results. He was Wilfred F. Funk, the Literary Digest's last editor, who said:

"I got a very good chuckle out of this — nothing malicious, mind you. I think that national political polls will be non-existent for a long time.

"We were told by contemporary pollsters that we had been unscientific. I'm afraid they made the same mistakes. I'm afraid the word 'science' isn't going to be used with a poll for a long time.

"We are still laughed at. And these pollsters will meet the same ridicule when they try to solicit business."

New Developments Will Provide Plenty of Power

Burk's Falls, Nov. 4 — (CP)— Highways Minister George Doucett said today Ontario will be "flooded with cheap and dependable power" when hydro developments now authorized come into production.

Ontario's Progressive Conservative government had authorized projects capable of producing 1,441,500 horsepower since it took office, he said in an address prepared for delivery at a party nominating convention.

The convention was called to pick a candidate for the Dec. 9 by-election in Parry Sound provincial riding. The election was made necessary by the death of Charles W. Cragg, Progressive Conservative member elected at the June 7 provincial election.

The present hydro program — providing for a change from 25-cycle to 60-cycle current and increasing rural electrification — was "by far the biggest thing that has ever happened in hydro history," the highways minister said.

The new power sites would be producing by 1952 and would provide power for "another huge forward surge of Ontario industry . . . that may well double the population" of Ontario.

Pleads Guilty To Two Charges Under Traffic Act

Pleading guilty to a charge of dangerous driving and also to leaving the scene of an accident, Robert Black of Gilmour was assessed a total of $41 fine and costs when he appeared Thursday before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in county magistrate's court.

Charges against Black were laid as result of an accident south of Foxboro when the accused's vehicle was stated to have collided with another car when he was in the act of passing the car ahead. The accused failed to stop following the accident and was apprehended by provincial police at West Huntingdon.

"This man denied being involved in the accident when he was apprehended but later admitted that he was responsible," stated Provincial Constable Johnson in giving summary evidence. The constable added that only small damage resulted from the accident.

A total of 28 cases were listed for hearing on the morning court docket, mostly for traffic offences the majority of which were settled out of court.

A Charlotte Street resident, Harold Blakely, paid ten and costs for failing to notify the Highway Department of change of address. Blakely also acted as Crown witness with respect to a charge against Herb Casey of Holloway of failing to signal.

Both charges resulted following an accident on the Oak Hills in which the car driven by Blakely collided with that of Casey when the latter made a left turn off the highway. The cars were proceeding in opposite directions. Magistrate Wills reserved judgment in the case for two weeks.

Several Service Stations Develop Home Power Units

Despite the inconvenience of afternoon and early evening hydro cut-offs, even gasoline service stations which depend on electric power to operate their pumps do not need to be completely stymied.

At least this has been noticed this week during drives about the city and in the country where some service stations were seen to be "doing business" despite the fact that their power had been interrupted as result of the regular cut-offs.

Several garages in the city have installed gasoline driven generators, in some cases these being 60-cycle units from which power for service station operation is obtained.

And at one rural service station the owner had shown a bit of initiative in rigging up the starting motor of an automobile to operate gasoline pumps. When gasoline service was required the operator merely plugged in a six-volt auto storage battery and gas sales continued as usual.

Truck Driver Held On Hit-Run Charge

Arrested early yesterday afternoon as he was driving his light blue panel truck through Belleville, Raymond Labonte, Montreal, is back in Cobourg today where he faces a hit-and-run charge.

Shortly before noon John Dockstader, 68, a transient was struck by a hit-and-run driver while he was walking along the highway west of Cobourg. He suffered head injuries and was taken to Cobourg hospital.

Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine who investigated the accident radioed his station and within a short time all highway outlets were under surveillance by police. Acting on information that the hit-and-run driver was driving a light blue panel truck Belleville police stopped a vehicle answering to that description one hour after the accident.

The driver, Labonte, was detained until the arrival of police from Cobourg. Labonte has been remanded until Friday on the charge.

The body of another wolf lies on the cowl of the jeep.

Agriculture Subject of Talk To Urban, Rural Residents At Bridge St. United Church

Sponsored by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, a dinner meeting was held in the Bridge Street United Church, Wednesday evening, with about 150 persons present. The object of the meeting was to bring urban and rural resident together for a social evening and to hear a discussion on phases of a mutual interest—agriculture.

The meeting was presided over by Bill Miller. Rev. D.C. Amos extended a welcome to the meeting on behalf of the ladies of the church who prepared and served the dinner and added his personal welcome. The introduction of the members of the committee responsible for the meeting was performed by E. Denyes, committee member.

An enjoyable singsong was led by Harry Moorman with Leo Riggs at the piano, after which Len Fozard, Belleville's Blackstone, performed a few feats of sleight of hand and wizardry.

The speaker for the evening was introduced by O. Dalrymple, Agriculture Representative for Hastings County. Mr. J. A. Garner, Director of Extension in the Ontario Department of Agriculture, spoke to the meeting on phases of modern farming.

Youth on Farm

His first topic was the modern youth on the farm. In the Province of Ontario in 1948 there were 1,165 rural youth groups with 10,400 membership enrolment. The activities of these clubs are varied and numerous, coinciding with the farm areas in which they are situated. Among the branches of activity are calf raising, swine, potatoes, poultry, domestic handicrafts, and numerous others. The speaker informed the meeting that the figures given represented 14 years of planning and study on the subject. Some of the duties entailed in being a member of one of these youth organizations include the raising of stock or produce, the recording of development of same, exhibiting and passing progress tests. These activities tend to improve the member as a future farmer, and as an individual living in a community.

Quoting further progress, the speaker outlined the development of the 262 Junior Farm Clubs existent in Ontario today having a membership of 8,800. In conjunction with these projects begun four years ago, the Ontario government conducts leadership training schools, to train young people as leaders in their rural communities. Annual camps are held to allow members of different agricultural areas to become acquainted personally, and with the problems and methods of the various parts of the province.

Discuss Changes

The speaker left the subject of youth training for the rural areas to discuss the changes in farm methods of recent years. He stressed the almost complete mechanization of the industry today, stating that on some farms horses had been replaced by machinery. The subsequent formation of large farms, leading to smaller communities, has been resultant of this progress and requires extra and careful planning on behalf of the community members. The advances of science have made it possible for unbelievable steps to be taken in the improvement of crops and produce. As instances, the speaker outlined the possibilities of the recently introduced artificial insemination process allowing a farmer to build a herd of good quality animals in a comparatively short time. Hybrid corn was given as another example of the achievements of science in agriculture. Both these advancements were stated as becoming locally used.

Disease Control Outlined

The speaker continued his talk to discuss the advances in insect and disease controls. He elaborated on the necessity of soil conservation, stating that it had been proven that 300 years is required by nature to produce one inch of fertile top soil. The pioneers overworked the land of economic necessity, and steps must be taken to protect its fertility.

The speaker concluded his remarks with the statement, "the sum total of community life is as big as the people make it."

In expressing the appreciation of the meeting, Mr. Montgomery stated that the days might not be too far off when "older people could retire and watch the youth farm with the improved modern methods."

The meeting was concluded with the showing of a film, outlining the development of Canada from pioneer days to its present industrial economic status among its fellow nations.

$500,000 Swindle Against Survivors Of Camp is Alleged

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)— Nathan Shapiro and his wife, Charlotte, were held without bail today pending investigation of an alleged $500,000 international swindle against Czech survivors from a German concentration camp. Lewis Joseph, assistant district attorney, said he would produce evidence that transfers to that value were arranged during trips to Europe by the Shapiros, after which the Europeans were denounced to British and American authorities for sending out money.

IN MEMORIAM

BULPITT—In loving memory of my dear grandson, Ronald Bulpitt who passed away Nov. 4th., 1946.

Before the throne of God,
Thousands of children stand;
Children whose sins are all forgiven,
A holy, happy band.
Up there among the throng,
Our little Ronny stands
Waiting for us to join him,
In that holy, happy land.

Ever remembered by grandma Bulpitt, uncle Charlie and uncle Alfred and aunt Beulah. N4

BULPITT—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Ronald Bulpitt, who passed away 2 years ago today, Nov. 4th., 1946.

No stain was on his little heart,
Sin had not entered there;
And innocence slept sweetly on
That pale white brow so fair.
He was too pure for this cold earth,
Too beautiful to stay,
And so God's holy angel bore,
Our darling one away.

Ever remembered by daddy and brothers Stanley and Gerald. N4

Trade Paper Editor Had Dewey Almost In White House

While most of the experts, radio commentators, the "boys-in-the-know" and a lot of newspaper editors in the USA are scarlet of countenance these days following the United States presidential elections, some business organizations went so far as to publish their trade journals with startling headlines to the effect that Dewey and Warren had been elected.

For instance a New York retail women's wear daily bulletined a lead under a front page streamer "Dewey, Warren Win; Business Gain Seen." The lead read "Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, was elected President and Gov. Earl D. Warren of California, vice-president of the United States yesterday, it was indicated by early returns showing the Republican ticket definitely carrying enough states with sufficient electoral votes to insure victory."

The writer goes on to ask in his story lead, "What kind of an administration will President-elect Dewey give to the nation?"

In the second paragraph, however, he unwittingly answered correctly his own question. "It is obviously a question," he writes "which it is impossible for millions of Americans to answer to the satisfaction of everyone..."

On Wednesday morning, the news room of the publication must have been suffused with a rosy glow, the reflection from the amazed countenances of editors, reporters, feature writers and copy boys.

PRESIDENT LEAVES

New York, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Scattered returns from Tuesday's presidential elections still trickled in from outlying polling places throughout the United States today, but interest centred in Washington where President Truman's new administration will set up shop for the next four years.

Truman, who rode into power with his upset victory over Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and took his democratic party with him in the polling triumph, was scheduled to leave his Missouri home for the capital this morning.

His defeated rival, meanwhile, quietly returned to Albany, N.Y., to resume the business of being Governor of New York State, most populous in the union.

Just nine hours after he conceded victory to Truman, Dewey returned to the state capital and received a warm welcome from a crowd of several hundred at the railroad station. But the air of restraint about it contrasted sharply with the yelling, shouting throngs that had greeted him on his campaign travels as the man most likely to win.

The results were still coming in but now it is a mere matter of form to determine the actual vote count and settle a few scattered local battles, although these are important enough from a domestic point of view.

Returns now are about 95 per cent complete and point to a total vote of somewhat less than the 50,000,000 - odd forecast before Nov. 2, at 3 A. M. EST today, with 122,349 of the country's 135,864 voting units heard from, the total stood at 44,603,668 in the presidential poll.

Truman held a commanding lead of 22,288,519 against Dewey's 20,420,056, a lead in the popular vote that he had held almost from the time returns started coming in Tuesday night.

Electoral Vote Tells

But it is the electoral vote that tells the tale in the United States and this showed the President leading in 28 states having a total of 304 votes in the electoral college that names the President. A majority of 266 is needed to win There are 531 such votes allotted among the various states in proportion roughly to their population.

Dewey lagged with elads in 16 states having an aggregate vote of 189. The only other candidate with an electoral-college count was Governor Strom Thurmond of the southern States Rights Group which broke off from the Democratic party over the question of Truman's Civil Rights program which would forbid Negro segregation.

Thurmond, political strategists had prophesied, would win the southern block of states from the parent party and make Truman's defeat more certain. But the state's Rights Group only held four states with a total of 38 electoral-college votes.

Wallace Blanked

Henry Wallace and his Progressive party were completely blanked in the electoral count, although Wallace polled a popular vote of 1,030,781 to Thurmond's 864,303 with results about 95 per cent complete. The other seven candidates didn't even show on the popular vote card.

The Democratic party platform to which Truman has pledged himself, would make these changes:

1. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law. This was passed last year by the Republican-dominated Congress and has been unpopular in most labor circles because it outlaws the closed shop and imposes a number of other conditions.
2. Expansion of social security coverage with benefits at least 50 per cent higher.
3. Enactment of a National health program embracing compulsory health insurance.
4. Passage of the controversial civil rights program which had aroused the anger of the southern group.
5. Farm price supports and other agricultural legislation.

Hockey Practice Postponed Till Friday Night

Murder Charge Laid

Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP)—A murder charge was lodged today against a bruise-scarred man accused of firing the shot that killed his estranged wife.

Police said a crowd of persons witnessed the shooting Wednesday as the woman, 32-year-old Mrs. Mary Russo, was leaving the plant where she worked.

The crowd trapped the man, George Russo,, 43, when he tried to escape and battered him into submission bewore police arrived.

Police said Russo made a verbal statement admitting the slaying. Police quoted him as saying "I did something I shouldn't have done".

The Russos, married five years ago, had separated last July.

Use of Armouries Given Legion For Boxing Bouts

Permission has been granted by the authorities to the local branch of the Canadian Legion to use the facilities of the Bridge Street Armouries for boxing bouts sponsored by the veterans' organization, Legion officials announced today.

The first card under the new arrangements will be staged in the Armouries on Friday, November 12. The shows will be under the promotional activities of Murray Swartz, Oshawa boxing authority, who staged the cards in the Memorial Arena during the past few months.

Through the kind permission of the commanding officer of the Trenton Air Station a boxing ring has been placed at the disposal of the Legion.

Boxing cards will be held at intermittent periods in the Armouries during the winter, Legion officials stated.

RUSSIA REJECTS

The Russian proposal calls on the Asembly to recommend that the Commission resume work with a view of drawing up to conventions:

1. A ban on the atom bomb.
2. Establish a system of atomic controls.

Russia asks that both conventions be made effective simultaneously.

Vishinsky launched his attack on the majority plan with the line that Russians have taken in many U.N. debates.

He said the majority here (in the U.N.) is the minority of the world; the minority here is the majority of the world." Peoples everywhere are vying for atomic control, he added.

He described the majority plan as permitting complete control over the economic life of other states. The economic life of these states would be left to the "tender mercies" of the control organ which, he charged would be dominated by the United States.

Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, chief Indian delegate and ambassador to Moscow, told the delegates after Vishinsky spoke that India could not agree to international control of atomic materials while oil and similar materials remained in private hands.

Mukden

The fall or evacuation of Mukden before the Chinese mmunists is taken as the most serious blow the regime Chiang Kai-Shek has sustained. It is seen as equivalent the fall of the great province of Manchuria. Mukden is eading city of Manchuria which was taken from the nds of the Japanese and it was planned to return the ovince to China. But the Communists have it now.

A writer in the New York Times says that the principal ason for the present development is Russian policy. He tes that under the Yalta agreement, which was later inrporated in the Russo-Chinese treaty, Russia obligated rself "in return for vital concessions in Manchuria, to pport the Chinese Nationalist Government morally and ilitarily." The paper charges that instead it has suprted only the Chinese Communists, both morally and ilitarily, by co-ordinating its strategy with theirs "by pplying them with arms and ammunition taken from e Japanese and manufactured in Japanese arsenals reoved from Manchuria, and according to the Tokyo Forgn Office, even by providing them with Japanese troops ained in the use of mechanized weapons and heavy tillery."

The paper says that to this determined Russian drive ither the Chinese Government nor the American Govnment, which is pledged to support it, has as yet found e answer. The Chinese government faced with its probm of reconstructing this vast and backward country destated by war and civil war and to introduce democratic forms pressed upon it from the outside, has been unable develop either the resources or the efficiency required for is double task. It is pointed out that China's lack of dustrialization has made it dependent upon outside aid, merican aid for its military effectiveness.

China's "very vastness and the comparative primitivess of its primarily agrarian economy" are seen as sources strength which has in the past confounded many preous predictions of collapse. The world will hope that hina still has all this resourcefulness and tenacity to iumph over the difficulties by which she is confronted.

Book Week

Canada is observing Book Week. In her public librars and in the book shops of the land this fact is brought the attention of the people.

Canadian writers are producing in the field of poetry, istory, criticism and in other branches of the craft a body work which is doing a service to the Dominion which no her persons can do. They are interpreting the soul of the eople and enriching the life of Canada and her people the output of works which possess merit and attract tention not only at home but abroad in Britain and in he United States.

Quebec writers are doing a fine work and adding to e wealth of the literature of the nation.

Canadians may rightly feel proud of the work which the product of the soul and thought of creators of terature.

Our people have the inspiration of the great and vast terature of the English-speaking people and also of the terature of the writers in French as guides.

Transmutation

Centuries ago the alchemist thought upon means of ransforming or transmuting all metals into gold. With he rise of modern science this view was discarded. But oday the secret of the transmutation of metals is reveald and most of the metals can be altered at will, a writer n the Manchester Guardian says. The paper notes that gold is one of the difficult cases where more energy has to e put into the process than comes out in the result. So gold-making is now possible but not profitable.

The yard that was once the length of a king's arm, and even the metre which is a fraction of the meridian of a globe whose stability is not what it was once thought to be, both fail to relate our measurements to any observable and invariable fact of nature.

The measurement of a wave-length of light has often been suggested as an alternative, but it must be a particuar and specified wave-length radiated by the atoms of a ingle element, and as most of the natural elements are mixtures of several isotopes they cannot be relied on for invariable radiation. Natural mercury has no fewer than seven isotopes of varying mass but the mercury atoms that can be made of gold—of which America has now produced about two grams—are all of mass of 198 and can be guaranteed to produce an unvarying wave-length.

BOYHOOD MEMORY

Time was, when I was very small,
The boy who owned the bat and ball
Would grab them up and run away,
Refusing any more to play.

If someone else to pitch we chose,
Immediately his temper rose.
"I want to pitch myself!" he'd say.
"And if I can't, I will not play."

But if he took it in his head
To catch or play first base instead,
Unless we gave consent to that,
Away he'd take his ball and bat.

He'd run the game or wouldn't play;
And he appears to me today
The best example I can find
Of Marshal Stalin's state of mind.

RELISH FOR THE HIGH THINGS

There is something very strange about the way appetite behaves itself in the scheme of life. Feed an appetite, and strangely enough it is not appeased. It simply builds up an added capacity for more.

Everyone is conscious of this in the matter of food. The more we eat, the more we want to eat. The same is true of all other appetites. Feed them, and they become tynannical. The urge of appetite and the law of habit blend and create a situation which becomes very compelling.

But there is a good side to all this. People can develop appetites for good things. There can be appetites for mental and spiritual things which are as strong, if not stronger, than the appetites some people build up for food and the grosser urgings. Anyone who has ever read St. Francis DeSales books on devotion realize that here was a man whose appetite for heavenly things was as sharp as some men's appetites become for worldly things.

The secret of the matter is that we can develop an appetite for life's higher values if we resign ourselves to them and let them have their way with us. This is the way appetites develop in all fields, good as well as bad. We can develop an appetite for the higher things of life if we will.

Today's Talk

BOOKS AND READING

There are times when no human being is able to feed the inside craving that comes to us all so persistently. The hunger of the heart is ever a part of our consciousness. But to appease it, even in a measure, we have to draw upon the hidden resources of a mystic heaven and earth.

A starved heart is a much more pitiful affair than a starved body.

Through the mind, however, there is forever flowing a delicate stream of hope, that somehow seeps down into the heart — often quite unawares.

"When we write," said W. H. Hudson, "we do, as the red man thought, impart something of our souls to the paper."

And so it is, that when human association and companionship seem temporarily to have failed us, we may then hope to find in the reading of books, and in delving into what others have felt and lived, a counterpart of our own thirst and hunger.

Voltaire once apologized for his small library. He could boast of but 6,000 volumes! Few minds, however, have ever influenced any age as did that of Voltaire's.

There is a tinge of immortality about a book that is the true expression of a man's mind and heart, faulty though that expression may be. Again and again does a writer live in life after life. On and on his influence travels.

Continually I receive letters from readers asking me of books to read. Books are like people who wrote them. Select such books as are written by the kind of people you would like to know and love!

The only way we can learn to know and love people is to hunt them out, to meet them, and to make them our friends. That is the way to start out to know books. Whenever I get into a bookshop, I somehow come out with new friends — just met!

When you read, however, read to absorb and to — think! That is the only way to accumulate knowledge and to learn. Read slowly. Make a book your own as you drink in it.

Mackenzie's Column:

Rival American Political Parties Stand Together

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

When the result of the United States presidential election reached United Nations circles in Paris, A. A. Arutiunian, a Russian delegate who also is a member of the Soviet foreign affairs department, told American reporters the outcome "really makes little difference (abroad) because of your bipartisan foreign policy."

That seems to be a shrewd appraisal of the position from the standpoint of international affairs. It is recognition of the vital fact that the rival American political parties stand together when faced with a foreign crisis.

Should be Emphasized

It is well that this truth be emphasized abroad lest there be misunderstanding among those who are on the alert to take advantage of any seeming weakness in American armor. It is well, too, that, it be recognized by the many countries which are looking to the United States for leadership in the political life-and-death struggle with communism which we know as the "cold war."

When there is global conflict, oppressed countries try to hitch their wagons to the American star. Sometimes that is from purely selfish motives but more often it is because of desperate need and because of recognition that the United States is the world's paramount power.

The situation is simplified by the fact that Washington's policy regarding communist aggression already has been defined under the Truman administration and that this regime is being continued. The broad principles under which the United States is proceeding are well known.

International Problem

Naturally one would expect developments of policy to meet future emergencies. The defence against communism is the greatest international problem with which the new American government will have to deal, and it hardly can be expected that this will be solved without resorting to new measures.

We have seen, for example, the actual working of the policy of helping needy countries defend themselves against red aggression. The Marshall plan for European rehabilitation already is in full operation. United States military preparedness for emergencies is moving apace.

These things are out in the open for all to see. So the whole world knows what President Truman's fundamental policies are and what trend he is likely to pursue in his new term. The world knows too, (or should know for its own good) that Americans stand together in emergencies, irrespective of politics.

Letter to the Editor

Pleas for Proper Observance Of RemembranceDay

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Through the medium of your paper may I appeal to the good citizens of Belleville and district for a truly proper observance of Remembrance Day.

In two World Wars in a victorious struggle (that we in Canada might remain a free people) 100,000 Canadian men died in battle fields scattered throughout the world. What more sacred duty than the proper "remembrance of these our dead?"

Therefore I appeal to every veteran to parade with his comrades. To every club, school, manufacturing plant and organization to parade as a group bearing its own wreath. To each citizen not on the parade to be present at the Cenotaph at 10.55 a.m., 11th of November. The parade falls in at the Armouries at 10.20 a. m., moves off at 10.30 a.m. for the Cenotaph service at 10.55.

Remembrance tide is not only a time for the spiritual remembrance of the dead, but a time of practical remembrance of the living. Therefore I respectfully ask every organization and business to purchase a wreath (immediately if they are to be delivered in time) and every citizen both young and old to purchase and wear a poppy Saturday, November 6th.

Vetcraft wreaths and poppies are only manufactured by disabled veterans. Therefore in the purchasing of these wreaths and poppies we not only honor the dead but provide jobs for veterans we might not otherwise find gainful employment.

In addition the profits from such sales go into the local Poppy Fund, which is administered by the Belleville Poppy Committee for the relief of local veterans and their dependents or next of kin who are in need. No one connected with the purchase, distribution and sale of poppies and wreaths or with the administration of the Poppy Fund receive financial remuneration in any way.

Let us each and everyone by our participation in Remembrance services keep alive the most inspiring chapters in the history of our country and thereby renew our determination that "their sacrifice" will not have been in vain. "Then the world will be a better place in which to live." Then truly we shall honor our glorious "Dead."

President Canadian Legion Branch 99, Belleville.

Globetrotting Hobby For Norwegian Woman

Montreal, (CP)—Mrs. Frederick Holst, a much-travelled Norwegian woman, makes seeing the world her hobby.

A recent visitor here, she plans to live in the United States but will "start visiting around" again. One trip will bring her to Canada for skiing.

Mrs. Holst is the widow of the man who is credited with introducing Canadian black and silver foxes into Norway. Her husband died last February.

"We lived out of trunks for 14 years," she said.

One of her more memorable trips was a chinchilla expedition in South America. There Mr. and Mrs. Holst spent 'several years riding on horseback over the mountains with Inca Indians as guides."

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

Not everybody with money makes a show of it. There is a fairly large and quite inconspicuous body of our fellow-citizens which is comfortably and securely fixed and nobody suspects it.

A drug store clerk of my acquaintance is close to forty years of age. Quietly and pleasantly, he has been serving the public for many years in a corner drug store. Graduate pharmacists in big cities might earn on the average $80 a week, working for an employer. Ordinary drug store clerks without degrees in pharmacy run anywhere from $25 to $40 a week, depending on their talents as salesmen. My friend is a graduate, and makes $60.

He has many friends in the neighborhood and lately one of these, a wealthy man, took it into his head that he would like to set the drug clerk up in business for himself.

The drug clerk was most embarassed by the proposition. He did not want to own his own store. He had to confess to his would-be benefactor that if he had wanted to own a store, he could have bought one as easy as rolling off a log. As a matter of fact, the drug clerk was actually wealthier than the man who wanted to set him up in business.

Here is his story. He was an only son of a widow who had been left very well off by a hustling big business man. Both she and her son were modest, retiring personalities who wished nothing more than to escape from the stress, fury and hurly-burly of big business as they had experienced it in the father's life.

So they put their fortune in a trust company. The boy, from sheer choice, went into pharmacy for something to do—just for something to do.

He has had a happy life. He likes waiting on people. He has no desire to own anything. Why should he?

Some might say he lacks ambition. He is one of the half dozen serenely happy men I know.

YOU CAN'T ARGUE WITH A WISEACRE

You can't argue with a Yankee Wiseacre either—or rather, you can argue with one till you are plumb exhausted, but you can't teach a Wiseacre anything about hygiene unless it tallies with his or her preconceived ideas.

The millions of Wiseacres who believe in spite of the great preponderance of experience to the contrary, that exposure to cold wet, dampness, draft, sudden change and the like causes or predisposes to illness, particularly one or another acute respiratatory disease, have two cut and dried theories to explain away the actualities.

One of these theories is that hunters, fishermen, surveyors woodsmen, soldiers, sailors, polar explorers and others who, although far more exposed to cold and wet than ordinary folk, are unanimous in their testimony that no illness follows such exposure—these people, the Wiseacres explain, are accustomed or "hardened" to exposure and so they can stand it, or something to that effect.

The other theory which the Wiseacres—yes, and a good many of their physicians, too—use to suit the exigencies in all circumstances sounds a little more scientific or reasonable, if you have no knowledge of physiology. They dismiss as of no significance the 99 instances of exposure to cold or wet which are not followed by illness — that is obvious enough, as any fool understands. The victims of exposure happen to have "resistance," that's all.

This "resistance," hokum is so adaptable and so impressive to gullible laymen that a good many medical practitioners employ it in everyday practice.

"Resistance" is not defined at all in Stedman's medical dictionary, and in Dorland's medical dictionary it is defined as "the resistance of the individual to the untoward affects (sic) of bacteria infections, fatigue etc" There's no telling what the author of that had in mind, nor how one can distinguish the effects of bacteria from infection. The old reliable Webster says resistance is "the opposition offered by an animal or plant to disease;—opposed to suscentibility."

If these lexicographers and all the ethical quacks were to hold a national convention they might be able to agree to drop the old hokum bunkem altogether and from that moment speak or write only of immunity or lack of it—suspectibility.

Eventually even the Yankee Wiseacres are going to learn that the idea of general immunity which is what you ethical quacks try to convey when you write or speak of "resistance", is absurb. You know perfectly well, if you quacks are half as familiar with medical science as you would have your credulous customers think, that immunity or susceptibility is a specific state and never a general one. An individual may be immune or susceptible to diphtheria, for example, but that does not mean the individual is immune or susceptible to pneumonia or to any unidentified illness which you or your Wiseacre patients may call "cold."

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Citrus Fruit

We plan to spend the winter in Arizona and the only thing that quenches thirst for me is grapefruit—what effect does this have on the body—some days I eat as many as ten grapefruit. (Mrs. J. A. L.)

Answer—Harmless to eat as much as you like of any of the citrus fruits or their juices.

Aluminum

You have quoted the Lee Foundation many times, yet now you brush aside their statements about the danger of using aluminum ware. (M. J. H)

Answer—I have not quoted the Lee Foundation at all. As for the use of aluminum cooking utensils we have used 'em in our kitchen since Topsy was a colt and in my opinion no other cooking utensils are safer or better.

Appendix

Does butter and lard irritate the appendix so as to burst them? (Mrs. A. E.)

Answer—No.

Steam Baths

Are steam baths harmful — if taken once a week? I find I can lose weight fast by one steam bath a week. (H. R. C.)

Answer—They are harmless enough. The weight lost from any kind of sweat bath is the weight of the salt water lost in sweat. Generally the weight is regained within 24 to 36 hours.

BOOK OF ESSAYS COMBINES WEALTH OF FACT, WHIMSY

(By The Canadian Press)

In C. B. Pyper's "One Thing After Another" you finish a discussion of steak and kidney pudding, turn one page, and find yourself watching the Indian cavalry division come over the hill at Behencourt in 1915.

There is nothing anomalous in this. The book, published by Dent, is a collection of the brief essays and conversation pieces Charlie Pyper wrote for the Winnipeg Tribune's editorial page before he moved east to the Toronto Telegram, in the late '30s. He wrote pretty much as he pleased, about anything that struck his wry Irish fancy; but everything has a connection — the connection he establishes by relating whatever he touches to humanity, to the foibles of men and women.

The piece on steak and kidney pudding, for instance, is not merely a recipe, though he tells you how to make it in case you're interested. Nor is it simply a bit of nostalgic dreaming-back, though there is something of that in it also. It is really the essence of steak and kidney pudding, spirit as well as body; and the essence of this dish includes of course the information that the Cheshire Cheese is said to have put larks in it. Mr. Pyper can't swear to this, but he has seen the smear made on the wall by Samuel Johnson's head while eating there.

And the piece on cavalry is not simply a word-picture of the Indian division, but a flash-back that takes you to Bosworth Field and up through Rupert's cavaliers to Waterloo and Balaclava, and on to the days when these troopers, British and Indian, were already an anachronism: "Above them in the blue sky, surrounded with white puffs of smoke, an airplane was circling; in front of them were lines of trenches and miles of barbed wire which held them useless; over in England men were already conceiving the idea of tanks which were to take their place and finally drive them from the field forever."

Mr. Pyper is fascinated by everything that deals with life—section-men realigning track, Shaw and Shakespeare, and the whale's vestigal legs. His pieces are engagingly illustrated by pen-and-ink decorations drawn by his wife, Nancy Pyper, who is one of Canada's best-known figures in the Little Theatre. Her pen-and-ink decorations are exactly in the spirit of the text. The whale with legs is one of them.

Leslie Roberts' "Home From the Cold Wars". (Saunders) is a Canadian's eye-view of the so-called "cold" war being waged by his Soviet "Uncle Joe" and his American "Uncle Sam." Mr. Roberts lambasts each of the avuncular protagonists with studied impartiality.

"Home From the Cold Wars" is the result of a visit to Europe in the spring and early summer of 1948 during which he spent several weeks in the Soviet Union—most of that time in Moscow—and visited briefly many of Europe's capitals.

As "an outlander, resident on the perimeter of Uncle Sam's world," Roberts decides Washington functions "in confusion and often sheer bewilderment." Kremlin world policy is "to sit back and wait for capitalism and democratic socialism to collapse." Meantime, most people in the other nations of the world, "caught in the undertow of the Russo-American collision are terrified as they read and hear what each has to say about the other."

Roberts calls for a "Russo-American agreement establishing a two-way propaganda holiday, not a holiday from truth, but a holiday from distortion, aggressive talk and the spreading of falsehood."

Highlander Lazy? It's Untrue, Says Ross-Shire Scot

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Dundee, Scotland — (CP) — Maybe the Scottish Highlanders who wandered the world and did well came from lazy stock, but one of their ilk doesn't believe it.

Dr. C. Macrae — "I was born in Ross-shire, I speak Gaelic and play the bagpipes" — rose in his wrath as secretary of the Scottish Council at a meeting here and denounced those who denounced the Highlander.

Macrae had read that "the Highlander is a lazy, good-for-nothing fellow who doesn't want to be industrially developed and has no interest in any scheme that is going on."

"I don't know whether I'm particularly lazy," said Macrae.

"I generally get up at half-past seven and go to bed some time between midnight and—well, last night I had two hours' sleep and that is not unusual."

Good Fighters

He reminded those who might consider Highlanders lazy that in battle the Highlanders did not always lose.

"Highlanders whom you meet in Canada, United States and elsewhere are usually bursting with energy who have attained the greatest success.

" . . . I think that even in 1940 the Highland Brigade were not, at any rate, the first to lay down their arms. So there seems to be something in the Highlanders."

Then Macrae took a deep breath and continued:

"I have never seen a Highlander who was lazy — never seen a Highlander who was afraid of work. What I have seen are Highlanders who have been so depressed, having seen so many things fail, that they have become apathetic and lost faith. But the allegation that they are lazy cannot be too strongly controverted."

WEDDINGS

DALL—SAVAGE

In the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, on Saturday, October 30, a lovely wedding ceremony was solemnized when Rita Marie Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Savage, Belleville, was united in marriage to John Bernard Dall, Belleville. The Right Rev. Monsignor J. F. Nicholson, V.G., officiated. The church altar with its masses of yellow 'mums and red roses formed a beautiful background for the ceremony.

Miss D. Rand was organist, and played the traditional wedding music, while Miss M. Trainor, cousin of the bride, was soloist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of snowdrift baronet satin, with Chantilly lace trim, made with hipline peplum, and flowing train. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses with streamers of white satin ribbon.

Mrs. William Smith was matron of honor, and wore a gown of Fiesta crepe with deep girdle effect, and long draped lines. A heart-shaped hat with matching elbow length mitts completed the ensemble.

Miss Barbara Dall, Miss Doreen Savage and Miss Betty Whalen were bridesmaids, gowned alike in paradise Agnes faille taffeta, made with bouffant skirts and matching mittts. They carried cascade bouquets of Talisman roses.

Mr. William Smith, Belleville, was groomsman, and Mr. Raymond Savage, and Mr. Robert Dall, Mr. Bill Whalen were ushers.

The reception was held in Tobe's County Gardens where the bride's mother wearing a powder blue gown, with lace and sequin neckline, black accessories and corsage of red roses, assisted by the bridegroom's mother in a gown of navy blue with sequins, black accessories and corsage of red roses, received the many guests.

Out-of-town guests were from Montreal, Perth, Toronto, Tweed, Read and Stirling.

SHARPE—HARRY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harry, was the setting of a very pretty wedding recently, when their daughter, Norma Audrey, was united in marriage to Donald Ray Sharpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Sharpe, Brighton, Ontario. The Rev. G. A. Puttenham officiated under an arch of evergreen and colored 'mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of white brocaded satin, with sweetheart neckline and bustle effect. Her long tulle illusion veil was gathered to a headdress of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and bouvardia.

Mrs. Alexander Vandervoort rendered the wedding music, and Mrs. Gerald Cherry sang "Because" before the ceremony, and "Always" during the signing of the register.

Mrs. Laurence Slingerland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, gowned in pale blue silk jersey with matching feathered headdress, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Little Sharon Lewis, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink taffeta dress, and carried a basket of colored flowers.

Mr. Alexander Sharpe, brother of the groom, was groomsman and Everett and Arnold Harry, were ushers.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother, gowned in black crepe trimmed with sequins, and wearing a corsage of pink roses, assisted by the bridegroom's mother in black crepe with corsage of pink roses, received the guests.

For travelling the bride chose a blue, tailored suit with black accessories. The happy couple left by motor for Toronto, and Barrie, returning by way of Algonquin Park.

Out-of-town guests were present from Port Colborne, Consecon, Brighton, and Codrington.

Mrs. R. Badgley, Shannonville, Elected President of Women's Institutes at Closing Session

Honorary President—Mrs. W. A. Hoskins, Cobourg.

President—Mrs. Roy Badgley, Shannonville.

1st-Vice—Mrs. K. Faul, Belleville.

2nd. Vice—Mrs. Carl Clancy, Harold.

3rd Vice—Mrs. Gordon McCubbin, Warkworth.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. Harold Phillips, Belleville.

Conveners of standing committees:

Agriculture and Canadian Industries — Mrs. M. Rutherford, Colborne.

Historical Research—Mrs. J. Miller, Hilton.

Home Economics — Mrs. E. Moore, Madoc.

Citizenship—Mrs. Hugh Weese, Carrying Place.

Social Welfare—Mrs. E. Sandercock, Belleville.

Girls' Work—Mrs. E. Young, Mountain View.

Publicity—Mrs. E. B. Finkle, Halloway.

Resolutions—Mrs. Lorne McDonald, Cobourg.

Board of Directors—Mrs. J. Black, Campbellford.

Auditors—Mrs. S. Nicholson, Belleville, Mrs. G. Burkitt, Frankford.

Two Resolutions

Two resolutions were brought in by the district of Wicklow and Vernonville and were adopted. The first dealt with the matter of doctor's charges for mileage. It was the opinion of this Institute that these charges are excessive, and that the Provincial Government should assist in some manner the payment of such fees.

The second resolution stated that the consumption of liquor and the establishing of beverage rooms and cocktail bars are steadily increasing in the Province, and it petitioned the government that it will not open up any beverage rooms or cocktail bars in any community without first taking a vote of the people in that district.

Presented Reports

Mrs. P. Ray, Halloway presented the report on Home Economics stating that it had been a busy year in this branch. Roll calls were answered by such subjects as ways of using left-over meats; how to train a family to be tidy; what I like to do best in the home; short cuts in house cleaning; and household tasks for husbands. Among other subjects studied were family relationships, the rising divorce rate and juvenile delinquency; hobbies; home and clothes; food and nutrition; frozen foods and their preparation; history of nylon, clothing and textiles; textiles made from grains; kitchens past and present; the safest place to live is just within your income. Demonstrations were given on preparations of salads; re-knitting the heel of a sock; mixing and decorating a layer cake; pressure cookery; knitting and smocking; hooked, braided, and crocheted rugs. For projects they had garden clubs; cottons may be smart; oven meals; furnishings for the living room. One branch conducted a mock radio program on "what is your beef?" which brought out beefs about the high cost of postage on parcels to Britain, and better care of public washrooms.

Vital Need is Food

For Agriculture and Canadian Industries, the convener, Mrs. G. Foster, Moira, reported that the most vital need in the world today is food. In the research department attempts are made to reduce disease in animals and plants. Roll calls included an amusing incident on our farm; storing of winter vegetables; naming Canadian trees and their uses; planted and cared for flower bed in a village and cut the weeds and grass along the street; egg grading; why young people leave the farm; making the most of rural living. Canadian industries included manufacturing of cheese; lumber and pulpwood; cement; soybean products; and cellophane. A debate was held on "resolved that the city woman has greater advantages than the country woman." Some of the outstanding activities were the establishment of a free T. B. clinic and an artificial semination unit. The present favorable economic position in which producers find themselves should be conducive to better conditions on the farm.

The retiring secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. Ketcheson, was presented with a gift in appreciation of her five years' service for the area. The presentation was made by Mrs. R. Badgley.

Display of Articles

A display of articles called this and that from everywhere attracted considerable attention from tive hooked rug. A swastika flag captured in Holland was on display. A leather exhibit showed shoes, gloves and key cases. Curios included a candle mould used to make candles years ago; from Malta came a Maltese cross; from Sicily a silver buckle; from Florence, Italy, there was hand embroidery; and there were several articles from Scotland and England. Old felt hats were used to fashion shoes complete with eyelets; and shells formed attractive picture frames and plaques.

The highlight of the afternoon session of the Women's Institute Convention was an address by Senator Iva C. Fallis. The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. Clarence Holmes, who first presented her with a corsage. Mrs. Holmes said that Senator Fallis is one of our two women Senators, and has a deep interest in the rural woman as the greater part of her married life has been lived on the farm.

Explains Function of Senate

Digressing from her prepared address in deference to a group of students who occupied the balcony to hear her, the speaker explained the functions of the Senate, claiming that it was a body which is widely misunderstood, in fact the average person knows little about the Senate. There is one school of thought which thinks the Senate should be abolished, sometimes saying it is costing the country expense for nothing. The House of Commons has two hundred and forty-five members elected by the system of representation by population. The Senate is appointed for life and has regional representation, twenty-four from Ontario, twenty-four from Quebec, twenty-four from the Maritimes and twenty-four from the western provinces. One of the functions of the Senate is the protection of minorities in Canada. It gives the people of Canada a chance to think twice. An example of this was the bill introduced to change Dominion Day to Canada Day. It passed the House of Commons without much discussion, but letters from all over poured into the Senate and the bill did not pass this house. It is claimed that the Senate does not sit as many hours as the Commons. But when a bill reaches the Senate it is subject to a short debate and then goes to a committee where it is gone over in every detail, clause by clause, so that the best possible legislation may be given the people. Senator Fallis likened the House of Commons to a stage and the Senate to a workshop.

Treated With Equality

The Senator is often asked how she and her colleague fare as the only two feminine members with ninety-six men. After thirteen years of it she replies that she has always been treated with perfect equality. They take their place in debates and committees and stand or fall on their own merit.

Reverting to the convention theme of "Women and a better tomorrow" the Senator stated that not only Canada but the world at large must have better conditions if we are to have a better Canada. Every country is our next door neighbor. We used to think of Russia as a remote country but today Russia is sitting on our back doorstep. We want for all people the four freedoms, freedom from want and fear, and freedom of thought and worship.

"What can women do to achieve this objective?" asked Mrs. Fallis. "There are still people who say that woman's place is in the home. Her place is wherever she is most needed and can do a good job. The voice and influence of women is needed now more than at any time. Every woman should be interested in public affairs, and every woman should be prepared to give her support to those of her own sex who have a talent for public life.

Have Established Place

"Woman has established her place in the economic life of the country, and to a good extent in professional life, but she is not yet considered a necessity in government. Looking over the man-run world I am convinced that we should have better international and national relations if women had a greater voice in governments.

"One way to have a better informed opinion is to discuss public affairs in non-political organizations. It is not possible to speak on non-controversial subjects. Why not let the women hear both sides and make up their own minds.

"Every day we hear from the press and radio that the priceless boon of freedom could be lost to us. Eternal vigilance must be maintained.

We face today a different situation than we had with Hitler. Communism is more subtle, working on Canadian youth. The way to combat it is to begin in the home at the impressionable age and by precept and example show

Then let us see that we embody in the laws of our country those principles that mean freedom and liberty. Let us strengthen the hand of the Commonwealth of the Empire. If as women we set our faces at all times against evil and stand for justice and faith in the good then we shall have done a great deal for a better tomorrow."

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. Roscoe Robson.

Mrs. E. David spoke to the assembly on the need for a health unit in Hastings County. A health unit would provide two full-time doctors and one nurse for each four thousand people. Three units would be stationed at convenient places through the county and would provide public health nursing, dental care, chest tests, mental health, nutrition, sanitary engineering, industrial hygiene and other services. No one should object to paying slightly more in taxes each year to do as much for the health of human beings as is done for livestock.

Slides Are Shown

Miss Meribeth Holgate played a piano solo, and Mrs. C. Campbell gave a reading. Mrs. C. McDonald sang two vocal numbers accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Parrott.

Mrs. F. S. Harnden, Grafton, speaking for the Courtesy Committee thanked the school board for the use of the auditorium, the pianist, the guests, the officers and all who took part in making the convention a success.

A question box presided over by Mrs. J. R. Futcher, Provincial President from St. Thomas, cleared up some problems which the delegates had brought forward.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Quinte W. I. served tea to the guests in the school cafeteria where a social hour was spent.

A Changing Picture

Now the Autumn day is gloomy,
And the skies are gray,
And the north wind's threatening murmur,
Comes from far away;
Now the harvest fields are barren
Under lowing skies,
And no cheering sight of summer,
Greets our weary eyes.

Then across the hills and valleys,
See the sunshine sweep,
Smiling on the quiet shoreline,
Where the wavelets sleep;
Lighting up the distant woodland
Where the shadows stray,
Thus we have the changing picture,
Of an autumn day.

Sights and sounds of golden summer,
Long have passed away
Lost the glow of gladsome springtime,
Mid the shadows grey;
Symbol of the love that sought us,
With a tender yearn,
Like the springtime, scorned, neglected,
Never to return.

St. John Mission Holds Successful Bazaar and Tea

Sunshine and cloudless blue skies were the harbingers of success for the bazaar and tea held under the auspices of the St. John Mission, in the parish hall of Christ Church, Coleman St., on Wednesday afternoon, where the numerous visitors and guests were welcomed by the President, Mrs. R. Babcock, assisted by Mrs. W. Collyer.

The large room was tastefully decorated with yellow, bronze and red baby 'mums, which had been donated by Mrs. E. Exley, Mrs. W. Collyer and Mrs. H. N. Putman. Around the room, in the formation of a square, were the tables of saleable articles, at one end of the square was the tea table, and at the other, the table with the home-cooking exhibit.

The first table to engage the attention was that of the home sewing, which comprised articles that catered to the taste and needs of the home-maker in her capacity of mother, housekeeper and interior decorator. For the wants of the mother there were little knitted jackets in white, blue and pink; little bootees to match, just waiting to cuddle little pink toes in their cosy warmth; little socks in knitted brown, little white coatees, and one beautiful, long, white knitted dress with a leafy design running down the front.

Practical Articles

The knitted doll was there, too. Nor were the needs of the housekeeper overlooked; aprons, a whole flock of them covered one end of the long table, and spread even to the wall behind, a riot of blues, pinks, greens and reds. All were durable, and for every use. A huge pile of pot-holders, gay as a Summer garden in their varied hues and colors. Pillow cases of snowy-white, beautifully embroidered, and tea-cosey covers with sprigs of flowers. Little frilly dollies with yellow borders which would brighten some dull corner; and a lovely, white, crocheted basket with blue ribbon run through its graceful handle ending in double bows at each side. One could vision it filled with blue forget-me-nots and pansies on a primrose-yellow breakfast table, making for cheer and happy living. Mrs. Meens and Mrs. H. M. Putman were in charge of this.

The home-cooking exhibit, in charge of Mrs. C. Gerow, and Mrs. C. McFee, was overflowing with delectable cakes and pies that would melt in the mouth, rich cookies and shortbreads, little jams-jams, and last, but far from being least, loaves of fresh, homemade bread, gave off their never-to-be-forgotten fragrance, and brought to mind those "days that are no more" when, with a fragrant of mother's newly-baked bread, covered with melting, golden butter, you sought a sheltered retreat and ate in blissful quiet. One by one these tasty delicacies quickly disappeared to the eager purchasers.

Grocery Boxes

There were also the grocery boxes, which would go to the lucky ticket holders. These boxes of groceries contained cans of different vegetables, fruits, pickles and even heads of cabbage—forerunners of tempting salads. Over this table presided Mr. Exley, who was kept busy making out the tickets for the draws. This table also had for sale bottles of pickles, relish, and fruits of different sorts, and between the grocery boxes and the jars of relish and fruit were some little, white, tissue paper wrapped parcels. These were known as the "Touch and Buy" parcels, little "unknowns" that beckoned many.

Little tables, seating four, each with its vase of pale yellow 'mums were placed in two rows down the centre of the square. At these little tables, tea was being served by Miss Jennie Redner, Mrs. C. R. LaRue, Miss Patricia Gerow, and Miss Joan Meens. At one of these Mrs. E. Exley was guardian over a lovely, white-iced cake, having around its top edge tiny, pink rosebuds, and bearing the inscription in green lettering, "St. John Mission, 1948". This cake was to be sold by the 'draw' method.

For those who may be unacquainted with the work and purpose of St. John Mission, a few, brief words might be in order:

The St. John Mission was inaugurated under the direction of Rev. John Lyons, of St. Thomas' Church, now bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, in 1931. Its purpose was to cope with the overflow work of the suburban area of Shannonville and Point Anne, which comprised about fifty-five families. Services are held each Sunday in St. John Mission and the week-day activities comprise the Senior Guild the Woman's Auxiliary, and the Anglican Young People's Association. At present it is associated with the parish of Shannonville and Point Anne, but owing to the rapid development of this suburban area, the Mission may soon have a parish of its own. It is now under the very capable direction of the rector, Rev. E. M. Cauldwell.

Friends Gather To Honor Couple Recently Married

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Searles, at Oak Lake, was invaded on Friday evening by well over 100 friends from the community, who gathered to do honor to the newlyweds.

With Reeve Fred Campbell in the chair, a brief program was presented by Miss Joan Campbell at the piano, Mrs. Harold Detlor and Miss Doreen Bartindale, who gave a reading followed by a sing-song led by Rev. A. L. Shorten, after which Bette and Garnet were called to the floor and presented with a coffee table and a long mirror.

Mrs. Detlor read the accompanying address which was signed by Messrs. Blake Johnson, Farley Lindenfield, Allyn Finkle and Gordon Tanner, on behalf of the donors, and the presentation was made by Ralph Tanner, and Farley Lindenfield. The many other wedding gifts on display in the dining room were the centre of attraction and much admired.

Refreshments were again a substantial and enjoyable feature of the evening.

Among those present were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. F. Clare and Bill, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Covey, Mountain View; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Woods, Ivanhoe; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winsor, Corbyville and Mrs. Lily Winsor, of Haliburton.

Salmon Fishing Rich Man's Sport in New Brunswick

(By Ian Sclanders in the Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

For 50 or 60 cents you can buy a Restigouche salmon that has been captured in a commercial fisherman's net.

But if you want to land one yourself with rod and line, it may cost you somewhat more than its weight in gold.

Jack Harvey, of Matapedia, tells about a multi-millionaire from the United States who spent $35,000 bringing a group of friends on an angling expedition. The party took two fish which tipped the scales at 25 pounds each. Had they been pure gold the mint would only have paid $28,000 for them.

You will gather from this that casting a dry fly on the Restigouche and its equally famous tributaries, the Patapedia, the Matapedia, the Upsalquitch and the Kedgwick, is not exactly a poor man's sport. And that conclusion is quite correct.

One stretch of the Restigouche, at the confluence of the Patapedia is known for instance, as "The Million Dollar Pool." This is not merely its name but a rough estimate of its value.

• • •

It is owned by the Ristigouche Salmon Club, which prefers the old spelling, "Ristigouche," to the more modern form, "Restigouche" and which is the most expensive and exclusive organization of its kind on the face of the earth.

In 1928 a legal doubt was raised as to the title to a small portion of the fabulous pool. The club gave the New Brunswick Government $70,000 to keep the case out of court. And that, mind you, was just a settlement. The club was fairly sure it already had a clear title to all the pool, including the section in question.

The Ristigouche Salmon Club was founded in 1880 and its list of past and present members makes the social register look democratic. Vanderbilts, Cadwaladers, Goelets, the royal families of Manhattan, fill its pages.

Among other names you find those of Sir Montague Allan, of steamship fame; merchant prince Marshall Field; R. G. Dun, of Dun and Bradstreet; Walter C. Teagle of Standard Oil; and J. K. L. Ross, financier and sportsman; you also see the name of Sanford White, the great U. S. architect. He fished the Restigouche not long before he was murdered in New York by the notorious playboy, Harry K. Thaw.

F. J. Rooney, formerly of Saint John, soft-spoken, efficient manager of the club, a few years ago picked up a sterling silver pocket-knife handle. The blades had been eaten away by rust but engraved in the silver was the name "Sanford White."

• • •

The big rambling clubhouse is at Matapedia, Quebec, just across the interprovincial bridge from New Brunswick. In its lounge there are photographs of celebrities who have fished the Restigouche as guests, including several governors - general of Canada and a representative assortment of princes, dukes and earls. There are paintings of Restigouche scenes by outstanding artists.

One of the downstairs rooms is set aside for fishing rods and during the summer it probably holds the costliest collection in the world. Over the entrance is the club's mascot — the ugliest and most vicious-looking salmon head in north America. It's larger than the head of a Collie dog and has a long hideous hooked jaw.

This fish was found dead early one spring. It had been jammed between logs which were being driven down the river, and killed.

Even at that time of year, when it was thin as an eel, it weighed 35 pounds. Had it been coming in from the sea in the pink of condition it would have weighed more than 50 pounds. A grave marker is set out annually with much ceremony over the spot where all but its stuffed and mounted head is buried and left there from the beginning to the end of the salmon season.

In addition to its main clubhouse at Matapedia, the Ristigouche Salmon Club has five lodges above Matapedia on various stretches of water it owns or leases on the Restigouche and its tributaries.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor stayed at one of these lodges when they fished in New Brunswick. So did Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General.

• • •

While the Ristigouche Salmon Club is the oldest and best-known, it is not by any means the only one. There are also many private establishments. One of these belongs to the Straus family which owns Macy's department store in New York. It costs $100 a day to keep this open even when no guests are there.

A conservative estimate is that wealthy Americans have an investment of $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 tied up in angling rights and buildings on the Restigouche, the Patapedia, the Matapedia, the Upsalquitch and the Kedgwick.

They own most of the water outright, having purchased it from people with old deeds which included the water with the waterfront land. Through the years, the price of the better pools has multiplied.

Max M. Mowat, of Campbellton, sold some property on the Matapedia to Americans 30 years ago, for $14,000. They, in turn, sold it for $60,000, and it afterwards changed hands again for $125,000.

The water not owned outright is leased from the governments of New Brunswick and Quebec, and the New Brunswick treasury takes in tens of thousands of dollars each year from this source of revenue.

Why are the Restigouche and its tributaries worth so much?

The answer is that the Atlantic silver salmon is the most highly prized game fish of all, and that these rivers offer the best Atlantic silver salmon angling. Multi-millionaire devotees of the great cult of salmon angling will pay fantastic sums for the privilege of fishing such streams.

That leads to a second question: Why is the fishing on the Restigouche and its tributaries so good, when salmon angling elsewhere has either vanished or deteriorated. The answer here is the Restigouche Riparian Association.

A private organization, which, in a sense, is like a police force, this has more than 50 guardians, who protect the rivers from poachers.

It has a budget of $40,000 or $50,000 a year and all individuals or clubs contribute to its support in accordance with the amount of water they hold.

The first chief guardian was Max M. Mowat. When he assumed this office 51 years ago, salmon fishing on the Restigouche was distinctly on the downgrade. In that day there was a continuous procession of scows carrying supplies and provisions to upriver settlers and logging camps.

Each scow had a net and poachers made a practice of dynamiting the pools, killing scores of fish with one blast.

Mr. Mowat's instructions were to stop illegal fishing, regardless of expense. He once spent $3,000 to track down and prosecute one man.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Suggested Note to Acknowledge Birth-Announcement Cards

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

So many birth-announcement cards are being received these days! And it's quite a problem to know how to acknowledge them. To relatives and friends, even those at a distance, I write notes and generally send some small gift for the baby. But what about the announcements received from others, not such close friends? Should these cards be acknowledged? It seems to me something should be done about them. Will you please suggest what (and how) to do about this?

Emily S.

I heartily agree with you that it does seem lacking in friendliness and appreciation not to write some kind of acknowledgment of this news that the parents are so proud and happy to send. Writing a bit of a note, two or three high-hearted sentences, is sufficient to show your interest and best wishes. Somewhat like this, perhaps:

Dear Margaret,

Don and I are so happy to have the delightful news on the little card you so thoughtfully sent us. . . the arrival of another charming member of the Thayer family! And we know how wondrously happy you and Tom are.

May I call you soon to ask you if I may come in to see the newcomer? I'm so eager to know this little Cynthia.

Dearest greetings to you "and yours", and always every good wish from both of us.

Bride's Sister Tries to Find Justification for Giving Shower

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Recently my sister announced her engagement. At her wedding I am to be maid of honor, and my other two sisters are to be bridesmaids. There will be no other bridal attendants. Would it be proper for me, sister of the bride-to-be, to give a shower for her? Some tell me "no; it is up to a friend to give the shower," but I feel that since all her attendants are her sisters, it would be quite proper. Will you please advise me about this?

S.

I agree with those who tell you that it is not considered proper for a member of the bride's family to give a shower for her. . . that a bridal shower should be given by a friend or group of friends of the bride-to-be. Naturally, when a member of the bride's family gives a shower for her, it is an admission that none of her friends is interested in planning a shower for her. You may, of course, give this shower if you don't mind this interpretation, and if you don't mind the fact that some of your friends don't approve of this procedure.

Birthday Cake is not the Centrepiece

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

At a birthday dinner, to which about fourteen relatives and friends are being invited, should the birthday cake be the centrepiece of the dinner table?

F. T.

No. The birthday cake should be brought in festively lighted . . . . just before the dessert (usually ice cream) is served, and placed on the table in front of the birthday-er. Usually the centrepiece is of flowers.

Wedding Present to Bride's Home

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have been invited to the wedding of his cousin. Will you please tell me if it is proper for me to send the wedding gift to the bride's home even though I have never met her?

F. S.

Yes: whether or not we know the bride-to-be we should send the wedding present addressed to her at her home.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Can Remarriage After Divorce be Successful?

If a man and his wife have been divorced, is it possible for them to remarry and make a go of it?

That is the question asked by a man who signs his letter "Unhappy Husband", and tells the following story:

He says he was married to "the best wife", had two children, a nice home, money in the bank and, apparently, everything to make him happy. Then came the war, and presently he was sent overseas. After awhile, his wife stopped writing, but his friends wrote and told him she was having affairs with other men.

"I must admit," he confesses, "that I had fooled around myself, but very little, and I still loved my wife.

"I came back to find my home in a mess, the children neglected and that my wife had been intimate with many. It all ended with divorce, and she got the children."

All this was three years ago and this man has never been happy since without his children. Apparently his wife has turned over a new leaf for, he says, "Now she takes very good care of the children and has built a home from nothing". He wants his family back, but, "Would it work out?" he asks. "Could I trust her? Would I have to move away from all my friends in order to forget the past, or is it possible to ever forget? The thing that bothers me most is to think of her having been intimate with some one else."

Then he asks me to pass on this appeal: "To any husband who has tried going back to his wife after a divorce: Please tell me if you are still together, and mostly, if you are still happy. Has your remarriage been successful?"

In the majority of cases where a marriage has been broken up, I do not believe a second try is any more successful than the first. But there are a few rare instances in which a second try does work.

What makes the difference between failure or success in a remarriage is entirely dependent upon how much both the man and the woman have changed in [illegible] attitudes toward the things that caused the separation. The trouble is that it is very hard indeed for human beings to change after they have reached adulthood. And so a couple which has separated goes back together again with no more equipment for making the marriage a success than they had before. That is why it fails again.

If, however, two people have been able to analyze the factors that led to their difficulties, and have character enough to make a sincere effort to change the qualities in themselves that contributed to the breakup, there is a very good chance that they could do better the second time than they did before.

Hurry-up Manicure Routine

When applying nail polish, let it drain from the brush and put on only a light film, says Actress Althea Elder

By HELEN FOLLETT

IT IS just one of those things! You have put off the appointment with the manicurist. You have a broken finger nail and somehow your hands have suddenly started to look grubby. The telephone rings. The nice guy you met last Summer has buzzed into town "How about a little dinner and a little dancing afterwards?" Why not? So the first thing you do is to put your nails in form. Here is the system for a quick clean-up treatment:

Remove the polish. Use a flexible steel file for grooming the eaves. Shape them to pleasing oval lines. Run the orange wood stick under them, have a second filing with an emery board.

Warm Soap Suds

Then for a rousing scrubbing with warm soap and a brush. While your hands are in the water, form clear cut lines under the eaves with the nail white pencil that is easier to manage than nail white. Rinse and dry.

Touch the nails with cuticle cream, friction it in. With the orange wood stick do little circles to detach the flesh from the nail fabric. If you flush up hangnails, nip them away with the curved scissors, placing the points of the scissors toward the nail base, so as not to cause a wound.

A second hand washing with soap is necessary. If oil remains on the pink sheaths, polish won't stick for sour apples.

Light Film

When applying the lacquer, let it drain from the brush, so you will apply only a light film. After a few minutes, put on a second coat. Two light applications will last longer than one heavy one.

You will find many new shades at cosmetic counters right now, ranging from opalescent and coral to deep wine tones. Yes, my hearties, some fussy ladies are using light tints and they are extremely attractive.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Watch Out for Pillow Wrinkles

For the sake of your face and your figure, your health and general well-being you should not sleep on a high pillow. If you are given to the habit, the chances are that when you awaken in the morning you may find tiny up-and-down lines on your cheeks. As your chest has been contracted, you will feel the need of conditioning your lungs by taking deep, full breaths.

Lying on your back and using a high pillow forces the chin downward, causing the muscles of the neck to relax. That state of affairs may foretell the eventual arrival of an extra chin. The neck may go fiddle-stringly, look tweedy. That will not make life any more zestful.

When sleeping on your side, the head has an unnatural pose on the high pillow. Fibres are under strain; circulation is retarded. All of which means that sleep is not refreshing. Shoulders are sent into a huddle. Vitally necessary for restful slumber is a position that permits complete relaxation and free breathing.

The over-tired, nervous woman is likely to tie herself into a pretzel formation. That's no way to await the arrival of the sand man.

Chuck the high pillow. Stretch your body full length, rest your head on a low pillow, let your arms and legs go limp, breathe slowly and regularly, and close the doors of your mind to troublesome thoughts. Think of green meadows, running streams, woodsy places. In time your thoughts will melt into dreams.

When you think that one third of your life is spent in bed you must realize that you should be as comfortable as you possibly can, so you will receive the full benefits of these hours when nature is making necessary repairs to the cells of your body.

To curl up like a kitten is no way for a sensible woman to arrange herself for slumber. In this pose the lungs are crowded preventing the free intake of air. There is a hump at the top of the back that may develop into a figure defect. Breasts sag, weakening the supporting fibres and tissues, which doesn't happen when the pose is correct, the pillow low, and the spinal column straight.

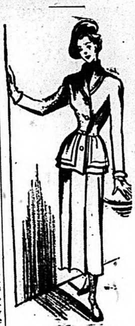
During sleep there is recuperation of brain and nerve tissues as well as muscle repair. Energy is stored up for the activities of the coming day. Everything possible should be done to have conditions favorable for these restorative processes.

Bed covers should be light, but sufficiently warm. The mattresses must be as flat as your hand.

All the facial treatments in the world will not compensate for restless, wakeful nights.

To curl up like a kitten is no way to prepare for slumber

Handsome Brown Suit

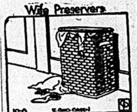


A wardrobe mainstay

By VERA WINSTON

FASHION IS IN a brown study this season, what with every shade of brown highlighted all the way from champagne tones to deep woodsy shades. Deep dark brown woollen is used for this handsome suit, the brown set off by a navy blue satin ascot, a nice color scheme. The jacket has a rolled collar and a single-breasted closing. The padded pockets give a rounded hipline. The skirt is flat in back and has a wide box pleat in front.

Wife Preservers



Never let damp or wet clothing or other articles lie around. Dry soiled clothes before throwing them in the hamper for fear of mildew.

Fashion Flashes

THE WHATEVER-NEXT department includes a new fitted beauty case complete not only with treatment and make-up items but with a tiny portable radio, also in leather to tone, and removable from the case.

GOOD PROTECTION for the legs on a rainy day is offered in an item soon to be found in the stores. Lightweight, transparent plastic is used for leg spats that may be worn with high or low shoes, with rubbers and even with wedgie styles. Nice for wear with a stout pair of shoes as a rain and mud spatter guard.

TOP OFF pretty evening frocks with a pair of the new mitts. Short mitts in black velvet, with a Greek key design in gold kid making an interesting outline, would go well with any black frock or theatre suit. Another black velvet mitt has a medallion motif in rhinestones.

ONE BY ONE the old fashions return, be it lingerie or accessories. Latest to make a comeback is the gold metal mesh bag, designed to be carried with dinner clothes or to be attached to the belt for afternoon wear.

SHADES OF GRAY cover the Autumn fashion scene. Gray wool jersey makes a handsome afternoon frock detailed with a rounded yoke of marigold yellow jersey. A matching jacket is lined with the marigold-colored wool jersey.

ALONG with the beret, the draped or manipulated turban appears in every collection. Black velours without any trimming is used for a beautiful turban, the fabric twisted to a towering peak.

Mount Pleasant Young People's Union Meets

Rawdon—Mt. Pleasant Young People's Union sponsored an illustrated lecture on Czechoslovakia on Monday evening, in the church hall. The event was free to all in the community with a silver collection taken to defray expenses.

Despite the dense fog, over sixty people were in attendance and everyone enjoyed an evening of beauty and education.

Miss Marjorie Bush, president of Y.P.U. conducted the opening worship and introduced the pastor Rev. H.C. Vaclavik who gave the illustrated lecture on his homeland.

He said sixteen million people reside in this country on an acreage less than one quarter of Ontario. The sugar beet industry takes main place with costume jewelry, small trinkets, etc, also in good demand. The slides revealed beautiful views of the city of Prague, the famous clock which gave seconds, minutes, hours, days, months, etc. This was the only clock of its kind in Europe, and at the close of the last war the Germans machine gunned the clock for no apparent reason, before they evacuated the city. The slides showed pictures of old castles, caves, museums, opera houses, beautiful cathedrals with magnificent architecture. Many places of interest were shown and also views of the Bohemian Mountains

In Czechoslovakia, most farmers have fifteen acres of land with a continuous rotation of crops oat, potatoes, rye, red clover etc. Every square inch of land is intensely cultivated. The speaker described the barns, purebred cattle, their special cheese, some of which take a period of ten years to ripen.

The slides also gave several views of the Sokol organizations which are a moral force in that land. The young people join this organization voluntarily and they disciple themselves. There are 27,000 factories, and industry works eight hours daily for six days. A large number of Canadians live in Czechoslovakia in order to carry on the various lines of business.

Rev. Vaclavik was thanked for his lecture which was both interesting and educational.

During the evening Mr. John T. Bailey was given an ovation as he was celebrating the 87th anniversary of his natal day by attending the lecture.

Canada and U.K. Prepare to Talk On Food Contracts

Ottawa, Nov. 4 (CP)—Quietly and behind the scenes, Canada and the United Kingdom are preparing to re-negotiate the all-important food contracts between the two countries.

Preliminary overtures already are reported to have started in Canada and London and a British negotiating mission is expected to come to this country late this month to open talks with the Canadian government. Thus far, there has been no public announcement of the negotiation plans.

However, the British mission probably will include Food Minister Stratchey and officials of his ministry as well as the British treasury.

The contracts cover the sale to Britain of Canadian wheat, bacon cheese and eggs. They lapse at varying dates, depending upon the duration of the production year for each product.

Their importance is two-fold. They are important to Britain because she needs them to bolster the meagre British diet. To Canada, they loom large as the key factor in the government's policy of stabilization for the farming industry. All other considerations notwithstanding, they have helped to keep farm prices high since the war years.

Must Find Dollars

If Britain can find enough dollars ,the contracts may be large; if not, they may be small.

Observers here noted that Britain has been pressing Canada to release the unspent but "frozen" remainder—$70,000,000—of the Canadian loan to Britain. The credit was cut off last April when Canada herself ran into exchange difficulties.

The wheat contract, of major importance to western Canadian agriculture, differs in some respects from the other food agreements. It was signed for a four-year period and still has more than a year to run. Under its provisions, Canada agreed to ship 160,000,000 bushels of wheat and wheat flour in each of the first two years and 140,000,000 bushels in each of the last two.

However, the price range was not definitely established for the four-year period and the two governments must get together before Dec. 31 next to set a price for the last year of the contract beginning Aug. 1, 1949. In the current year, which began last Aug. 1, Britain is paying $2 a bushel.

[illegible] on December 31

Another major contract is that covering the sale of bacon. It ends this Dec. 31. When the 1948 contract was negotiated last year Britain agreed to take 195,000,000 pounds, paying $36 per 100 pounds for grade "A" Wilshires at the Canadian seaboard. The target later was boosted to 225,000,000 pounds.

So far, Canada has shipped 158,000,000 pounds and officials here are confident the cargoes will go over the 200,000,000-pound mark by the year-end. The value of this contract is $53,712,000.

There is no indication of the size of the 1949 bacon contract but Britain likely will want to buy substantial quantities to maintain her bacon ration. There is a possibility that the price might be boosted slightly to encourage Canadian farmers to produce [illegible] hogs. Hog production in Canada has fallen during the last year or two.

Likely be Dropped

The other meat contracts negotiated last year likely will be dropped this year. These cover mutton and beef.

Under the beef contract, the U.K. purchased 15,500,000 pounds carcass weight, for $3,735,190 before contract was suspended by mutual consent this summer because of Britain's shortage of dollars.

She likely will turn away from beef for 1949, putting her dollars into bacon instead.

There probably will be new contracts for eggs and cheese.

Under the cheese contract, Canada agreed to ship 50,000,000 pounds at 30 cents a pound. However, short production this year likely will keep the total shipments down to 30,000,000 or 35,000,000 pounds. This contract was worth $6,270,000 this year.

Society Seeking Smoke Abatement in U.K. Cities

London — (Reuters) — A cleaner, healthier Britain under a smokeless sky is possible within 10 years if government and public co-operate with a scheme for smokeless zones.

This statement was made by Lt.-Col. A. J. Cousin, an official of the Smoke Abatement Society. With the assistance of 300 local authorities representing more than half the population, this society has been fighting a slow battle against smoke. The society says smoke costs Britain between $200,000 and $400,000 a year.

The society sees the gradual fulfilment of their dream in sight if Parliament pushes legislation for the introduction of central smokeless zones in all cities and towns.

Through the society's efforts the central square mile of Manchester is the country's first smokeless zone where 1,553 premises, including 137 factories, are prohibited from burning raw fuel. If smoke is seen emitting from any chimney, its owner is liable to a fine not exceeding £10 ($40) and a daily penalty for continuance of the nuisance.

In sharp contrast is the London district of Fulham. A continuous deluge of black, gritty dust pours down from the great chimneys of Fulham power station into the streets and houses below. It has done so ever since the war stopped the special machines which washed the smoke before it left the chimneys. It has sifted through 20,000 windows into food, carpets, curtains, making the housewife's life a misery.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, at first refused Fulham's request for a grit-sifting plant because of the steel shortage, but recently he granted permission for the purchase of 1,200 tons of steel to build one after protest meetings by citizens.

The society not only desires to clean up London, where between 300 and 500 tons of smoke dirt falls each year, but also Edinburgh, Glasgow, the Potteries area in Staffordshire, and Sheffield with a rain of grime amounting to 600 tons annually. The Scottish capital is in a valley and more often than not its famous castle is obscured by smoke.

Industry is not the only source of worry for the society. A great problem rests in the ordinary householder. Traditionally every Briton cherishes the open grate fire with its wasteful coal, cannot be induced to sit before an efficient smokeless fuel fire, and despises central heating.

Cousin said, "Before the fuel crisis of two winters ago we were considered a bunch of cranks but since we pointed out at that time that 80,000 tons of coal a year—the output of 300 miners — could be saved if it were used efficiently, the government has been listening to us."

The society now estimates that 3,000,000 tons of coal are wasted in smoke every year and that damage to property is becoming astronomically high.

Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, estimated that atmospheric pollution costs Britain $250,000 a year.

Exchange Rate Hits N. Z. Exports

By J. C. GRAHAM
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Auckland, N.Z. — (CP) — Alteration of New Zealands exchange rate to par with sterling has dealt a severe blow to the small but rapidly growing export industries in manufactured products which have been springing up in recent years.

It now seems certain that agricultural products will continue to be the Dominion's main export for some time to come.

High world prices for her staple exports — dairy produce, meat and wool — ensure that for the time being at least these can be produced on a profitable basis. For some years dairy produce and meat producers have not been getting the full amount paid abroad for their goods.

The government, which has sold the produce, has paid farmers a guaranteed price based on a reasonable profit above costs of production and has held the surplus in reserve funds against a time when world prices drop. These funds are available to assist farmers if the smaller amounts coming in as a result of the changed exchange rate are insufficient. It seems likely that while prices remain at their present level it will not be necessary to draw on the reserve to any extent.

Outlook Poor

For manufactured products, however, the outlook is different. Labor and manufacturing costs in New Zealand are high and many industries are no longer able to sell abroad on a competitive basis as they could when New Zealand's currency was depreciated.

This is particularly so in Australia, which still has a depreciated currency and must now pay 25 per cent more for goods it buys in New Zealand. A flourishing export trade in crockery to Australia has been wiped out overnight as the Australian tariff now makes competition from New Zealand virtually impossible. One large crockery manufacturing firm has laid off the whole of its export staff.

Exports of canned goods, processed cheese, wood products and other lines have been similarly hit, and thousands of orders have been cancelled. A large trade in frozen fish to Australia has also been crippled. There is a serious fish shortage in Australia, but housewives are buying shark fillets rather than pay the high prices demanded for New Zealand fish.

Just Depends From What Angle You are Looking

Ottawa, Nov. 4. (CP)—It all depended from what direction they were looking when spokesmen for Canada's three leading political parties expressed their views Wednesday on the United States election victory of President Truman.

Said Richard Bell, National organizer for the Progressive Conservative Party: "This is a tremendous encouragement. Mr. Truman demonstrated the weakness of the so-called public opinion polls in the face of a strong and fighting person election campaign. That's the kind George Drew knows best how to conduct."

Said Allan McLean, national director of the Liberal Party: "Mr. Truman proved that the electorate seldom shoots prosperity and full employment. The returns show the people hesitate to change governments during international tension. What happened in the U S. Tuesday will happen here in the next election."

Said Davis Lewis, National Secretary of the C.C.F.: "It shows that tories in both countries —and by Tories I mean both Liberals and Conservatives—are depending on something that does not exist, a swing to the right. Millions of little people have made it plain they like new deals."

MAIL PUPPY—Letter carrier Percy Gunn felt sorry for this black and white puppy when it followed him on his London, Ont., route. When he tried to chase the pup away, the little fellow whined, so Gunn placed it in his mail pouch. After trying unsuccessfully for several days to deliver the dog to its proper home, Gunn found the pup a foster home. (CP Photo)

Democrats After Control of N. Y. In 1950 Elections

Albany, N.Y., Nov. 4. (CP)—Jubilant New York Democrats predicted today in the wake of Governor Thomas E. Dewey's unsuccessful bid for the United States presidency, that they would regain control of the State administration in the 1950 state-wide election.

They interpreted Dewey's slender margin of victory in New York State Tuesday as a democratic triumph.

Complete returns gave Dewey a plurality of 42,777. The final unofficial tally was': Dewey 2,837,858 Truman 2,795,081.

By capturing eight seats, Democrats won control of New York's congressional delegation, 23 to 21.

In Buffalo districts, the Democratic grounds well unseated Republicans Edwards Elsaesser and John Butler. The victors there were Anthony Tauriello, city councilman and Chester Gorski.

MRS. ISABEL ANDERSON DIES

Queer Thing, Progress: Fewer Ashes But More Refuse

(From the Moose Jaw Times-Herald)

Stuff that used to go up the chimney now goes into garbage cans. A few years ago citizens of the average Canadian city burned a great mass of waste material that accumulated in their households; today this goes to the garbage can. It isn't that citizens of Canadian cities have become less frugal and more wasteful; it's because they got tired carrying out ashes. There is a lot more refuse per house picked up by the garbage trucks and therefore it takes longer to cover a route.

This is all explained by the fact that a great number of people in every urban community have pulled themselves up by their bootstraps to a higher standard of living. There are more labor-saving devices in the kitchen, more food comes into the household in paper bags and cardboard containers. The "little woman," or a lot of them at any rate, does not bake bread, cakes, pies and other pastry. That partly explains why the garbage collecting wagons are not big enough to take away the waste material. It does not mean that the food prepared outside the home is not consumed, but it explains why the garbage man has to pick up more waste material.

Where an oil burner has been installed in a home, or some type of an automatic power-driven coal burner is operated, there is no place to burn the waste material. True there are less ashes to carry out to be carted away, but unless a household incinerator is installed and operated the waste material goes to the garbage can. Many large cities have been forced to increase the number of civic-owned incinerators all because the house owners and owners and operators of large buildings can no longer burn vast quantities of light combustible material in their furnaces.

The loads that are taken out of the lanes and alleys are lighter, because there are less ashes and cinders, but there is greater bulk and slower work with more trips. Funny, isn't it? Here is man adopting labor-saving devices for himself and increasing enormously the job to be done by the civic administration.

There is another angle to this stride of mankind for an easier way of living. The ashes and cinders from the back lanes made excellent filling material for gullies and holes on the outskirts of large communities. The supply is beginning to taper off and the filling job may have to be done with more expensive material.

Nehru Says India Soon Republic

Cairo, Nov. 4 —(AP)—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told a press conference here today India soon will become a republic.

"The Indian Constituent Assembly soon will approve a draft constitution for India which will make India an independent sovereign republic," he said. "Our relation with the United Kingdom and other countries in the Commonwealth is a separate thing, which is not affected by the constitution."

Candidate Dewey, shown as he voted in New York, is probably the most surprised man in the U.S. today. He conceded defeat in the presidential elections after a campaign generally considered the most promising ever conducted by a presidential candidate.

Eastern Ranchers Hope For Revival of Fur Business

By IRVING C. WHYNOT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax — (CP) — Since 1938, when fur farming in Nova Scotia hit its peak, ranchers have been holding on to prime breeding animals and hoping for a revival of the once-flourishing business.

Now its seems just possible they may be rewarded for their efforts. The number of animals kept on fur farms showed a slight increase last year and officials of the department of lands and forests here predicts that the business may be in for at least a mild revival.

Fox ranching alone in Nova Scotia once employed thousands of persons but it rode the crest of a buying splurge for two years and then died out almost as rapidly as it began.

Probably no other industry depends on supply and demand to as great an extent as fur ranching. When fur is scarce, demand is great and prices are high, but as soon as the fur becomes plentiful, demand almost disappears entirely.

When a pair of silver foxes, once considered freaks, were caught for breeding purposes, many businesses opened, in 1938 more than 1,000 silver fox ranches were operated in the province. Then the bottom fell out of the market and in one year the number of ranchers dropped to 200.

Last year there was a slight upward surge. There were 368 permit holders for ranching silver foxes, an increase of 38 over 1946. The average number of foxes per ranch — 13.8 — was up compared to the previous year.

Mink ranchers totalled 153, a drop of two, but the average number of minks on each ranch was up to 39.7 from 29.3.

Red fox, cross fox, platinum fox, muskrat, raccoon, marten, fisher, fitch, and rabbits were also ranched.

A total of 176,560 furs went to markets outside the province. Most of these were silver fox, mink, muskrat, weasel and squirrel.

Value of animals in captivity was $352,187 and the value of lands and buildings on ranches was $205,143.

Ontario Police Would Amend Evidence Act

Kitchener, Nov. 4 — (CP) — The Ontario Police Association does not think a police officer should be questioned on his war record during a trial when such questions have no bearing on the case in question.

The association Wednesday voted full support of its Leeds and Grenville branch for its action in a recent case in Brockville where the branch claimed a lawyer took unfair advantage of a Brockville constable.

The association backed a protest made to the Department of Veterans Affairs and other officials at Ottawa.

Sgt. S. M. McFadden of Brockvillefi, who outlined the case, said the incident occurred last summer when a policeman was cross-questioned by defence counsel on details of his service record. Sgt. McFadden said the questions had nothing to do with the case being tried.

"He was asked if he was ever away without leave from the army," said the sergeant. "To my knowledge about half the Canadian and British army was charged with that offence at one time or another, no matter how slight."

He said the officer had at the time been only 17 years of age and there had been a question about his status as a minor. While awaiting clarification he joined a lake vessel, but later served overseas for four years, three of them in combat areas, and was honorably discharged.

The association was told that D.V.A. department legal experts had replied that requests for such information in trial is usually left to the discretion of the court judge. But they believed in this case the witness would have been entitled to refuse to reply.

The branch has suggested an amendment to the Evidence Act to clarify the point.

THE VENABLES

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

But her home responsibilities, babies and illnesses had ended all that. Willie had the piano scores of the operas; she told the children about them when she played them.

Mrs. Hawkes rustled newspapers in the better light. Over by the fire, with the gas bracket drawn out to its right position over her grizzled head, she read excerpts of the day's news to Willie, and Willie, her tiny baby comfortably asleep in her arm, listened dreamily and thought of many things.

Old Ben Swann always made her laugh in the preliminaries of labor; later he was sympathetic and clever of touch and trustworthy. He had given her blessed doses of laudanum in her first confinement; she would eternally be grateful to him for that; but after that neither he nor Paul thought opiates wise. He drove out in his buggy and stayed long enough to be sure that everything was all right.

But how Willie's heart always sank when, after watching her struggle for a while, he would prepare to go away again.

"I'll be at the Bohemian Club for dinner tonight," he might say. And this at noon. "But I'll be back round ten."

"Ten! Do you mean I'm not going to have this baby until ten tonight?"

"You probably ain't going to have it then, marm, But you'll git through. Paul go back to work! That's right. Well, good luck to ye!"

"Would you ever be interested in one of these telephones?"

It was her mother's voice, speaking over the pages of the paper. Willie came out of a dream, widened her eyes.

"How d'ya mean, Ma?"

"Well, they're putting them in houses in New York."

"I don't know what they'd use them for."

"It says ordering things from the grocery, for one thing."

"Oh, for goodness' sake!" said Willie, amused. "I'd feel terribly silly doing that," she added, after thought. "You wouldn't see what the potatoes and meat looked like would you?"

"I don't know what the world's coming to, with the way they're hurrying and crowding things together," Mrs. Hawkes said, yawning comfortably. "Your father used to think that the railroad and the mail was about enough. Then came the cable cars. Now here's the incandescent lights! It cost of seems flying in the face of Providence, to me. What's all the hurry about?"

"The incandescent light was beautiful," Willie commented dreamily. "You saw it, Ma?"

"No, but Daisy saw it at the Mechanics' Fair."

"The night we had the girls and Georgie there, they lighted up sort of columns, little lights strung on columns. Paul thought it was wonderful."

Here were Lily and Flo, sleepy and fuzzy, ink on Flo's middle finger, pencil dust on her pale freckled face.

"Girlies, before you settle down will you go down and ask Dolly for a glass of very hot milk for Mama?"

"We'd simply delight to do it!" Flo said gushingly.

"And a cracker Mama? A shoo-fly?" Lily asked.

"No, not a shoo-fly; they're too sweet. A soda cracker, darling. And don't make any noise on account of Virgie-Lou. I think Mrs. Howden's lying down too. Really, they're getting awfully useful."

The girls came back. Willie sipped the scalded milk gratefully; it was just right. Hot to the point of seeming thin and light, but not tasting boiled. Lily and Flo sat on the floor before the fire.

"Got your compositions done?"

"We did them before dinner. We had twelve examples — some of them were awfully hard." Lily smiled ruefully as she skoke.

"I wish you'd talk to Miss Lloyd about them, Mama," Flo whined. "I wish you would. They are too hard, honestly they are. Mama; nobody can do them! Bell McDonald can't even do them, even."

She was crying. Her mother sighed.

"You're tired, dearie, or you wouldn't feel so badly. Why not go right to bed?"

"Go to bed!" she said aghast. "Mother, it's only twenty to eight!"

"I know. But if you feel tired—"

"Here, what am I thinking of!" the grandmother exclaimed suddenly. She rose to get the tonic bottle; the baby stirred and began to wail when his mother moved. Flo and Lily rushed to the bed and hung over him admiringly.

"Ar, he's crying — aw, he's cute!"

"Here, one of you take him!" Willie said, laughing and squirming. "He'll get tonic in his face; he's right on my arm!"

"Oh, Mama, I might hurt him!" Lily faltered.

"I'll take him!" Flo grasped him, blankets and all; he slipped free of his wrappers and slid down on the bed. The grandmother caught him; tonic spattered like ink in every direction. "My Lord!" said the old lady forcefully. "My goodness gracious!" she amended it. "You might have dropped him on the floor, child!"

"He came out," Flo observed staring aghast.

"Oh, goodness, look at that tonic, Flo! Look at what you've done, to say nothing of dropping the baby! Get me a wet towel, Lily. Put him in his basket, Ma; this is awful. On my face, Lily — and my hair, dear, right here. T't't't!" Willie sputtered. Her mother regarded the whole scene disapprovingly, her wrinkled stout face like leather against the baby's gosling hair.

The big clock in the hall downstairs was striking; there was no disputing the time now. The little girls dragged themselves reluctantly off to bed.

"Ma. Was that the front door? That might be Paul."

"More likely it's Roswell." The two women listened hardly speaking in the full quarter - hour that it took some stumbling newcomer to mount the stairs, fumble with the hall-bedroom door and the bathroom door, scratch a match, drop shoes, creak bedsprings, turn off a squeaky gas jet. Presently there was silence.

"Yes, that's Roswell," said the older woman then. Willie made no answer; she was beginning to feel tired again. "I believe," said Mrs. Hawkes, "I'll get ready for bed. Paul may come in any minute."

Paul came home, fresh and rosy from a walk in the foggy streets. You could not see your hand before your face. he announced. Terrible fog. They said four ships were waiting outside the gate. Willie thought she would like to be out on the cool dark sea.

Paul undressed in the bathroom, returned to the bedroom in shirt and trousers and sat on the side of the bed in the shadows. Howden was done now; the baby was restored to his basket. Willie turned on one side, stiffly, hurtfully, and felt the whole bed quake as Paul bounced into it. Instantly he was out again.

"Here, what am I doing? Want this light?"

"I thought just a bead, Paul. Howden'll be in and out in the night, and those matches smell so bad."

"Want this window open a little?"

"I'm afraid for the baby."

"It's pretty stuffy in here. Warm out." Paul opened a French window, and the room's dim light and the dim street lights mingled on pink fog on the balcony. He wound his watch. Willie could hear the creaking twist of the handle. "Feeling pretty good?" he asked.

"Oh, much better." However, if she were going to die and leave these six young children, there were Ma and the girls to help Paul. Willie drowsed, wondering if in that case Paul would marry either of her sisters. Hattie was too lively for him, and Daisy too meek.

"Paul—"

He started up from first sleep.

"Ha — what is it? Willie? Yes? Yes?"

"I'm sorry; I didn't know you were asleep. I was thinking I'd name him Spencer."

Paul yawned.

"Colfax was saying today we ought to have a junior."

"But you don't like the name Paul," Willie said quickly.

"No; that isn't much of a name for a boy," the father said reflectively.

"I like Spencer," Willie said definitely.

Lily, Flo and Georgie attended Miss Marchand's school on Larkin Street. It was a small school; there were about 20 pupils in all, of almost as many ages and stages of education. The oldest of them was Jody Choate, a tall bent boy with wet, big-knuckled hands and fair hair. Jody's family was one of the richest in the city; at 14 he was not a fool, but he was a poor scholar, and there was something queer about his shrewd remarks and his idiotic giggle.

The only other boy at school, except Georgie Venables and the two very small Wilson boys, was Tommy Small, Eda's twin. Eda was twice the size of Tommy and twice as smart, but they were twins.

Mabel and Hally Gunther were very rich and lived in a mansion on Nob Hill; Belle McDonald's mother often came for her in a large carriage drawn by brown horses and driven by a black coachman.

But the four Allicotts — Jessie, Elsie, Ramona and Charlotte — were poor nieces of Miss Marchand; they did their own work; they did not have a servant girl. Ramona and Charlotte wore their older sisters' clothes sometimes.

Flo hated school; most of the children did. Occasionally Lily became interested for a few minutes in what she was asked to study; geography or a problem in arithmetic. Flo was never interested. She was bored or she was less bored; she was getting into trouble, was in trouble or was getting out of trouble in every school hour. Yesterday's lesson had vanished with the Stone Age long before she began breaking pencils, yawning, bringing her drowsy eyes to today's.

The curriculum included singing, arithmetic, sacred and profane history, geography, handwriting, composition, astronomy, spelling and French. They had French with Miss Marchand's father — an old soldier from Lyons — as well as astronomy, globes and history.

Those subjects were handled in the dining room, while old Mrs. Marchand was cooking delicious lunches in the adjoining kitchen— fried onions and bacon and bread — and while the smaller children were shrilling like a morning aviary in the sunshiny yard. Miss Lloyd, a frightened little dependent cousin, helped with all the classes.

They played games walking to and from school — ten long hilly blocks. Lily and George and Flo and Clare Fritz hid from each other in areas and doorways and down narrow alleys. There was an Italian fruit man from whom they sometimes begged apples or wilted tomatoes or grapes; there was a lean young fellow who curried odorous horses in a damp, dim stable.

This young man once gave them a nickel; once caught Florence and kissed her violently; she jerked away, annoyed, unstirred. But she did not tell her mother about it.

"What do you children do on the way home from school?"

"Just walk, Mama. And talk."

"You don't ever talk to any strangers?"

"No, ma'am." To friends all along the route; there were no strangers in their cosmography.

Willie sent them to the school, which was comparatively expensive, because of the connection with the Cox families. These were all rich and prominent people.

It must have been summertime, for the streets and gardens were dry and dusty, and there was a long, slow-sweeping wind every afternoon that drove chaff and papers along the curbs and whirled them into empty lots.

It was a long vacation. Lily and Flo made happy plans every morning before they got up; there were so many things to do all day. They could build houses with packing boxes in the back yard during the soft foggy mornings, have the Allicotts or Mabel and Hally Gunther in the play dolls' house after lunch, or else go to Mabel and Hally's, which was great excitement.

"RED DEAN" FINDS ANOTHER THORN IN HIS PATH

Technically Detained by Immigration Authorities on Arrival in Canada

Montreal, Nov. 4 (CP)—Dr Hewlett Johnson, "Red Dean" of Canterbury, laughed off reports today that he had been temporarily detained by immigration authorities on his arrival in Canada Wednesday night and got ready to leave for Toronto on a Canadian speaking tour.

Both immigration authorities and the dean, noted for his pro-Russian views, denied that he had been detained on his arrival at nearby Dorval airport.

The dean told newspaper men at immigration headquarters this morning that he was free to travel in Canada and then launched into one of his favorite subjects—the freedom of religion in Russia.

"There was a new immigration man on the job at the airport Wednesday night," Dr. Johnson said, "and he was suspicious about newspaper reports preceding my arrival. I told him that if it would make things easier for him I would come down here in the morning. I have been very courteously treated by all concerned."

J. A. Langlais, inspector-in-charge of immigration officer there, also said there had been no quetion of detention in the dean's case.

"I merely looked at his passport," Mr. Langlais said, "I didn't even question his concerning his views. It's just routine when we want more information. It could have been done at the airport Wednesday night but the dean was staying in Montreal for the night so we just asked him to come down here this morning."

Free to Travel

Mr. Langlais said Mr. Johnson being a British subject, is free to travel in Canada and immigration authorities had no file on him.

"All we knew about his coming," the official said, "was what we read in the newspapers.

After an interview with the inspector-in-charge, which Mr Langlais said took "only two minutes," the dean walked into a waiting room to chat with newspaper men who had been waiting for him.

He said he expected to leave by air for Toronto at noon and then go on to Hamilton here he is to be guest of ohnor at a civic reception.

Dr. Johnson's tour, sponsored by the Toronto Peace Council will take him to central Canadian cities and into the United States.

The announcement of the 73-year-old clergyman's visit to Canada touched off a series of varying comments across the country. The Toronto Peace Council is backing his preesnt lecture series.

Although the primate of the Church of England in Canada, Most Rev. George F. Kingston of Halifax said recently the Dean "was on his own," a small group of Anglican clergymen were on hand to greet Dr. Johnson.

Asked the nature of his visit to Canada, Dr. Johnson said: "I am here to preach the gospel of general peace and understanding. What could be a more Christian belief?"

In reply to a question whether he meant to better relations between the western democracies and Russia, he said he did not single out the U.S.S.R. for special mention.

"I mean a better understanding between all countries and all peoples."

Dr. Johnson is scheduled to make his first U. S. speech Nov. 12. He said he will visit the United States under the auspices of a group of prominent citizens headed by Professor Barton Perry of Harvard University.

British Consulate Being Closed

Fort Erie, Nov. 4 (CP) — The British Consulate in Buffalo which has been in operation for many years, first as vice-consulate, is being closed Dec. 31, Sir Angus Fletcher, well-known British diplomat in charge today announced "with regret."

The reason for discontinuing the office is "because of the urgent need to conserve dollar exchange." At the same time Sir Angus, who has headed the consulate since it was stepped up in 1943 from a vice-consulate, announced he is retiring from the British Foreign Service, and will go to Easthampton, Long Island, N.Y. to live at his summer home.

Lord Ashfield Dies in London, Began Work in Office at $5 Week, Became Head of London Transport

London, Nov. 4 — (Reuters) — Lord Ashfield, 74, who started work as a $5-a-week office boy in Detroit and became chief of London's huge transport system at £12,500 ($50,000) a year, died here today.

He had an operation a few days ago.

As Albert Stanley he went to Detroit in 1886 when his parents emigrated from Britain.

At 14 he began work with the Detroit Tramway Company at $5 a week. Within six years he was manager of the system, earning $4,000 a year.

In 1907, when the company operating London's first underground railway was in difficulties, Stanley went to London for a year to advise. He never returned to the United States.

He was soon appointed general manager of the United Electric Railways, of which he was afterwards chairman.

After three years in the House of Commons as president of the board of trade during the First World War, he was raised to the peerage as Lord Ashfield in 1920.

He returned to his transport work and when, in 1933, London bus, tram and rail services were unified under the London Passenger Transport Board, Lord Ashfield became chairman.

He held the post until a year ago when he resigned to become a member of the new State Transport Commission.

At one time he was director of 23 companies.

Heavy Fog May Have Endangered Duck Migrations

Quebec, Nov. 4. (CP)—Quebec fish and game officials said today that last week's fog which immobilized many ships in the St. Lawrence river may have endangered indirectly hundreds of migrating ducks now on their way south for the Winter.

The officials said they are investigating reports that unknown numbers of ducks were caught in St. Lawrence shore water left oily by the bilge pumps of fog-bound ships.

Reports to the department indicated that many ducks caught in the sticky water were killed on river shores by people from nearby localities who were able to get at the trapped birds with sticks.

Department officers will visit some of the areas from which the reports have come.

It was also learned that Royal Canadian Mounted Police, acting for federal authorities responsible for the protection of migratory birds, are also investigating.

200 Gypsies Quit Halifax Singing Don't Fence Me In

Halifax, Nov. 4 (CP)—Two hundred gypsies left Halifax Wednesday for "the open spaces" singing "Don't Fence Me In" in mockery of city police who, they claimed, "are out to make it hot for us."

By handcart and automobile, they departed less than an hour after one of them, dark-eyed Annie Demitro, pleaded guilty to a theft charge in police court. She was released on $500 bail and is to appear for sentence Wednesday.

Annie was arrested after an Estonian seaman, Robert Tolli, said she had stolen $12 from him while they embraced.

The girl, who gave her age first at 18, then changed it to 15, was believed to have left with the gypsies. Her case has been before two magistrates and a judge in two courts. Wednesday when she appeared in court, she not only changed her plea, she changed lawyers.

Charge of Rape Laid Against Arrested Man

The girl, an office stenographer, was on her way home when she was accosted and dragged into an alley between two houses where she was raped.

She later told police of the assault and a description of the wanted man was given Toronto and Welland police. Detectives, posted at the bus terminals, arrested Paulin without a struggle.

WM. DRINKWATER IS DROWNED IN TEST TANK

War Veteran's Body Found in Large Receptacle at Kitchener

Kitchener, Nov. 4 — (CP) — William Drinkwater, 52, of (27 Chalmers Street North) Galt, an employee of the Canada Blower and Forge Company here was found drowned this morning in a test tank on the main floor of the plant.

Drinkwater had been employed on a shift that ended at 11 p.m. Wednesday. His watch, stopped at 9.35 indicated that hour as the time of the fatality.

Discovery of the body in a six-foot deep water tank, used for testing pumps, was made shortly after seven o'clock this morning. Two workmen on the day shift, Frank Ponton and Ross McMillen, noticed it, and telephoned police.

The dead man was pulled from the water by Sgt. Cecil Farnham and Constable Edward Tschirhart. The fire department inhalator was called in but it was soon apparent that life had been extinct for some time.

Drinkwater ,an employee of the plant for 14 years, was familiar with the surroundings. The tank is set in below floor level with a square opening, about three feet across, with a steel girder across the middle of it.

Dr. L. L. Lang, coroner, was called to the scene.

The deceased man was a veteran of the First World War. No decision on the matter of an inquest has been reached.

Lack of Steel Scrap May Cut Production

Chatham, Nov. 4 — (CP) — H. G. Hilton, president of the Steel Company of Canada said Wednesday that there is a definite danger of a steel scrap famine in the future if action is not taken at once to bring in scrap metal lying dormant in the back yards and farm yards of the country.

"We're going after scrap wherever we can find it," he said, "but the time is fast approaching when we must have waste metal that is out of circulation. There is no doubt that we will be hard pressed without it. Maintaining existing quotas is most difficult even today."

Russian Delegate Surprised by Canadian

Paris Nov. 4. (CP)—Byelo-Russia seated next to Canada in the United Nations Political Committee, wishes there was a little more elbow-room.

Usually delegates are discreet about passing notes around the table, byt Byelo-Russia has been open about it. They thought the Canadian delegates couldn't read Russian.

So they were startled when Canadian representative John Holmes said "pardon" in Russian. Their confusion was heightened when Holmes used the same language to ask a Byelo-Russia adviser if his earphones were working.

Holmes learned Russian when he was Canadian Charge D'Affaires.

Montreal, Nov. 4 (CP) — Miss Gwen Arthur, Australian girl enroute to Collingwood for dedication of church windows commemorating the death of two Australian airmen, was uncommunicative on her arrival Wednesday night aboard the Empress of Canada.

"I do not wish to be disturbed," she told newspaper men. "Please leave me alone."

SUSTAINS FATAL INJURIES

Also taken to the hospital as a result of the crash was Earl McDonald who suffered head and face injuries. His condition was reported as being good this morning.

Supervision of Fish Production Suggested as Means to Aid Industry

Departmental control or supervision of production of the better grades of commercial fish, would greatly aid in a consistency of prices for commercial fishermen Herbert McCabe, proprietor of the Bay of Quinte Fisheries said here today.

"Cessation of production when American and Canadian markets are glutted due to heavy runs of certain types of fish, would prevent heavy price fluctuations and the sudden marked drop that has been noticeable in prices of blue pickerel from Lake Erie in blu pickerel from Lake Erie in the past few weeks," he said.

Would Prevent Market Glut

"It would mean that fishermen would be forced to relinquish activities for a few days only as freezing plants in the United States would be cleared by that time. Consequently, there would be no sudden decline in prices and both fishermen and buyer would benefit."

Blue pickerel fishermen of Lake Erie are protesting against the present prices of blue pickerel which have dropped to as low as 4½ cents the pound. Fishermen in that area have asked for a meeting of their organizations representatives with Ontario and Federal officials in an effort to secure better returns for their fish.

According to Mr. McCabe the blue pickerel run in Lake Erie has been exceptionally heavy, and as a result Buffalo, Detroit, and New York City markets, main outlets for the fish have been glutted. Perch and ciscoes runs are also heavy.

"Blue pickerel is not a native of waters in this district, although an occasional specimen has been caught here," Mr. McCabe said.

Glutting of American markets by the cheaper grades of fish is expected to have an effect on prices of white fish caught in this area. Buyers in the United States are watching prices carefully and are issuing bulletins daily to commercial fishermen here.

Fish Runs Late Here

Whitefish and cisco runs here are behind schedule due to calm weather and lack of wind.

At the present time whitefish prices are quoted at 30 cents the pound; bullheads, 18 cents the pound and mullets, sunfish and other panfish at twelve cents These prices, however, may pare off, if the present glut on the market continues.

The above price compare favorably with those of last year, but fishermen state that with the cost of nets and other fishing equipment tripled over the past few years, better prices must prevail if their business is to be a success.

Publisher Finds Food, Services Better in Britain

London, Nov. 4 (CP)—Victor Sifton, Winnipeg newspaper publisher and President of The Canadian Press, making his first visit to London since 1945, said today considerable improvement in food and services in Britain has taken place in those three years.

"The diet is monotonous but the smaller restaurants have supplies which they certainly did not have in 1945," he said in an interview. "There are other improvements—it took three weeks to get our laundry done then, now you can get it in three days."

Sifton said he was "surprised" by the amount of tidying up and repairs of bomb damage which has taken place in London.

Two Hotels Burn

Ottawa, Nov. 4 (CP)—Two Jewish-owned hotels were burned down Wednesday night at Carlsbad Springs, Ont., and the owner of one said today anti-semitism had been responsible. Carlsbad Springs is 10 miles southeast of Ottawa.

Meanwhile, Provincial Police were investigating a report that an unidentified "tramp" had been seen loitering near the adjoining buildings—the Tenebaum and Epstein hotels—before the start of the $65,00 fire.

The blaze came about a fortnight after a Jewish cemetery in suburban Ottawa had been despoiled by vandals who destroyed and overturned headstones.

Cartoonists Try To Make it Up To Truman

New York, Nov. 4 — (CP)—Cartoonists have been having a lot of fun in recent weeks poking fun at President Harry Truman and his chances of winning the election.

Since the election they have been trying to make it up to him and Rube Goldberg in the Sun did it Wednesday in the simplest and most effective way.

C. D. Batchelor in the Daily News pictured Truman as a happy-faced jumping Jack springing from a box marked "Nov. 2" and shouting "Surprise! Surprise!"

Parker, in the Mirror, pictured Truman leaning on his ax by a pile of logs labelled "The political polls" and the cartoon was captioned "Show me!"

Cause of the accident has not been determined.

Berlin, Nov. 4 (Reuters) — The Berlin air lift this morning suffered its third setback this week when adverse weather conditions in western Germany affected the flow of airplanes in all three Allied air corridors.

At American controlled Tempelhof Airport the traffic was also reduced.

Will Not Seek White House Term Again Says Dewey

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey indicated yesterday his second defeat for the presidency may well be his swan song in politics.

Less than two hours after he conceded he had lost to President Truman, he told a press conference he would not run for the White House again.

He added that he had no plans to seek a third term as New York's Governor.

But the 46-year-old Republican presidential candidate labelled as "pure fiction" reports he would quit as governor before his term ends, Dec. 31, 1950.

Dewey signalled the end of one of the country's most amazing presidential election scrambles when he sent a telegram of congratulations to Truman at 11:15 a. m., EST.

Knew of Defeat

The governor said at the press conference that he realized he was beaten after he awoke from a two-hour nap Wed. morning. The Illinois and Ohio returns convinced him, he explained.

He added that he conferred by telephone with his running mate, Governor Earl Warren of California, before wiring Truman.

The smiling Dewey was well groomed and showed no weariness as he strode into a mezzanine room of the Roosevelt Hotel, where he has an apartment, for the press conference. His voice was strong and he displayed no emotion.

He was applauded by the assembled 150 reporters, many of whom had travelled 16,000 miles with him in the last two months on his campaign tours.

"What happened?" was the first question.

"I was just as surprised as you are, and I gather that is shared by everybody in the room," the governor answered.

He declined to second-guess his campaign strategy, declaring he and Warren agreed they had waged a "clean and constructive campaign."

"I have no regrets whatsoever," he asserted.

Dewey also would not comment on the role of labor in his defeat.

"It's impossible to tell until you know more about the particular picture," he said. "Particularly when you take Wisconsin and Iowa going contrary to the opinions of everyone."

The governor said he thought "most earnestly" it was necessary that the bipartisan foreign policy be continued. He has claimed that he inaugurated this policy in 1944.

In Troubled Times

"We are in very troubled times and this past weekend was one of the blackest weekends for the free world that we have seen," he declared. He did not amplify this.

Asked for comment on the future of political polls, most of which strongly predicted his election, Dewey laughed and said: "I don't like to comment on anybody else's misfortune."

Dewey left for Albany on the 5 o'clock train. He said he was going to catch up on sleep.

ASKS DELETION OF REFERENCES TO SANCTIONS

U.S. Takes Step On U.K.-Chinese Proposal

Paris, Nov. 4 (AP)—The United States asked the United Nations Security Council today to delete references to sanctions from a British-Chinese Palestine proposal directed mainly at Israel.

The resolution, introduced Oct. 28, provided for economic and political sanctions to enforce peace in the Holy Land. Shortly after it was presented, a reliable informant said the United States would back it. Later, however, other informants said President Truman had intervened to change the American delegation's position.

The proposal was referred to a Security Council subcommittee, a step some sources said was intended to get the question out of the way until after the United States elections.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup of the United States delegation proposed today an amendment enabling the council to consider action under chapter seven of the charter. That chapter sets out what action the council might take "in respect to threats to the peace, breaches of the peace and acts of aggression."

Would Soften Resolution

While an article specifying sanctions is part of chapter seven, observers quickly said that deletion of a direct reference to sanctions softened the resolution.

The British-Chinese resolution calls upon Israeli and Egyptian troops to resume positions occupied Oct. 14, the day a short but sharp campaign started in the south. This would mean a Jewish retreat in the Negev and an Egyptian advance.

The resolution provides that if either side disobeys, the council could set up a five-member committee to consider use of economic and political pressure. Sanctions could man a trade boycott on the offender and a withdrawal of diplomatic recognition.

Jessup said the United States would support the Anglo-Chinese resolution with the suggested changes.

Jessup also suggested that the committee should advise the acting mediator, Dr. Ralph Bunche, in carrying out the resolution. The committee would not study what measures would be taken under chapter seven unless Israel or Egypt fails to comply with the resolution.

"We believe it essential to continue the truce until arrangements can be made to replace the truce by a more permanent peaceful settlement," Jessup said.

Labor Board Resumes Hearing On Trenton Plant

Toronto, Nov. 4 (CP)—Hearing of an application by the Amalgamated Silverworkers' Union (A. F. L.) to prosecute H. J. Craddock, president of the Benedict Proctor Co., Trenton, for unfair labor practices, was resumed here Wednesday before the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

Witnesses last week said that a suggestion had been advanced that the union buy the company to keep the plant in operation after they had been told it would be forced to close because it was losing money.

The employees accepted a five-per-cent wage cut and made other concessions to keep the plant in operation, but there was disagreement between the management and the employees on labor relations.

William McCall, a member of the union's negotiating committee, spoke Wednesday of a promise of sale made by Craddock to Russell Harvey, Union organizer and a member of the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

He said Craddock later was not interested in the sale because he had never received anything in writing. Craddock had indicated he would not sell to the former owner of the plant "for personal reasons."

KILLED WALKING IN PATH OF CAR

Brantford, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Mrs. Isabella Fisher, elderly Brantford resident, was killed Wednesday night in a traffic accident. Police said she stepped into the path of an automobile driven by Robert Allen of Brantford.

Police Association Probes Dismissal

Kitchener, Nov. 4 — (CP) — The executive of the Ontario Police Association Wednesday decided to investigate the dismissal of Chief Constable Arthur Baker of Chesterville.

Chief Baker was dismissed Nov. 1, and the O.P.A. claims there was no apparent cause for him losing his job.

Facts of the case were presented by the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Police Association.

The meeting was informed that dismissal of Chief Baker followed his laying traffic charges against two councillors of Chesterville.

Baker claims that after the first charge had been made and upheld he was warned that if it occurred again he would be fired. His dismissal followed a successful prosecution of a second councillor.

In the resultant controversy Magistrate D. C. Smith of Smiths Falls wrote a lengthy letter to the district press supporting Chief Baker.

St. Lawrence Schooner Men Have Found Business Good This Year

By PIERRE DUBOIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, Nov. 4 (CP) — The chill, grey portents of a new winter now show on the St. Lawrence River and, if you would take the word of Joseph A. Deschamps, this, for the river schooner has been a good year.

Joe, grey-headed and with 31 years in the river schooner trade, is a man who represents a segment of Canada found only in Quebec—the St. Lawrence River schooner men.

Today Joe estimated the value of the business of the schooners on the River St. Lawrence at more than $3,500,000 this year. And you have only to talk to old Joe to see that these schooner men are a race apart.

For seven months a year it's upriver with lumber, down-river with freight but life never becomes humdrum for these sailors who man a fleet of 126 home-made schooners. The majority have Quebec as their home port.

It's a business that might net an owner as much as $25,000 a season covering both shores of the river, including many ports not served by rail. Among these are the small harbors extending from Baie Comeau to Havre St. Pierre on the north shore.

About 72 of the sturdy little craft have a tonnage of 150 or more with a loading capacity of about 400 tons. All are motor driven. The odd one carries a gybe or a piece of old sail as a reminder of the schooner-sailing days of yore.

Crews range from six to 10 men a schooner. All are French-speaking Canadians bitten early in life by the sea bug, or sons of seafaring fathers. Many present-day owners are carrying on a business started by their grandfathers.

The season usually starts about April 10 and ends Nov. 25.

Not all the fleet ties up for the off-season. Some schooners engage in seal-hunting in the Atlantic north of Labrador. Others go to South America where they may be charted to carry rum, lumber or fruit.

Peter Powless Given Four Years For Manslaughter

Toronto, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Peter Powless, 66-year-old self-styled Indian chief, will serve four years in penitentiary following his conviction on a reduced charge of manslaughter in the drinking-party death of Mrs. Gwendolyn Pine.

The body of Mrs. Pine, 35-year-old friend of the accused, was found July 30 in Powless' downtown room after what witnesses at the murder trial described as a five-day spree. The woman was badly beaten.

Following Wednesday's manslaughter verdict, Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow told the jury he could not see any other possible conclusion. He said the four-year sentence was imposed in consideration of the defendant's age.

In his charge to the jury, Mr. Justice Barlow had said that if the jury thought Powless was so intoxicated as to be unaware of the consequences of his act, "that rules out murder and reduces it to manslaughter."

Entitled to Justice

Defence Counsel Norman Lickers, summing up, asked the jury not to take into account that the dead woman was white and the accused an Indian. The accused was entitled to the same measure of justice as any other individual.

Crown Counsel W. O .Gibson told the jury Mrs. Pine had died of a severe brain haemorrhage which could only have been caused by violence of some sort.

"Only one person — the accused — knows what happened to her," he said.

Police charged Powless beat Mrs. Pine unmercifully. He is believed to have slept in the same bedroom afterward, unaware that the woman was dead.

Police said they believed that Mrs. Pine became jealous of attentions Powless was paying to another woman and that a quarrel followed.

CBC Board Defers Applications For Television

Ottawa, Nov. 4 — (CP) — The CBC Board of Governors disclosed Wednesday that recommendations on applications for television broadcasting stations in Canada have been deferred pending study of the possibility of developing the new radio medium on a co-operative basis.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the board, said that broadcasters and manufacturers will be sounded out on the possibility of their joining the CBC initial television projects. He said it might be three of four months ebfore a decision on the matter is reached. But he believed that television will be introduced in Canada within the next two years.

Mr. Dunton recalled that Corey Thomson, manager of CKVL in Verdun, had suggested at the board's public meetings last week that television be developed on a co-operative basis. Mr. Thomson suggested that the CBC establish an English and a French-language station in Montreal and an English-language station in Toronto.

CBC Pay Part of Expenses

The stations, said Mr. Thomson, could be erected partly at the expense of those private stations which were interested in developing television. Time on the air would be shared by the CBC and the private stations. After the stations had been operated for three years, the CBC Board of Governors could then begin allocating the limited number of television frequencies.

Mr. Dunton said that about a year ago the CBC had sounded out some broadcasters and manufacturers on the possibility of a co-operative development of television. Those contacted had shown little interest in the idea at the time, but now there were indications that they would be agreeable to the co-operative plan.

Introduction of television anywhere was costly, but it would be more so in Canada where a small population was spread over a vast area. The CBC now had no funds for the development of television, but he intimated that the corporation will ask the government for a loan that will be repaid out of licence fees and revenue from commercial advertising on television broadcasts.

Licence Fee Set

He believed that the licence fee for television sets might be fixed at $10 a year. This charge would be over and above the $2.50 a year now charged for radio receiving sets.

Besides dealing with television, Mr. Dunton released the board's recommendations on other applications filed at the public meetings. The board turned thumbs down on Toronto and Montreal applications to establish stations that would broadcast mainly for audiences in street cars and buses.

The applications for the television licences came from four existing stations in Toronto and Montreal and from two Toronto firms.

Mr. Dunton said the board was impressed with the Famous Players plans for programming. He said the firm had estimated it would spend $1,000,000 a year on television and that it might spend as much as $2,000,000 before getting any returns.

But the board also took cognizance of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters request that available television frequencies be allotted to existing radio stations rather than to firms not now in the radio business.

QUEEN ELIZABETH HAS ATTACK OF INFLUENZA

London, Nov. 4 — (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth today cancelled her engagements because of an attack of influenza, it was announced at Buckingham Palace.

The Queen is remaining in her rooms at the palace for the present.

Hospital Rates In Ontario Due For Another Rise

Toronto, Nov. 4 (CP)—Hospital rates in Ontario are due for another increase says A. F. Moffatt of Ottawa, a member of the Ontario Hospital Association's accounting section.

He told Wednesday's closing session of the association's annual convention that, since Jan. 1 hospital costs have climbed 16 per cent. And they are still headed upwards.

O. G. Smith, association consulting accountant, pinned the cost increases on a general rise in prices—and hospitals cannot go on buying strikes to force prices down." He said operating-room revenue is not sufficient to cover expenses and patients soon may have to pay more for that service.

The question of including student nurses in the workmen's compensation scheme, compulsory to other hospital workers, was discussed by Arthur J. Swanson sueprintendent of Toronto Western Hospital. He said inclusion of students would considerably increase costs to all participants.

Cost Would be High

Dr. W. Douglas Piercey, superintendent of Ottawa Civic Hospital, said it would cost large hospitals $10,000 a year to comply with new anti-tuberculosis regulations. Among other things, all workers must be given X-ray chest examinations when they enter and leave hospital employment.

Health Minister Kelley said the hospital at Pembroke had found a way to meet costs of giving patients a chest X-ray upon admission. It charges the patients a $1 fee for that service.

He also suggested that hospitals arrange to make chest examinations of employees of business firms in their communities at nominal cost. This would help pay for the X-ray equipment.

The minister also said that a plan for establishment of an institution in Toronto to treat alcoholics on a cost basis is to be presented to the Ontario cabinet in the near future.

Williams Beats Former Boss For Governor

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 4. (AP) —Tall and boyish, G. Mennen Williams, 37, who six months ago was a minor state official, Wednesday was elected Democratic Governor of Michigan.

He defeated his former boss, Governor Kim Sigler, by about 150,000 votes.

Williams, heir to a shave-cream fortune, once was named to the State Liquor Commission by Sigler but resigned several months ago to campaign for the governorship.

The Democrats, backed by Labor, score a smashing success as they all but swept Sigler's ticket out of the state capital. Only Fred Alger, secretary of State, appeared in a position to sidestep the free-swinging, house-cleaning Democratic broom.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey fought to the last ballot box before he apparently edged out President Truman for Michigan's 19 electoral votes.

The Democrats took at least two seats held by Republicans in the 80th Congress. They made sizable gains in the Republican State Legislature, but not nearly enough to give Williams the working majority that a governor likes.

WAR BRIDE ON TRIAL

—Central Press Canadian

Mrs. Jean McAllister, golden-haired Scottish war bride charged with the pistol murder of her husband, John McAllister, a navy veteran, is on trial for her life in Lindsay, Ont. War brides of the district have rallied to her support and her mother, Mrs. Emily McInerney, flew from her home in Scotland to be wth her daughter. The accused was found wandering away from her home, barefoot and hysterical, when taken in custody on the night of Sept. 5, after the alleged shooting.

U.S. Navy Veteran Leads Simple Life

Thorold, Ont. — (CP) — In the spring of 1946, Emil Zimmerman, 26 lay in a United States Naval Hospital. He had been there for eight months and doctors told him he would never be completely well again.

Today, tanned and 186 pounds in weight, Zimmerman says his health is proof that man should live as nature intended—with the earth, in the sun and the air, free of the bonds of civilization.

Zimmerman, who visited friends here, is on his way to Mexico and South America.

The young man wears as few clothes as possible and wears shoes only walking on pavement. His hair, reaching to his shoulders is kept long as protection against the sun.

When Emil left the naval hospital he decided to take up flying as a career and went to Detroit. But flying lessons cost money and he took a part-time job in a restaurant. His room cost $7 a week and there was little left for food.

Read Body-Building Books

He began to read books on body building and began experimenting with food. His first diet consisted of whole wheat bread and honey, then he added fresh fruit vegetables, nuts and herbs.

He fashions his philosopy from a dedication to love of God and man, and holds that "security can ccome only from within.

"If we are healthy, if we are complete and secure within, then we will radiate life and life is the only thing which is positive. Birth and death are negative. Life is positive and eternal."

For those interestedin following his philosophy, Zimmeran suggest a gradual conversion, beginning with a concentration on food and surroundings.

Asked if he intended to set down his beliefs in book form he said, "Why put theories into words when they could be put into life?" He also declines consideration of the public appearances — "I have no use for money because you can't buy happiness, contentment or health.

Modern Angels Play Cellos not Harps

Vancouver, —(CP)— Four 20th century, angles playing cellos. flutes and bugles instead of the traditional harp, adorn the chancel of St. Andrew's-Wesley Church here.

Their creator, sculptor Leonard A. Woods, who claims there is room "for more joy in religion," justifies their instruments by a passage from Psalm 150.

"Praise ye the Lord . . with the sound of the trumpet . . with the timbrel and dance . . with stringed instruments and organs . . with loud symbals . ."

The Angles have been acclaimed by Charles N. Scott director of the Art School. He says they preach the deep past as well as the eternally progressive life.

Family-Owned Mines Continue Work as Usual

Estevan, Sask., Nov. 4 (CP)—It was business as usual today for family and partnership enterprise in this Southeastern Saskatchewan coal field despite a strike of more than 200 members of the United Mine Workers of America (C.I.O. for higher wages.

The organized miners struck Wednesday. They had asked the operators for a 20-cents-an-hour wage boost from the basic pay of 92 cents and retention of the 40-hour week. The operators offered a wage increase of 10 cents an hour and a 44-hour week.

So the U.M.W.A. men went out. Ralph Blondeau, his father and three brothers, Sigurd Zetland and Ed Tagd were too busy to watch them go. The Blondeaus and the others work mines southwest of here.

The Blondeaus work the former used for blasting. The mine may produce 25 tons daily, trucked into Estevan.

Betland and Tage work the bridge mine by the same method. A third family is stripping the mine owned by George Bourquin in the valley south of Estevan. All three properties were working Wednesday. None is unionized.

The largest produced in the Estevan-Bienfait field was un- leave Bienfait for the Alberta Field, where a shortage is reported. A briquetting plant at Bienfait reported it had 32 cars of coal on hand, capable of producing about 672 tons of briquettes.

English Catholic Teachers Convene

The annual meeting of District No. 4, O.E.C.T.A., held in the auditorium of St. Carthagh's School, Tweed, recently was well attended.

Group meetings of religious and lay teachers preceded the regular session.

Very Rev. Dean Garvin opened the convention with prayer, after which he welcomed the teachers and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many enthusiastic teachers gathered together.

The President, Rev. Sister Mary Chrysostum, spoke on the teaching of citizenship in schools. Sister stressed the importance of teaching pupils the fundamentals of democracy. A class must be a co-operative group, capable of self-control and self-direction. Actual municipal practices in the class room as an aid to later interest in adult administration were advocated.

The minutes of the last district meeting were read by the Secretary, Miss Helen Rush and approved by the meeting.

The assembled teachers were privileged to have as their guest speaker, Professor Diltz, B.A., B. Paed., who is professor of English in the Ontario College of Education. His address "The Teacher of English in His Teaching", held forth to the teacher, the importance, and the necessity of an education which is grounded on the principles of Christianity. In the present day when we have come to realize that all countries are truly neighbors, the Christian faith, which teaches us to forget ourselves for the good of others, has the only firm foundation on which to build.

An interlude of music was thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. John Marchen, accompanied by Mr. Dean Whalen, sang "The Rosary" and "Volga Boatmen". "The Orchestra" was sung by the pupils of St. Carthagh's School.

Rev. B. J. Walsh spoke on the teaching of religion in the schools. He stated that the principles of good teaching as applied to any other subject, should be used in the teaching of religion. The child should be led to see from his past experiences, from suggestion, and from the experiences of others, the necessity of doing right in all things.

Social Studies

Rev. Sister Mary Domitilla gave a most interesting talk on Social Studies. Sister stressed the importance of teaching Geography thoroughly if the children are to appreciate the people whom they meet in the history part of Social Studies.

Rev. Sister M. Philip commented on the Basic Grammar, by Mr. A. W. McGuire, Inspector of Public School for Centre Hastings. Sister outlined a number of points she particularly liked about his book and expressed a sincere wish that Mr. McGuire would have many years to enjoy the fruits of his labor in preparing such a valuable aid to teachers of Grammar.

History of Culture

Rev. Sister Mary Theresa took the teachers in retrospect, on a most delightful and inspiring trip to the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. Sister told of the history, the culture, and the beauty of that centre of Catholic Education so charmingly transplanted from the Old World to the New.

Rev. Sister Mary Lenore gave a brief but comprehensive report on the Easter conference of the O.E.C.T.A., in Toronto, reviewing the highlights of the meeting.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the girls of St. Carthagh's school under the direction of Rev. Sister Mary Anita. Mrs. Anthony Quinn and Mrs. Wilfred LeSage poured tea.

After a novel and lively sing-song, conducted by Mr. J. Marchen, the National Anthem was sung by all.

The Nominating Committee returned the following slate of officers—

President, Rev. Sister M. Domitilla, (Picton).

Vice President, Rev. Sister M. Theresa, (Belleville).

Councillors, Mr. G. Shannon, Miss M. Neville, Miss M. McAuliffe.

Secretary, Mrs. Jos. Allore.

Baptist Young Adult Fellowship Group Meets

On Tuesday evening of this week the regular monthly meeting of the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church Young Adult Fellowship was held in the church parlors and a good attendance was registered.

After a bountiful pot luck supper was enjoyed by the group, a very helpful and interesting program of singing and music was heard.

The singing of Negro spirituals as a sing-song with all the group taking part was much enjoyed. During the program, Len Flake sang two very fine solos "Just A-Wearin' For You" and "Goin' Home". Shirley Reynolds played a lovely piano solo "Consecration".

Helen Hales was in charge of the devotional part of the evening. Bill Hales offered prayer.

The highlight of the evening was a very interesting address by Mr. Gordon Davis, ex-mayor of the City of Oshawa and now of Trenton.

Mr. Davis stated during his remarks that all should be proud in having the privilege of living in a country such as Canada. He pointed out that it was not only fortunate to live in a country where freedom is practised, but it was essential to follow the example of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. "If this is our goal, we need have no fear of the future," stated the speaker.

Eric Naylor, the president of the Fellowship, thanked the speaker, and also welcomed to the gathering, Mrs. Davis.

The ladies of the organization were in charge of the refreshments.

The gathering closed by the group singing "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds", all agreeing that a very happy and inspiring evening had been enjoyed.

Rev. H. O. Eastman closed the gathering in prayer.

New Turkey Suits Small U.S. Family

By ROBERT GEIGER

Washington (AP)—The United States government reports success this year in its campaign to reduce the number of cold turkey sandwiches Americans will have to eat during the Christmas holidays.

It's apartment-size turkey, called the Beltsville Bird or the Small White Turkey, is on the market in larger quantities, although the turkey crop as a whole is the smallest in ten years.

It took about ten years to develop the bird to fit the smaller ovens of the smaller modern family.

Its average live weight is less than 10 pounds, compared with about 20 for a Broad-Breasted Bronze turkey. Ready for the oven, the Beltsville turkey weighs less than eight pounds on the average.

Government turkey experts began talking about developing a breed of small turkeys almost 20 years ago.

Experiments Begin

In 1934 the experiments started at Beltsville, MD., where there is a big government agricultural station.

The turkey scientists worked with five breeds, including wild turkeys. They finally come up with a satisfactory model in 1940. It has some of all five breeds in it. Now the birds are being produced in commercial quantities.

The 1948 model apartment turkey is white so that its pin feathers aren't as noticeable. This makes it more attractive in the butcher's showcase.

It has a comparatively broad breast, which means more white meat. And it has comparatively short, plump legs— which means better drumsticks.

Trousseau Tea

Mrs. F. J. Savage, Boswell St., entertained at a trousseau tea on October 27, afternoon and evening in honor of her daughter, Rita, bride-elect of October 30.

The tea table was charming with its lace cloth, silver candelabra, and silver basket filled with yellow baby 'mums.

Those who poured tea were—Mrs. Thomas Dall, Mrs. Harold Quincey, Mrs. William Smith, and Mrs. Floyd Clare, while Miss Shirley Hill and Mrs. Thomas Hay acted as junior hostesses. Those who assisted with refreshments were Mrs. L. Reynolds and Miss Betty Reynolds.

The trousseau display was supervised by Miss Doreen Savage, and that of the gifts, by Mrs.

Compositions in Good Eating

Salads have come through many stages since they were merely salted greens, used only by the very poor, because of their low cost. Salads now are made with meat, eggs, fish, cheese, beans, raw and cooked fruits and vegetables and sometimes even cereals.

A salad may be used as an appetizer at the beginning of the meal or between courses. It may be the main course or a dessert, depending on the ingredients. As cool weather comes along the idea of salad, crisp, cool and green, may not appeal but there are others suitable for winter meals.

A salad should be included in every day's menu, but the kind of salad to be used at any one meal should be in relation to the other foods on the menu. With a heavy main course, use a fresh vegetable or fruit salad. It may be served with a simple dressing or perhaps set in a piquant jelly. A hearty salad is best for the main course. Meat, beans, eggs or fish make a good foundation food with vegetables added. For dessert, raw or cooked fruit salads mak ea picture with blending of color, texture and flavor. With this, the dressing may be tart mayonnaise or sweet and rich with cream.

From Canada's Kitchen, where the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, do their experimental work, we have several good recipes for salads.

NHL All-Stars Trim Champion Toronto Maple Leafs for Second Straight Year by Score of 3-1

By JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Nov. 4 — (AP) Practice may make perfect, but you can't tell that to the National Hockey League All-stars, who Wednesday night trimmed the champion Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-1, for the second straight year.

Just as they did in winning the All-star inaugural, 4-3, at Toronto last year, the Stars took the Chicago Stadium ice without any preliminary drill and out-scored and out-manoeuvred the Stanley Cup champions before 15,781 fans

All the scoring was packed in the second period in which the All-stars took a 2-0 lead, allowed the Leafs to nudge in their only tally on Max Bentley's payoff shot, and then added their third marker 28 seconds before the period ended.

Two-thirds of the estimated $27,000 gate went to the league's player pension fund for which the All-star game is played.

Teams Booed

The first period was so lackadaisical the near-capacity crowd booed the teams as they left for the intermission.

But the second period was only 1:35 old when Detroit's Ted Lindsay rammed home the first All-star tally. A bristling charge by Montreal's Maurice Richard set up the score as Toronto goalie Turk Broda was hustled out of position.

A minute and a half later, Boston's Woody Dumart beat Broda to the draw for the second All-Star marker. Then came Bentley's lone Toronto score which made it 2-1.

With time running out in the second chapter, Chicago's Gaye Stewart poked the puck home with an assist by Chicago's Doug Bentley, brother of Max, and that was the match.

Toronto's goal was the first scored in 60 minutes of All-Star play against goalie Frankie Brimsek of Boston. Brimsek played the first 30 minutes Wednesday night and then yielded to Montreal's Bill Durnan.

Line-ups:

All-Stars — Goal, Brimsek — (Boston); defence, Quackenbush, (Detroit); J. Stewart (Detroit); centre, Lach (Montreal); wings, Richard (Montreal), Lindsay (Detroit); subs, Durnan (Montreal), Bouchard (Montreal), Colville (New York), D. Bentley (Chicago), Laprade (New York), Howe (Detroit), G. Stewart (Chicago), Dumart (Boston), Schmidt (Boston), Reardon (Montreal), Leswick (New York), Poile (Detroit)

Toronto — goal, Broda; defence Mortson, Thomson; centre, Kennedy; wings, Meeker, Lynn; subs, Watson, Boesch, M. Bentley, Klukay, Ezinicki, Costello, Mackell, Gardner, Juzda, Barilko, Mathers.

Officials — Referee, Bill Chadwick; linesmen, Sammy Babcock and Mush March.

Top U.S. Tracks See Wager Drops May Trim Purses

New York — (AP) — Officials of the nation's race tracks, wrestling with declines in attendance and betting, this winter face the problem of whether or not to trim purse distribution.

Purse outlay in the United States last year was $49,642,555, compared with $45,486,793 in 1946. Figures for 1948 are incomplete but the total is expected to approximate 1947's big handout.

While major racing plants in California and Florida have announced a continuation of their rich stake events for their coming season, officials of most northern tracks have adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

The northern tracks can hold off on such announcements until February or March, at the same time keeping an eye on the turnstiles and mutuel windows of southern plants.

But they can't ignore such figures that showed up after they closed the books of their 1948 meetings.

Betting was off 27 per cent at Havre de Grace in a spring meeting hurt by competition from nearby New Jersey. At Garden State Park in New Jersey, it was down 21 per cent from 1947. Attendance at Havre de Grace was off 24 per cent from 1947; at Garden State it was down 11 per cent.

In New York, Aqueduct betting skidded 21½ per cent for its fall meeting, after taking a 13 per cent drop in the spring. At Belmont, the spring betting decline was 13½ per cent compared with 1947, and 14 4-5 per cent for the October meeting.

New Jersey and New York track officials say nothing has been decided about purses next year. They say they don't usually take up the subject until sometime during the winter.

Slump at Chicago

In Chicago, Arlington and Washington parks reported a 10 per cent slump in betting and a seven per cent drop in attendance this spring.

Pimlico, also hard hit by spring competition from New Jersey, saw a 24 per cent betting drop at its spring meeting.

It is the first major track to announce a slice in stakes offerings. A total of $20,000 was cut from four stakes at the Baltimore Oval for the fall meeting which began Oct. 29. The biggest was a $10,000 reduction from the Wladen stakes, from $25,000 to $15,000. Two other stakes were transferred to Laurel, which also is operated by the Maryland Jockey Club.

A Pimlico spokesman brought up the question of the triple crown classics — the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont. Each has been a $100,000-added affair now for three years.

The Maryland Jockey Club anticipated a possible reduction in the Preakness by "guaranteeing" a minimum of $50,000 for 1949 and 1950.

"But if others of the Big Three, the Derby and Belmont, continue to offer $100,0000, we will undoubtedly go along.

Frankly, he said, Pimlico will be just as pleased if the stake was reduced, because the Preakness was hiked to $100,000 "just because the others did."

SHAW'S MEN'S WEAR

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Local school football teams have hung up the pads and pigskin paraphernalia for the season, it was learned today. "Pete" Beach's Albert College senior squad had another scheduled game with the Oshawa C I but the tilt has been called off due to injuries to members of the Oshawa team. Coach Dave Jamieson of the Motor City stude squad got in touch with Beach, and offered to bring his team down here despite the player handicap. However, "Pete" decided to call it a day and that's that. The game was scheduled to be played at Albert on Saturday next.

• • •

Speaking of football, coaches, captains and another member of high school and collegiate teams in this district are looking forward to the Queen's-Varsity game at Kingston on Saturday. Officials of the Queen's team have issued invitations to the coach, captain and one player of the school squads to be their guests at the big game, and at a luncheon given to the team prior to the tilt. Pete Beach and team captain Johnny Merkley, with a player to be named by other members of the squad will represent Albert College at the game. It was not learned at press time who will represent BCI.

• • •

To all referees and linesmen of the Belleville District Hockey League, namely Don Lee, Belleville; Harry Ingram, Stirling; Bill O'Malley, Trenton; WO Gray and McKenna, RCAF, Trenton; Bill Holway, Belleville and others. Referee-in-chief Speedy St. Louis has called a special meeting of officials on Sunday, Nov. 7 at Memorial Arena here at 1.30 to discuss important matters. Please be on hand at the time mentioned above.

• • •

And out of Napanee comes a generous gesture, that should appeal to players of the Belleville District Hockey League. Manager Tommy Webb of the Napanee Legion squad dropped in the office today and informed us that his firm, the Bell-Moore Clothing Company of Napanee in conjunction with the Stirling Clothing Company, Montreal, have offered the loop a brand new "Marine" overcoat, valued at fifty-five dollars, to be awarded to the most valuable player to his team during the playing schedule. The loop executive gratefully accepted the offer and conveyed the appreciation of the league to the donors. There are no strings attached to the offer and the award will be made by any system the league adopts.

• • •

There are many ways of selecting the "most valuable player". One is by a poll of sportswriters, broadcasters, team managers etc., as was done in the baseball leagues last summer; by the players themselves, or by a popular vote of the fans. The latter idea is in vogue in many hockey centres in Western Ontario and is proving popular. The fan writes the name of the player he considers as having contributed the most valuable service to his team after each game. At the end of the season, naturally, the player getting the most votes wins. However under local circumstances, the league secretary would need more arms than an octopus has tentacles, seventeen adding machines, a couple of Philadelphia lawyers to decode some of the signatures; three tons of aspirin, sufficient money to send the little woman and Junior to Florida for the season, and leave of absence from his bread and butter foundry. Some system will be devised by the executive—and in the meantime suggestions are welcome. Let's have 'em.

• • •

The award of the overcoat will be made at the same time the Ontario Intelligencer Trophy, emblematic of the league championship, is presented to the winners following the last game of the finals series. It is expected that representatives of the firms will be present to assist in the ceremonies.

• • •

The gesture on the part of the Bell-Moore Clothing Company of Napanee and the Stirling Clothing Company, Montreal, is a generous one and indicates the interest of these live-wire organizations in clean competitive sport.

• • •

Tommy Webb also informed us that the Napanee Legionaires will trot out on the ice this season garbed in royal blue and white. The blue will be the body color while the trimmings will be the purity color. Northern Electric will wear a solid red with trimmings while Trenton H. C. will favor the dark colors of a year ago. RCAF Flyers, naturally will wear the traditional light blue and red. So it looks as though white singlets will not be necessary this year. The executive, it is reliably reported will sport steel corselets, fine-wire masks, ear-plugs, four rule books and three dictionaries.

• • •

Practice hours for the Belleville Rocket juniors have been changed tonight, Manager Bill Cook informed this observer today. The youngsters will take the ice at eight o'clock instead of seven. Northern Electric will use the hour between seven and eight o'clock, and no doubt a lot of railbirds will be on hand to look over the new entry, and get a line-up on the line-up. First practices mean little else than giving the boys a chance to skate, get the wrinkles out of summer-locked joints, and to get the feel of the war clubs. It is expected in junior circles that between thirty and forty youngsters will turn out for the inaugural unveiling.

• • •

Here's a baseball story that is giving the boys a quiet chuckle. The famous Ty Cobb took part in the Larry McPhail "Oldtime Yankee-Oldtime American League Stars" game back in 1946. Cobb had not held a bat in his hands for twenty years and, as the story goes, he stepped up to the plate and started to level off in this game. Wally Schang was the catcher.

"Wally," Cobb said, turning to the catcher. "I haven't held one of these things in my hands for twenty years. You had better back up for a few feet or I'm liable to butt you one with the bat when I swing."

Thereupon Schang backed up and Cobb bunted the first pitch down the first-base line, proving again the old saw "once a cad, always a cad."

• • •

Sportsdom in this district extends its sincere sympathy to the relatives of the late Joe Delaney who passed away suddenly in Trenton last night. Joe was a well-known sports enthusiast and supported many phases of athletics in this city. A former well-known lacrosse player, he performed with some of Canada's lacrosse greats in his younger days — and loved to recall those stirring times when the national game was in much greater demand than at the present. A member of the Army, Navy Air Force Veterans in Canada branch here, Joe will be missed by his many friends of that organization. This column in conjunction with a host of friends in sport and veterans' circles, extends its condolences to the bereaved.

Four Splendid Junior Teams In Semi-Finals

(By The Canadian Press)

Four crack junior football teams battle it out in games at Montreal and Sarnia this Saturday to whittle the field down to two for the Eastern Canada final Saturday, Nov. 13.

Hamilton, one of the greatest football cities in the Dominion, sends a team into each of this Saturday's semifinal contests and has a chance to make the eastern championship game an all-Hamilton battle.

At Montreal, Hamilton Wildcats tackle Montreal Westmounts, champions of the Quebec Rugby Football Union. The Wildcats won the championship of the Big Four junior series, which operated in the Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara districts.

At Sarnia, Hamilton Tigers meet an undefeated team from the village of Point Edward for the Ontario Rugby Football Union championship.

The Wildcats, who will take a 30-man squad to Montreal, are coached by Fred Veale, once an outstanding outside wing for Queen's University and later a coach of senior Tiger and Wildcat teams in the mountain city.

Their highly-favored, free-wheeling team brings back one of the most familiar names in Canadian football. Heading their back division is Brian Timmis, Jr., son of the famed Brian who was one of the greatest middle wings in the game. Taller than his renowned father, young Brian is a great booter and battering ram plunger.

Got in Hard Way

Montreal Westmounts got into the semi-final the hard way. They finished third in the Quebec schedule and then knocked off the favored Fashions before taking Notre Dame 8-7 last Saturday when they overcame a 7-0 half-time deficit to win.

The Montreal club's chief weakness in lack of an effective forward passing attack.

Sarnia may see a pass-pitching contest on the Frankie Filchock pattern. The Tigers, coached by one-time lineman George Mountain, use the Filchock plays. Jack McKelvie, quarterback of the Point Edward club, is an outstanding passer and ball handler.

Mountain has only five players left from the 1947 Tiger team which went to Vancouver for an unofficial Dominion title series and was defeated — quarterback Andy Brugos, outside wing Frank Miller, middle wings Paul Manloan and Alan Wade and snapback Murray Fallis.

Hardly Scored On

A charging wingline, good team spirit and a diversified attack helped the Point Edward club to bowl over all opposition in six league and three playoff games. They weren't even scored on until they downed Windsor 17-6 Saturday in the O. R. F. U. semi-final. In eight games before that they scored 150 points.

McKelvie, spark plug of the team, has two great pass receivers in Mercury-footed Ted Lea and Fred Free. Free, a leftfooted booter, is an accurate placement kicker.

There is hope this season of having the eastern winners go up against the western champions Nov. 20 in an official Dominion championship contest. Last east-west junior game was in 1932 when University of Toronto downed Moose Jaw. Last team recognized as Dominion junior champions was Toronto Argonauts in 1933. They won in the east but there was no playoff with west.

Durocher Signs Two New Coaches For N. Y. Giants

(By The Canadian Press)

Leo Durocher Wednesday signed up Frankie Frisch and Freddy Fitzsimmons, a couple of old New York heroes, as coaches for his New York Giants and announced that he had his hooks out for a front-line pitcher.

"If I could get the pitcher, I have in mind," Leo told reporters in a Press conference in New York, "I'd be ready to challenge anybody for the 1949 pennant."

Durocher declined to identify the pitcher he hoped to get, but admitted he had made overtures for southpaws. Johnny Schmitz of Chicago Cubs and Harry Brecheen of St .L o Cisudarinadnal,a of St. Louis Cardinals, and right-hander Ralph Branca and Rex Barney of Brooklyn Dodgers.

Frisch, a great second baseman for the Giants from 1919 through 1926, and later manager of the Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates has for the last two years been a broadcaster of the Giant games.

Joe Louis world's heavyweight champion, is going to trade punches again with Billy Conn, who has emerged from a retirement forced by the Brown Bomber two years ago.

Conn, who was knocked out by Louis in eight rounds at Yankee stadium in June, 1946, will be matched against Louis in a six-round exhibition at Chicago's International Amphitheatre Dec. 20.

Ottawa Rough Riders, big four leaders, will play the first match of the big four playoffs on Thursday afternoon of next week, Manager Jimmy McCaffrey announced Wednesday night at Ottawa. He said if Montreal Alouettes are still in second place after the final games Saturday, the game will be played in Montreal. If Toronto's Argos spring up from third place, the game will be played in Toronto's Varsity Stadium. Final match of the playoffs will be in the Riders' own Lansdowne Park in Ottawa, Nov. 13.

Western Canada football clubs need the aid of qualified United States gridiron imports "if we are to to continue competing with Eastern Canada," Tom Brook, president of the Calgary Stampeder Football Club said in Calgary Wednesday night. Commenting on a suggestion by retiring President Art Chipman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers that Western Clubs reduce expenses by eliminating U.S. imports, Brooks termed it "just a blue bomber excuse for a disappointing Winnipeg season."

Nelson C. Hart, general manager of Canada's Olympic team, says a "comparatively inexperienced" team management "did a reasonably good job", and denied there were too many officials who 'went along for the ride". In a letter to the Vancouver Sun Wedneseday Hart replied to criticism of Percy Norman of Vancouver, amateur swimming official.

THREE TEAMS TIED

Chicago, Nov. 4 (AP)— Three teams were tied for the lead on laps in the 47th International six day bike race in the International Amphitheatre today after a night of spectacular jamming. Four other combinations were in second position, two laps behind the leaders.

Topping the field on points were Cecare Moretti and Montreal's Rene Cyr, the Italian-Canadian duo. But the Belgian pair of Roger Decorte and Andre Maelbranque were only a few points behind. Immediately following on the point basis were Alvaro Georgetti and Ferdinand Grillo of Italy.

Six spills highlighted Wednesday night's racing but no one was badly hurt.

Almas Chalks Up Fourth Shutout Of the Season

(By The Canadian Press)

Ralph (Red) Almas, regular goal tender for St. Louis Flyers Wednesday night chalked up his fourth shutout of the season with the help of teammate Don McDonald. Indianapolis Caps and the Flyers battled to a scoreless tie in an American Hockey League game.

McDonald took over the net-guarding position late in the first period after Almas was carried from the ice suffering from a cut head. Thel njury was caused by a flying puck.

Providence Reds are still holding down first place in the Eastern Division of the league despite a 3-2 defeat handed them by Buffalo Bisons.

Pete Kapusta got both tallies for the Reds while Lloyd Finkbeiner, Freddie Hunt and George Pargeter shared scoring honors for the victors.

Philadelphia Rockets boke a seven game losing streak as they defeated Washington Lions 5-2. The victory lifted them out of last place and pushed the Lions into the cellar of the Eastern Division.

Eric Prentice led the winners attack with two goals and an assist while Kenny Kilrea had four assists.

Mike Narduzzi, Harry Pidhirny and Eddie Bush countered once each. Kenny Schultz and Harry Dick were the Washington snipers.

Pittsburgh Hornets came from behind to score two final period goals and edge out a 5-4 victory over Springfield Indians.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Vancouver, Nov. 4 (CP) — A Vancouver sport columnist thinks American football has planted a "kiss of death" on its Canadian cousin here and fans seem to be beaming with sadistic delight.

A good example was seen last Saturday when University of British Columbia Thunderbirds and University of Idaho Coyotes played before more than 6,000 fans, the largest football gallery in Vancouver's history.

The American game has consistently outdrawn the Canadian and U.B.C. is finding it far more profitable to stage.

Following that game, Don (Vancouver Sun) Carlson writes. "There are two significant differences between the rules which makes the American a rum punch and the Canadian a flat beer in comparison.

"The first difference is the American game permits unlimited interference, the Canadian a silly and limited interference. This latter is like running a horse race with the horses hobbled.

"And the second," Carlson says, "in the American game has four downs, the Canadian three. This gives the offensive, under American rules, more time to experiment with daring and new plays."

But Ken (Vancouver Province) McConnell contends it is not the code of rules that has killed the game here. He says:

"Is it any wonder that the young man's fancy here is turning to American football? Is it any wonder they know little of Ottawa Rough Riders, of Toronto Argos, of Montreal Alouettes?

"The east," he says, "nestling behind the 'iron curtain', which is in fact the Rocky Mountains, sits complacent while its brethren of the Prairies and the west coast give their death throes."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Pinehurst, N.C., Nov. 4 (AP)— There was the greatest mixture of golf and politics you ever heard around the Pinehurst Country Club yesterday... with tournament play rained out, the golfers sat around and discussed the presidential election and a somewhat controversial article on P.G.A. politics in Bob Harlow's paper, Golf World ...

They didn't have much to say for publication about the situation in the Professional Golfers Association because that organization has a "gag" rule, but it wasn't hard to gather the impression that a lot of them aren't too happy about the Ed Dudley-George Schneiter administration. One objection is that Schneiter, a tournament player, also heads the tournament bureau and has the power to make rulings on play...

The story they now hear is the "ins" want to make Dudley a salaried commissioner of pro golf and advance Secretary Joe Novak to the presidency ... and whatever the outcome, the guys will go right on playing golf for money.

Bobble by Bobby

Bobby Locke, the South African with an odd golfing style, took a lot of tournament prize money out of the United States ...but you can still get an argument as to whether he's a good golfer ... during the last tournament here, Locke toured the course with Frank Cosgrove, a resort operator whose left handed shots are notable for an amazing slice ... after watching Cosgrove shoot the first four holes in par Locke remarked: "For a man who hasn't any style, you certainly know where that ball is going" ... Cosgrove replied blandly: "Bobby, that's just what the pros say about you."

Competition is tough in league championships. But big swings can be had on reasonably easy hands. Sometimes it is only a matter of paying attention to a few small cards.

The contract ended in four spades. And rightly so, despite the fact that it trickles in with 12 tricks. The bidding went like this:

South	North
1 S	2 C
3 C	4 S

An opening bid of one shows five tricks. South counts six; all high cards. Therefore, the opener has one future raise in something. He shows it when he assists clubs.

North has four tricks. They are his two high cards and the two short cards in diamonds. With six tricks announced by south when the clubs were assisted, north was able to see ten in their pair.

West got off to an opening lead of his diamond trey. When dummy hand goes down, what must declarer consider? A heart loser. A diamond loser. A club loser. He has enough to make his game contract.

The east ace won the first trick. The diamond return was ruffed in dummy. A return trump went to south queen. The last south diamond was ruffed in dummy. Another trump return went to the king.

South cashed trump ace. Club queen was led. West covered with the king. Dummy club ace gobbled this and south was entered with a heart to the king. The eightspot of clubs was then led.

Then west ducked, dummy let it ride with the four and took the third club. On the now good fourth club was sluffed a south heart. Thus did 12 tricks come in where only ten were expected.

A winner plays for the most. But good.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 4 (AP)—Now that Bob Hope is immobile with a sprained leg, I figured, 'tis a good time to corral him on his television plans.

When I arrived at his home, Hope was standing on crutches by the front door.

"I've been in bed for three days—longest I've been in one place in my life," he said. "This sort of thing has got to go."

He hobbled into a car and said he was going to take a treatment in the training room of the Los Angeles Rams pro football team. As we drove over, he explained that the game gam was due to his overacting. He had to scramble up a gangplank for a movie scene and on the seventh try his leg folded up. The film is wryly titled "Easy Does It."

"Crosby said my hurting my leg taught him a lesson," Hope snorted. "What a laugh! Crosby never moves that fast. The only time he really moves is when he goes to the bank."

To the Point

"What about video?" I interjected, having heard he had passed up an offer from General Motors for four videocasts at $50,000 a shot.

"I just didn't have time to do it," he explained. "But I'm free from Paramount and my air sponsor to do whatever I want on television—and it won't be long now.

"I'd like to do a full hour," he said. "Imagine what you could do on television! On radio, people complain if you try to milk an audience with 'sight' stuff. (The trick of grimacing, etc., at the audience to get bigger laughs.)

"But on video, everything is 'sight'. I could throw the script out in the audience and have them throw it back."

Howard Urquhart Acquitted On Murder Charge

Kingston, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Howard Urquhart was acquitted Wednesday of the murder of Kingston penitentiary messenger John D. Kennedy. But he will spend an additional seven years in the federal prison for his part in the prison break that resulted in the fatal shooting of Kennedy last April.

He was acquitted after Austin Craft — his partner in the escape who was sentenced to hang Jan. 24 for Kennedy's murder — said Urquhart did not know he had a gun. Craft took full responsibility for planning the escape and procuring the gun with which he shot Kennedy as the two escaped in the prison messenger's car.

It was the second acquittal on a murder charge in 2½ years for the wavy-haired 21-year-old convict. In 1946 a jury reduced a charge of murder to manslaughter and he was sent to Kingston for 20 years for the slaying of Meyer Tobias, a Toronto merchant.

Norman Urquhart, his father, rushed forward to shake the hands of the jurors who announced their verdict after deliberating for more than an hour.

Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay had told them that to find Urquhart guilty of murder they must agree that Urquhart knew murder would be the probable consequence of the attempt to escape.

Craft had been serving 10 years for the robbery of a Hamilton bank at the time of his escape.

Cornwall Cougars Defeat 'Burghs By 4-3 Score

Ottawa, Nov. 4 (CP)— Cornwall Cougars shaded Ottawa 'Burghs 4-3 Wednesday night in the first half of a doubleheader to maintain a strong first place position in the Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League.

R.C.A.F. Flyers came from behind in the second half of the double bill to battle to a 2-2 tie with Hull Volants.

Cornwall opened the scoring in the first frame with goals by defenceman Don Batten and winger Frank Long and were never headed. Pete Long came through with another marker for Cornwall in the next canto after the Burghs' Ray Dinardo whittled down the Cougar's lead with a singleton at the 7:30 mark.

Ed Emerton teamed with Gus Lebrun and Red Carson to give Cornwall a 4-2 score in the third frame. Max Pope put Burghs back in the picture with a quick shot from 20 feet out. Vic Bourdon scored on a shot from the faceoff after Cornwall lost two men in penalties, but the Cougars staved off further attacks.

Major penalties were handed out to Burgh's Dinardo and Cornwall's Johnny Dennison for a fistic display. Frank Long followed them to the box, to leave the Cougars with a three-man team in the third frame.

Scoring for Hull in the second match were Seguin and Meronek. Milinski and Boucher came back hard for Flyers with singles each.

British Hockey Team in Search Of New Talent

London, Nov. (Reuters)— The visit to London of hockey teams from the continent and elsewhere is eagerly awaited in sporting circles here to compare the strength of the game in Britain and abroad.

Main talent still comes from Canada although native born British players are beginning to compare favorably with the Canadians.

Wembley, whose two teams—Lions and Monarchs —annually draw packed houses to the Empire pool, have cabled their former star forward Joe Beaton, now in Toronto, to hire a rink for special workouts of players who may wish to go to Wembley for the present season.

Four new players are required, mainly for the Lions whose present team are having their first season in England.

Alex Archer, another old Wembley favorite as a player, now is hockey coach at Wembley and also manager of the teams. He is in daily touch with Beaten. When the workouts in Canada are finished it will be decided, in a trans-Atlantic telephone call, which four players watched and coached by Beaton will be selected for the trip to England to augment the Wembley playing strength.

Business Spotlight

By The Canadian Press

Heavy demand for copper, now selling at approximately 21 1-2 cents a pound, is encouraging to Manitoba's mining industry.

In 1947, the province produced metals valued at $11,726,336. Output of copper was worth $6,035,000. Zinc accounted for $2,785,000 and gold for $2,515,000 of the total.

The price of copper has almost doubled in the last two years. It commanded 10-12 cents a pound in 1946.

Manitoba's largest mineral producer is Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company at Flin Flon, just inside the provincial border. The property produces gold and base metals.

A few pounds of zinc remain in mine tailings after current refining methods are employed. The company has announced plans to build a refinery at Flin Flon to extract the residual zinc. The plant is not expected to add materially to the provincial output.

The high price for copper has made the use of leaner ore economically feasible. It is anticipated that this year's mineral production will in consequence surpass that of 1947 in value, though volume may not be much greater.

Labor is in good supply at Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting, where a varied output has influenced wage levels. By contrast, gold producers have found themselves unable to increase wages.

A large gold property is nearing production at Herb Lake, east and north of The Pas. Two others already are in production. Work is proceeding on a new copper and zinc property southeast of Flin Flon.

All groups slipped downward on Toronto Stock Exchange, led by key industrials. Stocks listed on the Montreal Board followed suit in response to the Democratic election victory in the United States, but on neither Canadian exchange was the decline as marked as at New York. Oats and barley futures traded on Winnipeg Grain Exchange were firm.

SAYS ACTION SUCCESSFUL

Moscow, Nov. 4 —(AP)— Tass News Agency quoted Korean sources today as saying military action against the "puppet (South Korean) government" is continuing successfully. Tass said battles were being waged in the mountains around Yuso and in the Sunchon region.

Would it be too mutch tc k you? she said.

It would be just enough pop id.

And he let her put the baby on his lap, being a kind of a funny looking baby with a little yellow hair to keep it from being bald and it played with pop's neck tie till its mother came back, and when we got home pop said to ma, My dear, the mist imbarrassing thing happened to me at the sodaq fountain in the drug store A bewtifull stranger insisted on sitting on my knee, he said.

Now, that's redickuliss, ma said and pop said, I fully agree with you, but what could I do? Benny wil ltell you I didn't give her the slightest encourragement. She was a cute little thing, too, with golden hair and big innocent blue eyes. She untied my necktie, the scamp, he said.

Well, if sutch a thing actually happened, I must say you dont sound very resentful, ma said, and pop said, The truth is, I couldn't exactly blame her, I mean I could see she'd been drinking. In fact the bottle was taken away from dont blame her indeed, well, she said, and I said, Aw heck, ma it was only a baby bottle, because she was only a baby.

You dont have to tell me, dont yo uthink I can see through sutch

Frankford

Frankford, Nov. 4 (Special)—Last Thursday evening was historic occasion for the village of Frankford, as the Frankford Lions Club was officially formed.

The evening began with an excellent banquet, which was attended by well over thirty. Guests of honor were members of the Trenton Lions Club, including President O. W. Larry, Past District Deputy Governor, Harry Sager, Director Gordon Flynn, Chairman of Publicity, Ernie Almey, and the District Secretary, from Toronto, Bruce Malcolm President Larry presided as chairman.

Following the repast, Secretary Bruce Malcolm outlined the purpose and aims of the Lions' Club, and then how it is organized. After a very fine address, Mr. Malcolm and President Larry answered questions put by those present.

Mr. MacDonald moved that a Lions' Club be formed in Frankford, this motion being seconded by Mr. Farrar. It was passed unanimously and was decided that officers would be chosen by open nomination.

Mr. MacDonald then nominated Mr. Bates for President, explaining that he had been responsible for the meeting, and had done a great deal of work in bringing about the formation of a Lions Club in Frankford. Seconded by Mr. H. Miller, and nominations were closed. President Bates thanked every one for their support, and assured them that he would do his best to serve in the interest of the club. As his first official move, he asked the caterer, Mrs. Adrian Babcock to come into the hall for a few minutes. Those present showed their appreciation for the splendid repast, by a hearty handclap. Mrs. Babcock, in her charming manner, assured them that it had been a pleasure to act as caterer.

President—A. C. Bates.
1st Vice President—R. D. MacDonald.
2nd Vice President—G. S. Martin.
3rd Vice President—J. Williams.
Secretary— W. Berscht.
Treasurer—W. F. Ketcheson.
Lion Tamer—H. J. Carter.
Tail Twister—W. E. Loucks
Directors—B. M. Woods, J. A. Warren, J Farley, G. Montgomery.

Wednesday, December 1 was chosen as charter night. Wednesday, evening was chosen as regular meeting night, as it would enable the merchants to attend without having to close their places of business early.

President Bates officially closed the meeting.

Ski Club Developed

Mr. Bates and Mr. Connell, Principals of Frankford Public and Continuation Schools have been doing considerable work in connection with the Belleville Ski Club. They now report that the club has chosen a hill north of Frankford, on their recommendation, located on Mr. Hearns' property. A ski-tow will be installed, and other facilities will be completed in the immediate future.

This is great news for Frankford, for it will bring in a large influx of weekend visitors during the winter months. It will also afford a source of fine recreation for the villagers. Fees are very reasonable, so the membership is expected to be very large.

Was Rundown; Suffered Stomach Gas; Indigestion

Had Bloated Feeling, Sour Stomach, Acidity After His Meals. Back Ached, Very Nervous Tells How Syntona Helped Him.

MR. WILLIAM ADDISON

Many local men and women who were formerly rundown and suffered with stomach disorders, constipation, backache, nervousness and rheumatic aches and pains say they never had anything to help them the way Syntona did. Such is the experience of Mr. William Addison, 149 Britannia Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario, who said in a recent report:

"I was rundown, extremely tired all the time and sick at my stomach after every meal. Even the lightest foods soured in my stomach, gave me acid risings, cramps and heartburn. My back ached badly and rheumatic pains set in my limbs, joints and muscles. Many days I ached all over. I was very nervous, couldn't get my proper sleep at night and I was subject to throbbing headaches.

"I had often seen Syntona advertised, but only recently made up my mind to try it. Now I am sorry I didn't get it before.

"Since I've been taking this medicine, my food is digesting well for the first time in months. Have no gas, indigestion or sour acid risings. The aches and pains are practically all gone away and my nerves are calmed down so I get restful sleep at night. As a result, I have far more energy and can do my work without tiring as I did before."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST. Find out how it can help you, too.

Senior Marlies Finally Win Hockey Game

(By The Canadian Press)

The youthful Toronto Marlboros finally did it last night.

Marlies picked up their first win of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series by nosing out the fourth-place Stratford Indians 1-0.

Marlboros had tried everything from signing up 36-year-old Flash Hollett to reshuffling their juniors for a winning combination. Until Wednesday night they had only been able to scrape up two ties—both against Owen Sound Mercurys—in five starts.

In other O.H.A. games Wednesday night, the 1948 Memorial Cup semi-finalists Barrie Flyers hung onto third position in the junior race by blasting Stratford Kroehlers 8-1. Guelph Biltmores slipped into a fourth place tie with Oshawa Generals by edging Galt Rockets 4-3 and the undefeated Windsor Spitfires swept to their sixth straight win to remain in second place by defeating Oshawa 4-1.

Marlies' speedy Ray Hannigan got the only goal on a pass from Johnny McLellan from behind the Indian net while both teams were shorthanded.

Had it not been for netminder Bobby Bindernagel, Marlies would have racked up a higher score. Bindernagel played outstanding hockey particularly in the third period when he threw back many three man rushes.

Barrie's Gord Pennell scored twice in the first period, the first on a pass from shifty Paul Meger and the second from Stan Long and John Leckle.

Billie Mitchell tallied for Stratford while his team was shorthanded. Mitchell picked up a pass at centre ice, and broke away to beat Hurley on a hard shot that caught the corner of the net.

Flyers Roar Back

Flyers roared back in the third session and George Ford scored the first of 5 third period goals. Paul Meger blasted in two quick markers for Barrie minutes later. Gary Gordon and Don Ashbee then scored one apiece for Flyers.

Guelph scored twice in the first period, once in the second and garnered a lone goal in the third when they downed Galt.

Galt opened the scoring when Jerry Hudson banged in a rebound after a goalmouth scramble but Flyers came right back with two counters—Mill Mullen and Lorne Ferguson taking the honors.

Don Olberholtzer notched one for Guelph when he broke up a Galt rush at the blue line and went in alone to beat netminder Somerville. Minutes later Hal Hopper got the equalizer.

Billy Bercham put Galt ahead early in the third period on a three way play with Bell and Yeomens, but Barrie drove back to get the clincher—Mullen taking the honors.

Windsor built a 2-1 lead in the first period, battled through a scoreless second and slammed home two more markers in the third.

Right winger Larry Wilson sparked the Windsor attack with one goal and three assists. Doug MacKay and Al Van Belleghem notched the first two Windsor tallies and Bobby Thompson answered for Oshawa minutes later.

In the third period Doug McGinn and Wilson counted for Windsor. Of the eight penalties handed out, Generals got six.

Tourist Guide Apparently Shot Police State

Chapleau, Nov. 4. (CP)—Jack Hargis, 68-year-old tourist guide and former railway engineer, "was apparently shot," Provincial Police Inspector Len Nell said here Wednesday.

He added that police are on the trail of a man they believe responsible for Hargis' death.

The elderly man's charred body [illegible] of White River.

Inspector Nell said today "Whoever is responsible for Hargis' death we believe set fire to the cabin." and that police were "making satisfactory progress" in their investigation.

He said police were trailing "a man seen in the district the day of the murder and the day after". He said he believed the man had taken food from Hargis' cabin before leaving it in flames and ate the food a few miles down the Canadian Pacific Railways track.

RATIONING OF U.S. FUNDS EXTENDED ONE YEAR

Premier Garson, Manitoba, Joins Federal Cabinet

Three By-Elections Will Be Held in Three Provinces

Ottawa, Nov. 5 (AP)—Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today Premier Garson of Manitoba has agreed to "associate himself" with the Liberal Party in the federal field—presumably to enter the government.

Mr. St. Laurent also announced by-elections will be held Dec. 20 in the federal ridings of Marquette in Manitoba—where Mr. Garson is expected to run—and in Carleton in Ontario and Laval-Two Mountains in Quebec.

At the same time, Mr. St. Laurent announced that Hon. J. A. Glen, former Mines and Resources Minister, has resigned the Marquette seat, presumably because of ill-health.

Mr. St. Laurent did not say outright that Mr. Garson would enter the federal cabinet—possibly as Justice Minister—although this was regarded as a virtual certainty. He put his announcement into these words:

Responds to Request

"The Premier of Manitoba has responded to my request, as leader of the Liberal party, to associate himself with the party in the federal field. To facilitate Mr. Garson's entry into the Commons, Hon. J. A. Glen has generously offered to resign his seat as member of parliament for Marquette."

Mr. St. Laurent said that although Mr. Glen's health was much improved, he felt it might be difficult for him to perform adequately all his duties as a member of the Commons.

"It is my hope," said Mr. St. Laurent, "that means may be found for the government to avail itself of Mr. Glen's long and valuable experience in some way that will be of benefit to the public.

Mr. Glen has advised Mr. H. S. Rungay, the recently-elected M. L. A. for Minnedosa, Man., who is also president of the Liberal Association of Marquette, of his resignation.

"Mr. Rungay, after consulting the members of the executive, has, through me, extended an invitation to Mr. Garson to seek the Liberal nomination in Marquette."

Another by-election already set is that in Nova Scotia's Digby-Annapolis-Kings, where voting is to be held Dec. 13 to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Hon. J. L. Ilsley, former Justice and Finance Minister.

The Carleton seat was opened up by the resignation of Russell Boucher, Progressive Conservative, to provide an entry to the Commons for Mr. Drew. It was not expected the Liberals would contest the riding.

Resignation of Liguori Lacombe, Independent, left Laval-Two Mountains vacant. Mr. Lacombe resigned last summer to take a position as Magistrate in Quebec Province.

COL. DREW FAVORS SECURITY, OPPOSES EXTRA TAXATION

P.-C. Leader Claims He is Ready to Go Beyond That Offered by Government

Toronto, Nov. 5 — (CP) — George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said Thursday night that he is in favor of health, social security and public construction plans which go beyond those put forward by the federal government.

"I believe, however, that they can and must be financed without imposing new income taxes and a poll tax such as that insisted upon by the Dominion government (at the 1946 Dominion-Provincial Conference)," he said in a speech, broadcast over a national network as one in the CBC's free-time political series, "The nation's business."

"I am also convinced that we must not endanger our federal system or weaken our constitution when we put them into effect."

Mr. Drew said that, since he was chosen as national leader of the Progressive Conservatives a month ago, there had been "a very noticeable effort" to create the impression that while he was premier of Ontario he opposed measures which would have been to the advantage of the other provinces.

One provincial premier had said that Mr. Drew prevented adoption of the health and social security plan put forward by the federal government.

Contrary to Facts

"He attended the conference and therefore knew that his statement was directly contrary to the facts," Mr. Drew said.

Baby Instantly Killed in Crash Near Foxboro

Shirley Thompson, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Thompson, Madoc, was instantly killed and the mother suffered concussion and possible skull fracture as result of a two-car collision Thursday evening four miles north of Belleville on the Foxboro highway.

Suffering minor injuries were the child's father, Patrick Thompson, driver of the one vehicle, and two passengers Sidney Scott and son Lawrence, age three-and-one-half years, all of whom suffered facial cuts. They were attended at the scene of the accident by Dr. Austin Walters.

Driver of the second vehicle, William G. Nicholson commercial traveller of Port Elgin, escaped injury.

Nicholson is stated to have been driving south toward Belleville when at an intersection known as Ross' Corners, the Thompson car entered onto the highway from a sideroad and was in collision with the Nicholson car. Both cars were badly wrecked in the smash-up.

The right side of the Thompson car on which Mrs. Thompson and the baby were riding received the full force of the impact, the cars separating and coming to rest several yards apart following the accident.

Mrs. Thompson was rushed to Belleville General Hospital by the Quinte Ambulance. Provincial Police of Belleville investigated the accident.

The preliminary inquest looking into the death of the baby was held this morning before before Coroner Dr. G. S. Cronk, the hearing being adjourned until November 26th., at 8 p.m. in the

Britons Turn Back History Pages To Honor Guy Fawkes' Memory

London, Nov. 5 (CP)—Today is the day Britons, both children and grown-ups, turn their history pages back to 1605 for their annual excuse to revel in flames and fireworks.

Throughout Britain bonfires are lit. Grotesque effigies are burned in a fashion that would have awed the ancient Druids. At night rockets soar into the sky, blooming into an umbrella-like illumination to the delight of children below.

It all began when a band of Roman Catholics planned to get a rise out of King James I. Peeved with the monarch's anti-Catholic measures, they hatched the Gunpowder Plot, designed to blow "him and all his friends back to Scotland"—and the houses of parliament into the bargain — with 36 barrels of explosives.

It developed into a damp squid. The plot was discovered at the last moment and Guy Fawkes was ment house coal cellar, accompanied by the necessary gunpowder, flintbox and matches. He duly was hanged along with seven of his fellow accomplices.

Ever since, Nov. 5 has been commemorated as Guy Fawkes Day.

This year, true to tradition, small children with a cry "please to remember the guy" exhorted their elders to contribute a few coppers to their fireworks funds.

Complete with home-made effigies tied into baby prams, they run alongside potential contributors and their grubby hands hang on coat tails as they cry 'penny for the guy mister, penny for the guy"—and they usually hang on until something happens.

Guy Fawkes night isn't all fun and games—especially for fire departments and doctors. Throughout the evening the screams of excited youngsters, the explosions of firecrackers and the crackle of bonfires mingle with the clang of fire engine bells. Hospitals have

U.S. EMBASSY URGES AMERICANS TO QUIT NANKING

Communist Threat Rolls Up in Central China

Nanking, Nov. 5 (AP)—The United States Embassy today urged Americans to leave Nanking and Shanghai lest triumphant Communist armies pushing south cut communications between the two great cities and the sea.

(It is the strongest hint so far that the series of government military disasters in North China and Manchuria have left China's capital and Shanghai exposed to Red attack.)

However, United States military personnel will remain at their posts in China. The United States navy said it had no intention of abandoning its China base at Tsingtao on Shantung peninsula. It was prepared to evacuate Americans and other foreigners.

An authoritative source said the 800 dependents of the United States military advisory group in China would leave shortly and even the group itself was placed on a "stand-by" basis.

There are 200 Americans in Nanking, not including the 150 employed at the embassy. By far the largest American colony in China is at Shanghai, where there are 3,500.

A notice was circulated among Americans here signed my Minister Lewis Clark, while a similar notice was put out by Consul-General John M. Cabot in Shanghai.

"Military developments in North China," Clark's note read "make it appear possible hostilities may spread further south with the result that normal transportation facilities between Nanking and its environs and the sea may be disrupted.

"Accordingly, it is suggested that unless you have compelling reasons to remain you consider the desirability of evacuation while normal transportation facilities remain available."

An estimated 400,000 government troops, most of them mediocre as fighting divisions, were massed in the general area of Suchow, First China military headquarters 170 miles northwest of Nanking.

There they face the tough, seasoned East China Communist armies of Gen. Chen Yi, which already are in a position to make an outflanking drive and isolate Suchow.

Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, commander in North China where some of the best divisions left to Chiang Kai-Shek are stationed, was reported to have arrived in Nanking from Peiping for emergency conferences.

Official Molested

Vienna, Nov. 5 — (Reuthers)—Maj.-Gen. T. J. W. Winterton, acting British High Commissioner for Austria, was molested Thursday by two Russian soldiers before a crowd of Austrians. The Russians shouted at the uniformed general for five minutes, refusing to allow him to visit a garage in the Soviet sector to see an automobile agent.

Says She Meant To Frighten, Not To Kill Husband

Lindsay, Nov. 5. (CP)—Mrs. Jane McAllister, charged with murdering her husband, testified today she wanted to give him "a good scare" when she saw a revolver in their nearby Kirkfield home.

"I certainly didn't mean to kill him," she said, under cross-examination by Crown Counsel Lorne Jordan. "When I saw the gun I don't know what my intentions were. I meant to frighten John".

The red-haired Scottish war bride on trial for allegedly shooting her husband last Sept. 5, Thursday told of a married life of cruelty and abuse.

She said she was "jealous" of her husband and that when he said 'he was going to run around with other women, it made me nervous".

She told of the events of the day of the shooting, repeating testimony given Thursday. She testified that after her husband said something about his future relations with other women, "I looked up—I saw the gun."

"After that it was kind of hazy," she said. 'I couldn't tell what happened. I was feeling funny. I was hurt. My head felt funny, as if a dark cloud came over. I wasn't angry, I was sad. During the conversation (with her husband) I felt funny. After seeing the gun, the next thing I heard was the report of the gun. The dog was barking."

She said she could only remember leaving the house.

The comely 25-year-old widow said she first learned of her husband's death from an inspector of the Provincial Police, and did not know where the bullet entered his head until the preliminary trial.

Her husband, who, she said kicked, beat and cursed her during the last months of their marriage, "wasn't big, but I never saw anyone as muscular."

She said she had a bad sunburn in the days before her husband met his death. "John said he couldn't resist slapping my back —and he did. Then I slapped him back."

Mrs. McAllister said Thursday the indignities she suffered at the hands of her husband, a 29-year-old Hamilton navy veteran, increased after she was told by doctors, following an operation last May, that she could never bear a child.

Courtroom spectators, including a number of British war brides, were hushed and women dabbed at their eyes with handkerchiefs when the slendor girl from Scotland testified:

"He said he was going to start running around with other women. I asked him if he had any special woman in mind and he swore at me and told me to shut my mouth. He said he hated me and shouted at me: 'You can't even have a family'."

During that final, fatal Sunday night quarrel, John McAllister was undressing for bed while

$150,000,000 Hydro Plan Proposed at Niagara Falls

Toronto, Nov. 5 (CP)—A hydro plan that may cost $150,000,000—to develop enough additional power from Niagara Falls to assure a premanent solution for southern Ontario's power shortage—will start immediately Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders said today.

Briefly, the scheme will consist of enlarging of the existing hydro station at Queenston, six miles below the Canadian Falls, and blasting a three-mile tunnel through solid rock under the Niagara escarpment to drive giant new turbines.

The plan, which requires signing of a treaty between the United States and Canadian governments, will cost approximately twice as much as the Queenston plant has cost to date, Mr. Saunders said in an interview. It is expected to harness an additional 380,000 horsepower, equal to about 86 per cent of Toronto's normal consumption.

Told to go Ahead

Mr. Saunders said he has completed talks with acting Prime Minister St. Laurent and the Department of External Affairs "and have been told to go ahead."

The next step is for the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to conclude talks with the Niagara Hudson Power Company of Buffalo, which controls the water on the United States side of the Niagara River. The resulting agreement will then be forwarded to Ottawa and Washington for ratification by treaty between the two companies.

Mr. Saunders said it would take four years after signing of the treaty to complete the new development.

"Of course before that, by the spring of 1950 we hope the commission will have 240,000 horsepower of ney energy from the

Cost-of-Living Index Higher, Rate Decreases

Ottawa, Nov. 5 — (CP) — Another increase in the cost-of-living index is on the records today, but the rate of rise is decreasing.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday that the index advanced only seven - tenths of a point during September, climbing from 158.9 at Sept. 1 to 159.6 at Oct. 1. A year ago — at Oct. 1, 1947 — the index stood at 142.2.

The Bureau said the advance in the index since the outbreak of war now totals 58.3 per cent. It is calculated on the basis that living costs in 1935-39 equalled 100.

The September gain was ascribed to higher costs for foods, clothing, fuels and home furnishings. The group indexes covering these items advanced while rents and miscellaneous items held steady.

The food index moved up to 205.4 from 203.9. It was propelled mainly by higher prices for eggs, meats and citrus fruits. There were declines in vegetables but not sufficient to keep the index down.

The fuel series went up—rising from 128.5 to 128.8 — on higher prices for coal and coke.

The clothing index rose from 179.9 to 181.0 and home-furnishings and services from 164.2 to 165.1. The Bureau said many price averages for items in these two groups recorded small advances, tapering off earlier increases in new Autumn lines of merchandise.

In the wholesale group of prices the Bureau reported that its index of industrial material prices declined from 162.4 for the week ended Sept. 24 to 161.6 for the week ended Oct. 29. Canadian

Torrential Rain Floods Streets In Windsor

Windsor, Nov. 5 (CP) — A mid-summer type thunderstorm which struck Windsor early today, with torrential rain in sections of the city, flooded streets and resulted in at least one automobile accident.

The thunder and lightning was accompanied by hail, as well as heavy rain. Electric wires were knocked down in Detroit and one home was damaged. The rain lasted less than 20 minutes.

The weather bureau expected thundershowers most of the morning with cloudy and cooler weather in the afternoon and tonight.

Cold Crow the Fare and Red the Facial Color Scheme for Prognosticators

New York, Nov. 5 (CP) — Cold crow was the fare and red the facial color scheme today for some prognosticators in the United States press who tried to jump the gun on 50,000,000 voters.

Forecasts before election day that Governor Thomas E. Dewey would beat President Truman were hard enough to alibi in view of Truman's solid win. But look what happened to some people:

The Chicago Tribune put out Tuesday night, while the votes were being counted, an edition with the blazing headline: "Dewey beats Truman."

("That's one for the book," chuckled Truman Thursday as he held up a copy of that issue before the crowd which welcomed him at St. Louis, Mo.)

Life Magazine came out four days before the voting with a picture of Dewey crossing San Fran-

the United States."

Publishers of Kiplinger Magazine, Washington, D.C., bought a full page in this week's Time Magazine, to advertise their journal. Time went on newsstands in the United States Thursday and Kiplinger's add screamed: "What will Dewey do? Find out in the November issue of Kiplinger Magazine, just off the press. Here the Kiplinger organization, nationally famous for its 25 years of reporting the news of Washington, gives you its accurate, down to earth, analysis and forecast of what to expect from the new administration."

Rumors circulated widely that Time itself guessed wrong and had to miss its deadline while it tore out a section based on Dewey victory. People said Life Magazine, another Time, Inc., publication, contained a 20-page section on Dewey as new President.

$150 Per Person Will be Maximum For Pleasure Trips

Substantial Saving Will Be Used for Essential Needs

Ottawa, Nov. 5 — (CP) — Rationing of United States dollars for pleasure travel across the border will continue for another year, Finance Minister Abbott announced today. The ceiling is $150 a person.

Mr. Abbott said the rationing will continue until Nov. 15, 1949, at least.

Lauding Canadians for their co-operation in this segment of the program to conserve exchange the minister said the rationing of pleasure travel during the last 12 months had probably meant a saving of between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 U. S. dollars.

"This substantial sum was thus made available for many essential supplies and commodities during this period," Mr. Abbott said.

$100 for Children

The maximum amount of U. S. dollars any Canadian resident may obtain for pleasure travel in the next 12 months will remain at $150. In the case of children 11 years and less, the amount is $100.

The minister said decision to continue the ration was reached after a "most careful assessment of all factors relating to Canada's U. S. dollar position. . . . It was felt that rationing of pleasure travel was less onerous than many other restrictions made necessary by exchange difficulties. Therefore, to the extent that the exchange situation had improved, it seemed reasonable to relax the more burdensome regulations first."

Travel restriction, however, he said, will be removed as soon as conditions warrant.

"H" Forms Necessary

Form "H" permits will continue to be necessary to take out of Canada more than $10 U. S. or more than $25 in U. S. and Canadian funds combined. As in the past, there will be no restriction on the number of pleasure trips taken by Canadian residents in the United States as long as the annual allotment is not exceeded.

Any U. S. dollars obtained for one trip and not used on that trip must be brought back to Canada and exchanged for Canadian dollars. Applications for U. S. dollars for business, health or educational travel will continue to receive special consideration.

Veterinarian Sued By Owner of Dog

Redwood City, Calif., Nov. 5 —(AP)— A spinster poodle who came home with pups was the basis of a $1,800 damage suit filed against a Veterinarian Thursday. Miss Dorr Bothwell, textile designer, filed the suit against Dr. P. H. Hand, pet shop proprietor, contending that he was to have protected the poodle against the advances of bold male dogs.

MEDITERRANEAN ISLE BECOMES SCENE OF FIGHT

Fifth-Column Tactics at Cyprus Causing Concern in London

Cyprus, Nov. 5 (AP)—Communists appear to be starting a fight to the finish for Cyprus, keystone of Anglo-American strategy in the eastern Mediterranean.

Soviet Russia has never had so much as a consulate on this vital island. But Moscow-training Cypriots are baffling the British colonial office with their fifth-column tactics.

A Labor Party peer, Lord Winster, is Governor. He is known to have filed strong warnings to London against the "red rot" here. As yet, however, observers claim that no effective counter-measures have been authorized. They speak gloomily of "another Malaya."

Two big objectives are charged to Cyprus Communists:

Sabotage of Anglo-American plans for developing the island into an important air and naval base against possible Soviet encroachments in the Middle East.

Political and economic chaos leading eventually to severance of the island from the Commonwealth and its adherence, under the guise of self-government, to an expanding Soviet bloc.

Under the bewildered gaze of British colonial officers, Communists here have achieved more, proportionally, than in France or Italy.

Red Mayors Run Town

Communists dominate the Pan-Cyprian Federation of Labor. It controls 15,000 of the island's 18,000 organized workers, including those employed by the British civil administration and British military garrisons.

In the backward, arid countryside, Communists are enrolling small farmers and the landless in a union of agriculturists.

Communists, in their operations, keep Communism in the background, but rally the discontented in Leftist coalitions which they guide. There is no Communist party in the open here. Their principal instrument is called the Progress Party of the Working People.

THIEF ATTEMPTS TO GET NEW TIRE

That hydro cut-offs create temptation on the part of light fingered gentry was indicated at Boyce's Front Street service station Thursday evening where an unknown man under cover of darkness made an attempt to make off with a new tire.

The operator the service station noticed the man attempting to make his getaway and a sudden yell scared him into dropping the tire. It was too dark for the operator to obtain a description of the would-be thief.

The same service station later reported the theft of a pair of fog lights from the owner's car as it was parked on the premises.

CASH AND CHEQUES FOUND ON STREET

Money doesn't exactly grow on city sidewalks, but that must have been the impression gathered this morning by Miss M. Hales, stenographer at Keyes Supply when at the corner of Bridge and Pinnacle Streets she picked up $4 in cash and well over $100 in cheques.

Miss Hales turned the bills and cheques over to the city police.

A Charles Street lady last evening reported she had lost $25 on Front Street near the Bridge Street intersection. The money was in a small envelope and in some manner dropped out of her purse.

FOUR PAY FINES FOR KEEPING DOGS WITHOUT LICENCE

Four city residents who after repeated warnings failed to procure dog licences for their pet canines were assessed $4.50 fine and costs in city magistrate's court this morning. All were pleas of guilty, the charges being laid by City Dog Catcher Thomas Thorne.

The court session held before Magistrate T. Y. Wills was brief with traffic cases consisting of speeding offences and failure to stop at "stop" streets, predominating. Several motorists paid substantial fines for using city streets as a speedway, while "stop" street offenders paid the conventional $5 fine and cots. Charges laid under the L.C.A. completed the court.

COLLIE AWAITS OWNER

City pound keeper Thomas Thorne has a male brown and white short-haired collie which was picked up yesterday in the East Hill district. The dog was wearing no collar nor tag and will be kept the conventional time awaiting his owner or some other interested party, before being destroyed.

MART KENNY HEARD AT CLUB COMMODORE

An estimated 750 persons paid admission to dance and listen to Mart Kenny and his band, Thursday evening at the Club Commodore.

Playing a one-night stop while en route to Kingston for an appearance at the Queen's Medical formal, Kenny drew a good crowd of local fans and a good number from out-of-town.

The vocalists, Norma Locke and Roy Roberts, gave out with a number of novelty renditions which gathered the crowd around the bandstand and brought the dancing to a stop.

SPANIEL KILLED DURING BLACKOUT

A boy and his pet spaniel were separated by an accident which claimed the life of the dog early Thursday evening. The dog was instantly killed when struck by a car at the George and St. Paul Streets intersection less than ten minutes before the end of the 5-6 hydro blackout.

The driver of the car was unable to see the boy who was crossing the street, and his dog due to the darkened condition of the streets, until he was almost upon them. Swerving to avoid hitting the boy the car struck the dog.

Such incidents are commonplace, occurring almost daily, but emphasize the dangers of darkened streets. The boy might have been the victim. Consider the above incident when you are driving and when you notice that extra bulb burning.

Special Election Meeting Arranged By C. of C. Dec. 2

It was decided that a special election meeting program be arranged by the Chamber of Commerce at the Collegiate auditorium on Thursday, December 2 for the open forum meeting at which each candidate for the municipal election might be given the opportunity to state their platform. It was decided that the program be arranged so that each candidate could speak for three minutes, and to arrange the order in which they would speak, an advance meeting of the candidates would be held and their names drawn.

A program would then be arranged showing the order of the speakers which would include a 'remarks column' so that the audience could make their comments regarding each candidate and keep it as their personal record of the meeting.

Picton

P-C's Elect New Slate of Officers At Convention

Picton — The annual meeting of Prince Edward-Lennox Progressive Conservative Association saw the election of an almost complete new slate of officers. C. Milligan of Napanee was named president in succession to Mrs. Ross Bush of Consecon. Vice-presidents are Frank Ham, R. 1, Bath; Norman Foster, Hillier, and Kenneth Carson, Cressy, with Woodrow Blakely, Picton, secretary treasurer and Bruce Falconer of Picton, secretary.

There was a large attendance, many being attracted by the possibility of fireworks as a result of the three-cornered contest in the last provincial election. T. D. Creighton of Ernesttown, who was the independent Conservative candidate, was present. This was objected to by Mr. Ham. After Mr. Creighton had spoken in his own defence, Mayor Lance Nethery vigorously replied. This resulted in a vote being taken and Mr. Creighton was then asked to leave the meeting. Many present did not vote either way. There was no objection to the presence of T. W. Kinney and John Maher, two of Mr. Creighton's main backers in the last election.

George Tustin, M.P., spoke of activities at Ottawa. He described the Progressive Conservative party in the Federal field as being revitalized with the choice of George Drew as leader. He stressed the need of unity in the party. James deC. Hepburn, ex-M.L.A., also urged unity within the party and stressed the necessity of organization.

President of the Young Progressive Conservatives of Picton, Woodrow Blakely told of the recent organization of this group and invited all interested to attend the discussion groups planned.

Belligerent Goat Bangs up Doctor's Car in Repeated, Infuriated Charges

Buck Lake's Boss Billy Goat is still monarch of all he surveys. The fourteen-year-old bewhiskered stronghorn who is second-in-command of a small herd of cattle in that area, doesn't stand for any "muscling-in" on the part of any other ambitious goat, no matter from where he hails.

Dr. G. S. Cronk of this city discovered this fact to his regret a few days ago. And his new shiny automobile, now in the garage for "hospitalization" after a brief encounter with the goat, is evidence of Billy's belligerency if his domain is threatened by any other chin-whiskered usurper.

The doctor and Mrs. Cronk, spending a weekend at their camp at Buck Lake, were busy in the small garden when they heard a loud crash. Then another. And another. Even as the doctor ran to the garage a few yards away, there came another reverberating crash.

Reaching the garage near where his car was parked, he saw an amazing sight.

Head erect, eyes shining with the light of battle, stood "Billy." Even as the doctor looked, the infuriated goat, which is due for the goatian old-age pension next year, reared up on its hind legs, blatted a raucous bleat of war-like defiance, lowered its head and charged. The horns crashed into the front fender.

Having disposed of this intruder, Billy walked around the car searching for other possible goat "chiselers." He looked up. There glaring defiance at him from the car was another goat. Billy bleated the war trumpet again and surged, head lowered, to the attack.

And before the surprised car owner could pacify the goat, it had bent two doors of the automobile and inflicted damage on the fenders. In fact the car had to be taken to a garage for repairs.

What actually happened was the goat saw its own image in the shiny surface of the Cronk car (it had been simonized the day before) and immediately declared a defensive war.

The goat, according to Dr. Cronk, is a harmless old fellow, content to roam the pastures with his friends the cows, and take life easy. But his kingdom is his own and no ornery goat is going to take over from him as long as he is able to defend his domain.

'Y' Physical Director Tells of Events Leading to Hostilities in Palestine

Paul Hartman, physical director of Y.M.C.A. in Jerusalem who addressed Y's Men's group Thursday evening.

Paul Hartman, physical director on the staff of the Y.M.C.A. in Jerusalem, who is now touring points in United States and Canada, was guest speaker at the regular Y's Men's dinner meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. The speaker, who was introduced by Al Davis, traced events in Palestine from the days of the Romans. The Zionist movement was started in 1800, and gained momentum during the First Great War. The Arabs have made Palestine their home for over 1,200 years. He traced the growth of the Jewish population in Palestine, and the trouble there up to the present time, when the United Nations are trying to effect a settlement.

There is no real leadership among the Arabs, and while the Jewish people are better organized there is a lot of trouble among the various groups.

The speaker went on to tell about the work of the Y. M. C. A. in this troubled spot. The Y in Jerusalem was built and endowed by a wealthy American, and despite the fact that Arabs, Jews, and Christians attend the various classes, there was no sign of trouble. The various nationalities mingled in perfect harmony.

Going on from this point the speaker discussed a wider field of the work by the Y. M. C. A. in India, Japan, Philippines, China and other areas. The speaker was thanked by Oscar Wagar.

President Larry Buck presided at the meeting, and Robbie Clark was Sgt. at Arms. Guests included Ed Huddleston, Fred Graham, Mort Monson and Bob Barlow, who were welcomed by Don Williams.

Vic Lancaster reported that nine local Y's Men had arranged to attend the Ontario Region Convention of Y's dom at London this weekend.

The city dog population was reduced by exactly two yesterday afternoon and evening when two ran beneath the wheels of passing motor vehicles. The dog of Douglas Archer, South George Street, was killed when it was run over by a delivery truck, while another dog was killed on Station Street when it ran beneath the wheels of a passing car. The owner of the second dog was not determined.

Dad Makes Sure Shotgun is Safe

A young West Hill resident spent a few anxious moments last evening when in returning to his parked car on Pinnacle Street he discovered to his dismay that his expensive shotgun was missing. The young man anxiously reported the incident to police stating the shotgun had been taken from the car some time between 7:30 and 11:30 o'clock.

But as the old adage goes, "all's well that ends well" and such was tht case in this instance. The young man's father had happened along and seeing the shotgun in his son's parked auto felt that it would be safer at home.

So when the young hunter returned home it was there he found his shotgun.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Nov. 5 — (CP)—Prices skidded downwards on the stock exchange in heavy trading here today. The market opened on firm trend and appeared to be stretching Thursday's strong advance.

Industrials and base metals suffered the steepest declines while golds began the downhill slide in mid-session.

Steels and utilities led the losers in the industrial groupings. Losses ranged to three points and blue chip specialties were affected most. Liquors and papers were easier on fractional declines and refining oils also lost. Trading was brisk and appeared to accelerate as the descent became more pronounced.

Thursday's strong gains in the base metals list were wiped out in brisk trading today. Smelters, Noranda, International Nickel, Pend Oreille, East Sullivan and Waite Amulet were among the losers. Several issues touched new highs in early trading but soon followed the downward trend.

Halifax, Nov. 5. (CP)—Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, flag officer Atlantic coast, told a group of Haligonians Thursday that Halifax is an unpopular city even with people who haven't been within 2,000 miles of it."

Calling for better relations between citizens here and naval personnel, Admiral Mainguy said that during the war "Halifax was the most unpopular port in the North Atlantic convoy run, with even Iceland more popular with the ratings.

Speaking before a Service Club he said that on the other side of the picture was the navy's tendency to be "high hat, exclusive and uncooperative".

Tribute Paid Instructor

He paid tribute to Dairy Instructor Henderson.

Reeve J. C. Cooper presented a prize to Mr. Remington and C. H. Fraleigh, secretary-treasurer, Cheese Producers' Association, an award to Roy Welbanks, Royal Street

Mr. Bain presented flowers to Mrs. Lockner.

George Gallagher, President of the Association thanked the guest speaker, H. J. McFarland and also the judges. Messrs Bain and Lackner, Mr. Remington presenting them with gifts. Dairy Instructor Henderson thanked the makers for their co-operation, the donors of prizes and all who had assisted.

Fine Entertainment

The entertainment was of a high order and followed a delectable dinner served by the Anglican Ladies' Guild at tables centred with ferns and potted plants. A sing-song was led by Creighton Lockyer. Brief congratulatory remarks were made by George Tustin, M.P., and Donald Baxter, M.P.P. Both referred to the important role played by the cheese industry. Mr. Tustin felt makers should be awarded for producing high quality cheese, the milk producers receiving a bonus.

With Harold Rich at the piano, Audrey Meredith gave clever tap and ballet numbers. As a one-man band, Ernie Bruce entertained on the bagpipes, xylophone and bells. Violet Murray contributed vocal numbers including "The Chocolate Soldier" and "Tree in the Meadow" and led in the closing "Aulde Lang Syne" and "O Canada." Miss Rae Todd, accompanying herself on an electric guitar gave national songs and clever imitations. Mr. Rich played one of his own piano compositions.

Designed to Raise Standard

Dairy Instructor pointed out that the competition is designed to raise the standard of cheese factories and its products. He urged producers to send quality milk which would make quality cheese possible.

J. M. Bain referred to the high standard being set by Prince Edward makers and noted an improvement each of the three years he and Mr. Lackner had acted as judges. He heartily congratulated the makers and their instructor.

A. L. Gibson

A. L. Gibson of Kemptville Agricultural School, Dairy Division, saw in such competitions a revival of the cheese making industry, to its proper place. The industry was considered most important in war time, it should so be considered today, he said, urging that cheese producers receive returns on a par with other industries. Mr. Gibson regretted that Canadian cheese sold overseas was not marked Canadian when sold, being mixed with all grades from several sources. The Canadian identity of cheese should be retained, he urged, expressing con-

The many general prize winners were announced only, awards being handed out after the program was over. The makers, as well as head table guests, were introduced and heartily applauded.

Reeve J. C. Cooper introduced the guest speaker, Judge W. S. Lane.

Speaks on Crisis

Speaking on the crisis in the world today, Judge Lane told the cheese makers and producers that "if we want the system of life we know to continue, our approach to our job is important. If we approach it from the angle of what we can give, then difficulties will take care of themselves. We must remember that we are the givers, not the takers."

Judge Lane recalled the origin of the Karl Marx and Hitler ideologies. "Germany as we knew it in 1939 was dictatorship. In communistic countries it is also dictatorship. Their ways may be somewhat different but they lead to the same end. Their theories lead to one course — the individual means nothing, the state means all. No one has any personal rights."

"It is time to canvass in our own minds what we want. Do we feel we should be told every step we should take; have every action decided for us? How different is our system. It is true there are regulations but in the final analysis. They are not very serious. The theory behind democracy is that the citizen has rights, and that the individual, under the law, has rights with limitations. The basic idea behind democracy is the individual first and the state second."

There may be imperfections and abuses in our system, but as long as we keep before us the basic idea, that the individual is not out to get, but to give, then will we get the best possible out of life.

In reference to the United States election, the speaker believed it an important milestone, not so much the election of Truman over Dewey but because of the small vote received by Henry Wallace, who ran on a platform that would ordinarily have attracted the votes of communists and redicals. The speaker challenged those who believed in democracy to seek it in the spirit of giving rather than in one of getting.

Des Joachims plant on the Ottawa River. Another 240,000 horsepower will be available from the same plant in 1951. The total of 480,000 horsepower will make it nearly as big a generating station as Queenston."

Close Three Plants

The Niagara undertaking will mean closing down of three Canadian generating stations in the immediate vicinity of the falls Mr. Saunders said the additional power from the Queenston enlargement will be used "without using a single extra drop of water or in any way marring the scenic grandeur of Niagara Falls."

Closing of the three stations is the answer. Mr. Saunders said they cannot produce as much power as turbines at Queenston because Queenston is the only plant on the river making full use of the maximum drop from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario. At the Falls the drop is 225 feet, at Queenston, 315 feet.

Biggest engineering headache is expected to be the three-mile tunnel to be driven from above the Horseshoe Falls to a spot opposite the Whirlpool Rapids.

After water from the tunnel reaches the Whirlpool Rapids, it will surface to flow by open cut the balance of the way.

Enlargement of the plant is expected to boost power output by 40 per cent on the Canadian side of the river, where four plants currently develop about 930,000 horsepower.

PAPER BOOSTS PRICE

Ottawa, Nov. 5 — (CP) — Le Droit, Ottawa's only French-language daily newspaper, announced Thursday that the price of a single copy will be increased from three cents to five cents on Nov. 15. The newspaper said the increase was necessitated by higher costs of newsprint, type lead and other materials used in a newspaper publication. Ottawa's English-language dailies — the Citizen and Journal — increased their price from three to five cents a copy earlier this year.

PAY HALF FREIGHT CHARGES ON SEED POTATOES

Toronto, Nov. 5 (CP) — The Ontario Agriculture Department will again pay 50 per cent of the freight charges on carload shipments of certified seed potatoes shipped from the Cochrane district to southern Quebec, Premier Kennedy announced.

The assistance is provided to encourage seed production of potatoes in Northern Ontario for use by growers in the southern part of the province, the premier added. The policy, inaugurated

Washington Gives President Truman Hero's Welcome

Washington, Nov. 5. (AP)—President Truman returned to Washington today and a tumultuous welcome home from cheering thousands.

As the President's train from Independence, Mo., pulled in to the station a cheer went up from the crowd surging around.

"We want Truman", they chanted.

When the train stopped, Senator Alben Barkley, the next vice president, clambered aboard.

Members of the Cabinet and other dignitaries hastily scrambled aboard. Some were accompanied by their wives. The hand shaking and congratulations went on for more than 10 minutes, while the crowd yelled and the Metropolitan police band blared away lustily.

Also waiting at the platform were President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, and Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

All Police on Duty

The City of Washington, fairly blase by reputation, worked up something like a hero's welcome for the country boy who finds the White House lawn fine for pitching horse shoes.

All available police and 300 firemen were ordered out to handle an estimated crowd of 500,000. Government workers and school children got time off. Six bands were hustled up. Bunting and flags decked historic Pennsylvania Avenue from Union Station to the White House.

Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the vice-president-elect, flew in from Kentucky Thursday night to join in the ceremony.

After the welcome it's back to work for Truman. He had an appointment with budget director James E. Webb. Topic: What can be done about that prospective $1,500,000,000 deficit next June 30?

There are more problems, but Truman plans to pack them up with his fishing clothes and start Sunday morning for a two week rest at Key West, Fla.

No administration official foresaw anything like a "rubber stamp" Congress. Several acknowledged that if Truman tries to put over his 10-point anti-inflation program — complete with stand by price control, priority, and rationing power — he'll be turned down cold.

No Third Term

Sources close to Truman believe he is content to let his record in history rest on his administration during the next four years and thus will not seek a third term.

Truman thinks he will have an opportunity during the next four years to revitalize the party and help build up leaders to carry it on in the years ahead.

These sources also said there will be no abrupt dismissals from his cabinet based on lack of interest in the campaign.

John W. Snyder, secretary of the treasury and one of his closest friends, will be pressed to remain on.

James V. Forrestal, secretary of defence, will not be pressed to stay.

Nor will Robert A. Lovett, under-secretary of state, who is planning to leave soon anyway.

State Secretary Marshall indicated at Paris that he desires to retire at the close of the present administration. He and the president have a warm personal relationship.

The group, comprising 75 women and one man, will make a 48-hour stop-over here at the former wartime munitions plant where they will be interviewed by employment service officers.

The women, from Poland, Russia, Estonia, and Latvia, will be placed on farms as domestic help for one year. After that they will be free to enter other employment.

Montreal Business Executive Slain In N. Y. Club

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Nov. 5 — (CP) — The death of Colin Cameron MacKellar, 56-year-old Montreal textile executive whose body was found early today in his Canadian-Club suite, was homicidal, police announced at 12.50 p.m.

Thomas A. Gonzales, chief medical examiner, reported to police that the death was the result of MacKellar's being kicked, punched or jumped upon.

Dr. Gonzales, who performed an autopsy in the Bellevue Hospital morgue, told detectives death was caused by internal injuries.

Violence Used

He expressed belief that the injuries were caused by "somebody punching, kicking or jumping upon him."

Resources of the East-Side New York detective division were put at disposal of authorities in charge of the investigation.

The body, fully clothed, was found on the floor of the living room of the suite by a maid. The pockets of MacKellar's garments had been turned inside out. Lying nearby was an empty wallet.

A few drops of amber-colored liquid was found in one of two glasses resting on a cocktail table.

No marks of violence were visible on the man's face.

A watch on MacKellar's left wrist was the only piece of jewelry on the body.

To Analyze Liquid

The color of the liquid in one of the glasses could have been caused by nicotine from a cigaret, authorities said as they prepared to analyze it. They added, however, they leaned heavily to the theory that the liquid contained knockout drops.

There was no estimate as to how long MacKellar had been dead. All the ice in a bucket on the cocktail table had melted.

Power Shortage Hampers Postal Service--Bertrand

Ottawa, Nov. 5 — (CP) — Ontario's hydro-electric power shortage is seriously hampering Canada's postal service, Postmaster-General Bertrand announced today.

In a statement, Mr. Bertrand warned that if power interruptions continue, "the mails are going to be delayed and delayed seriously."

He urged the public, particularly large business mailers, to get mailings to the post offices as early as possible in the day and to see they are delivered in best possible condition. Christmas mailings, particularly for overseas, should be posted as early as possible.

"The postal service is a 24-hour service," Mr. Bertram said.

"Already, despite all reorganization efforts, we are feeling the effects of stalled elevators, dead motors in our extensive mechanical equipment, and lack of lighting in our working and office areas."

Urges Emphasis On Individual And Not Group

Guelph, Nov. 5 (CP)—Prof. W. D. Tolton, of the Ontario Agricultural College said here that "free enterprise must accept new responsibilities and should seek a new alignment with education, government, finance ,ownership, management, labor and agriculture, if we are to reclaim happiness."

Speaking to a group of buttermakers, Prof. Tolton said emphasis should now be on "the individual rather than the group, and on peoples rather than nations." He said we never again should allow a nation to think of itself as "a master race."

"Today is an age of specialization," which calls for "cooperation."

Cure for Arthritis Must Await Discovery of Cause

Toronto, Nov. 5 — (CP)—Medical science still is far from finding a cure for arthritis, Dr. Wallace Graham, president of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, said Thursday night.

Dr. Graham told the annual meeting of the Health League of Canada a country - wide chain of clinics was needed to investigate causes of the disease, which afflicts some 600,000 Canadians.

"The cure will not come until the cause is known," said Dr. Graham, describing as "ludicrous and absurd" the claims of some advertisements that a cure for all kinds of arthritis had been found.

Earlier, the Association heard Dr. George Davidson, Federal Deputy Minister of Welfare call for continued co-operation between government and voluntary health and welfare agencies.

"They must pool their efforts to build a better society," he added.

NO EFFECT ON ALARMS

Toronto, Nov. 5 —(CP)—Warning to would-be shopbreakers:

Power cut-offs in Toronto — either day or night — have no effect on burglar alarm systems installed on hundreds of premises throughout the city.

U. S. Presidential Election

President Truman's victory in Tuesday's presidential election will rank among the most spectacular and important elections in the history of the Republic. It comes at a time when the United States is occupying a paramount place among the nations of the world and it has proven that the President who never lost faith in his ability to carry the electorate had that trust deeply grounded in the service he has given his country and the world of nations.

That innate faith, coming as a consequence of devoted efforts to serve his people, and the spirit of international good will his actions have always expressed, marked all his efforts during the campaign. Stout in his faith in his party, in his cause and in himself, he never lost that confidence even though there was widespread opinion expressed by election prophets and polls that he would not carry the election. Knowing himself and his countrymen, he was not deflected from his course but fought the election to the last days before the voting with all the gifts with which he is endowed.

He has won a victory which must be an intense satisfaction after his years in public office in possibly the most critical period of the world's history. He has strengthened the Democratic Party by the election for it now controls both Houses of Congress.

One of the strangest developments of the campaign and the election was the growth of a feeling expressed by pollsters and forecasters that he was unlikely to win the election. But in the man Truman there is native assurance together with a shrewd insight into the public mind. This confidence never became over-confidence of the public support of the course he had chosen to take in regard to national affairs. The vote was in no vague manner a reply to any challenger as to the place he occupied in the minds of the majority of the people.

Not only in his own country but abroad the election of President Truman has been hailed with expressions of satisfaction. Leaders of other nations which have been associated with the United States have voiced their pleasure in his victory and have offered their personal felicitations to the stout leader of the American people who since before the end of the Second World War has been in a pre-eminent place among world statesmen seeking to mould the people to the ways of peace and security. During Mr. Truman's presidency his country has been to the fore among the great Powers that aim at world brotherhood and the end of all war.

The man who took up the reins of office on the passing of President Roosevelt in May 1945 has the intense satisfaction of knowing that his own people and other nations appreciate this service for human brotherhood.

This first victory of his in a presidential election must come to him as a matter of great satisfaction. He has borne heavy loads and has enhanced the position of the United States among the great Nations and he has gratification of knowing that his efforts have won the admiration of the people of the Republic.

Britain and E.R.P. Aid

Britain is stressing in her program that E.R.P. aid will not be used to improve the present situation in the United Kingdom's standards of consumption, which will remain at present levels. The explanation is that this is impossible with the amount of E.R.P. aid recommended and incompatible with the investment which is essential to U. K. recovery to provide for a significant improvement in consumption in 1948-49.

Rations therefore remain broadly speaking at the present level, which is described by United Kingdom Information Office as 'technically adequate but also dreary." Nor will the housing plan be accelerated while at the same time clothing supplies will probably be lower than in 1947.

A number of European countries will be able to draw upon sterling to the value of $312,000,000. Since Britain is receiving equivalent of $30,000,000 from Belgium the net total will be $282,000,000. This means the net deficit of the participating countries within the sterling area which total $491,000,000 will be removed since the remaining $209,000,000 can be financed by existing means, in particular the drawing down of sterling balances.

HOW TO GROW OLD

(The University of Michigan Extension Service is sponsoring a series of twelve lectures for older persons who wish to achieve a useful and pleasant old age.—News Item.)

"When you're over the hill," as the old song goes,
And your fingers no longer can touch your toes;
When your knuckles swell and your hair is thin
And you've lost the will or the wish to grin,
Through a dozen lectures you can be told
Just how to stay pleasant when you are old.

It is good to know when the blood turns cool
And your eyesight dims, you

And your breath runs short as you climb the stair;
When you've come at last to the grandpa stage,
They'll teach you to master the pangs of age.

I should like to hear what the lecturers say
About how to grow old in a gracious way,
But somehow I think I should first find out
If the teachers know what they're talking about.
For if they're still young, then

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

Nov. 5th., 1928

Fifty seven years ago today, former Chief of Police John Newton arrived in Belleville from England. At that time he was simply plain John Newton, a strapping young man full of life and vigor. Some seven years later on the 19th. day of March, 1878, he received his appointment as an officer on the local police force. Nine years later he was made chief of the force. The year 1878, when he first walked the streets of Belleville as a police constable, was the year Belleville was made a city. He served the city well during his fifty-seven years here and now fills the position of clerk of the police court.

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

FIGHT ON YOUR OWN GROUND

A man who has had a great deal of experience with European Communists made the observation recently that nothing throws the Communist off balance so much as to have one meet his radical economic arguments with religious arguments. He does not know what to say when a person begins to meet his propaganda with the statement of spiritual principles and to quote Jesus in refutation of Marx. Meet him on his own ground by direct attack on Communistic theory and practice, and he is ready for all comers; but require him to step over to unfamiliar terrain and wage battle on the ground of spiritual principles, and he is confused and ineffective.

It reminds one of a trick almost universally employed by the trainers of wild animals. Lions and tigers seem to have no fear at all of swords, spears, or revolvers. But the fiercest lion is cowed instantly if the trainer turns up a common kitchen chair and approaches the wild beast with the four legs of the chair sticking out as four prongs before him. The beast knows what a sword is, and a spear, and is ready for them, but the four legs of the chair utterly bewilder him.

So isn't it wise for the Christian to meet the challenge of Communism by the forceful and insistent advance of primary Christian truths? Against these, the Communist has no adequate defence.

THE FLOW OF BEAUTY

Robert Henri, the fine American painter, once made reference to the art of Renoir, the great French painter. He said: "One of the attractions of Renoir is that at times his paint seems to have a flow, one color into and through another. One thinks of the elegance of mind that was back of the line!"

The more intelligent we become, the more readily we absorb every beautiful sight in Nature, and every generous act upon the part of our friends.

Every act of kindness, or thoughtfulness is a manifestation alities seemed to flow right out of them into our own consciousness.

The mystery of death, and the departure of those about us, so beloved in life, will remain forever within the realm of baffling questionings, but this we do know—that all life is but a part of the great stream of beauty. Significant and insignificant lie down together, forever intermingling — silent though that existence may be.

We must learn to think upon happiness as one of the commonplace miracles that works out naturally, as all miracles do, though according to laws shrouded in can be analyzed but why is there the same color to the bloom, no matter where planted, and how the color anyway?

To many, life seems very empty and gray. Such people have somehow, missed the eternal flow of beauty that is as much a heritage to the simplest of earth as to the greatest.

Our struggle should be toward a complete life — one unhampered by doubts and glooms. But to journey this way, there must be an inward love for life and for all things that contribute to this love.

Mackenzie's Column:

Writer Returns To the Scenes Of Childhood

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

Did you ever have an overpowering urge to return to the scenes of your childhood after long years of absence?

Well, I did, and that's what I was doing when I played hookey from this column the last fortnight of October. I went back to my native Vermont to try to renew acquaintances which had been largely severed for a generation —a daring adventure and one I approached with a mixture of eagerness and of fear that I should fail in my quest.

And just what, you ask, has this to do with the "foreign affairs" which I am supposed to analyze? Well, that's a fair question, and I plead guilty to straying a bit.

I'm not sure what impelled me to make this trip, but I felt that I had to get back to the old days among the mountains and lakes where my dad was a Methodist clergyman in various parishes.

Burst of Color

Thus it was that finally I crossed Lake Champlain on the ferry from the New York side, and arrived in Northern Vermont amidst a burst of Indian Summer which surely had been prepared for the prodigal.

We haven't space to go into all my reunions, but among them was one with Charles E. Crane, the Green Mountain philosopher who daily broadcasts his news and views to Vermonters. Then there was Fred Peters, who abandoned newspaper work to grow apples on South Hero Island in Champlain—with vast success.

Struck by Discovery

Well, as I renewed acquaintance with Vermont and her people I was struck by the discovery that while she had kept step with progress, she hadn't changed greatly physically or in her attitude towards life during the last generation. She is the same kindly, upright (though never austere) personality who ever since colonial days has contributed greatly to the welfare of our country and helped build it to the paramount position it now holds in world affairs.

You don't need to know people to encounter friendliness in Vermont—or in any other state of our grand union, as my experience has shown me.

Anglican Cleric Thinks Russia's Desire is Peace

Hamilton, Nov. 5 (CP)—The "Red Dean" of Canterbury reiterated Thursday he believes Russia's one desire is peace.

"They have more cause to fear war than we," the 73-year-old Anglican cleric told nearly 1,400 people who heard the first address in his current Canadian lecture tour.

The Dean, Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, returns to Toronto today, despite the protests of controller David Balfour who said he would try to find a way to stop the dean from speaking there.

His arrival from England by air Wednesday touched off a storm of controversy because of his consistent support of the Soviet Union. Officials of the Church of England in Canada said he was "on his own" during his visit.

Wearing the gaiters and knee breeches of an Anglican dean with a diamond-studded crucifix given him by Patriarch Alexei of the Russian Orthodox Church, the dean said Russia was primarily interested in rebuilding war-devastated sections of the country.

Near the end of his 90-minute speech he was interrupted by a heckler.

"Let us try to understand the Russians," he said. "We can teach them."

"Yes, they can teach us mass murder," shouted a man in the balcony of the collegiate auditorium where he spoke.

Cries of "throw him out" and "shut up" silenced the heckler.

The dean was interrupted by applause when he said the Russians believed the western Allies had no right to be in Berlin and thought the United States and Great Britain were using western Germany as a base from which to attack the Soviet.

Dr. Johnson was described as a "messenger of peace" by Rev. E J. Etherington, retired Anglican minister, who was chairman of the meeting.

Napanee Paper Enters New Year

(Editorial from Napanee Express)

With this issue, the Napanee Express proudly enters its 88th year of publication. Although over the 87 years of its existence, the paper has been published by eight different owners and its format has changed from ten, to six, to seven and recently to eight columns in width, this newspaper now, as then, is devoted to the progress of the community and the welfare of its people.

There are differences in the objectives of newspapers from the period in which this newspaper had its beginning and now. At that time, people did not have as broad a field from which to form their views. The weekly newspaper of 1862 was, in many cases, the only source of information for the vast majority of its subscribers. The political affiliations of the paper were much more violently expressed in its columns than today. The first issue in 1862 made it clear to its readers that its avowed purpose was to oppose the policy of the Conservatives. The first issue that the present owners published last May emphasized that the paper was prepared to treat political events in accordance with their importance.

The newspaper is an integral part of the growth of any community and country. When the "Weekly Express' was founded, Napanee was only a police village. It was 1864 before the community was incorporated as a town and five more years were to pass before Confederation. Now, in its 88th year, the Express will see the final incorporation of the British North American colonies when Newfoundland joins the Dominion of Canada next spring.

A brief history of the ownership of the paper would show that Thomas S. Carman, who founded the paper, sold it to T. W. Casey in 1871. Mr. Casey was evidently a strong newspaperman, but his strong views on the temperance issue at that time cost him many subscribers and he transferred ownership to John Benson. Mr. Benson, although less violent in his views, could not manage the paper successfully, and it soon reverted to Mr. Casey. In 1880, the paper was sold to William O'Bierne and it changed hands again in 1886, when Mr. O'Bierne moved to Stratford and founded the "Beacon," now part of the "Beacon-Herald" and a thriving Ontario newspaper. J. C. Drewry, who published the paper for the next four years, sold it to John Pollard and E. McLaughlin and left town to take part in the Klondike gold rush. Mr. McLaughlin soon retired and in 1905, Mr. Pollard transferred the ownership to his son, E. J. Pollard, a well-known resident of the town. Mr. Pollard, as proprietor of the Napanee Express Printing House, published the newspaper for 43 years, until the present owners assumed control last May.

Although there will be few people in the town or district who remember the origin of the Express, the present staff includes F. J. Vanalstine and Ralph Ham, both of whom have served the newspaper faithfully for more than fifty years.

General Lin Piao, left, is leader of the Chinese Communist troops who scored an overwhelming victory over Nationalist government forces in Manchuria. Piao's forces are now reported massing for another giant offensive, with the important city of Mukden secured. General Fu Tso-Yi, right, is responsible for the government's defence of North China. He is the governor of Suiyuan and has been a North China war lord since 1931. He is reported to have a force of between 200,000 and 300,000 men at his command; but military experts say that Fu can expect no substantial reinforcements from north or south. Occidentals have been warned to leave the threatened areas. (Central Press Canadian)

YES, SIR, THAT'S MY ULCER

It makes my hackles rise when I hear some clever person cracking wise about worry or anxiety bringing on gastric ulcer—that's as sensible as it would be to say that chill brings on fever or fever chill in malaria.

Persons who have gastric (duodenal, peptic) ulcer are generally more difficult to live with that healthy persons are. In some cases the "nervous" symptoms overshadow the ulcer symptoms. Since the flurry of popular interest in "psychosomatic" medicine three or four years ago, this glib notion that "nervousness", anxiety, worry, domestic or business problems may cause ulcer has done more harm than good, I think.

Without minimizing the influence of the emotions upon digestion—as Prof. Walter B. Cannon so well described in his book bodily changes in pain, hunger fear and rage—I merely remind you that it takes a powerful amount of emotion to cause ulcer in a person whose nutritional condition is not deficient to begin with.

The fact of the matter is, children, that the 'nervous" symptoms and the ulcer symptoms in these cases go back to a common cause—nutritional deficiency. As one surgeon expressed it, in a paper read before his medical society, on prevention of recurrence of peptic ulcer after operation:

"In peptic ulcer cases the whole alimentary canal is diseased . . . the nervous system of the patient is always affected in an adverse way. These patients are starved generally and specifically . . . oversupply of refined carbohydrates which causes a dangerous reduction of the vitamin and mineral concentration in the blood stream. Peptic ulcer is never caused by nervousness. It is associated with it. Stresses, strains and emotional upsets do not cause ulcer, but bring into more prominence conditions which already exist."

Refined carbohydrate. What have I been telling you over and over about Yankee Stomach — acidity, bloating, fullness after eating sour eructations, gas, heartburn, etc, etc.? The gist of it is in the pamphlet. So you have indigestion—for copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope.

If you just want to know what to take or not to take to relieve stomach acidity send stamped self addressed envelope and ask in writing (no clipping please) for pamphlet on Yankee Stomach.

It is not that refined carbohydrates (white flour, white sugar and the innumerable things in which these high calorie foods are the principal ingredients) do any harm. They are wholesome, cheap, easy to eat even when you are not at all hungry, easily and quickly digested, good sources of muscle energy, highly nourishing or fattening — yet even though the average person gets only about half of his or her daily calories from these refined carbyhydrates the average American diet is a deficiency diet because it fails to provide enough vitamins and minerals to maintain good nutrition, vigor, vite.

Now if any muttonhead asks me which vitamin or mineral I recommend for stomach ulcer, remember, I can get over to the bowling green in three to seven minutes, depending on whether I thumb a ride.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Open Squawker

You keep writing about your interest in protecting mankind. Why don't you warn the public about the poisoning and butchering of people by the medical profession you dare not open your squawker for fear the ax of the American Ledical Association will fall on Dr. Brady. (J. M. R.)

Answer—Hush, child. The Big Noise of the A.L.A. has not attacked me now for quite a while

X-Ray Treatment

Sister had large goitre. She received X-ray treatments and it has completely disappeared. I have one too, but hesitate to have X-ray treatments for fear of ill effects on the heart. Have Ben Told. (Mrs. J. P.)

Answer—In your place I'd have the X-ray treatments.

Sleep Rations

Boy 14 years old retires at 10 or 10:30 p.m. and rises at 7 a.m Is that enough sleep? He is very irritable and nervous, plays a lot of baseball and football and does a lot of running. (Mrs. T. R.)

Answer—Children aged 4 years need 12 hours sleep, 5 to 7 years 1 holurs, 8 to 11 years 10 hours 12 to 16 years 9 hours. These are minimum sleep rations. Your boy would be less nervous and irritable if he got 10 hours sleep every night. Too much sleep never harms a youth. Too little keeps a good many young people below standard in vite.

Nfld. Rail Strike Showing No Signs of Break

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 5. (CP) —The Newfoundland rail strike, going through its 25th day today with no sign of a break, has hit at almost every phase of the island's life.

The Evening Telegram said Thursday that a national disaster is threatened by strangulation of the sole artery of transportation.

The big Gander airport probably will be forced to close down next week because of a shortage of fuel. The 10 airlines operating Trans-Atlantic flights through Gander—as many as 1,700 flights a month—will be forced to move to Sydney, N.S., and Moncton, N.B.

Crops in the west coast agricultural area are starting to spoil because they cannot be shipped and there is little storage space.

The mails are being seriously delayed.

Needed imports are piling up at Sydney, N.S., and other Canadian ports.

Pulpwool shipments are piling up at Sydney, N.S., and other Canadian ports.

Shipments at Standstill

Pulpwood shipments to mills are at a standstill.

Shipments of copper, lead and zinc ores from Buchans in Central Newfoundland have stopped.

The number of unemployed is increasing along the St .John's waterfront.

Outport suppliers cannot distribute goods to their nearby communities. Storms or frozen ports might later prohibit distribution of these winter stocks altogether.

While the government in some quarters is supported for opposing the 2,500 workers' demands for a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase, there is a growing general feeling that the situation must end.

Because there are so many categories of railway workers it is almost impossible to give a basic rate. Even among employees engaged in the same type of work wages vary in different parts of the island. Some are on hourly and some on monthly rates.

However, some of the rates paid are: Truckmen, $140 a month; helpers, 65 cents an hour; section foremen 59 cents an hour, shed laborers 48 cents an hour, and dockyard carpenters 96 cents an hour.

KILLED IN CRASH

London, Ont. Nov. 5 (CP) — Five R.C.A.F. members were injured, one fatally, when an automobile left the road and overturned here early today.

Air force officials would release neither the name of the dead man nor identify the extent of the injuries of the others. It was learned that Lac. Ken Lane suffered a broken leg.

The accident occurred on No. 4 Highway a mile south of the Huron-Middlesex boundary.

NEW U. S. TANK M-46

Washington, Nov. 5 — (AP) — The United States Army said Thursday night it has a "sensational new tank," the M-46. The army's description of the M - 46 "General Patton" tank indicated it is an improved version of the present standard M-26 medium tank. More power will increase the speed 50 per cent over the M-26 model, or to 30 miles an hour, the announcement said.

14 German War Criminals Hanged

Munich, Nov. 5 (AP)— Fourteen German war criminals were hanged at Landsberg prison today in a speed-up of executions. One man won a last minute reprieve.

Today's executions brought to 43 the number of men hanged since the war crimes executions were resumed at Landsberg Oct. 15.

German church leaders have protested the hangings, but the United States military government has refused to take action except in cases where the judge adocate-general has certified that new evidence warranted a reprieve.

The last minute stay of execution went to Georg Schallermair 53 and S.S. (Storm Trooper) Sergeant charged with atrocities at a Dachau sub-camp.

United States army officials said a petition filed in his behalf had been found "of sufficient merit to warrant further investigation."

The charge had said he beat "many inmates until they died, exposing them to severe cold weather and by cutting the inmates' hair, leaving a small portion in the centre of their heads which he then pulled out.

Teen-Aged Girl Returned Home After Escapade

Kirkland Lake, Nov. 5 (CP)— A teen-age Toronto girl picked up by police here in company with two youths dressed in army uniforms ten days ago, is expected to arrive in the Queen City, today.

The girl, Wednesday was given a suspended sentence and ordered to sign a $100 bond to keep the peace for one year when she appeared in police court. The girl, Mildred Milner, was arrested shortly after the two youths— Frank O'Connor, 19, and Alan R. Lane, 18—had solicited funds from the steward of the Canadian Legion Branch here to further their hitch-hiking tour.

O'Connor was sentenced to three months in jail when his record showed several convictions for theft and the wearing of army uniforms without proper authority. He piled up his record of convictions in Eastern Ontario.

O'Connor told the court that, if he were allowed his freedom, he could get a job in Kapuskasing as a camp cook where he allegedly worked last Winter and intimated that he should go free because he had not been in any trouble at the time of his arrest. His pleas were of no avail.

The third member of the party Lane, claimed he had a job waiting for him later this month in Toronto, and, although he was sentenced to 60 days in jail, Magistrate S. Atkinson hinted that something might be done for him. Lane's previous record was made up of two vagrancy convictions.

Must Fight Forces That Destroy Christian Home

Calgary, Nov. 5 (CP)— Catholic women must fight against "forces in the would that would completely destroy the Christian home," Rt. Rev. Msgr. W. J. Burns of Halifax told delegates attending the 28th annual Convention of the Catholic Womens League of Canada.

In an address Thursday night before more than 150 convention delegates, Msgr. Burns, Provincial director the C.W.L. for Nova Scotia said keeping the home intact depended on the parents and their auxiliaries.

"We know that today there are forces in the world that would completely destroy the Christian home," he said. "We must fight against these powers.

"Your home is what you make it; your children are what you give them so that future generations depend upon our efforts to make present generations grow in love, respect and fear of God."

One of the highlights of the second day of the six-day convention Thursday was a ceremony conferring the Procclesia Medal on Mrs. W. J. Dundin, National President of the organization. The medal, instituted by Pope Leo 13 and conferred on Mrs. Dundin by Pope Pius 12, was presented by the Most Rev. William M. Duke, Archbishop of Vancouver. It was presented to Mrs. Dundin "in recognition of outstanding work with the C.W.L. in Canada."

Another speaker Thursday, Rt. Rev. T. M. Nichol of Vancouver told delegates there was a need "of breathing a new spiritual being into a soulless generation." He deplored a tendency of many churchgoers to neglect Christian principles in their approach to the business, social and political sides of their lives.

CAN'T SHARE SEAT

Rochester, N. H., Nov. 5— (AP) — A Democrat and a Republican who tied for a New Hampshire House of Representatives seat learned Thursday night they won't be allowed to share it as they planned.

Harry Jackson, secretary of state, heard of the plan and announced that if neither candidate asked a recount or if one was held and the 505-505 tie remained, the legislature's election committee must decide.

Famous Leaders Pictured By Brig. J. Genet

Speaking before members of The Belleville Lodge 123 A. F. & A. M. at the fourth degree Thursday evening, Brigadier J. Genet stolidly denied the criticisms of writers against some of the generals and war leaders of the World War II in saying, "There is not an atom of truth in them."

Brig. Genet was introduced to the meeting, presided over by Wor. Bro. H. Pitt, by Wor. Bro. E. Fairman as a veteran of two wars and commander of the 1st Canadian Corps wireless communications during World War II. After the cessation of hostilities, being favorably disposed to the Bay of Quinte area, Brig. Genet decided to take up residence near Belleville and is engaged in the agriculture industry on the south shore of the bay.

During that part of his military career spent under the command of General Crerar the speaker had occasion to meet many famous personages who dined with the General. Among these were King George VI, Duke of Kent, Prince Charles of Belgium, Winston Churchill, Ernest Bevin, Mackenzie King and numerous others.

Known as Difficult Child

In order to clarify his opening statement, the speaker gave his personal impression of three of the most famous leaders he had opportunity to observe and become acquainted with. He described Field Marshal Montgomery as 'the most controversial personage of the war.' Born in Australia, Montgomery was known as a difficult child and carried this reputation through his early military days. In 1940 he had command of a division in France and managed to pull his troops out in good order. The speaker described him as 'a perfect little martinet,' but a leader who never entered a battle unless he was sure of supplies and reinforcements, and one who never lost a battle during his career. He had the confidence of his men, and, despite post-war controversy, he was considered by the Americans as a successful leader.

Keen Sense of Humor

SHE'LL LET IT GROW!

In 1932 when Mrs. Johnny Olsen was much younger and had much less hair, she made a vow that she would never cut her hair as long as a Democrat sat in the White House. Having digested several U.S. national polls, she thought that the U.S. was due for a change and hereupon was ready to start her snipping job. However, she can let it go on growing now that President Harry S. Truman was re-elected. (Central Press Canadian)

Winston Churchill was described by the speaker as a great big fellow, with a keen sense of humor; rough and tough, but with a simple heart and a great trust in the Almighty. Though Churchill was not elected and could not be elected, he will go down in history as the greatest Prime Minister the world has known.

General 'Ike' Eisenhower was described by the speaker as a man who lays no claim to greatness. His position in the war was one of a captain and manager of a team. Though he was always ready to accept responsibility, Eisenhower refused the presidency of the United States at the end of the war, because he knew that the political and military do not mix.

In concluding his address the speaker said, "If we can produce such men at times of need — need we worry?"

He called upon his listeners to have faith in their democracy which they had formed through the years of the past.

In expressing the appreciation of the meeting, Wor. Bro. L. A. Kells described the address as "a splendid picture of the personalities described by one who knew them."

The Experts Say . . .

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Nov. 5 — (CP) — A third-storey flat can blossom into a genteel apartment under the hand of a woman with a paint brush.

Try it some time. Cost of such a decorating job is practically nil because there's a casein paint on the market that's ideal for brightening dingy walls, ceilings and even woodwork. The substance is sold in powdered form and one box costs around one dollar. A single carton is enough to do a medium-sized room. It even comes in those popular pastel shades — blue, pink, green, biege —and is washable.

Here's a tip for those living in cramped quarters — a room with woodwork painted the same color as the walls appear larger than one in which walls and woodwork are contrasting shades.

She may not fancy herself a carpenter, but with a bit of originality and some odd pieces of old furniture, the housewife can put the modern touch on practically any room. An old piano-bench can be turned into a coffee-table.

Shorten its legs two or three inches and remove old paint with paint remover. A coat or two of varnish stain finishes the job.

The makings of end-tables lie in any empty nail-kegs the neighborhood hardware store may have on hand. Sandpaper them first—unless you want them to keep that "rustic look" — and then varnish with a dark stain.

If any one of the family likes puttering with electrical appliances, quite often he can turn out an attractive lamp or two, using some prettily-shaped bottle as the base.

Couples buying new furniture should remember that it requires intelligent care if it is to last for any length of time.

Fine woods should never be placed near radiators, open windows, or in bright sunlight. In addition, to protect the delicate mechanism of a piano which is especially sensistive to changes in temperature, place it next to an inside rather than an outside wall.

Moisture on mirrors may get under the edges and spoil the silver. See that the mirror is wiped, first with a slightly damp, soft cloth and then polished with a dry cloth.

There's even an art in buying kitchen utensils, the bride will soon discover when she begins her shopping. The best baking utensils have few seams and smooth edges, making them easy to clean.

Pie plates of heatproof glass or porcelain enamel, are good for baking pastry. Baking sheets are best for cookies because a pan with high sides tends to reflect away the heat and shield the top of the cookies or biscuits. Muffin pans should have a flat surface and as few joinings as possible.

Graters with drilled holes are preferable to those with punched holes. The latter are rough and likely hard to clean. In addition they may give the food a mushy rather than a grated appearance.

Publicity Clinics For Safe Skiing

Montreal, Nov. 5 (CP)—Ski enthusiasts, fearing a succession of broken legs and collarbones may give the sport a bad name today set about making it safe for amateurs.

A special committee was established Thursday night at a meeting of the Laurentian Zone Ski Committee to put across the idea of safe, controlled skiing to novices, especially those of school age.

The committee's program will include a publicity campaign, ski clinics, lectures and movies on how to keep safe on Quebec's province's snow-covered trails.

The first clinic will be held Nov. 20.

Comprehensive Survey Of Snow Being Made By Canadian Scientists

Ottawa, Nov. 5 (CP) —Scientists say Canada is hopelessly wide open to an imminent sky invasion by a material that is just about as complex as any known—or unknown—to man.

But there's nothing to panic about. It's nothing more dangerous or spectacular than snow.

From a tiny start 14 years ago when the R.C.A.F. wanted to know more about skis, snow has become one of the most important subjects of study at the National Research Council. And it is a fundamental link in the many studies Canada now is making of her winter and her northland.

George Klein, the 44-year-old N.R.C. physicist who has been in on the hunt from the start, will tell you that Canada still has a long way to go before she knows all there is to know about a substance that lies feet deep from Atlantic to Pacific for months of the year.

Snow, for instance, has properties which vary more than those of any other known material. Its hardness can vary 50,000 fold its density ten fold. Its characteristics can know infinite varieties. At times 95 per cent of its volume can be air.

Canada's knowledge of it stemmed from that search for an aircraft ski, which itself had a rather ironic ending. By the time a small group of N.R.C. workers had concluded that a long very narrow ski was best. The air force interest was moving away from skis towards airports cleared of snow.

Now interest has increased so much that no less than 70 representatives of government and industry attended a snow conference a little over a year ago. The services are working on dozens of problems. Highways Departments are interested in clearing roads. Lumbermen are interested in better log sleds. The R.C.M.P. is trying out a new northern sled made by the N.R.C. Hydro firms fret about ice on their wires.

A host of data has been accumulated from tests made at weather stations and in another few years Canada should be able to tell anyone interested the type—and there are nine principal types — and condition of snow he is liable to find in any region.

The council hopes to set up soon two snow laboratories, one in the Rockies mainly to study avalanches, the other in Ottawa to continue the study of snow's physical properties. It also is interested in such problems as improved over-snow vehicles and the structural qualities of aircraft skis.

The Rockies laboratory will be set up with the advice of a Swiss scientist, Dr. Marcel de Quervan who has been loaned to Canada for a year and who is a leading snow expert.

The Swiss have mastered avalanches in their Alps until they can predict them with surprising accuracy. They even frustrate them by using trench mortars to set them off when they'll do the least harm.

Board Reserves Decision After Hearing Evidence

Toronto, Nov. 5 (CP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board is pondering a labor union's application to prosecute the head of the Benedict Proctor Silver Company of Trenton, Ont., for what the union claims were unfair labor practices.

The board reserved decision after hearing evidence that when the International Jewelry Workers Union (C.I.O) demanded higher wages, H. J. Cradduck, company president, said the firm couldn't afford to raise the pay and might have to close because it was losing money.

W. R. West, counsel for Mr. Cradduck, contended that the firm head was within his rights in considering closing the plant if he could not reach agreement with the union.

But union counsel E B. Jolliffe claimed that Mr. Cradduck had made a "calculated effort" to rid the plant of the jewelry workers union.

GYPSIES LEAVE HALIFAX

Halifax, Nov. 5 — (CP) — Led by their elderly king driving a new-model sedan, a band of 200 gypsies was reported here today to be heading for Toronto.

After one of them, dark-eyed Annie Demitro, pleaded guilty to a robbery charge in police court here, the gypsies began their exodus from Halifax because police "are making it too hot for us."

The girl was arrested after Estonian seaman Robert Tolli said she robbed him of $12 while they embraced.

Thursday night, police said all the nomads had left.

FUMES KILL CHILD

Oshawa, Nov. 5 — (CP) — Garry Farrow, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Farrow, is dead, and his parents are in hospital here after being overcome by gas fumes early today.

Early arrival at the family home by Mrs. Florence Tomlinson, a Red Cross nurse, saved Mrs. Farrow. The woman had been ill and was in serious condition when the nurse arrived 15 minutes before schedule. The nurse carried a key to the house and when she opened the door she found the home full of gas fumes.

Gen. De Gaulle Hopes Followers Will be Elected

Paris, Nov. 5 —(AP)— Gen. Charles de Gaulle has called for the election of his followers to the Upper House of Parliament Sunday. He said this would save France from Anarchy.

De Gaulle said Thursday night that if his party —Rassemblement du Peuple Francais —gets control of the Upper House, it will use its influence to bring about new general elections for the powerful lower house —the National Assembly.

The electoral college will name 267 of the 320 members of the council of the Republic Sunday. The others, representing overseas territories, will be picked later.

The council, by contract with the assembly, has no real legislative powers, but De Gaulle said that if it were nominated by his R.O.F., it could "do much to provoke a return to Democracy and a consultation of the people."

Last Oct. 18 municipal councils throughout France picked 100,011 electors. They, along with 3,032 general councillors and 546 assembly deputies, will choose the members of the council of the Republic.

THE VENABLES

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

Weeny had had scarlet fever and had been quarantined in the front room with Mama, and Papa had slept at Aunt Ida's house for a few weeks, but that was all over and forgotten, except by Weeny, who couldn't hear what was said to her any more unless it was said on her left side.

And there had been a picnic to Ocean View — a wonderful day of unlimited chocolate cake and squashy apricots, something eternally to remember because the sun had been so hot and the ocean so blue and the warm wind on the girls' blowing hair so sweet with the breath of flowers. But that was over too when things at the Venables' house began to go wrong.

Lily and Flo noticed it when their mother was marketing. She did a good deal of buying at the back door. The Chinese fruit peddlers came in with their swinging great straw baskets and lifted the poles from their bent shoulders, and Willie, standing with a child at her knee and a few others respectfully hovering about, looked critically at the tomatoes and peaches.

"That's too much," she said over and over again. And although she had said it many times before, more or less automatically, somehow now there was real feeling in it.

Money matters were going badly with Paul, and although Willie didn't in the least know what it was all about and wasn't supposed to know what it was all about, still she was worried. She wished fervently and aloud, in her mother's hearing, that men wouldn't bother about such things; they talked and talked and talked about them and what good did that do?

As for old Mr. Sather, she hated him. A bank full of money and everyone knew that Mrs. Peder Sather drove in her own carriage drawn by magnificent grays — and yet he would fuddle and hesitate and make conditions about renewing poor Paul's note! And Paul with six children!

Willie got quite savage with Dolly, or whenever one of the tradespeople reminded her of bills or when there was any little plumbing or mending job to be done about the house.

"Then we won't have a vegetable!" she would say heatedly to the maid, when they were discussing meals, and Dolly would say in her doleful voice that it would be kinder queer to have just the chops and potatoes, the soup and the boiled pudding. And yet nobody didn't seem to eat the cauliflower much, and the children were something terrible about greens.

"Papa isn't made of money!" Willie reminded the children frequently. And she was most irritable of all when her husband mildly commented on private - school fees, dancing lessons, the new berry set. "Very nice, very nice, but we're supposed to be going kind of slow, Miss Willie!" he would say.

"Good heavens, Paul!" Willie might respond spiritedly. "D'you think I enjoy handing the Marchands thirteen dollars for the children's schooling every month? D'you think I don't worry over bills until I'm actually gray? Mama having to give up her house and come here, and the girls hinting to me that you and I ought to help out with their rent, when all the time I don't know myself how we're going to pay Holtmeier and Dr. Swann! It's just outrageous — people like ourselves— my grandmother having one of the biggest plantations in Georgia—"

"Well, well, well," Paul would say soothingly. But he was anxious too. There was hardly a morning now in which Willie did not ask for money at the breakfast table, and he was uncomfortably conscious of not having it.

"Will a dollar be enough?" he might ask, his hand in his pocket.

"Well, if that's all you've got, Paul!"

"I can bring you out some more tonight." He might take back the big silver dollar; substitute a small, shining five-dollar gold piece. Willie, taking it, would murmur explanations.

"I've got to pay something to Cardella at the market. And there is the girls' violin lesson, and half-soling Georgie's school shoes — that's thirty-five cents. Then I thought I'd look at some silk gloves to go with my old blue."

Once he talked of a check-book for his wife; Willie laughed wearily at the idea. She said that she left business to men. Flo and Lily listened anxiously to their elders' talk.

"I hate men and I hate boys!" Flo said more than once, forcefully.

"What say?" her grandmother might ask.

"I say I hate men and I hate boys!"

"You don't know what you're talking about. You'll feel different about the boys when you're older. What makes you think you hate boys?"

"Oh, becuz—"

"Becuz' isn't any answer."

"Well, becuz they have everything. Looky, they have all the money, and they always sit on the outside of the pew at church and they think they're so smart!"

She watched them jealously: men and boys. She was eternally fretted by the injustices of the feminine lot.

"I hope to goodness," said her mother uneasily, "that Flo isn't going to grow up strong - minded."

"Flo's going to be one of them short-haired ladies that wear pants," said old Mrs. Hawkes.

"I am not!" Flo shouted, redcheeked, shamed, angry.

"Florence, you say, 'Excuse me, Grandma', to Grandma or I'll give you something to cry for!"

• • •

One rainy day they were all upstairs in Willie's room when Paul came in unexpectedly from downtown. Willie could not remember Paul's coming home in midafternoon in all the years of his service to the inexorable demands of the bank.

Now and then he had lingered in the morning awaiting the arrival of a baby, or perhaps for Howden to take charge of a baby's arrival, and when he had had a bad bronchial cough he had managed to get home at 4:30 every afternoon.

But to have him walk in cheerful and well at ten minutes past three was a new experience, and the women dropped their sewing in their laps and stared at him amazed.

Willie, her mother and her sister Daisy were in the room with Miss Potts, who was engaged at the rate of a dollar a day and one way carfare to come and take charge of the Spring sewing. Miss Potts was at the sewing machine, embedded to her knees in small drawers and petticoats only half finished; she kept her grizzled head turned away during the conversation and unobtrusively went on with her seams.

Also in the room were Spencer, playing discontentedly in his crib, his cheeks streaked with tears; Virgie-Lou and Weeny, aged four and six, crawling in around the legs of bed and chairs and murmuring at some game, and Florence, home with a heavy cold.

Outside the French windows intermittent rain glittered on the balcony and spattered muddily in the garden. Indoors there was a queer lifeless chill and dimness; downstairs in the kitchen Dolly thumped irons steadily; from the upstairs bedroom came the snores, the rather abrupt snorts of Uncle Roswell, heavily asleep, fully clad, on his bed. Willie had what she called "an upset stomach." After her second trip to the bathroom her mother and sister exchanged suspicious and significant glances.

"Another baby'd be about all we needed!" the old woman muttered once, under her breath.

And suddenly here was papa, damp and breathless from the walk downhill.

Papa sat down in a low chair, laughing, eager to tell them of the new plan that had brimmed his whole being with life and enthusiasm and hope. The women, Willie wiping pale lips with a rumpled damp handkerchief, listened in astonishment.

Well, in the first place, the bank wouldn't renew his note.

"But," he said triumphantly, "Bates suggested that I go down to the Anglo-Californian and talk with Bill Burns. Well, at lunchtime down I went! He took me to lunch at the club and we had quite a talk. I reminded him I had six children and a sick brother-in-law and that thirty-six hundred a year was a pretty tight fit. At first," Paul Venables said, still twinkling, and beaming with his great plan, "he was a little—dry. He couldn't go on any notes, wasn't in that sort of business. 'But look here, Paul,' he said, all of a sudden, 'why don't you take those children out to the Mission?" 'The Mission?' I said, 'Why should I?' "

They all laughed at this, not knowing why.

" 'Well,' he said," Paul went on, " 'we're opening a branch at Howard and Thirtieth and we'd make you manager'."

"Manager!" Willie said, brightening just a little.

"Manager. He said twenty-seven hundred a year to start on, and two assistant tellers, janitor, errand boy — the whole thing. I'd be manager."

"But twenty-seven hundred, after thirty-six hundred!" Willie began in dismay. "That's coming down instead of going up, Paul."

"I shook my head," Paul went on eagerly. " 'No,' I said, 'that'd be a come-down I couldn't quite work,' 'Ah,' he said, 'but I'd make it three thousand to get you there. and there's a house, rent free.' 'Oh,' I said, 'that puts a different complexion on it. A house, eh?' 'Yep, our old place on Shotwell Street, where my brother and I were born," he said. 'Lots of rooms, barns, windmill; I used to keep a man there to run the place but it's been empty three or four years now. No luxuries, of course; it's an old-fashioned place, but perhaps your wife could fix it up! School about three blocks away—good school—' "

"Oh, Popper!" Flo shrieked in the first pause, strangling him with her hearty embrace, dancing even while she violently kissed him. 'Oh, we're going to live in the Mission! Oh, my dream come true! Oh, Papa, did you say a windmill? Oh, Mama—"

"Florence be quiet," said her mother, wiping pale lips. "Well, that would be quite a change," she added doubtfully.

"No gas and no bathroom," the man was saying briskly. "It's in bad shape, and I gather it's a pretty old-fashioned place. But expenses would be light — you could raise your fruit and your vegetables — plenty of room for these girls and boys to spread, and we pay off our note in two years!"

"Public schools," Daisy said, crimping a folded hem with her long thin finger and thumb. "H'm!"

"Coal-oil lamps," Willie said, swallowing.

"I think ye'd be nothin' short of crazy to take all these children out into the Mission," old Mrs. Hawkes put in heavily, "and expect 'em to grow up like weeds. Willie's got 'em in Miss Marchand's, where they're getting French and drawing and a lot of things they'd never get in public schools, and you've got gas laid in your house and a good paved street!"

A silence. Flo's heart shriveled. She felt rather than saw that her father's hopeful mood of adventure and courage, had been deflated like a pricked balloon.

"I don't believe Dolly'd go; she wants to be near North Beach." Willie said mildly. "It seems a funny idea of Billy Burns," she added musingly, "interfering in our affairs!"

"Well, you girls think it over," Paul said, trying for an encouraging and buoyant note. "It seemed to me it might be the way out," he added, looking from face to face hopefully. "We rent this place; that takes care of the mortgage—"

"For that matter we don't pay any rent here, Paul," Willie observed, as he paused expectedly.

"Well, we pay taxes, dear. That is over a hundred and thirty a year. And then there's interest on the mortgage. It counts to at least twenty-five dollars."

"Well, twenty-five dollars a year isn't much rent."

"Twenty - five dollars a month. Three hundred a year."

"Who pays that?" Willie asked, startled. "We own this house. You paid seven thousand dollars for it, before we were even married!"

"I know dear. But there are taxes. And then we mortgaged when little Willie died, before Weeny was born."

"Oh, well," said Willie, "but it isn't like rent."

"Well, I have to get back to the bank," the man said, rising. 'You girls talk it over. Billy Burns told me, and I feel it myself, that there is a great difference between being manager of a branch bank and being a paying teller in a big city one!" He stooped to kiss his wife. Their eyes met.

"How d'ye feel, Miss Willie?"

She kept her heavy, unsmiling look upon him, wiped her lips, faintly shook her head.

"Ah," he said in an undertone. "Too bad."

Flo danced with him down to the front door.

COL. DREW FAVORS

"In many other cases, I know that this criticism is made in good faith because my position at the conference has been misrepresented by the Dominion government through every one of the costl ypropaganda agencies under its control. So far it has been impossible for me to deal effectively with this misrepresentation except in Ontario. Now for the first time in the wider field I am able to put this record straight."

Mr. Drew, as Premier of Ontario, headed the province's delegation to the Dominion - Provincial Conference.

"Having regard to some of the statements you have read, you may be surprised to know that at every stage of the conference, and since then, the Ontario government advocated and in fact was the first to advocate, a national program for health, social secur-

Wanted Higher Tax

Mr. Drew said that, to pay for the proposed health and social security measures, the federal government suggested imposing a five-per-cent tax on all incomes, without exemption of any kind, in addition to present income tax. In addition, it proposed the levy of an annual poll tax, then estimated at $12, on every person 18 years of age or older, whether working or not.

"Behind the proposals of the Dominion government was another very objectionable feature. They proposed that the provincial governments should give up their most important taxing powers in return for annual subsidy payments . . ."

Mr. Drew said a national health, social security and public construction plan "must depend upon a clear understanding of the constitutional position of the different governments, and there are very good reasons why such a plan would not be workable if the provincial governments are to be dependent upon rigid subsidy payments in place of their own taxing powers for a substantial part of their necessary revenues.

London, Nov. 4 (CP)— Britain's joy over the results of the United States election was reflected today in banner headlines in London newspapers. Some examples.

"The States go wild about H-A-R-R-Y" (Mirror)

"Harry's secret weapon was people" (News Chronicle)

"Truman did it all single handed" (Mail)

"He ain't no Churchill but what the heck" (Express)

"Now Truman has it all his own way" (Graphic).

Detroit (AP)— The Detroit Free Press in its final edition Wednesday put this headline over the story of President Truman's election victory:

"Truman: 304
"Pollsters: 0"

Toronto (CP)— Angry residents of Forest Hill village—swank suburban residential area —bombarded police with questions today. They haven't any water, and won't have until noon.

Officials said the laying of a new water main caused the shortage in the north end of the village.

Said one woman resident: "How am I going to look smart today so I can go to work?"

Harried police were unable to offer any suggestion.

Warren, Me., (AP)— Six aspirin tablets and several husky men put a cow moose on its feet Wednesday.

The 500-pound animal, freed from a wire fence in which it had struggled 24 hours, was too exhausted to rise.

Game Warden William Snow administered the aspirin in water. When it took effect he and several other men hoisted the moose on its feet.

The Moose ambled back to the woods.

Culver city, Calif., (AP)— The property owners on Purdue Avenue have their street back now. It wasn't lost, strayed or stolen. They just had forgotten about it.

Recently a resident suggested to neighbors it would be nice to have the avenue paved. One of them thought it had been once—back about 1921.

A query to the city hall evoked the answer: "What street?" The city had no record of it. Seems they were lost years ago.

But workers were sent out to dig around. At two and a half feet they hit pavement, a little the worse for wear—but there.

"TAKE UP THE TORCH"

The immortal lines to the dead who fell and now rest beneath Flanders Fields are symbolized in this gigantic torch rising from the broken stones of a tomb. Canadians will observe November 11 as Remembrance Day for those who gave their lives in World Wars I and II. Memorial services will be held in the different towns and cities across Canada and the two-minute silence will take place. (Central Press Canadian)

Does the Public Want Service?

CUBBY-HOLE PROCEEDINGS AT THE CITY COUNCIL

For several months some grocers in this City have been attempting to limit service to the public at their shops by getting a law passed to close all groceries at 7.00 o'clock in the evening except on Saturdays and enforce a Saturday closing at 9.00 o'clock.

Thousands of you have quite reasonably come to expect service at later hours than these.

Now, when their by-law has been declared bad and they can no longer get seventy per cent of the trade to sign a petition to get such a by-law, your Council — without any petition requesting them to do anything, — without notice to you, without notice to us — and no opportunity given for dissenting citizens or merchants to express their views (although such opportunities are given normally in the most trivial matters), has passed a by-law for such closings.

This by-law had its first reading — the 18th. day of October, 1948,
its second reading—the 18th. day of October, 1948,
its third reading—the 18th. day of October, 1948,—
and is presented to you and us as a 'fait accompli' by advertisement in the newspaper October 20th., 1948.

The following members of Council participated in this and voted yes as shown by the Minutes in the Clerk's Office:

Absent when the vote was taken were Aldermen Follwell and Lummiss.

Alderman Lazenby voted against the by-law.

If you approve of this conduct and this by-law then remain quiet, but if you regard it as raw, hole-in-the-wall treatment of a question in which there is a considerable dissenting opinion, button-hole your Councilmen, and tell them so, and tell us too.

Democrats Have Governors In 29 States

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP) — Democrats will have the governorships of 29 states next year as a result of Tuesday's election.

The Republicans went into the election Tuesday holding half the 48 governorships, but the Democrats captured 20 of the 33 state contests.

The Democrats made a net gain of six governorships— winning eight from the Republicans and losing in two states, Utah and Washington.

That would make the new lineup 30 Democrats and 18 Republicans except for one election oddity.

Democratic Governor Lester C. Hunt of Wyoming was elected to the Senate. When he leaves office he will be succeeded by A. G. Crane, Republican secretary of State in Wyoming.

So the line-up then will be 29 Democratic governors and 19 Republican.

Alvin Powell Shoots Self After Arrest

Washington, Nov. 5 — (AP)—Alvin (Jake) Powell, who rose from Washington sandlots to big-league baseball fame, killed himself Thursday at police headquarters after he had been arrested on bad-cheque charges.

The 39-year-old former Yankee, Washington and Montreal outfielder fired two pistol bullets into his chest and head before detectives could disarm him.

Powell had been taken into custody at Union Station after a local hotel asked police to question him about some $300 in worthless cheques cashed during a three-day stay.

A warrant for Powell's arrest on a similar complaint was filed here several months ago.

During the questioning Powell asked for a chance to speak to a woman companion who identified herself as Josephine Amber of Deland, Fla. She told police they had planned to get married Thursday but had changed their minds.

As two detectives stood nearby Powell suddenly exclaimed to his companion:

"To hell with it — I'm going to end it all." He then fired the fatal shots.

Although Miss Amber spoke about marriage plans, Powell's wife, Elizabeth, told reporters they were not divorced. They were married in 1932 and have a 15-year-old daughter.

Powell, a native of nearby Silver Spring, Md., gained his greatest baseball fame with the Yankees during the 1936 World Series when he cracked out four hits against the Giants' Carl Hubbell in the opening game. He played part of the 1941 season with Montreal Royals.

Last year he made an unsuccessful comeback try with the class D Florida State League team at Leesburg. He batted only .200.

Manager of Team Protests Way Game Played

(By The Canadian Press)

Dick Miller, general manager of the Indianapolis Caps said Thursday a protest would be made to American Hockey League headquarters on last Wednesday night's scoreless tie game with St. Louis.

The protest will be based on the fact that the game went directly from the first period into the second without the usual 10-minute intermission.

Because of an injury to Ralph Almas, St. Louis, play was halted after 16:12 of the first period. When it was resumed, the remainder of the first period was played and the second period was started immediately afterwards.

Elimination of United States football imports as suggested by retiring president Art Chipman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers drew a cautious comment in Vancouver yesterday from the president of the Saskatchewan Roughriders, J. D. Rowand. He thought elimination of U. S. imports was "hardly practical" all at once. "That's a subject for off-season discussion when everybody's calm and collected," he said.

Stewart Maiden, the little Scott who became one of the great professors of golf, died Thursday near the course where he taught Bobby Jones the game. Maiden suffered a stroke three weeks ago which left him partially paralyzed and unconscious.

Mexican Army riders won the military jumping prize at the National Horse Show Thursday night at New York, scoring their second triumph of the day with the same form that earned them the Prix Des Nations at the 1948 Olympics. Their victory before 10,000 spectators in Madison Square Garden came in a relay event. They registered complete superiority over their military rivals from Canada and France. The Canadians came second.

The Oxford - Cambridge boat race will be contested on the Thames River March 26, it was announced Thursday at London. Previously there had been rumors that the race might be held elsewhere.

M. L. (Tory) Gregg, founder of the Western Ontario Athletic Association, was re-elected for his fifth term as president of the organization at its annual meeting at Wingham Thursday. Considered the largest Western Ontario sporting organization, the W. O. A. A. comprised 84 hockey teams last year.

Buffalo Bisons Equal Record For Hockey Loop

(By The Canadian Press)

Buffalo Bisons Thursday night equalled an American Hockey League record by scoring seven times in the second period of their game against New Haven Ramblers.

New Haven also scored three times in the hectic second frame but the combined score fell two short of equalling the single period scoring record by two teams 12, which was established by Pittsburgh and Cleveland in 1945.

Floyd Curry netted two markers for the cellar-dwelling Bisons while Fred Hunt, Doug Lewis, Tom Cooper, Ken Mackenzie and George Agar shared the balance of the goals. New Haven's goalgetters were Gino Rozzini, Jean Paul Denis, Ramsden and Wingy Johnston.

Fred Glover got a pair of tallies for the victors. Rod Morrison, Gerald Reid and Joe Lund racked up a goal apiece.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

A writer in the current issue of the Hockey News views with more orless alleged alarm what he terms an unconstitutional movement when a Pacific Coast hockey referee tossed aside his whistle and sweater for the battling garb of a player. And he warns players that "you'll have some tall explaining to do for those nasty words you've called the boys with the whistles."

* * *

The referee-turned-player in question, noe And. Tuten started the seasons as a P.C.H.L. referee, startled the puck world by turning in his puck piccolo and turning out with the Los Angeles Monarchs of the same league. Reports haven't trickled in yet, the writer claims, as to how the Tuten reacted when he met some of his former tormentors stick-to-stick, but everyone fears the worst.

* * *

"If this keeps up, it won't be safe for an honest respectable player to call a ref. a "dirty, blind so-and-so" any more. For who knows, next time he skates out on the ice he may meet the said ref. in an enemy uniform and an unholy glint in those not-so-blind peepers...."

* * *

Be that as it may. Perhaps it will work both ways. In this observer's opinion, the hockey referee, one of the most maligned sports officials extant, who returns to the ice wars in the garb of a playing warrior, has plenty of that four-letter word meaning intestinal fortitude, sEpecially if his work as an official didn't rate him wings, flowing robes and a harp. Even if such was the case, there will be plenty of the diehards waiting round the corner with scalping knives at the "ready."

* * *

Yep, these hockey Daniels throwing themselves to the ions deserve a lot of credit for valor. It is presumed that with their knowledge of the rules and regulations, the book, the finer points of the game and the wily tactics used by some players while under their eagle eyes, they will prove model players. But they should not be held responsible for their reaction if some vengeance-bent bucko wreaks havoc on their anatomies when the opportunity presents itself. And they should not be penalized too much if their idea of self-defence develops into a reasonable facsimile of the Louis-Walcott bout, or a club-swinging contest, with the noggin of the foemen with vendetta ideas, the target.

* * *

However, we do not think there will be too much trouble. Hockey players as a general rule are pretty decent fellows. Like other athletes they become inflamed in the heat of battle, but then we know a certain checker player who blew his top and his king row when he thought he had been gypped by the opposition. As a matter of fact, the ref-turned-player might be pitied at that. For he would be the target of much good-natured and other ribbing when he did commit a hockey faux pas. And the boys would not hesitate to lay it on.

* * *

In more serious vein, and speaking of officials, the OMHA Referees' Forum is being held in Kiwanis Centre at 8 o'clock tonight, and it is hoped a good turnout of local and district officials will be present to greet Secretary Jack Christie, Chairman E. M. Downey and his assistant the estimable Sam Curry of Tweed.

* * *

Referee-in-Chief Speedy St. Louis of the Belleville District Hockey League has called a meeting of his officials for Sunday at 1.30 p.m. in Memorial Arena. There is much to be discussed and all loop arbiters are requested to put in an appearance.

* * *

This is for "sure", we are informed. Tonight from 7 to 8 of the clock, hockey railbirds of the city will get a preview of what power will constitute the Northern Electric hockey club when the Barrett-Kelly crew trots out on the ice for their first practice of the season. "Junior" Barrett informs us that he expects a large turnout of puckists and that the Electrics will be represented by a strong aggregation.

* * *

Immediately following the planters workout, the 1948-9 edition of Bill Cook's Rockets juniors will go into action for their inaugural calisthenics on skates. It is expected that from from thirty to forty aspiring youngsters will be on hand in an effort to cop a position on the Rockets squad—and Mr. Cook informs this observer that any lad of junior age who can make the grade will get the job. While little can be derived anent player potentialities at a first practice, some idea of what is in the making may be had. In any event, any youngster of junior age is cordially invited to turn out with the squad.

* * *

And to the skating enthusiasts, Manager Walter Gerow of Memorial Arena announced today that the first public skating session will get under way Saturday evening starting at eight o'clock.

* * *

With ice in the arena definitely guaranteed for today other teams of the Belleville District loop are hurriedly arranging practices between now and the league opening night next Tuesday. From reports gathered from all points of the league circuit, prospects point to a strong loop with all squads having power in all departments. We haven't heard much about the Cobourg team, but you can bet your granpops' store choppers that Ed Haynes and company will throw a squad out that should compare with the best of 'em.

* * *

The Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans team in the Service Darts League is back at its old tricks. And the 9th Anti Tank Regt. squad which held a brief sojourn at the top of the league standing, is now relegated to second place. For on Tuesday night the ANAFs rolled up their sleeves, hitched up their pantaloons, parked their valuables with the bald-headed suds dispenser, under guard, and proceeded to hand their ancient enemies of the Hasty Pees Regt., an 8-3 shellacking. The victory puts the ANAFs comfortably in first place in the Miniature Harpoon League standing with a total of 31 points, five more than the second-place Anti Tankers.

* * *

Two teams of the Army, Navy, Air Force Darts Club will trek to Kingston in the near future where they will play a return exhibition engagement with two squads representing the RCHA Club in that town. The local veterans proved too good for the Kingston ex-gunners at their meeting here, defeating them two matches to none.

Toronto, Nov. 5 — (CP)—Amateur hockey, as most people realize, is a big and expensive business these days and gone are the times when a player played for the fun of playing and received his reward in the form of a banquet, a crest or a hearty handshake.

"It takes big money to operate a hockey club these days," says Dan (Kitchener - Waterloo Record) Odette, who claims that expansion of professional hockey really is the reason "amateur" clubs are finding the bidding for players stiff.

"Older players who normally would not turn pro now receive attractive offers from clubs in practically every part of the United States. These offers are used to gain higher offers whenever 'amateur' teams make their bid."

Odette says Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen (an Ontario Hockey Association senior entry) found it hard to get material but offers were agreed upon and attendance high enough to meet costs.

"It may not be generally known but the executive of the Dutchmen had to buy a $16,000 house to carry out commitments to new players," says Odette. "These players were guaranteed housing and when none could be found, it was necessary to make the real estate deal."

It's Only Money

"Have you any idea what it costs to turn out a well - dressed football player, a fashion - plate pigskinner?" asks Bobbie (Toronto Globe and Mail) Rosenfeld.

"Unless you own three or four gold mines, think carefully before you decide to buy yourself a football team. It takes more chips than you'll find at a woodchopper's ball," says Bobbie.

She says she was told that to equip one player it costs about $135 — and there are usually about 35 players on a team. But that doesn't include minor items like practice equipment, miles of tape, t-shirts, sweat socks, salaries, transportation, room and board, and so on.

"If you're thinking of buying a football team" says Bobbie, "maybe it's better you should invest in a water polo outfit where (they tell me) the boys wear little more than an expression."

Seven Calgary Players Make All-Star Team

Winnpeg, Nov. 5 (CP)— Everything a football coach could want is wrapped up in the 1948 edition of the Western Interprovincial all-star team.

Chosen for The Canadian Press by coaches and sports writers in league cities, the mythical team has speed power, a solid front wall, good kicking, expert forward passers and glue-fingered receivers.

The league champions Calgary Stampeders, unbeaten and untied in 12 circuit clashes and one exhibition game, provided the club with its nucleus of players. Seven Stamps picked up all-stars berth while four places went to the Saskatchewan Roughriders of Regina and two were voted to Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The 13 players were picked resulted from a tie for one of the line positions.

The Team

Centre, Chuck Anderson, Calgary; guards, Dave Tomlinson, Calgary and, in a tie Bert Iannone Calgary, and Bud Irving, Winnipeg; tackles, Johnny Aguirre, Calgary and Mike Cassidy, Regina; Ends, Woody Strode, Calgary, and Johnny Bell, Regina; quarter, Keith Spaith, Calgary; halves, Gabe Patterson, Regina, Don Hiney, Winnipeg, Ken Charlton, Regina, and Paul Rowe, Calgary.

Four of the players were unanimous choices — Rowe, Spaith, Aguirre and Strode. It also was a repeat performance for Rowe, Patterson, Bell and Iannone, members of the 1947 clubs.

The all-star team has two excellent kickers in Charlton and Spaith, the former with Ottawa Rough Riders last season whereas Spaith played professional with Honolulu Warriors. Spaith also has been one of the nation's forward passing sensations, completing 78 out of 154 tosses.

To mention Spaith is to mention the pass-catching Strode — they're something like pork and beans or bacon and eggs. The big Negro end and Spaith constituted one of the best two man combinations ever to tread a western gridiron.

Beaches Indians Play Hamilton Tigers in Toronto

(By The Canadian Press)

Opening guns will be fired in Canadian football playoffs tonight as Hamilton's unbeaten Tigers invade Toronto to square off with the Beaches Indians in the first game of a best-of-three final series for the Ontario Rugby Football Union title.

Another unbeaten club — Calgary Stampeders — starts on the playoff trail tomorrow when the Stamps tackle Saskatchewan Roughriders in the opener of a two-game total point set for the western title and a spot in the Grey Cup finals.

The Big Four winds up its regular schedule Saturday, with Montreal Alouettes and Toronto Argonauts still fighting for the second playoff berth behind Ottawa's leading Rough Riders.

Alouettes need a victory over the tail-end Wildcats at Hamilton to ensure themselves of second place.

Argonauts, defending Grey Cup champions, have a faint chance to stay in the title hunt, but they need a win over Ottawa in their final home game, coupled with an Alouette loss.

The Intercollegiate Union enters the home stretch as the unbeaten university of Western Ontario Mustang's entertain McGill's Redmen while University of Toronto Blues tackle Queen's at Kingston.

Tigers, who switched leagues with Wildcats this season, are counting on the smooth-passing of playing coach Frankie Filchock to see them through the finals against the underdog Toronto club. Beaches are counting on a muddy field to play havoc with Filchock's operations and give their scat-backs a chance to show effectively.

Jack Harper who led the O.R. F.U. in scoring this season, will be out there to catch Filchock's passes.

Toronto fans counting heavily on the heavy Beach line, which played a big port in Beaches' 21-5 rout of Sarnia Imperials last week in the game that assured them of a playoff berth.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

Pinehurst, N.C., Nov. 5 (AP)— Did you know that a lot of the best right-handed golfers — Ben Hogan for one— are left-handed? It's easy to figure out and the fact was emphasized the other day when Dick Mayer and Pat Cici, two of the better clouters in the current north and south open, were observed playing pool left-handed ... they're natural southpaws but they learned to use golf clubs from the other side because that's the way most clubs are made ... and everyone knows the left arm is the controlling member in playing golf ...

The Inside Dope

Douglas Clyde Walker, Wake Forest football coach who used to be a minor league baseball manager, maintains. "All you got to do to manage a ball team is to know when to take out a pitcher. It's intuition. If you know when to jerk a pitcher, you're a baseball manager."

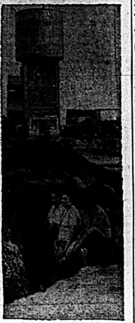
Mail From Home

Word trickling into this outpost is that mid-western United States College football fanatics have found as good a bet as Citation—Michigan State to enter the Big Nine and make it a big 10 again at the December Conference meeting. They say even Michigan's Fritz Crisler can't block this move, though he probably would like to after the rough afternoon the Spartans gave the University a few weeks ago.

End of the Line

Dugan Aycock, Lexington, N.C., pro, is threatening Craig Wood's record for giving star golfers a start. Dugan put Johnny Palmer, Clayton Heafner and Skip Alexander into the business ... Palmer's explanation of his extra-long backswing is: "Just keep reaching out for more distance." And when Sammy Snead, practising iron shots, asked: "What's wrong with those?" Heafner replied: "Nothing, except that you ought to be down there on the practice green."

NEGEV ISOLATION ENDS



—Central Press Canadian

Settlers of one of the 25 Jewish communities in the Negev are shown at the entrance to one of the dugouts in which they lived since the Negev was cut off from the main part of Israel by the Egyptian drive some months ago. The watertower in background is shell-damaged. The recent breach of the truce that took place here when the Egyptians refused to pass Jewish convoys, as called for by truce conditions, brought about some of the most severe fighting of the Palestine war and ended in a claimed victory for Israel. The Negev is no longer isolated and Israel has defied a United Nations' order to return to pre-truce positions.

Referees' Forum Slated For Kiwanis Centre

Tonight at 8 p.m., a 'Forum for Referees', sponsored by the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, will be held at Kiwanis Centre in Belleville. All referees who have a desire to encourage and promote hockey among teen-age boys in the Juvenile Midget, Bantam and Pee-Wee classes are cordially urged and invited to attend. It has been felt for some time, that a clarification of the new rules is necessary so that those in charge of the games will be fully versed in handling the games properly.

Mr. E. M. Downey, Port Hope a member of the O.M.H.A. Executive, will be in charge of the meeting while Mr. Jack Christie Secry. of the O.M.H.A. will also be in attendance as will S. R. Curry of Tweed, Assistant Chairman. This forum is open to all referees of boys' hockey in Eastern Ontario and a large attendance is expected.

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association has been making rapid strides in Eastern Ontario within recent years. The Belleville Merchants went to the Midget 'B' finals last year while Stirling Midget 'C' team lost out in the championship series to Port Dalhousie Additional towns are planning to enter the O.M.H.A. series this year.

Kansas City Pla-Mors Lose First Contest

(By The Associated Press)

Kansas City Pla-Mors have finally lost a game in the United States Hockey League.

Fort Texans trounced the Pla-Mors 9-3 Thursday night, the first Kansas City loss this season. The Pla-Mors opened the season in a tie game and followed with six straight victories.

Hank Blade slapped in all three Kansas City goals as the Pla-Mors were losing.

At Omaha, the Knights won from Tulsa 9-3. Omaha went into a 3-0 first period lead, holding the oilers scoreless until the final two minutes of the stanza.

Minneapolis rallied for four goals in the final period to win at St. Paul 4-1. Pinky Melnyk poked in the first two Minneapolis goals. Richardson scored once and picked up two assists, as did Forgie.

Leafs' Executive Most Unhappy Over Team's Play

(By The Canadian Press)

The holiday is nearly over for the National Hockey League and the six-team circuit goes back to work Saturday night.

Wednesday night's All-Star game—only activity in the league since last Sunday—put some $23,000 into the league's pension fund. But the All-Star's 3-1 victory left the front office of the Toronto Maple Leafs a little irked with their world champions.

Leafs, after winning two consecutive Stanley Cups, are an unimpressive fourth in the league standings, trailed only by the injury-stricken New York Rangers and the Chicago Black Hawks.

Rangers make their first visit of the year to Toronto Saturday when first-place Detroit invades Montreal for the second time They played a scoreless tie the first time and Detroit has beaten Canadiens 4-1 in Montreal. Rangers and Leafs haven't played before this year.

In Sunday games New York is at Chicago and Boston is at Detroit.

Rangers, badly crippled by a pre-season car accident that battered six players, should be back at nearly full strength by the end of next week.

Defenceman Bill Moe already has thrown away the helmet he wore to protect head injuries he got in the crash.

Centre Buddy O'Connor is working out daily in Montreal and is expected back next week Ed Slowinski, who cracked a knee in fall practice, is working out with the amateur New York Rovers and is due back at the same time.

Coach Frank Boucher said Slowinski and O'Connor will wind up on the same line, probably with Rangers fourth defenceman Fred Shero.

The Slowinski-O'Connor-Shero line is Boucher's answer to hockey's newest wrinkle—four forward lines.

With the N.H.L. players limit of men and a goaltender, the four-line system could leave a club dangerously short of defencemen. Boucher plans to concentrate on defencemen fast enough to double as forwards.

Conn Smythe of Toronto has in the back of his mind a different system—three lines and six defencemen with each line assigned a pair of defencemen.

Jimmy Cowan Winner of Annual Rifle Competition

Picton—Jimmy Cowan of Picton was winner of the annual rifle shooting competition conducted by Prince Edward Rod and Gun Club on Wednesday afternoon. He was rpesented with the F. L. Ward trophy. In second place was Desmond Shannon of Greenbush, who won the trophy last year. Third was Eugene Kearney of Picton; fourth Hugh Folkard of Bethel and fifth Gregory Cole, Picton.

In the evening a banquet was held at Cherry Valley hall with the W.A. serving a delectable chicken supper. The club president Major Ray Young presided and presented prizes to the winners in the shooting contest.

The club this month reaches its second anniversary and now has a membership of two hundred.

CLAIMS INVENTION—Walter E. Dudley, 72-year-old former Wisconsin timber cruiser who claims to have invented a cheaper and better method of producing steel, stands, left, beside his electric furnace at St. Johns, Que. Mr. Dudley, no metallurgist himself, worked eight years to perfect his process. He has been unable to give figures on how much more cheaply his steel can be processed but hopes eventually to see portable furnaces working small iron-ore deposits in Quebec province. (CP Photo)

COLD CROW

"It isn't so," said Time. "We planned a month ago to go to press 36 hours late so we could cover the election. Actually we went to press 38 hours later. But we've covered the election in four pages.

"We don't work that way," said Life. "We've a story on the campaign, nothing on the election. We're out on time."

Columnist Drew Pearson was badly caught. His column for the day after the election was on the men who would surround the new President—Dewey.

And the New York Journal of Commerce brought out an edition with a five-column, two-line heading in bold print which read: "Dewey victory seen as mandate to open new era of government-business harmony, public confidence."

It's closing editorial asked "what kind of a President will Thomas Dewey make?"

That one won't be answered. Thursday Dewey told newspaper men that after two defeats he doesn't plan to try again.

AGAINST DISCRIMINATION

London, Nov. 5 — (Reuters) — Aneurin Bevan, Minister of Health, said Thursday he would not allow any racial discrimination in Britain's new national health service.

The matron of a hospital in a London suburb recently banned Negro guests from a nurses' dance.

John Lewis, Labor, who raised the matter in parliament, said the ban deprived Clara Brown, the only Negro nurse in the hospital, of a privilege afforded other nurses to invite a guest.

Crofton

Crofton—Rev. Bowen Squire was a caller on this street on Tuesday afternoon last.

Mr. S. C. Clement, of Picton, called on his sister, Mrs. B. Jones and Mr. Jones on Wednesday afternoon.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Messrs Graydon and Ralph Calnan, and families, in the loss of their mother, last Wednesday morning. The funeral was held at Crofton church on Saturday afternoon, thence to Burr's Cemetery where she was laid to rest beside her husband, John Stanley Calnan who predeceased her just three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jones and Dale were Sunday tea hour guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Laforte and three sons of Timmins, have returned home after a two weeks' holiday spent with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo. Laforte, Shirley and Paul.

The Hallowe'en masquerade social held at the hall on Monday evening was well attended. A little over twenty dollars was realized.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Crook spent Wednesday evening in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Munro and Keith spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Asher at Ottawa.

The pupils of Crofton School treated their teacher, Mrs. Elmer McFaul (nee Miss Doris Fox) a recent bride, to a party on Monday afternoon and presented her with a silver water pitcher.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

"Accordin' to Gordon" is now a euphonic term of mild admonition. A group of my friends started it that way. With them it became an escape from criticism. It saves wear and tear.

You know what happens in many circles when a player makes some wrong bid. His partner may start a tirade of abusive reproof. The accused tries to defend himself with countercharges.

Neither has time to fully explain. Because the other players are anxious to get on with the game. Or dislike the wrangling. Or are not in sympathy with one or the other or both.

Much time is wasted without reaching a helpful conclusion. The issue is confused by statements that are unauthentic. Before the taunts have ended, somebody's feelings are hurt.

Not so in the bunch referred to. Partner leans toward offender and offers a cigaret in exaggerated politeness. At the same time he remarks in reminiscing tone "accordin' to Gordon," and stops.

The significance is voluminous. It expresses disapproval of an inexcusable bid. And it implies that no argument will be tolerated. All join in the good-natured chuckles that follow.

South opened with a diamond when north held this hand:

♠9 5
♥J 7 6 3
♦K 9 4
♣K Q J 5

As you can see, north has a biddable club suit. Also support for the diamond suit bid by partner. Also enough high cards for a no-trump response.

The correct first response is a takeout to two clubs. If the club suit was not biddable, a two diamond assist would be right. Without either of these, the only true bid would be one no-trump.

But north ignored these and responded with a heart. It was the only bid that was untrue. There was no sense in getting him into an argument. He simply got a treatment of "accordin' to Gordon."

Hollywood, Nov. 5. (AP)—The moustache may have been defeated at the polls, but a Hollywood expert says it's on the upswing with the United States male.

"Moustaches are definitely gaining in popularity," reports Universal-International makeup chief Buddy Westmore. But he warns that not all men should wear them.

"The trouble with men is that they try to copy someone else's moustache when they don't have the right physique or face for it," said l rushlers Buddy.

Before you start adding any upper-lip fungus, you'd better study Westmore's 10 rules for moustaches:

1. Short men should avoid them or they'll look shorter.

2. Square-jawed men shouldn't wear short, thin ones.

3. Long, narrow-faced men shouldn't grow 'em wide or let 'em droop. "Drooping creates an illusion of unhappiness."

4. A wide moustache for the round-faced.

5. Men with long upper lips should wear them.

6. Blonde men should avoid them unless they have heavy beards. "Or they can darken their light moustaches with the wife's eyebrow pencil.

7. It's all right if hair and moustache color don't match.

8. A moustache looks incongruous on a bald man. "It seems to me they're just trying to prove they can grow hair some place."

9 Beware! A moustache adds age.

10. Keep it trimmed neat to derive any benefit.

I have asked a number of film personalities for their opinion on the moustache issue. Here are their opinion on the moustache issue. Here are their replies:

Lizabeth Scott: "I think they're hideous. They tickle."

Dinah Shore: "Yes, they tickle, but it's worth it. They make men look so romantic."

Ella Raines: "I don't like them. If a man does wear one, I don't mind—as long as he keeps his distance."

6th Tyendinaga

6th Tyendinaga—Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Treverton and boys, visited at Mr. Miles Benedict's on Sunday and spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrenson, 2nd Sidney.

The local schools put on a Hallowe'en party on Friday evening. There were costumes ranging from animals, tramps to stylish young ladies. A jolly time was had by young and old, with lunch and coffee before leaving for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boldrick spent Sunday evening at Mr. Archie Meek's, Latta.

Miss Barbara Goodman, Belleville, spent the weekend with Miss Mary Boldrick.

Several from here attended the concert at Gilead on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lancaster and Bobby were Sunday visitors at Mr. Jack Emerson's, 2nd Thurlow.

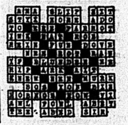
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle



Little Benny's Note Book

Us fellows were standing around the letter box talking and arguing about different subjects such as whether everything looks thinner to Chinese kids on account of their eyes being crooked and different causes that have made our mothers mad lately, Skinny Martin saying, Oh boy my mother was good and sore when she came in the bath room to see why I was so slow taking my bath, and she found out I was still trying to get the ink off my legs on account of having

Oh boay, what did she do? I said, and Skinny said, She kept on talking all the time I was scrubbing, and she wouldn't let me stop scrubbing till there wasn't a single mark left to scrub

I can tell you what made my mother the maddest lately, Glasses Magee said. She sent me to the drug store for some stamps so she could male some letters before the last cullection, and she got tired waiting for me to come back so she came out to find me, and she saw me watching a tree getting cut down, and she started to give be holey harries for not going rite home with the stamps, but that wasn't anything to what she gave me when she found out I hadn't even been to the drug store yet, he said.

and she claimed he only imagined it because he's always imagining stuff, Sid Hunt said. And they had a big argument about whether he mother got mad because it made my father win the argument and it made her lose it, Sid said.

Which just then some of us got called home for supper and the

Japan Convicted Of Waging Aggresssive War

Tokyo, Nov. 4 (AP)—Japan today was convicted of waging aggressive wars against China Russia, Britain, the United States and other western powers.

The conviction by the international Military Tribunal for the Far East came in the long trial of former Premier Hideki Tojo and 24 co-defendants of war crimes charges.

Militarists and their supporters the court held, seized control of Japan's government. They, the tribunal found, provoked war through the Manchurian conquest of 1931 and the full-scale war against China that began July 7 1937.

The court found Japan began preparations for war against China, Russia, Britain, the United States and other western powers in the early 1930s.

The Japanese army was blamed for fomenting the "Mukden incident" in 1931. The war with China, it said, was a direct result of the foreign policy adopted in 1936 when the defendant Koki Hirota was premier.

Of the 28 indicted originally two years ago, two are dead, one is a mental patient and three others are ill in a hospital.

T. S. Elliot, Poet, Dramatist Gets '48 Nobel Prize

By MAJ. HALLDEN

Stockholm, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Swedish academy today voted the 1948 Nobel Proize in literature to T. E. Eliot, British poet, dramatist and essayist.

Accused Presents Version of Fight On His Property

Simcoe, Nov. 5 — (CP) — Seth Linton, charged with the murder of Lew Stewart and John Kipp, Thursday presented his version of a fight at his home last June 6 which preceded the double slaying.

Linton, a 41-year-old well digger is being tried first for the murder of Stewart, 44, a plasterer.

He testified that Kipp, a 32-year-old Vienna carpenter called at his home early Sunday June 6. Kipp had shouted, "You make me mad," and jumped at Linton, striking him on the face with his fist. Linton fell to the floor, and Kipp had continued to strike him on the head and face.

As Kipp ran from the house Linton went to a neighbor, Leonard Maylin, and asked him to call police. He returned home without this being done.

Invited Out to Road

Kipp's automobile was parked outside Linton's house and as he passed Kipp had said: "If you want any more come out on the road."

Some two hours later, Linton testified, he heard a noise outside and got dressed. He saw Stewart's wife, who testified earlier she had lived for six years with Linton as a housekeeper, Lew Stewart and Kipp, all standing on the verandah. Stewart's wife Edith, had asked to come in. Linton ordered all three off his premises.

He said he saw Stewart and his wife struggling. He thought Stewart was trying to get into the house. He called to Maylin to get police and then loaded his rifle with six to 10 shells and took it to his bedroom.

Accused of Being Coward

Joanne Stewart, Lew's 13-year-old daughter who was staying at Linton's house, called from a window that Linton had a rifle and was "a damned coward."

Kipp had agreed and shouted that Linton was "afraid to come out and fight with his fists."

Linton said Kipp then broke in the front door. Linton picked up his rifle and ordered them all off his property. Kipp said he wasn't afraid of the rifle and struck Linton on the nose with his fist. Linton testified the blow had jarred the rifle and caused it to go off. Kipp ran down the steps and Linton followed.

Kipp had thrown a stone at Linton as he ran. Stewart grappled with Linton and the gun went off again.

Claims Rifle Jammed

Linton said today he tried to shoot but the rifle jammed. He said he believed he struck Stewart with the butt of the rifle, twice on one side of the head and once on the other.

Linton said he had then gone back into his house and waited for police to come. He said he "certainly" had not intended to kill Stewart and that he only intended to protect his house.

Provincial Pathologist Dr. W. J. Deadman said yesterday Stewart died of blows on the head and not from the two .22 calibre rifle bullets which were removed from his body.

Dr. Deadman testified both Stewart and Kipp had been drinking before they were killed.

Mrs. Cora Larmour, a neighbor of Linton's, said she saw Linton strike Stewart over the head three times with something that looked like a rifle.

Another neighbor, Leonard Maylin, said he saw Linton chase Kipp with a rifle and go "through the motions of shooting." Then Kipp fell.

David Larmour told the court he saw Kipp and Stewart drive up to Linton's house the morning of the shooting with Mrs. Edith Stewart. Mrs. Stewart, Kipp's sister and Stewart's wife, had been Linton's housekeeper for six years and lived at his home with her 13-year-old daughter Joanne.

Kipp broke down the door and entered, and a few minutes later ran out the back steps with Linton chasing him.

Linton came out the front door later, Larmour said. He saw Stewart stagger and fall from the verandah after shots were fired. Linton went over to the body and raised the rifle.

Larmour testified he turned his head away, but heard a sound as if someone was being clubbed.

Maylin said he shouted "Don't shoot" as Linton chased Kipp from the house. He saw Linton "go through the motions of shooting" but he did not hear any shots, he said.

SIX KILLED IN TORONTO TRAFFIC COLLISION

Hydro Commission To Crack Down On Municipalities

Must Stay Within Quota Or Have Further Cutoffs

Toronto, Nov. 6 — (CP) — The Ontario Power Commission will crack down Monday on municipalities that go over their power quotas.

Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto estimated the new regulations possibly would mean daily power cuts of five hours for the province's largest city.

The regulations put municipalities on a day-to-day delivery basis effective Monday and mean, in effect, that municipalities won't get any more power than their quotas.

Officials said that if by 4 p.m. each day meter readings indicate the municipality is over its quota it will be expected to get within the figure by midnight. Mayor McCallum said there was a possibility that in Toronto this would mean power cutoffs each night from 7 to 10 o'clock in adition to one hour cutoffs in morning and afternoon. Previously 45-minute evening blackouts —from 7 to 7.45 p.m.— had been scheduled for Toronto. Other municipalities which run over their quotas by 4 p.m. may also begin for evening cuts.

In letters to regional Southern Ontario regional managers, the Commission said consumption checks would be made daily on municipalities which had gone over their quotas the week before. If the check indicated the municipality would probably go over that day, it "will be requested to drop a specific amount of load for a period of time to bring their consumption within . . the daily quota."

The quotas, fixed by the Ontario Commission when increased consumption and a shortage of water at hydro sites brought the province its second annual shortage, were cut seven per cent last week when Quebec companies were forced to reduce sales of power to Ontario.

Many Affected

The day-to-day delivery regulations probably would affect Brantford, Belleville, Owen Sound Peterborough, Stratford, Kingston and Ottawa, all of which have exceeded their quotas.

Effects of the shortage spread Friday to the federal postal system.

Postmaster - General Bertrand said if power interruptions continue "the mails are going to be delayed and delayed seriously."

He said the post office "was feeling the effects of stalled elevators, dead motors in our extensive mechanical equipment and lack of lighting in our working and office areas . . . a one-hour cutoff may well mean 24 hours delay in mail delivery."

Weston, a Toronto suburb, will feel new power cuts today with three one-hour cuts scheduled to replace the five 15-minute cuts previously in force.

Mayor McCallum said he would call a meeting of labor, industrial and commercial leaders today to discuss the new situation.

Need Co-operation In Order to Avert Another War

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 6 (CP) — A crowd of more than 1,000 persons braved a driving rain Friday night to hear and cheer the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, "red dean" of Canterbury, extol what he considered the virtues of communism.

The dean, who arrived in the city two days late due to bad flying conditions from England, emphasized in his hour-long address the need for co-operation of the western world and Russia in order to avert another world war.

The crowd pammed a collegiate institute. It was the dean's second address on his Canadian and United States lecture tour since arriving in Montreal two nights ago.

Police patrolled the area and a law officer was posted in the meeting hall but there was no disturbance. One heckler was shouted down when he started to disagree with the dean's announcement that free elections are held in Russia "all the time."

Mid-way through his address, the dean was interrupted momentarily when a police announcement blared over the public address system. A clear voice told the audience, "Everything's orderly here, the crowd's so large extra seats have been placed in the rear." Electricians were unable to explain the interruption.

The dean spoke under the sponsorship of the Toronto Peace Council's provisional committee, which is attempting to form similar organizations in all cities.

CCF Will Oppose Col. George Drew In Carleton Co.

Ottawa, Nov. 6 —(CP)—George Drew, new National Progressive Conservative leader, leaves today on a 10-day tour of the Maritimes assured of at least a two-way fight in the federal by-election in Carleton Dec. 20.

The riding, made vacant by the resignation of Russell Boucher, Progressive Conservative sitting member, will be contested by Mr. Drew and Eugene Forsey, C.C.F. candidate.

The National Liberal party is not expected to contest the seat.

Mr. Forsey, 43-year-old research director of the Canadian Congress of Labor, was nominated to oppose the former Ontario premier at a meeting of the Carleton riding C. C. F. Association Friday night.

The decision to enter a candidate in the Tory stronghold was taken by the C. C. F. after Dr. A. H. MacCordick of Richmond, Ont., asked the meeting:

"Shall we or shall we not oppose Mr. Drew in this by-election?"

David Lewis, national secretary of the C.C.F., and Patrick Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the C. C. L., said they did not intend the Carleton contest to be "a local affair."

"We are 100 per cent determined to give this campaign every assistance possible, both with speakers and whatever funds can be raised across the country."

Meanwhile, the executive of the Carleton Progressive Conservative Association said Mr. Drew will receive official nomination to contest the Carleton by-election at a convention of the constituency Association at nearby Carp Nov. 20.

Mr. Drew told reporters he and Mrs. Drew will not seek a permanent residence in Ottawa until the by-election is over.

CONVICT STABS 2 PRISON GUARDS AT PORTSMOUTH

One Guard Struck Six Times in the Back

Kingston, Nov. 6 — (CP) —Two guards were stabbed by a convict — one six times and the other once — at Kingston penitentiary Friday, it was disclosed today.

The convict accused of the stabbing is Patrick McKenzie, sentenced at Toronto two years ago on theft and wounding charges, and now awaiting trial on a charge of wounding a guard in the penitentiary last June 20.

H. E. Goodfriend, a guard, was stabbed six times in the back — three times on each side — after he placed a tray of food for McKenzie on a table outside the cell.

The convict jumped on him as he turned. J. R. Hodgson, the other guard, was stabbed once when he went to Goodfriend's assistance.

The pair overpowered McKenzie.

It was not known where the convict obtained the knife which had been smuggled into his cell.

The guards are receiving medical attention but it is reported their wounds are not deep.

C. M. B. Kemp was stabbed in the June incident with which McKenzie is charged. He was attached and wounded in the prison's shoe repair shop.

In Toronto police said McKenzie was sentenced Sept. 16, 1946, to six years on a charge of wounding a Chinese with an iron bar. He got another three years, concurrent, on a charge of robbing his victim of $170. His age was not known.

Things Science Makes for Comfort May be Causing Increase in Cancer

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)— The new things science is making for comfort and pleasures may be causing some of the increase in cancer, Dr. John R. Heller, Jr., of the National Cancer Institute, reported today.

To find out, he told the annual meeting of the American Cancer Society, a new kind of research laboratory is being set up at Georgetown University Medical School. This laboratory will study environment's role in cancer.

Nearly all the known causes of cancer, said Dr. Heller, are external—things man comes in contact with in his work or his community. They do not come from his own body.

This has caused suspicion that search will uncover many more external causes of cancer.

"Industrial progress," Dr. Heller said, "has been marked by many new substances contributing to the comfort and pleasures of life. But these same substances have been adding a whole new spectrum of poisons to man's hazards. Some are carcinogenic agents, that can cause cancer. The danger lies in the slow, almost unnoticeable harm that comes from contact with these agents."

He named coal tars and arsenic compounds as known causes of cancer. Even arsenic in drinking water has caused cancer of the skin.

Other causes which he said are proven are soot, paraffin oil, creosote, nickel carbonyl, benzol and some dyes.

Dr. Heller said that the synthetic oil industry, that proposes to make tomorrow's gasoline out of coal, may carry new cancer hazards.

Gains Made by Chinese Govt. In North, West and South; Peace Rumors Unconfirmed

Peiping, Nov. 6 (AP) — The Chinese government reported today it had hacked out gains to the north, west and south and enlarged its north China Peiping-Tientsin island, which is entirely surrounded by Communists.

The government report came as American authorities moved to evacuate 1,000 American dependants from Nanking, Shanghai Tientsin and Peiping. The Americans fear an outbreak of fighting in the major national cities may cut off escape for the United States citizens.

The biggest government gain was to the south. Government headquarters said three Communist brigades—possibly 30,000 men —were smashed in a drive on Shihkiachwang, Red headquarters 170 miles south of Peiping.

There was no hint as to how close the government is to the railway city. The Communist radio, however, has been showing nervousness over this government move.

Another 2,000 Communists were reported killed in the government's recapture of Hingcheng in the Manchurian corridor where the Nationalists are trying to fight south to the great wall and join up with troops of the north China command.

WATERFRONT FOLK FEAR UNLOADING OF NITRATE CARGO

Whole Families in Quebec Move Out Hearing Damaged Vessel to Unload

Quebec, Nov. 6 (CP)—Nervous Quebecers today were edging away from the water front as a damaged Portuguese freighter, the Ines Corrado, prepared to unload its danger-packed cargo of nitrate.

Whole families moved out when they learned the highly-inflammable material would be unloaded Monday. Other residents of Cap Blanc in lower town begged their parish priest, Abbe Maurice Tessier, to try and get the ship moved away.

The ship docked here after it collided with a St. Lawrence River schooner in a fog Oct. 28. It had loaded a cargo of nitrate of potassium in Montreal and was South Africa-bound when the accident occurred.

Since its arrival, two firemen and two policemen have been guarding it night and day and mergency fire hoses have been installed. The fire ship Lanoraie has been moved into a nearby dock.

These precautions touched off the worries of the Cap Blanc residents.

Just to make things tougher, a number of dock workers have refused to handle the cargo and others are asking extremely high wages.

Appeal Court Upholds Divorce Court Decision

London, Nov. 6 — (CP) — The British Medical Journal today reports that an appeal court upheld a divorce court decision that it is possible for a wife to give birth 349 days after cohabiting with her husband.

The Journal says that a member of the armed services last co-habited with his wife Aug. 28, 1944, before going overseas. She bore the child Aug. 12, 1945. He petitioned for a divorce on the ground of adultery with the length of gestation period as the chief ground.

Judge A. F. Topham heard the medical evidence that it was possible for the husband to be the father and dismissed the petition. This was supported by the court of appeal on the ground that an unusual length of pregnancy is insufficient to impel a court to reject medical evidence and infer that adultery had taken place.

The Medical Journal says this 11-month 16-day pregnancy is the longest held by an English court to be possible and added "it will be interesting to see where the courts stop; or rather as they follow the medical evidence, where the medical witnesses stop."

MICHIGAN YOUTH ADMITS KILLING OF MONTREAL MAN

Chance Acquaintance in New York Bar Led to Chain of Events

New York, Nov. 6. (CP)—A chance acquaintance in a midtown bar started a chain of events that led to the brutal death Friday of a 56-year-old Montreal textile executive.

Less than 12 hours after the body of Colin Cameron Mackellar had been found in his Canadian Club suite in the Waldorf-Astoria, a 19-year-old Michigan salesman was arrested and had confessed to the fatal beating.

Dark-haired Ralph Edward Barrows, six-foot former football player from Grand Rapids, Mich., was the only suspect involved in the murder, police said.

A book of matches with the name and address of a west-side bar gave police their only clue. The matches were found on the floor of Mackellar's luxurious suite in the Canadian Club, which occupies the 18th and 19th floors of the Park Avenue hotel.

Mackellar who arrived Thursday night from Montreal by plane was general sales manager of Dominion Textiles, Limited. He is survived by his wife and two children—Bettina, 19, and James, 21, a student at Dawson College in Montreal. His home was in Westmount, Que., a suburb of Montreal.

A chambermaid found Mackellar lying on the floor of the living room of his suite Friday morning. The pockets of his grey suit were turned inside out and a wallet lying nearby contained only $5.14 in Canadian currency.

Missing Plane With Six Aboard Object of Search

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 6 — (CP) —A dozen planes roared into the dawn today as the search began for a missing United States Air Force plane with six men aboard.

The plane, a twin-engined B-25, was believed to have crashed last night near Argentia, U.S. naval base in Placentia Bay, southern Newfoundland.

It was last reported over Ship Harbor, a tiny fishing village three miles north of Argentia.

The aircraft was en route from Bolling Field, Washington, to Harmon Field at Stephensville on the west coast of Newfoundland, when the weather closed in.

At 5:42 p.m., Newfoundland time, the plane attempted a ground control landing at Harmon Field. It then apparently headed for Argentia to attempt to get in there.

Seven U. S. Navy and Coast Guard planes at Argentia were to take off at daybreak to start search operations.

The R.C.A.F. was also preparing to take part in the hunt and other planes stood ready at Harmon Field and Westover, Mass., if they were needed.

Chances were slim that the men had survived the crash. The plane had either plunged into Placentia Bay or crashed on the rocky, timbered Avalon Peninsula.

About two years ago another lost plane was found stranded on top of a west coast plateau. The entire crew was rescued by helicopter and ground parties.

SEVEN PERSONS SHOT TO DEATH, THEN KILLS SELF

Frantic Street Scenes During the Shooting

Chester, Pa., Nov. 6 (AP) — Seven persons were shot to death and four others wounded today by a man who then shot himself to death when trapped by police in a nearby house, police chief Andrew J. Desmond Jr., reported.

Desmond said witnesses told him the man, a Negro, leaped from an automobile in the downtown Bethel Court section, and fatally wounded Ellery Purnsley, a city detective who was on his way to work.

As bystanders rushed to the aid of the detective, Desmond said, the man opened fire, killing six other persons and wounding four more.

The Negro, yet unidentified, then fled to the second floor of a nearby house where police converged on him opening fire with sub-machine guns, guns, shotguns and tear-gas shells.

Samuel Hill, about 45, of Chester, fell with a bullet through his heart. He died 10 minutes later in hospital.

An unidentified man was fatally wounded through the head. Other victims were not identified immediately.

Frantic Street Scene

Descriptions of the frantic street scene during the shooting varied considerably with some witnesses reporting the man fired from the house while others said he jumped from a car and began shooting.

Police reserves were rushed into the area and terrorized residents of the neighborhood scrambled to safety as officers poured shots into the building.

State police reserves were called but before they arrived the man was found dead in the second loor room where he had barricaded himself.

Some victims of the shooting walked several blocks to hospital unaided.

One unidentified woman, bleeding from one eye, reported there. She was semi-hysterical, and unable to tell what had happened to her.

Chester is a city of 60,000 in southeast Pennsylvania 15 miles from Philadelphia.

POWER OF ADVERTISING

Jamestown, N.Y., Nov. 6 (AP) —Gus Nestle, manager of the Palace Theatre, is convinced — the hard way — of the power of advertising.

Nestle, plugging a give-away show next week, posted a sign proclaiming: "Money is free at the Palace." Next morning he reported to police that somebody broken in and swiped $1,000 from an office strongbox.

Fellow Workers, Neighbors Testify McAllister Beat, Cursed His Wife

Lindsay, Ont., Nov. 6. (CP)— Mrs. Jane Kelly McAllister, 29, Scottish war bride on trial for husband-murder in the Sept. 5 revolver-slaying of 29-year-old John McAllister, may know her fate by tonight.

The defence rested its case Friday. It held that the slaying climaxed months of stormy married life during which McAllister is alleged to have kicked and beaten the slender redhead and taunted her about her inability to bear children.

Counsel were scheduled to address the jury this forenoon and the case was ready to go to the jury following Mr. Justice Treleaven's charge summing up the evidence and explaining points of law.

The final defence witnesses called testified in lamplight after a power cutoff blackout the crowded Victory County courtroom.

District doctors said Mrs. McAllister last Spring underwent a major operation which ended her child-bearing powers and affected her emotionally. One doctor said the effects of the operation might last six months.

But Dr. Charles S. Tennant, psychiatrist and superintendent of the Ontario hospital at Langstaffe, called by the Crown as a rebuttal witness, said he examined Mrs. McAllister on two occasions and decided she was not mentally ill. In his opinion, she knew the difference between right and wrong and appeared to be recovering "in every way" from the effects of the operation.

Neighbors and fellow workers of John McAllister testified earlier in the day that the former Hamilton naval veteran had beaten and cursed his wife. At times their testimony brought such indignant murmurs from the war brides and other spectators in the courtroom that Mr. Justice Treleaven warned that he would clear the court unless order were maintained.

Stanley Henderson, a fellow worker of McAllister on a Trent Canal maintenance crew, said McAllister tried to induce him to board at the couple's tiny backwoods shack.

"John told me, 'there is an old bag down home, she might be of some use to you but she's no good to me'. The names John called Jane were ones I would hate to call a dog."

The young widow, under cross-examination, said that, the Sunday evening she took a revolver down from her kitchen wall, she did not intend to kill her husband for threatening to go out with other women but only wanted to give him 'a good scare". She added:

Chartered Bus Plows Head-On Into Street Car

45 Injured, Many Critically, Acetylene Torches Used

Toronto, Nov. 6 — (CP) — Six persons were killed and 45 injured early today when a chartered bus carrying party-going passengers from Hamilton telescoped a street car filled with night-shift factory workers.

The six killed — four men and two women — were from Hamilton, on their way home from a reunion party of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

Another 26 from Hamilton were injured, 21 seriously, when the bus crashed head-on into the street car on the rain-wet Lakeshore Road near the Sunnyside amusement park as the bus driver swerved his vehicle to avoid hitting a pedestrian. Some 19 of the street car passengers suffered less serious injuries.

Police said it was Toronto's worst accident.

Rescuers used acetylene torches to cut loose passengers in the bus, which telescoped into the street car.

Bus driver Frank Rowe, 24, and Mrs. Frank Noble, 31, both of Hamilton were pinned in the wreckage. Police said the driver talked steadily while the torches cut them loose, trying to encourage Mrs. Noble. He had been thrown half through the front window of his bus. Both are listed as critically injured. Rowe is being operated on immediately.

Some 35 passengers were in the bus, police believe.

Police and hospital authorities identified the dead as:

Mrs. Thomas Hay;
Frank Augustus Noble;
Mr. and Mrs. David Armitt;
Earl McKie;
Gordon Beddie.

Of the injured first reports listed 15 in critical condition. They include:

Mrs. Frank Noble, 31, Hamilton, severe lacerations of the scalp, broken right big toe, possible broken left leg.

Most of the street-car passengers were workers coming off the night shift at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant in

THREE HUNDRED DEER LICENCES SOLD TO DISTRICT HUNTERS

If at any time during the next two weeks you should see a herd of deer wandering around Belleville's streets, do not be surprised, there will be a good reason for it. With the number of nimrods executing a general exodus from this city during the two weeks of the deer season, there will hardly be any room for the game in the woods.

Ed. Thomas, local licence purveyor reports upwards of three hundred licenses sold to local sportsmen. Each of these licenses entitles the owner to one deer providing he can get it. Each deer that falls to the hunter's gun will be tagged with the government tag provided and shipped out of the bush to provide venison steaks for the months to come.

The northern area of Hastings county is said to be good deer country, and many parties of nimrods will be taking to the bush early in the week to bag their quarry.

Had No Ticket, Drew Refrigerator

Someone once lost his laundry ticket, and when he presented himself to his favorite Chinese clothes cleaner with his lament, the stoical Oriental said four words. "No Tickee—No Washee."

Mrs. W. E. Colclough, 26 Charlotte Street, will sympathize with the laundryless victim. For Friday night at the Shrine-Knights of Columbus Carnival in the Armouries, her ticket won an electric refrigerator.

But, alas, Mrs. Colclough did not have the ticket. Probably of the opinion that if there were only ten tickets issued and she held nine, her luck would see to it that the tenth was the lucky pasteboard, the lady neatly disposed of the piece of paper by tearing it in small pieces and using them as tabs for a bingo card.

Naturally, Mrs. Colclough did not win the refrigerator although she had marked down the number of the ticket.

From now on, it is presumed Mrs. Colclough, when bingo-bent, will take along a pocketful or two of corn or beans and frame the door ticket.

Amateur Contest Carnival Feature At Armouries

The three-day carnival in the Belleville Armouries jointly sponsored by the Belleville Shrine Club and the Knights of Columbus, came to a successful conclusion Friday evening, the final evening of entertainment being highlighted by an amateur contest.

Eleven entertainers of various ages delighted their audience with vocal numbers and instrumentals while one petite young English miss captured hearts with a talented acrobatic dance.

Awarded first prize of $20 cash for her acrobatic dance was Miss Pamela Rudd, recently having arrived in Canada from England; second prize winner of $10, was Miss Helen Grant who gave a delightful number on the xylophone. Sharing third prize of $5 were little Miss Helen Gill and Miss Glenda Doxtator. Miss Gill did a vocal number, while Miss Doxtator did a singing and yodelling act.

Other contestants were Yvonne Sharpe; Joan Hannah, Rose Marie Roper; Edwin Colclough, trumpet; Kenneth Stapley, Hawaiian guitar; Reginald McKie, Trenton and Jackie Calnan.

Jack Devine from CJBQ acted as master of ceremonies for the amateur show while judges were George Lee, Edgar Rutherford and Roy Peacock.

For the balance of the evening following the amateur contest the large crowd played the various games which had been provided for their amusement. Proceeds from the carnival will go to support the two club's welfare projects.

New Industrial CNR Spur Line Officially Opened by J. Pringle, Vice President Central Region

Smaller cities and towns in Ontario will benefit by the decentralization policy of large industries planning expansion in this country, in the opinion of J F. Pringle, vice-president of the central region of the C.N.R.

Speaking at the official opening of a three-quarter mile railway spur line recently constructed to serve the Belleville industrial area and the local plant of the Stewart-Warner Alemite, Mr Pringle stated that in his mind Canada was on the eve of the greatest period in its history.

"New industries are being established and branches of Old Country and United States firms are expanding and building new factories in Canada. For various reasons they are finding it desirable to decentralize and as a result the smaller cities and towns will benefit."

Council Deserves Credit

Mr. Pringle stated that it was with a great deal of pleasure that he declared the new industrial spur line in Belleville officially open for traffic. He said Mayor D. L. Storey and city council deserved a great deal of credit for their foresight and hard work in acquiring the new industrial site and the building of the spur line to serve it.

He promised that the Canadian National Railways had been glad to co-operate in this development and he was confident the spur line would do much to attract new industry to the city.

"The importance of efficient and economical transportation in the development and growth of this country cannot be over-emphasized," he said. "Modern economic life is founded on the exchange of commodities and is it only through mass cheap transportation that has been developed in this country that mass production has been made possible."

Mr. Pringle stated that the city of Belleville offered many attractions to industries; reasonable taxation, cheap power, a splendid water supply and efficient transportation, but most of all is the attractive living conditions it offers to the personnel of new industries.

Belleville Fortunate

He said Belleville was fortunate in its transportation facilities being served by the two great Canadian railways and having a splendid system of highways and is situated on the great St. Lawrence waterway.

"With all these tyings in its favor, combined with the initiative and enterprise of its people you have every right to look forward to the future with confidence and the step that has been taken in establishing this site for industrial development demonstrates again that the spirit and hardihood exhibited by the first settlers and those men who built the first railway is still a strong force in the community."

Three-Quarters Mils Long

Three-Quarters Mils Long

runs for three-quarters of a mile through the industrial area in the east end of the city and also serves the Stewart-Warner-Alemite plant which previously has been without railway facilities.

The C.N.R. ran a special train from the north station to the end of the spur line at Bull Street where Mr. Pringle cut the ribbon officially opening the spur. A considerable number of Belleville residents and city officials as well as local industrial heads boarded the train for the initial trip over the new spur.

Mayor Storey stated that it was a pleasure to welcome the C.N.R. officials to the city. "Belleville is growing and will keep on growing," he said. "Soon there will be sufficient industry to provide good jobs for all young people in the city." Ex-Mayor Frank Follwell introduced Mr. Pringle who addressed the gathering from a special platform erected at the end of the spur line.

Alderman Allin Chairman

Alderman Jack Allin, as chairman of the Industrial Commission, acted as chairman for the program which in addition to Mr. Pringle's address consisted of brief addresses from C.N.R. officials and city representatives.

Speaking briefly in congratulation to the city in opening the industrial spur line were A. J. Lomas, general manager of the C.N.R.; S. J. Raymond, industrial commissioner; H. A. Wood, Montreal; H. E. Locke, superintendent of the Belleville division, and S. L. Martin.

Ex-Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., and vice chairman of the Industrial Commission W. Harry Rollins, also spoke briefly.

Later C.N.R. officials, members of the city council and other officials were guests of the Industrial Commission at the Shrine Club.

Steady Rainfall Keeps Market Buyers at Home

Steady rainfall throughout the early morning put a quietus on the local produce market with only a few of the outside stands being occupied. The inside market, however, was fairly well filled.

Egg prices held at the usual 70 cents per dozen with mediums bringing 65 cents and pullets 55-58 cents the dozen. Spring fowl sold up to 52 cents per pound with a few vendors quoting 50 cents. Mature fowl averaged 45 cents the pound.

On the outside market potatoes were quite freely offered at $1.75 per bag, while seasonal vegetables brought regular prices. Best McIntosh sold at from $2.75 to $3.25 per hamper while Spys and Delicious were quoted at the latter figure. Baxters and Talman Sweets sold at $2.50 per hamper.

Young pigs were quoted at from $11 to $14 each according to size and quality, while a few loads of dry cordwood was quoted at $14 per cord.

Canada Heading Into Last Stages Of Hectic Year

Ottawa Nov. 6 (CP) Canada is heding into the last hectic stages of a year that has seethed with political developments as have a few others in the 81 years since Confederation.

Above all, it will seek next week or shortly after the retirement of the man who has dominated Canadian public life more than any other in the last quarter century. After 21 years as Prime Minster, William Lyon Mackenzie King will return from Europe and turn his post over to Louis Stephen St. Laurent who has been acting in his absence.

It also has seen or will see:

1. Five provincial elections which in all cases returned the present administrations to power. No two of the five governments were of the same political persuasion. New Brunswick returned the Liberals, Quebec its Union Nationale, Ontario the Progressive Conservatives, Saskatchewan the C.C.F. and Alberta the Social Credit.

2. National conventions of the country's three leading parties in the same year for the first time, and the preparation of their platforms for about the only thing that didn't happen in 1948— a federal general election.

3. Choice of new leaders for the two old-line parties— the emergence of Mr. St Laurent as the first French-Canadian leader of the Liberal party since Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the long-awaited arrival of dynamic Geo. Drew of the National stage as Progressive Conservative chieftain.

Way Virtually Clear

4. The way virtually cleared for the entry of Newfoundland as a 10th province, raising Canada's population beyond 13,000,000, and extending her sovereignty to important defence bastion in the north Atlantic.

5. Entry of career diplomat L.B. Pearson into the cabinet as external affairs minister to Canada's year-long; "crusade" for one of the most important international political steps in her history—formation of a seven-power North Atlantic Security alliance It still may be consummated before 1949.

6. Assumption of membership in the key, veto-haunted security council of the United Nations for the first time with Gen. A. G.L. McNaughton, former commander of the 1st Canadian Army as the national spokesman.

7. At least nine federal by-elections, four slated for a December windup that will see the old year out in a blaze of yuletide oratory. Of the first five, the C.C.F. won three, the Liberals 2.

8. Two premiers — Drew of Ontario, Garson of Manitoba— abandon provincial politics and move into the federal tent in vital roles for the general election that could come next year.

U.S. TOWN IMPORTS POLISH DOCTOR

Dr. Joachim-Bernard Bronny, a Polish doctor, was sponsored by a committee from the village of Fairchild, Wis., population 650, which has not had a doctor in 10 years. His admission to the U. S. was arranged by the committee. Now it develops that the Wisconsin state law says clearly that it is against the policy of the state to "allow doctors who are graduates of foreign universities to practise in the state." Latest reports are that the village is prepared to put the doctor through a U.S. college so that he can qualify. In the meantime he is going on to Fairchild with his wife and child to take up residence. (Central Press Canadian)

Farm Forums and Federation Of Agriculture Are Praised At Hastings Federation Meeting

Farm forums and the Federation of Agriculture formed the subject of an interesting talk given by William Nicholson, president of the Ontario Co-operative Union as he spoke at Plainfield Thursday evening at the annual meeting of the Hastings county Federation of Agriculture.

A farm forum rally was held in conjunction with the annual meeting.

In his address Mr. Nicholson dealt with the way which the Federation of Agriculture had been started in his native Bruce County through county, township and school section activity. Achievements as result of this first federation were a co-operative medical service plan, complete school dentistry and hiring of a full time field man.

Voice in Affairs of Farmer

He also dealt with how farm forums were originally started in co-operation with the CBC and how they had grown to be a very loud voice in the affairs of the farmer. He explained how the various farm organizations had started co-operative insurance — bonding and transit, and now were entering the automotive field.

These companies are run for the farmer, for the benefit of the farmer. The need of all farmers getting behind the co-operative movement and the necessity of attending regular meetings was stressed.

Howard Church, Napanee, zone chairman of farm forums, in a short address pointed out advantages obtained by belonging to farm organizations and in having a voice in their affairs. Farm forums, he said, were one way of getting all farm folk discussing the same subjects and out of that discussion starting projects which were the betterment of all.

Advantages of Forum

Roscoe Robson, M. P. P. for Hastings East, pointed out the advantages county farmers had obtained since they were organized four years ago. Organization meant that farmers were able to present their views to Provincial and Dominion governments. Other speakers included: Bruce Martin, Mrs. R. Robson, Frank Tummon, Joseph Davis and Clare Carter.

The meeting passed a resolution to petition the Ontario Federation of Agriculture to press for a national marketing scheme. It was decided to send Ruth Brentnall and Muriel Homas to a folk school at Markham commencing Nov. 7, for two weeks.

Officers for the new year are: President, Seldon Homan; vice presidents, Ronald Longwell, W. Sills; treasurer, John Huffman and secretary, Ross Bailey.

Directors include W. Neelands, B. Martin, W.McMahon, R. Hoard, C. Rush, C. Wills, J. J. McCoy, Allan Ketcheson and J. Davis.

Police Blotter

Theft of a quantity of paints from a local restaurant where painting operations are underway is being investigated by local police. The painter, Thomas Thompson of Rednersville, reported that the paints had disappeared from the premises during the night.

City dog catcher, Thomas Thorne, was requested to investigate the report of Mrs. L. Turner, Grove Street, that her small son had been bitten by a dog owned by a resident of the district. Police turned the matter over to Mr. Thorne.

Howard Bisdee, Ridley Street, reported his wife, Sophie Bisdee, age 20, missing from his home since 2.00 o'clock Friday afternoon. This morning police had no notification of the woman having returned home. Mrs. Bisdee is a Dutch war bride.

Gradually Reduced

The dog population in the city is being gradually reduced as result of the canines running under the wheels of passing cars. Last evening a dog was killed on Dundas Street, when run over by a car. This was the fourth dog to meet such a death this week.

A local resident who had imbibed a bit too freely staggered against a car in a local alleyway and was dragged several feet by the auto before the driver could stop the car. No injuries resulted and police booked the inebriate on a drunk charge.

NOT REAL PIPES

The organ pipes that are visible are usually dummies because the real pipes, made in a variety of sizes and shapes are too unsightly to be seen by people in churches and theatres.

Short Circuiting Of Transformer Cause of Cutoff

Short circuiting of a transformer at the sub-station at the corner of Sidney and Catherine Street caused a brief hydro interruption throughout the entire city at mid morning today.

"The transformer failed completely and had to be taken off the line" stated Mr. O. H. Scott manager of the local public utilities. "However, service was again soon restored."

The West Hill district and the west side of Front Street area north of Bridge Street were interrupted for a longer period than in other sections of the city as one of the circuits could not be immediately put back into operation.

MOTHER GOOSE SPITED

Mother Goose was born Elizabeth Foster in 1665 in England and only went down in history because an irate son-in-law secretly put her verses into print to ridicule her.

STAPLEY—In loving memory of Douglas who passed away Nov. 6th. 1945.

No stain was on his little heart,
Sin had not entered there,
And innocence slept sweetly on,
That pale white brow so fair.
He was too pure for this cold earth,
Too beautiful to stay,
And so God's holy angel bore,
Our darling one away.

Sadly missed by mother, dad and sisters Verna, Linda, cousin Carl.
N6

YORK—In loving memory of a dear son and brother Cecil Willard, who was killed accidentally on Nov. 7, 1946.

From our happy home and circle,
God has taken one we loved,
He is borne away from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above.
No one knows how much we miss him,
None but aching hearts can tell,
Lost on earth but found in Heaven,
Jesus doeth all things well.

Sadly missed by mother, dad and Cal.
N6

YORK—Cecil W. York who died Nov. 7th., 1946.

Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom its shadow cast,
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a smiling light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none can fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain
For up in Heaven we will meet again.

Ever remembered by Edith and Harold, Helen and Bruce and nephew Freddie.

Varsity Alumni To Hold Reunion

Toronto, Nov. 6 — (CP) — There will be fireworks, literally and figuratively, here next week end when alumni from all over Canada and many parts of the United States trek to town for the University of Toronto "homecoming."

The largest-scale event of its kind ever undertaken at Varsity, it will see some 4,000 visitors hit the city for a two-day celebration, highlighted by the Varsity-Western football game.

A giant outdoor meeting on the back campus will be held Friday night. That's where the fireworks (literally) will be set off. A huge parade is scheduled for Saturday morning.

Children in costume presented the pageant "The Manger Scene" with the children of the world dressed in native costume. The kiddies then brought their Mite Boxes to the manger and dedicated pennies to "The Extension of Christ and His Kingdom" which was followed by carols and the Friendship Circle "In Christ there is no East or West" and prayer for all God's children everywhere. BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

BIRDS' BRAINS

According to encyclopedias, birds' brains are more like those of fishes and reptiles than of mammals, though they are considerably larger in proportion. In the development of the brain, memory and sight, birds are ahead of reptiles. However, it seems that the surface of most birds' brains is smooth. The Paroquet is one of the exceptions, having "distinct furrows" which indicate a certain amount of intelligence. But there are conflicting opinions as to whether or not birds can think.

Some people imagine that a few birds can count to three. Bird photographers are not too sure: in fact they often rely on the belief that this is not so. When attempting a picture of a mother on her nest they have discovered a good trick. Two men enter a blind, set up a tripod, and focus the camera on the nest. Naturally the bird flies off as soon as the fuss begins, and generally will not return until one man leaves, when she seems confident that danger is over. Her brain evidently cannot do simple arithmetic.

Early last spring Robins started to build in a fork of the tall elm near our steps. After the pair had worked very hard for several days, for a reason best known to themselves they abandoned this spot, and chose instead a maple half a block away. For some weeks we watched one of Mr. Robin's long pieces of cord swing from the neglected nest with every wind. Then, after their young family had left home, the couple decided to raise another brood. A third site was picked and more building material was necessary. Where was it to be found? Mr. Robin remembered that lovely piece of string. Or did he? Anyway, back he landed in our elm, and with great difficulty extracted it.

Young birds learn to sing (according to the expert, F. Schuyler Mathews) by copying their fathers or other individuals of their own kind. Though there is some originality in each song, the pattern remains the same. Is this just immitation, or instinct, or does it show brain power? When two-year-old Tommy repeats one of his father's songs he is considered very intelligent.

Homing pigeons are said to have a feel of direction. Yet a bird is first taken only a little way and allowed to return. The distance is gradually increased, until it has learned to travel back over the entire route. Can it be taught unless it thinks?.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

The Alliance of Religion And Morals

By ROY L. SMITH

The historians are very fond of tracing modern matters back to their beginnings and it is a fascinating experience. There is a certain thrill in studying the development of art, for instance, or music from those early primitive beginnings in crude drawings or tom-toms. The first attempts man made to beautify his dwelling were the beginning of architecture and interior decoration.

Of all such studies, however, none are more interesting than the tracing of the alliance between religion and morals. The two are so closely and intimately associated in the mind of the modern man that it is hard for him to believe that they were ever disassociated.

Primitive Religion

The most primitive records we have of religion reveal it as only slightly advanced over magic. The first gods men worshipped had no moral character. They were only beings with powers that transcended the capacities of men. They could do things for man that he could not do for himself. The problem then was: how can we persuade the gods to do for us what we cannot do for ourselves.

Among practically all primitive people the belief prevailed that the favors of the gods could be won by flattery. Worship then became a matter of gratifying some divinity's vanity. This was attempted by various devices, some of which were pathetic in the extreme.

Finally it was decided that there was some magic formula which might unlock the mystery. Sacrifices were offered to the accompaniment of chants, self-mutilations, and other imposed humiliations. When everything else failed a father might even kill his own son as a sacrifice. There are numerous instances in the Old Testament in which kings caused their own offspring to be burned.

Two Prophets Blazed a Trail

Into this welter of misconception the Hebrew prophets thrust an entirely new concept. They declared that Jehovah, the God of the Hebrews, was a moral God with moral character, and that to please him and win his favors men must perform moral acts.

This was altogether new to the world's thought. "How can it be" the people asked "that God is interested in justice honor or fairness?" None of the other gods of antiquity were. The sensation created by the prophetic preaching was as profound as any created by the modern preacher who demands justice from industrialists or honest labor from the featherbedders.

The Prophets As Preachers

The word "prophecy" to the modern man has come to mean "a prediction of things to come." but to the ancients it had very little of any such significance. To the people of Amos' day the prophet was one who undertook to tell the people what was and what was not advantageous — something like a fortune teller.

> The Sunday School lesson for November 14: "Prophecy in the Bible," Amos 5: 21-6:6; 7:10-17; Micah 4:1-5; 5:2-4; 6:6-8.

Amos, the first of the great "writing prophets" of the Old Testament, however, denied indignantly that he was any such person. He repudiated with all the powers at his command the suggestion that he was a manipulator, a disturber, or a magician. Instead, he declared himself to be one who had learned great truths from God and felt himself under divine compulsion to preach those truths.

The Prophets As Politicians

The great prophets of the Old Testament were all immersed in the practical problems of the world in the midst of which they lived. They talked about such matters as wages, justice, working conditions, taxes, foreclosures land problems, vice conditions, exploitation, charity, social justice, and the divine responsibilities of rulers to their people.

You will look in vain in the writings of the Old Testament prophets for the familiar identifications of "personal religion." But you will find them up to their ears in social, economic, and political problems.

The truth is, that if the Old Testament prophets had kept out of economics and politics they would have kept out of the Old Testaments.

Curiously, too, there were those "prophets" who mingled with the people and enjoyed high favor at the courts, who demanded that the great prophets should "keep out of politics," but all these the great ones like Amos, Micah, Isaiah and Jeremiah, branded as "false prophets."

Seeds Are Given Wide Distribution By Wind, Birds and Animals

Written for The Canadian Press

By PERCY GHENT

Winged seeds of trees carried varying distances by the wind are familiar to all—sugar maples and basswood are outstanding examples. As a rule, the wind trip to a planting site is short, but for long transport, nature depends on animals, especially birds.

It is interesting to note that the wind-distributed seeds of tall forest trees are usually dull and inconspicuous, while the seed-bearing fruit of smaller trees and bushes is colorful. Not only does this color attract birds, but the yellow, red or purplish fruit in many instances clings to the tree until spring, or even later, and is therefore available as food for long periods.

Birds will eat dull-colored seeds with zest, of course, but color does attract them more, it has been learned from observation, and is therefore an important factor in the dissemination of seeds over long distances. Whatever loss of seeds occurs whenever hungry birds devour them, has a full compensation in the service rendered by seed scattering over immense areas, areas which without this service would not be seeded.

Even squirrels with their uncanny skill in selecting and hoarding only the best of the seed-packed cones of the conifers often contribute nobly to reforestation projects. Trained seed collectors have learned how to locate at least a percentage of such winter hoards, and know that the seeds thus recovered will be of dependable quality.

In the planting of oaks, deer and other large animals are useful. It has been noted that when they tread acorns into the earth, it is commonly where these seeds will have an excellent chance to germinate. And while deer-mice and shrews can be disastrous raiders of plantings in forestry projects, removing a large proportion of the seeds sown; their food caches do occasionally offer some compensation. In one such heard in Algonquin Park recently, an estimated half-million white and yellow birch seeds were uncovered.

Valuable shipments of furs for the Canadian and United States market arrive from the Northwest Territories. Some of the larger shores and basins. On these submerged rocks aquatic vegetation flourishes and it is the food which feeds immense numbers of whitefish. In turn, the fish is the main source of wood for Indian and other fur trappers and their dogs. Hence, the fur trade there is fundamentally dependent upon the aquatic vegetation of the lakes.

Again, plaxton, which is microscopic animal life, abounds in the streams and lakes. Plaxton feeds minnows, minnows are devoured by larger fishes, and they in turn feed otter, marten and mink. Thus, in a double sense, the fur trade in Canada owes its existence substantially to lowly forms of vegetation and animal organisms — a striking phase of the "balance of nature."

AFRICAN AGRICULTURE

Entebbe, Uganda — (CP) — Problems likely to be encountered in the mechanization of African agriculture are to be studied by a mission from the United Kingdom which will visit Tanganyika, Nyasaland, Nigeria and Uganda.

DIGGER HATS STAY

Sydney, Australia — (CP) — Quite a flutter was caused when it was reported that the slouch hat was to be discarded from the military wardrobe. But the report was erroneous. A new walking-out uniform is to be adopted, but the old hat is to be retained for active service.

This Age of Discovery

This modern age of discovery and exploration lacks none of the sense of appeal that exploration has always had for those daring spirits who were tireless in the quest of knowledge and fact. Today investigation and search are widened to include all the sciences which are probing that which is as yet unknown. Even the age of discovery of new sections of the world is not past for there are yet large parts to be explored and submitted to the inquiry of the modern investigator.

There has just died in Ecuador Dr. Herbert Spencer Dickey, a physician and veteran South American explorer, who went to Colombia in 1900 to serve as surgeon of a mining company and soon became interested in exploration in that continent and the wild tribes of Indians of the jungles of South America.

He is believed to have been the first white man to descend the Caqueta River from Colombia to its mouth. He had gone five times afoot over the Andes in Ecuador to explore the affluents of the Amazon, explored the river Tomo, affluent to the Orinoco and organized and led the first expedition over the Andes and down the Amazon in 1932.

He discovered and removed from Ecuador almost five hundred specimens of archeological specimens for the Southwest Museum in 1936. He had conducted explorations and ethnological expeditions for various museums.

As a medical man he was interested in disease and health and eight years ago he originated a process for extracting quinine from low grade cinchona bark in Ecuador.

When he discovered the source of the Orinoco, second largest river in South America on the Venezuela-Brazil border, 1,700 miles from where it empties into the sea, his party endured every imaginable privation except thirst and their expedition was achieved by a very slight margin.

Like the true explorer he always minimized the dangers of exploration and the jungle Indians whom others had described as ferocious he said were more friendly than white men, provided they were treated like human beings.

To his credit are many other explorations. He went into the land of the head hunters and took movies of the process of reducing and curing heads as practised by a tribe in eastern Ecuador. He sought the white Indians but found only one whiter than a European Brazilian. This Indian had Mongolian features, eyes of light brown and brownish hair. He also heard of a tribe of seventy which he was unable to reach. He discovered an unrecorded tribe along the Orinoco, a dying race in Colombia, who were reported to spend their days sleeping in hammocks and snuffing cocaine made from the coca plant. He brought back urns containing skeletons of ancient Piarros, a tribe believed to have been urn buriers. He found a race of Indians in Venezuela not fierce but meek and frightened who were saffron yellow in color and living as in the stone age of development.

He was well equipped for he spoke many Indian dialects. He was resident physician with a number of companies in South America.

The story of such a life as told in a report of his death in the New York Times reads like romance as it is. Boyhood and youth seeking strange adventures could have asked no more thrilling life than he spent, adding to man's store of knowledge of ancient peoples and serving as physician. His life which was an active one had brought many facts to light in that continent of South America, with its appeal of the strange and amazing.

Most Ancient Pioneers

It is established that the Polynesians never got any closer to us on the Pacific side than Easter Island, where they built some huge monuments, got tired of it and retreated west to their beautiful islands. And when the Spaniards arrived from the Atlantic side they found civilizations in Mexico and Central America in complete mastery of mathematics, astronomy and architecture.

How did they get there? How did a culture develop to an amazing degree in a nation of forty millions in the area that is now Guatemala? How did the Aztecs in Mexico and the Incas in Peru establish such social organizations thousands of miles from all apparent contacts with contemporary civilizations?

It is believed they represented the farthest southward trek of descendants of the original Mongolian adventurers who travelled the Alaska route hundreds of years before, to leave the Asiatic facial features as the one outstanding trait common to North America's first inhabitants. — Hamilton Spectator.

"George, did you notice that silly girl on the corner wink at you?"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

NOV. 6TH., 1928.

The Rev. Dr. F. E. Malott, postor of Bridge Street Church, has received a call to become pastor of Young's United Church in Winnipeg.

Mr. A. Scott of this city spent yesterday in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hick and family of Tweed are visitors in town today.

Mr. George Duesberry, Ann Street, has returned home from St. Catharines.

Mr. Charles Clifford Ostrom is home from Bridgeburg, Ontario, on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ostrom, West Moira Street.

30 YEARS AGO

NOV. 6TH., 1918.

A gum machine was stolen last night in front of Charles Clapp's store on Bridge Street east.

The unofficial news which reached the city this afternoon that the war was over and the armistice had been signed by the Germans caused intense excitement. Despite the fact that the weather was inclement Front Street was soon filled with people who were overjoyed at the news. Motor cars decorated with bunting and flags soon appeared upon the streets and fire bells rang and whistles blew. The news, however, proved to be premature.

Miss Ruby Palmer of the Kingston Standard staff has returned to that city after visiting her parents here.

40 YEARS AGO

NOV. 6TH., 1908.

"Little Dolly Dimples" will be the attraction at the Carman Opera House on the evening of Nov. 12th.

The Master Painters in this city have organized with the following officers: President, John Cornelius; Secretary - Treasurer, C. B. Scantlebury.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCoy, North Front Street, entertained the members of Christ Church choir at their residence last evening.

Miss Elizabeth Willoughby of Colborne, sister of the late Hon. Dr. Willoughby, has been appointed to the position of Matron at the D. & D. Institute here.

Thanksgiving Day will be observed on Nov. 9th., which will also be the anniversary of the birth of His Majesty King Edward. Let us be thankful that we live in the best country under the sun and that we are ruled by a monarch who has done more for the pacification of the world than any Sovereign that ever lived. God Save the King.

50 YEARS AGO

NOV. 6TH., 1898.

Three cases of military equipment consisting of old pipe-clayed belts, frogs and slings were shipped today to the Superintendent of Military Stores, Kingston, from the 15th Battalion. All the haversacks have not been returned. Has deer hunting and duck hunting anything to do with this?

Mr. J. R. Herdman, secretary of the local Y.M.C.A. has been offered the position of secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Galt. He has accepted the offer.

Mr. Robert Caskey of Tweed was in town today.

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

TRIUMPH

Death is regarded by many people as a calamity.

Very often it is. To have lived through a number of decades and to have come to the end without having developed any strength or character or any religious feeling is a calamity indeed. Some people leave this earthly scene conscious that they have added not to the sum total of the world's happiness but to the sum total of its misery. For such, death is indeed a calamity.

But death is a triumph for many people. Maude Ballington Booth died some time ago, and the message of faith which she left and which was read at her funeral service constitutes a triumph that even those of most distinguished station might covet. From her earliest youth Mrs. Booth had been a religious and social welfare worker. She died at the age of 82, having poured out the whole of her adult life for the good of other people, and particularly for those who had sunk so low on the social scale that an unfeeling world paid little attention to them. "During the last few years of my earthly life," she wrote, "death lost for me all of its sadness and dread and shadow. I look forward to it as a shining portal into the new world of eternity." Then she added this word for her only son: "Let your tears shine with the rainbow brightness of joy that I would have you share with me. Keep the faith."

Here indeed is triumph.

Poultry Council After New Market For Canadian Eggs

Ottawa, Nov. 6 — (CP) —The Canadian Poultry Council will meet with Deputy Agriculture Minister Dr. G. S. H. Barton today to thrash out means of finding new international markets for Canadian eggs.

The council — representing Canadian poultrymen — believe that Britain's shortage of dollars will force her to withdraw from the role she has maintained during the last seven years as purchaser of Canada's egg surpluses.

Poultrymen say Canada's egg valued at $40,000,000. Altogether her egg production in 1949 will amount to approximately 12,500,000 cases.

The council holds as possible that unless the government can obtain other international markets for Canada's egg surplus, the price of eggs on the domestic front will take a sudden drop.

What is desired, says the council which completed a three-day conference in Ottawa, is that the scope of the Special Products Board of the Agriculture Department be broadened so that it can negotiate with other markets than Britain.

There was no hope, a spokesman indicated, that the government would step in with a support price for eggs if the price dropped.

One hopeful sign was the possibility that Britain may obtain more dollars through release of suburban New Toronto. The tram was travelling eastward, toward the city, on the Long Branch line linking the suburbs of Long Branch, New Toronto and Mimico with the King and Queen car lines in the city proper.

Rescuers used acetylene torches in a desperate effort to remove the screaming and moaning victims trapped in the bus, which had its nose tightly imbedded in the front of the street car.

Police said lack of identifying papers on the uniformed men and the evening-dressed women made immediate identification out of the question. They said they expected it might be "hours" before they learned the names of the victims.

Swerved to Miss Pedestrian

One eyewitness said the bus, only two minutes after leaving the Top Hat, apparently swerved to miss a pedestrian. It didn't miss. One of the unidentified bodies lying on the roadway following the crash was believed that of the pedestrian.

A motorist driving directly behind the bus when the accident occurred said he saw the bus swerve and then smash directly into the street-car. Both the roadway and the tram tracks were wet and greasy from the light rain which had been falling for several hours.

The impact sent the big bus on its side with a crash that could be heard several blocks away. The cries of badly injured persons mingled with the screams of trapped men and women who had escaped severe harm.

The accident was one of the worst in Toronto's recent history.

Taxi driver, Roy Steinberg, one of the first on the scene after the collision, said he saw a small fire break out in the bus. But it was speedily extinguished.

The dead and the dying, the dazed and those who had been knocked unconscious, sprawled in all directions as police and ambulance men moved among them to give first aid.

Three or four men on the street-car averted a panic in the tram by ordering passengers to remain quiet. They slapped the faces of one or two who appeared to be becoming hysterical.

Went Through Shield

Police said the operator of the street-car had been identified as Tom Clark. He survived the crash but was reported to have suffered a broken leg.

The bus driver was alive when extricated from the bus. His head had gone through the windshield and part of his body was inside the street-car.

Eyewitness said the emergency door of the bus could not be opened for nearly half an hour after the collision. The two vehicles telescoped and locked themselves together.

Edward Styles of Toronto, a passenger on the street-car, described the moment of the impact.

"There was an awful crash and I was thrown on top of some seats," he said. "Then the lights went out. People at the back of the car started to shout, 'keep your heads' and in a minute or two there was no confusion. Most of us managed to get out without trouble.

"It was awful outside. People were lying on the pavement and blood was everywhere. We could hear screams from people trapped inside the bus and there was nothing we could do."

One dead woman when removed from the wreckage was wearing an evening dress with the corsage pinned to the front.

"One soldier was thrown clear through the bus window and landed about 20 feet in front of the bus," another eyewitness said. "If he wasn't killed, it must have been a miracle."

Most of the injured were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at the west end of the city. There the least severely injured crammed the corridors to await their turn for attention.

Letter to the Editor

To the Friendly City of Belleville

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

Regarding the council meeting a week ago Thursday, at which it was decided to ban trailers as permanent living quarters within the city limits.

During these times of difficult housing shortages, the decision seems both hard and needless. It was mentioned at a previous meeting that the city could not afford to spend the $1,500 necessary to winterize the existing toilet and water facilities at the Tourist Camp on Dundas St., a decision which considering the size of Belleville, seems hard to understand. These facilities cost each trailer owner $4 a week, and as the average number of permanent trailers has been between 10 to 16, since the camp was opened on May 1st, it is easy to see that it would not take a great length of time for the money to be repaid to the city. According to the newspaper on the same evening the council discussed whether the city should rehabilitate Zwicks Island for a public park at a cost of $15,000. The difference in the two sums of money mentioned, is hard to understand.

Alderman Follwell, at the last council meeting, said that to permit trailers to remain at the city tourist camp would be to cause a slum district in what he termed was a choice residential area. We wonder if Alderman Follwell has any idea of the average cost of the trailers parked there, if not we will tell him, between $1,500 and $3,700, not including the yearly licenses, which are equivalent to a trailer owner of taxes to a house owner.

We owners are in the main, veterans, who, because of the housing situation, are unable to find other accommodation in the case of most of us, because we have children, something which seem to be a crime nowadays, in the eyes of landlords. Not every veteran with a family can afford the high cost of buying a house of his own, however much he may like to.

In the U.S.A. proper trailer parks are provided in each city for people who have bought trailers in answer to the shortage of homes. Each city sets a certain standard, so that there is no chance of a park becoming a slum. Why cannot Belleville take the same time and trouble for people who are, after all, Belleville residents, by virture of working here, spending their money in the stores, and their children attending schools here. Not transients, or summer tourists passing through overnight, who it states will be allowed to still use the park.

BAGS FIVE LIONS IN FEW SECONDS

Pretoria, South Africa — (CP) —George Michael, a well-known Pretoria hunter, shot a pride of five lions in 15 seconds from 30 yards while hunting recently in the Zambesi Valley.

Four of the lions were killed with one shot each, and the fifth, a lioness, was wounded.

Mr. Michael was only eight yards away when he saw the wounded lioness. He hurriedly took aim and shot it between the eyes.

During a trip to Barotseland, he shot three elephants in 10 seconds with three shots.

DIFFERENT ROADS

Life must be spiced with variety. Nature has always been that way. You cannot travel anywhere without being thrilled by new scenes and an endless variety of beauty.

The interesting personality is nothing more or less than that one which is highly rich in variety of attainments and interests.

Last summer, when I was on a long motor trip, I repeatedly sought to learn of new roads — I wanted to get away from the beaten paths, the less travelled roads, to the quieter, though wilder and more natural spots, where I knew I would always discover interests that would give added pleasure. I recall one winding road that branched off from the main one, that led us into a back country that was entrancing and glorious. The grass was grown upon the road and deep ruts had to be used for our car. But such beauty! Flowers, even, had crept to the middle of the way as though to smile us through their realm.

which is being done by the many, is always sure to attract attention and to rivet interest to his work, or discovery.

Each one of us is given the privilege of travelling by a different road — at least now and then. New scenery, new happenings, and new discoveries, stimulate the brain and warm the heart. Even through our brain, new paths are constantly being made as we seek new truths, new methods of thought.

No single human being takes the same road in life. We all cross the roads of many and travel along with others, but our special road may be made most glorious, and even spectacular, to ourselves, simply by having the desire and the courage to keep choosing the less travelled roads.

Often have I lost my way, when set upon a definite destination, finding myself upon a road not on the chart, and often this strange and unmarked road has turned out to be the most delightful of all those upon the journey.

When misfortune comes, we should not become too broken by it. It's just a new road — that's

THEN THERE'S DOCTOR VISHINSKY

On the list of illnesses which the state board recognizes as legitimate you will find "cri", of course. I haven't seen the list, but I'm willing to bet a $5 set of the complete works of Wm. Brady M.D., against a copy of the list that you won't find "cold either—nor on any similar list of illnesses furnished by board, commission governmental department or insurance company.

Yet how often does your favorite quack evade a diagnosis of your indisposition or illness by muttering in his beard while you yourself assure the quack that you don't mind calling it "cold"—until you both find out what it really is!

The booklet Call it Cri clarifies it in a practical way—some parents have testified that they believe they have kept their families free from considerable illness by following the hygiene precepts the booklet teaches. It is still available on written request if you send twenty-five cents and stamped self addresed envelope. In int I tell what even Doctor Vishinsky himself knows is the truth about what the Vishinskys of the medical profession—for their own purposes—will go on calling "cold" as long as the laity will bear it.

Whether the board pleases to recognize cri or not, the term is only a makeshift, but an honest one. Being coined from the initial letters of Common Respiratory Infection the term cri signifies merely that you believe one or another of the common respiratory infections is developing but that you can't tell as yet which it may prove to be—mild coryza or sore throat or measles or meningitis or flu or laryngitis or sinusitis or pneumonia or scarlet fever or diphtheria — all of the common respiratory infections present the same general symptoms in the most communicable stage, the stage of invasion or onset before the victim feels ill enough to give up or go to bed or even seek medical attention.

If you or your physician be on the up and up you'll call it cri until the specific nature of the illness becomes manifest. That gives everybody within your spray range fair warning. Droplet spray, that is, given off when one coughs, sneezes or talks. The visible or invisibly fine moisture droplets may contain the germs or virus or whatever respiratory infection you may be coming down with. This is the way the respiratory infections are spread By keeping out of range—ten or 12 feet for open face sneezing and coughing, three or four for polite conversation—one may avoid infection by the wretched so-and-so's who peddle their cri in office, school, shop, train, theatre church while they pertend it is just a you know what.

Cri is an unquestionable excuse for keeping a child out of school for a day or a few days, or for remaining at home for a day or a few days if you have a job or for lolling about the house until you are sure nothing serious is developing if you are an executive, a proprietor, a teacher, a doctor or a dentist. On the other hand, if I were the doctor on the board of commission I would not accept cri as an explanation of absence of more than a few days in any instance. I'd return the report, application or certificate with the notation: Well, what developed, if anything?

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

The So Called Human Race

1. Is it harmful to baby or mother if the pregnant mother drinks to the point of intoxication? 2. Is it harmful to an infant 18 months old to have soap suppository every day? 3. Do you recommend onion juice to clear the ear channel? (R. N.)

Answer—1. Yes. 2. Yes. 3. No. It may do no good, but it will do no harm to give the expectant mother a copy of Preparing for Maternity and perhaps a copy of The Brady Baby Book. For either booklet send twenty-five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address.

Circumcision

Do you advise circumcision for every male child? If so, at what age should it be done? (S. J. D.)

Answer—No, only when it is necessary for cleanliness or to relieve obstruction to urination. It should be done at any age.

Applesauce

We are most grateful for your recommendation of scraped raw apple diet for infants with gastroenteritis (acute summer complaint, acute diarrhea). It proved wonderfully effective when our 14 months old baby had it this summer. Our doctor approved too. Now we are all for Dr. Brady's applesauce. Please send the pamphlet Yankee Stomach in stamped addressed envelope inclosed. (Mrs. J. G. R.)

Answer—The scraped raw apple treatment of infantile (or child or adult) acute diarrhea is not my invention—I just passed it along from real doctors, who reported the raw apple diet, treatment in medical literature. After all, scraped raw apple pulp is not the same as applesauce. Cooking may lessen the efficacy of the exculusive apple diet, for 36 hours, plus weak tea without milk, cream or sugar, for persons over 16. The tea may be sweetened with saccharin in place of sugar.

Money Found in Room

Behind a wall mirror a maid later found a Canadian Club envelope with Mackellar's initials written on it, containing four $20 American bills.

Harold Birnes assistant district attorney, asked if any money had been stolen from the body, replied: "No comment".

Reconstructiong the chain of events that led to the Canadian textile expert's death, Birnes said that Barrows met Mackellar in another hotel (Astor) bar.

They were joined by two others and moved on to another tavern. There another person joined the party before Barrows was invited to the Canadian Club suite.

The two entered the suite about 2 a.m., and had a few drinks. An argument followed and Birnes said, Barrows struck Mackellar who fell to the floor. Barrows left the suite 20 minutes after he entered with MacKellar, Birnes added.

Dr. Thomas Gonzales, chief medical examiner, said Mackellar had been severely beaten. He died of a fractured skull and ruptured intestines after being "punched, kicked or jumped upon."

Detectives said Barrows was pointed out at the west side tavern by a blonde barmaid. The woman told police that Barrows said he had a "hangover" from drinking a bottle of Scotch in the Waldorf the night before.

Police found a partially consumed bottle of Scotch in Barrows' rooms and said it was the bottle taken from the Canadian Club suite.

PASSES CENTURY MARK

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

Into a hospital room comes a beautiful bouquet of mixed flowers, roses among them. You step up to inhale the legendary glory of the rose, its perfume. And there isn't any.

In fact, the beautiful buds, barely opening, have if anything, a slightly musty smell.

This is what science can do: it can make a thing beautiful to look at: but the savor is lost. They may not have gilded the lily, but they have gilded the rose. Nurses tell me that in recent years, flowers have gone all to look. Only the carnation seems to have held its perfume; and the nurses also mention a white star of a flower called Bouvardia which sends forth an incense glorious to the nose.

One nurse told me she had spoken of this destruction of the perfume of flowers to a professional florist, and he said that many sick people objected to the heavy fragrance of certain flowers in the room. To meet jaundiced eye but deprived of odor. That sounds to me as if the flower trade had hired a public relations counsel. It is a grisly apology.

The violet, a few years ago, could fill a theatre or a ball room with its ravishing fragrance. Today, you can buy a corsage of the most glorious huge, meaty violets: but the only odor to them is the odor of the tinfoil around their stems.

It may be that improving on one aspect of nature, we spoil another. Sometimes in the society of the quite young, we marvel at the healthy beauty of them: their vigor, their perfection of limb, their magnificent teeth, their lustrous hair — all products of that public health and scientific nurture which has become universal in the past twenty years.

But isn't there some absence of the savor there used to be to young people who were squat, fat, tall, skinny, freckled, bandy-legged, knock-kneed or other-

DOUBLE brims which curve up a bit as well as out are made of delicate lobster pink felt, for the designer hat, above, and centered with a flat crown. As in most of the new hats, large or small, the head is for once covered by its hat, practically a revolutionary notion, silly as it may sound.

To balance this silhouette which is a cloche variation, the trimming shoots up as a rule. Here it is a butterfly of sea colored quills, poised at the very edge of the brim, from which shoot tall, fragile stripped quill whips.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A Teen-Ager and Her Phone Calls

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My father used to work nights but just recently switched to another job where he works days. I realize he finds it hard to adjust himself to spending the evening with his family, but at night when he is in the parlor if I get a telephone call, he gets very angry. I am nearly 16, and a junior in high school, so quite a few of my friends call. Not every night but just once in awhile. As soon as I get a phone call, my father immediately thinks up tasks for me to do, even though some of them may already have been done. Then he hollers and starts cursing, saying I spend one and two hours on the phone, which is not so, as I have never been over 15 minutes at the longest. I have quite a time trying to keep my friends from hearing. Have you any advice? I'll try my best to co-operate.

"Brownie"

Dear "Brownie":

If you are going to do your best to co-operate in solving this problem, then I suggest that you be quite frank with your friends and tell them that your father comes home from work tired, and it disturbs him to hear you having long phone calls. Even though you say the longest are no more than 15 minutes, don't forget that when a weary adult has to sit by and listen to inconsequential chatter and giggling over the phone, 15 minutes can seem an awfully long time.

You must see the people who call you in school every day, so it shouldn't seem too difficult for them to save whatever they have to say until the next day. If it something that can't wait, however, then be as brief about it as you possibly can. If your father sees that you are trying not to annoy him ,he will probably be more patient about the whole business.

Shall the Divorcee Wear a Wedding Ring?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a divorcee and have a child. I still wear my wedding ring but my friends tell me I should not do so. I feel, however, that because I have a child, I should wear a ring so as not to caus misunderstanding.

Would you please tell me if I am wrong. If so, what hand should I wear the ring on, if any?

"R. B."

Dear "R. B."

If you wish to continue to wear your wedding ring, there is no real reason why you should not do so. The matter is optional.

Most divorced women prefer not to wear a wedding ring, which is a symbol of something that no longer exists, but if you feel more comfortable wearing yours, just go ahead and do it. Of course, you would wear it on the hand you are used to wearing it on, undoubtedly the left hand.

Her Feeling Changed

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Can a person really hate someone and then later find herself falling in love with him?

About a year ago my brother-in-law came to live with my husband and me. I didn't want him to live with us but my husband insisted. I was always cross with him and we were constantly insulting each other. I was pregnant at the time, so was not always in a good mood, and about a month before my baby was born, I said either he or I must leave. He went, but after that we always seemed to be good friends.

A couple of months ago he came to the house when I was alone with the baby, and started to make love to me. He said he had always loved me. I responded to his kisses but that was all. We didn't do anything wrong. Now every time I see him the more I think I love him. But I love my husband very much and wouldn't want anything to break up our marriage. Should I tell my husband about this or should I try and forget about it?

"Mary"

Dear "Mary":

It is perfectly possible for the feeling of a woman for a man or vice versa to start with dislike and change into love. But I don't think you really love this brother-in-law of yours. It is more likely that you are perhaps a little lonely sometimes, and that your husband may not be as demonstrative as you would like, and so it is comforting and reassuring to feel the tangible expression of affection.

However, you say you love your husband, so I think you are very foolish indeed to play at love with anyone else. My advice would be to say nothing to your husband about what has happened, but to make very sure that it does not happen again. Tell your brother-in-law very plainly that you do not intend to engage in any sort of romance with him and that unless he mends his ways, you will have to ask him not to come to the house any more.

Doesn't Trust His Girl Friend

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a boy of 17 and have been going steady with a girl 17 for two years. My trouble is that I get jealous very easily and because of this we have had many arguments and have broken up several times.

About ten months ago we separated, as she liked another boy, but wouldn't tell me. But I found out through friends of mine. A month later we made up but because she has had boys up at her house and also gone out with other boys, I do not trust her. I wouldn't mind if she would tell me about things. We had an agreement that if I want to go out, or she wanted to go out with anyone we would always tell the other beforehand so that one wouldn't be sitting home while the other was out, but she didn't keep this agreement.

I have tried so many times to leave her and forget her, but I am lost without her. What shall I do?

"Pal"

Dear "Pal":

The thing that brings about trouble in these friendships between boys and girls is this unwise idea you all seem to have that you must have only one girl friends or boy friend at a time. If you young people would only be willing to go out with lots of other young people, instead of tying yourselves up to just one, this kind of thing would be far less likely to happen.

What you obviously want is for me to tell you how to get your girl friend to do exactly what you want her to do, and I wouldn't do that if I could. If you don't like a girl well enough to be willing to accept her just as she is, then you are foolish to try and tie yourself up to her. You'd better make up your mind either to take her as she is, or let her go her own way.

GOOD MANNERS

Girl Should Rise Whn an Older Woman is Standing

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a girl fifteen years old. Last Saturday I went to a party given at the home of one of my schoolmates. I was sitting talking with a girl in my class at school when the mother of the girl at whose house the party was being given, came up to us with a boy to whom she introduced us. I did not rise because I had always understood that a girl does not rise when she is introduced to a boy. But the girl I was with did rise. Which of us was right? And will you also tell me the reason for your answer so that next time I may be sure what's right?

Mary Elizabeth

The other girl was right. She rose not because of the boy was being introduced to her, but because she was showing courtesy to the older woman, her hostess. You should make it your polite habit not to remain seated while an older woman is standing. Why not begin at once to show this courtesy to your mother . . . then this mannerly habit will become so much a part of your thinking that you will react at once, rising immediately when an older women enters the room or is standing near you? (And incidentally, a boy is introduced to a girl . . .not the girl to the boy.)

Procedure of Sending a Cheque as a Wedding Gift

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A young cousin of ours, of whom we are very fond is to be married soon, and instead of giving her a usual household wedding present, we would like to give her a cheque. The groom is being sent by his company to a quiet distant place, and so they will not start housekeeping for some time. Wouldn't a cheque be proper for relatives to send? If so, should we make it out in her name, or in theirs? And should we take it with us to the wedding (which is to be out-of-town), give it ot her then, and explain why we are giving her a cheque rather than a specific wedding gift?

S. K.

Under these circumstances this money-gift would be entirely proper, and I am sure your young cousin will be delighted with your thoughtfulness in sending so practical a gift. Please don't postpone giving it to her until the wedding. Send it to her at once, as soon as possible before the wedding, so that she will have the joy of receiving your gift now, and also so that she will have time to write you a note of appreciation. Since all wedding presents are sent to the bride-to-be, make out the cheque in her maiden name. With the cheque enclose a note saying that you thought a cheque might be more practical than a household gift at the moment, and assure her that she may, if she prefers, keep it to buy something later when her housekeeping plans are more definite.

Proper for Guest to Wear Black at Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My family and I are having a discussion concerning correct wedding dress, and we would appreciate your decision. I have just received an invitation from a friend of mine to her wedding and also to the reception. My financial status is such that a new dress is out of the question, especially since I recently bought a black dress. This dress is very simple, but I consider it a stunning dress. The question is: Would it be proper for me to wear a black dress at a wedding?

M. R.

Certainly it's proper for a wedding guest to wear a black dress. If it weren't, it would be too bad for the many many women who depend on the "basic black dress" to wear on practically all daytime occasions! But the well-dressed woman wedding-guest wears some carefully-chosen accessories that add an interesting touch of color to her ensemble. A smart, pert hat, for example, of flowers or small feathers, or a small black hat with one dash of color. With this, effective jewelry, real or costume; light-colored gloves—white or light-gray or beige; a small afternoon purse.

When She Introduces Her Recently-Married Ssiter

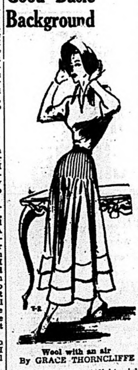
Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My older sister (she's 21 and I'm 15) has recently been married in Oregon, and now she and her husband are coming here for a visit with us. When I introduce her to my friends—or, when she comes to visit my school, to the principal and teachers—do I introduce her just as "my sister", or should I mention her married name?

Dorothy L.

In all your introductions, mention your sister's married name . . . . "Miss Robinson, this is my sister, Mrs. Allen". Pronounce her new name very distinctly, so that the person introduced will be able to say, in acknowledging the introduction, "How do you do, Mrs. Allen", and will be able to use her name in the conversation that may follow the introduction.

Good Basic Background



Wool with an air

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

"WINTER NAVY" lightweight woollen makes this neat little all day dress. It is detailed with a casual collar above a fitted bodice. The hips are rounded but slim and they get that way due to the inside tucking which is released into a moderately full skirt. The tiered hemline adds an individual touch. An easy armhole and long slim sleeves are other details. This is a good background or accessory frock, a little different from the usual basic number.

Blind from Birth Canadian Pianist Reaches Success

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, (CP)—Mary Munn gifted Canadian blind pianist now living in London, is a philosopher as well as a musician.

"I sometimes think that if statesmen and politicians listened to great music before going in to debate the would would be saved a lot of headaches," said Mary when interviewed in her home at Ealing Common.

"There is a power in the work of the masters that transcends petty grievances. That at least has been my experience. I get very angry sometimes. . but it passes when I play the piano or go to a good concert."

Since she first left her native Montreal 23 years ago, Miss Munn's talent has been divided between Canada, Britain, the United States and European countries. She has given recitals in London regularly since last January and the critics have been unanimous in their praise.

She has been asked to play Creig's piano concerto with the London Smyphony Orchestra at the Albert Hall, Nov. 21.

"I regard it as an honor," she said, "and I shall certainly give of my best."

Remarkable Memory.

Born blind, Mary has trained herself since childhood to memorize full-length symphonic works note by note. She can repeat as much as five pages of Mozart after hearing them played only once, complex music has to be learned progressively in five-bar sections. She memorized the Greig concerto in 14 hours.

"When learning a new piano concerto I always study the conductor's score as well. I like to know what to expect from the orchestra, and not have horns coming in when I'm expecting strings".

Tall, with dark hair and a bright smile, Miss Munn first came to London when she was 16 and studied at the Royal Academy of Music. Then she returned to Canada for a 15-weeks' engagement with the CBC in Toronto.

Back in London two years later, a series of piano recitals proved so successful she was invited to play in other European capitals. Seeking a companion for her travels, Mary became friendly with concert and operatic singer Essie Mann. Miss Mann accompanied her to Rome, Budapest and Berlin and enjoyed it so much she gave up singing to become Mary's permanent companion.

"We've been together nearly 13 years now," Miss Mann said. "Our friends call us Munn and Mann—as if we were some sort of comic turn."

The house which they share has two grand pianos in the drawing room—one for each. It will be to let next January, however, as Miss Munn is returning to Canada for a concert tour.

Housework Centre to Release Many Wives for Outside Jobs

By THOMAS HARRIS

Stockholm (Reuters)—A brains trust to find means of reducing the work of housewives has been appointed by Gustaf Moeller, Sweden's minister for social affairs.

Including architects, housing officials and other experts, the brains trust is to draft plans for concentrating such household tasks as cooking, cleaning, and even bathing the baby in a central building—known as a "help centre" —around which apartments would be built.

The central buildings will have community restaurants where cheap, nourishing food can be eaten or taken home ready for the table. They will have corps of cleaners to wash paintwork, polish floors, vacuum-clean carpets and dust for a moderate fee.

Family linen will be brought to the laundry to be washed by modern machinery at low cost.

There will be nurseries and kindergartens for children below school age so their mothers can go to work.

A few help centres already exist in Sweden, but they have been created and maintained by private enterprise. Following a question in parliament by Mrs. Disa Vaestberg, president of the Social Democratic Women's Association, the state announced it is taking steps to set up many more centres.

Mrs. Vaestberg said industry needs more women but that nothing has been done to make it possible for women to work and run their homes easily at the same time.

"If one excludes women employed on farms," she said, "one finds only 21 per cent of childless married women are working in Sweden. Of women with one or more children, the percentage for the whole of Sweden is only 15 per cent.

"Once let these women, who prefer to stay at home, know that they will not come back to dirt and disorder and badly-cared-for children after a hard day in office or factory, and you will find that they will come out of their shells and help us to increase production."

Dr. Yngve Larrson, building expert and chairman of the brains trust, says the help centres will help old people and hospitals as well as housewives.

"Many old people are unable to fend for themselves in our present type of flats," he said, "and are forced to go into hospitals or homes for the aged."

"If they can have most of the cares of running a home taken off their shoulders, they will much prefer to have their own flats. Both they and the community would benefit."

Carpet Fashions Are Made To Attract Buyers to Shops

By DOROTHY CAREW

New York, (AP) — Carpets have joined the fashion parade.

"The rug has become a decorative piece, with manufacturers offering an unlimited number of shades to meet a lady's perference", said Harold E. Wadely, president of one carpet company.

At present the industry can sell all the carpets it can make, manufacturers know this cannot last indefinitely. Some day, not too far distant, the most urgent needs will be met.

So the industry is looking ahead. Manufacturers in the United States recently set out to discover how consumers feel about their product. A survey showed a large percentage of women would like to replace their present floor covering. But it showed also that the industry was doing nothing to spur them beyond the wanting stage.

Manufacturers took a long look at carpet departments in retail stores. They looked at their own showrooms.

"Most of those places looked like warehouses," one company official said. "And as for the salesmen—could you give a sales talk while you were bending down and holding back a dozen nine-by-twelve rugs with your shoulder?"

A rash of remodelling of showrooms broke out. Rugs were whipped out of piles on the floors and hung on the walls. Carpeting was laid on floors on room sections, complete with furniture displays.

Retailers liked the idea. Many are putting carpet departments high on their list of modernization plans. Carpet-makers are helping them arrange their displays.

Sales Training

That is just one phase of the industry's program. Sales training plays a big part, too. The industry association, the Carpet Institute, has had Mary Brandt, a home - furnishings consultant, work out a program; and carpet mills are bringing retail salesmen to their factories to learn about carpets first hand.

Some companies have home decorators on their staffs to help consumers with their color coordination and other decorating problems.

Along with the improvement in sales methods and redesigning of carpet departments, the industry has concentrated on improving its products. Manufacturers have spent about $12,000,000 on equipment since the end of the war.

"That is only the start", one industry spokesman said. "All the companies are revamping their factories."

The industry expects those factories to turn out this year a record volume of 90,000,000 square yards of floor-coverings, in the greatest variety in history.

Although the industry is equipped to make luxury carpeting—and does make types that sell as high as $40 a square yard or more—the accent at present is on popular-priced goods.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Posture and personality

Have the will to be graceful, and grace will come to you. The "I Don't Care" girl slouches along, shuffles her feet, sometimes believes she is being cute and arty. She is mistaken. Her shoulders are thrown forward, her chest is flattened, her tummy protrudes and she is a wash-out.

Appearance has much to do with the impression made upon the mind of the beholder—how one dresses, how one walks, how one stands and sits. It is the duty of every girl to be conscious of her appearance, to have the desire to make the best of herself. If she hasn't enough respect for herself to do that, she should at least have consideration for others who have to look at her—her family, her friends, the individuals she meets wherever she goes.

The splendidly carried body suggest courage and a brave spirit. Walk grandly and you'll feel grand. Assume an attitude of energy and your motors will chug up more energy. Let your feathers trail in the dust, and you are lost. Cosmetics won't help a bit. Make-up is wasted. We're all of us a bit bored hearing about inner beauty, but it is worth thinking about, just the same.

Assume attitude of energy

Let the slouchy one put a little ginger in her heels, yank up her backbone as nature intended she should, lift her chest, keep her head balanced, carry herself regally. She will be transformed into a more attractive person. Why won't more young girls put their minds to this interesting subject? Observe a crowd of high school lassies. Few of them have what might be called form. Teachers of physical education lament because their pupils seem to have so little spirit about gym work. They go through their exercises, but it doesn't do them a lot of good.

They're crazy about clothes, have arguments with the mamas as to what they want to wear, but they won't take the trouble to carry their pretty duds in a distinctive manner.

Boys admire the girl who has vitality and animation. These qualities can be expressed in graceful movements and the poses one assumes when standing or sitting. That sounds sensible, doesn't it, Sweet Sixteen?

Why not have respect for the marvellous human machine that is You? It is capable of cultivating beauty. Muscles should be strong and resilient; they won't be if they are not used properly. Your figure like your face, is ever in the making or the unmaking. You can't think of yourself as being thirty; that seems a hundred years away But you'll be there, almost before you have a chance to look over your shoulder at the departed years.

CHINCHILLAS

—produce the world's most luxurious fur. Because of the fabulous prices paid by the royalty and nobility of Europe, they were trapped so ruthlessly that they became almost extinct.

There are now, however, a few being raised in captivity, and there is a very bright future for anyone interested in raising them.

These animals may be seen any time at the home of MRS. R. McLENNAN, 160 ALBERT ST., BELLEVILLE, Associate of Dominion Chinchilla Ranchers, Limited, Napanee and Kingston.

Silver Tray and Mantel Clock Presented to Warden, Mrs. West At Banquet Held at Madoc

(By Staff Writer)

Madoc—Tangible appreciation of the "highly efficient manner" in which he conducted his office during 1948 was shown Reeve George West of Madoc Village, Warden of Hastings County, by members of Hastings County Council at a complimentary banquet tendered them, and guests by the county's chief official and Mrs. West Friday night. Warden and Mrs. West were the recipients of a beautiful silver tray and a handsome mantel clock, the gifts of the county governing body.

Upwards of 130 guests representing a cross-section of the county were present at the banquet held in the Madoc Armouries. A battery of speakers paid sterling tribute to Warden West and the work he and the county council had done during the year.

Family Special Guests

Special guests of Warden and Mrs. West were Mr. and Mrs. Ken West their son and daughter-in-law, and Mrs. Mildred Alexander, of Lacombe Alberta. County officials and their wives, members of parliament representing county ridings, and members of the judiciary occupied seats at the head table. The city of Belleville was represented by Mayor D.L. Storey and City Comptroller Harold Bateman. Other guests included many ex-wardens and representatives of business, industry agriculture and the professions of the county and district

County Clerk Erle Denyes was chairman and introduced the various speakers. In his remarks the county clerk paid personal tribute to Warden West stating that he had done an excellent job and would be a hard warden to follow."

Following a warm welcome to his guests, the warden expressed his sincere appreciation of the co-operation given him by his council, county officials and their staffs. He commended the Belleville City Council for "what it has done for Hastings County during our several dealings this year."

County Free From Debt

"Hastings County" he said," was one of the largest counties in Ontario and one free from debt. This has been a year of decisions as well as action. Many problems had arisen which called for serious thought and consideration. In fact two special sessions had been called."

Reviewing the work done by council this year, the warden drew attention to the new wiring in the county courthouse; redecoration of the courtroom; addition to the registry office, formation of high school districts in the county, and the sale of the House of Refuge and purchase of property for the site of a new county home. "Work on the new 125-room home would start in the spring," he said.

He considered the county roads and bridges system one that was on a par with that of other counties. Special consideration had been given to the securing of a Juvenile Court for Hastings County.

Responding to the warden's address, Reeve Fred Campbell, Sidney Township, expressed his appreciation of the guidance given council and committees during the warden's tenure of office. "During the year, Warden West had the honor of closing one of the largest real estate deals ever transacted in the county. He can look back on 1948 with pride."

County Treasurer Ross Bailey said county officials and staff had appreciated the co-operation given them by the warden. "He was always willing to give advice and time and effort freely. We admired the tact he used when dealing with difficult county problems.

Toast to Canada

"Canada is a young and healthy country, one of great scenic beauty and natural resources, representing untold wealth," Reeve Charles Rush, Hungerford, said in proposing the toast to the Dominion. "It is a land which for over a century has been free from the scars and terrors of war. Our border with the great country to the south of us is an imaginary line. It is with pride that we think of the confidence new Canadians have in this Dominion. They have left the land of their birth to enjoy the liberties, freedoms and prosperity that we enjoy in this great country."

Canada's flag is a symbol of freedom and Canadians have had freedom so long they take it for granted, George S. White, M.P., Hastings-Peterborough said in response to the toast. "It matters little if the shape or design of the flag is changed as long as the symbol remains."

It stands for freedom of speech religion and discrimination, for justice and tolerance, and assurance of equality for the individual; for a minority not ruled by a majority and for government by law and not by man."

"One of the melting pots of nationalities," Mr. White said "has come a sturdy Canadian citizenship. New Canadians have helped roll back our frontiers, and to develop our mines, forests and lands."

Not Flagmakers

While members of parliament may decide on the color, shape and design of the flag, they are not flagmakers. The flagmakers are those who work in the mines, forests, on farms, and in industry. They are the mothers and those young Canadian men and women who served in the armed forces. These are the real flagmakers. Canadians have not always lived up to their ideals but they should, whenever they see the flag, resolve to do nothing to besmirch it, no matter what its shape, design or color may be.

Canada has grown and is growing in stature, George H. Stokes M.P. Hastings South said. In 1927 the first Canadian legation was established in Washington. Today it has embassies and consulates in many countries. In the last fiscal year, Canada paid 22 millions in family allowances; 45 millions in Old Age Pensions and eleven millions for the blind. She is moving resolutely forward.

Toast to Ontario

Proposing the toast to the province, Reeve Vincent Lynch, Marmora Village, stated that Ontario is the second largest province in the Dominion with 412,582 square miles, 50,000 of which are under water. Its population represents a third of that of the Dominion. It has 27 cities, 148 towns, 156 villages. In its administration it has 24 senators, 82 representatives in the House of Commons and 90 in the provincial government. It has two great rail systems. The Great Lakes and a network of highways. He referred to its natural resources and industries, its tourist attractions and educational facilities.

The progress of Hastings County is a sign of the times, Roscoe Robson, M.P.P., Hastings West, said. But those elected are having their problems due to the great expansion now prevalent all over Ontario. Last year Ontario's population increased one-quarter million. In a few years its population will be as large as that of the Dominion today.

With this expansion, increased population, industrial activities, the Ontario Government has set up a number of new departments.

"But another problem, a troublesome one has developed. That is hydro" Mr. Robson said. "Something has happened in Ontario that was not expected a few years ago. New industries, building, etc., were slow in reaching completion. The same applies to plants for development of hydro. In the search for water, the Ottawa River was found to offer the best possibilities. But Quebec owned it, and negotiations took time.

Big Plants For Hydro

"We are now drawing plans for big plants which we must build for the future. This takes time and all the time hydro demands are growing. I wonder if the extra advantages Ontario is getting through industrial expansion, new building and extra population are being overshadowed by the 'inconveniences of power cut-offs?"

"There is definitely a severe lack of water all over Ontario," Mr. Robson said. Two states in the USA will be waterless in a few years, and if something is not done about it, Ontario will be in the same position 50 years from now. The Great Lakes levels are down five feet. Creeks and rivers are running dry. A report of the Moira Watershed survey will shortly be in the hands of the County Council. Its members will see there is depletion of forests, and dangerously low water levels in this county."

"If we do a little a year, we think we have a remedy. But we must do it. You will be criticized, but that is democracy. It is entirely in your hands. The cost won't be large. There is in Ontario and Hastings County a grave danger of being a great scarcity of the cheapest thing we have — water." Mr. Robson concluded.

Sign of Progress

"The sale of Ontario cattle to the world is a sign of provincial progress, as are its many other exports such as tobacco and face powder," Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P., Hastings East, stated. "Ontario's progress is in no small measure due to the men who are running the province, such as county councils and wardens."

He outlined the work of the Ontario Department of Health, and touching on the subject of the new Hastings County Home, said that it would be the first modern home in the province, a "showplace and a credit to the county."

Mayor Storey of Belleville was brief in his toast to the County of Hastings. "The city," he said, has 43 industries and 750 houses are expected to be built. I am trying to make up my mind which way to expand the city so I can come back to the county and get more land. The Warden and County Council should be proud of the best county in Ontario."

Top Cheese Producer

Responding to the toast, Reeve Harry Harrison, Thurlow Township, said that while the county had diversified interests, agriculture was its basic industry. In spite of the vast number of cattle sold, and fluid milk delivered to urban users, Hastings was the top cheddar cheese producer in Ontario. In addition, it is becoming one of the important canning counties of the province. Its scenic beauty is unsurpassed and it has great lumber, pulp and other wood industries. New minerals are being mined. There is no division between the north and the south and every county councillor in his heart is doing his best for the county as a whole.

Expansion of the county depends on its roads as a whole, Reeve Clarke Rollins, Wollaston, told the guests. Importance of main arteries to the north country was stressed by the speaker who was of the opinion that better roads would induce Hastings County people to spend holidays and weekends in their own county rather than others. "People of the north," he said "are beginning to feel that they can build up their business if the tourist industry is developed through good roads."

Toast to Guests

Reeve Art McCarey, Tweed, in proposing the toast to the guests said the council and warden were honored by several important guests who had the interest of the county at heart. "We in the County Council look to you for guidance and constructive assistance so in the future we will be guided to legislate wisely in the best interests of this grand old county. We have appreciated the wise counsel and willingness to share our burdens in conducting the business of the county."

C. L. Jewell, Canadian Bank of Commerce manager, Belleville reminisced about early days in Madoc and extended the appreciation of the guests to the Warden and Mrs. West for their generous hospitality.

Tribute to the ladies of Madoc Chapter O.E.S. No. 143 was paid by Col. Roscoe Vanderwater. He stated that provincial and federal legislation was quite necessary but he realized the threat that is tryisg to engulf our way of living. The responsibilities lie on the municipal councils, urban rural and county because they are closest to the people. He urged municipal governments to recognize this responsibility.

City Comptroller Harold Bateman said that it had been a pleasure to work and co-operate with the county council and that Belleville was proud to be part of such a grand county.

Judge Pays Tribute

County Judge J. C. Anderson paid tribute to the co-operation the staff of the county buildings received this year from the warden and council. "We appreciate what you have done and done well this year. A justice of the high court remarked that the lighting in the county buildings is now one of the best in Ontario. You can point with pride to it."

Judge Anderson complimented the work of the sheriff and the new governor of the jail. "The condition of the buildings has greatly improved in a short time When Warden West cracks his gavel for the last time he can look back with justifiable pride to what he and his council have accomplished in 1948."

At this point Chairman Denyes introduced former warden and ex-M.P.P. J. Fred Wilson; ex-mayor of Belleville, Frank Follwell; W. H. Nugent, Harry Rollins and a number of ex-wardens.

Toast to Ladies

The toast to the ladies was proposed by Reeve Charles Buskard Deloro, with response given by Mrs. Derry of the Madoc O.E.S

The presentations to the warden and Mrs. West were made by Reeves Joe Davis, John Bell and Jack Morrison. Warden West gave a brief address of sincere appreciation on behalf of Mrs. West and himself for the lovely gifts.

The entertainment part of the program consisted of several selections by a quartet consisting of Mr. William Hawthorne, and his three sons, William Jr.; Tom and Stanley. Mr. Hawthorne later entertained with several clever crayon drawings.

Premier Garson Likely to Be Justice Minister

Ottawa, Nov. 6 (CP)—The way was paved today for the entry of Premier Garson of Manitoba into the Federal cabinet.

Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Friday Mr. Garson's acceptance of an invitation to enter the federal political field. It is expected he will take the justice portfolio, which Mr. St. Laurent is holding on a temporary basis.

To facilitate Mr. Carson's entry into the federal house, said Mr. St. Laurent, Hon. P. A. Glen has resigned his Manitoba commons seat of Marquette and Mr. Garson is being invited to seek the Liberal nomination in a by-election being held there Dec. 20.

By-elections will be held the same day in the Ottawa district seat of Carleton and the Quebec riding of Laval-Two Mountains. The nomination date in all three constituencies will be Dec. 6.

George Drew, the new Progressive Conservative leader, will contest the Carleton contest as a means of entry to the commons. It was vacated by Russell Boucher, the sitting member, for just that purpose. Mr. Drew will be opposed by a C.C.F. candidate Eugene Forsey.

Laval-Two Mountains became vacant last summer when Liguori Lacombe, Independent, resigned to accept an appointment as a magistrate in Quebec.

Fourth By-election

A fourth by-election is being held Dec. 13 in Digby-Annapolis-Kings, the Nova Scotia riding which became vacant last week when Rt. Hon. J.L. Ilsley, the former Justice Minster, retired as a Commons member. The nomination date there is Nov. 29.

Mr. St. Laurent's announcement Friday made no mention of a cabinet post for Mr. Garson and said only that he had responded to Mr. St. Laurent's request that he associate himself with the Liberal party in the Federal field.

However, it was pointed out here that Mr. St. Laurent, though he is Prime Minister-designate, cannot announce cabinet appointments since Prime Minister Mackenzie King still is head of the government. However, when Mr. King resigns, possibly next week Mr. St. Laurent will make the appointment public.

This is expected to be the only change in the new St. Laurent cabinet, though some alteration may be made to bring Robert Winter, member for Queens-Lunenberg and parliamentary assistant to Transport Minster Chevrier into the council.

It had been expected that Resources Minister MacKinnon would be appointed to the Senate but it is now understood that he will remain in the cabinet for the time being. He has indicated a desire for retirement.

Mackenzie's Column:

Writer Continues Story on Trip To Home Town

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

My native West Burke (to continue the journey we started Friday) frequently is referred to as the most photographed village in northern Vermont and this probably is due to the fact that its physical features have been altered little by passing time.

I found this lack of change was true in the majority of small places I visited. The residents are abreast of the times, but they live in the same houses I used to know. However, I encountered one sharp reminder that the eyes of chilhood magnify.

In Wilmington, for example, I was surprised to find that what I once regarded as a long, steep hill opposite my home was nothing but a gentle incline. The river which had been a raging torrent to me was just a babbling trickle. It makes one wonder how many times we blame the poor youngsters for exaggeration when they are only telling us truly what their inexperienced eyes see.

Surprising Discovery

Later in West Berlin, where my father died, I made a surprising discovery. His church had been renamed the "Mackenzie Memorial Methodist Church." I tried the front door and, finding it unlocked, went in. There looking down on me from high on the wall behind the pulpit was a life-size head-and-shoulder portrait of my dad.

Friend of Kipling

Then I visited Bratlezoro, where the great Rudyard Kipling lived in my day and was a friend of my family. The next time I saw the famous writer was at a wedding reception in London about 1930. It was in Brattleboro, too, that in the '90s I saw my first "horseless carriage" which was steered with a tiller and headed the Barnum and Bailey circus parade. Those also were the days when lecturers toured rural districts, exhibiting that amazing contraption, the "talking machine"—ten cents admission.

Quash Conviction Against Welch In Poison Death

Toronto, Nov. 6 (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Friday quashed a conviction of manslaughter against Joseph Vernon Welch, 24, sentenced to 10 years in prison in the poison death of his 31-year-old wife, Florence.

Welch was tried last March on a charge of murder by a jury under Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven, and was convicted on the lesser count of manslaughter.

The appeal was brought by Welch's counsel, C. L. Dubin of Toronto.

With Mr. Justice W. T. Henderson dissenting, two other justices, R. E. Laidlaw and F. D. Hogg, found that the trial jury had been misdirected on the law of manslaughter They also found that the trial judge had failed to direct the jury on the difference in the elements of criminal negligence as distinguished from the law of civil negligence.

W. B. Common, director of public prosecutions, said the Crown will now charge Welch with manslaughter, and the hearing of the case is expected to take place at the next assizes, early in 1949.

Welch is now in the Elgin County jail at St. Thomas, where he escaped in a daring daylight break on July 29, only to be recaptured two days later in Toronto. A consecutive one-year term was added to his 10-year manslaughter sentence for the jail break.

It is estimated that 10 per cent of births in the United States are never registered.

THE VENABLES

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Oh, Papa, I hope we have to the Mission, oh, I hope we do!"

"You'd like it," he said, pleased.

"Lily and I'd fill lamps, honest we would, and we'd grow vegetables and everything!"

"I think your mother'd be better off," he said. "You'd all be out of the house more. But I'm afraid your grandmother'll talk her out of it."

"I hate Grandma," Flo said.

"Come now, is that nice?? Get back from the door here, dear; don't breathe this wet air."

She hopped slowly upstairs again, experimenting on a splinter in her thumb with a long black-headed pin.

"Florence Venables, did you go out on the porch in all this rain?"

"No, ma'am. Papa told me not to."

"Feel her shoulders, Daisy," Willie said.

"Dry as a bone!" said Aunt Daisy. Flo went back to the Wide, Wide World.

"Come over here, Florence," Miss Potts said, in her hoarse voice that somehow sounded the way she smelled, of cloth and dust in the wrinkles of cloth and musk powder and oily hair. She held a nightgown up to Florence. "I guess Lily ain't much taller," she opined.

"No; they're 'bout the same!"

Willie felt so wretched that she laid aside her buttonholes and went to the bed and lay down flat. Her mother and sister exchanged another look, but nobody said anything. Poor Willie, if she really had any hope that she wasn't that way again, let her cherish it while she could!

Virgie-Lou instantly climbed up to scramble on her mother, hanging on the crib rail staring absently into space for a few seconds, with cooky and tears dried in a thick paste on his face, burst into bitter crying.

A guarded casual discussion of the Shotwell Street plan began. The women's voices were lifeless, dubious. It was one of "Mr. Venables' ideas." What on earth Willie'd do if she got sick out there, her mother wondered.

"I don't know as this is the best time in the world for you to get yourself all strained and tired moving," the old woman said.

Flo's heart sank — sank. Oh, maybe they wouldn't go!

Her grandmother was trotting Spencer up and down; he was a delicate child and needed a great deal of bouncing and trotting. She glanced at Flo. How much was that child taking in? . . . .

"For pity's sake, Willie, get Virgie-Lou off you!" Daisy said, biting a thread, her eyes on her sister. Immediately Willie sat up, dizzy and disheveled and spoke to her second daughter.

Flo was commissioned to take her small brother down to the kitchen and ask Dolly to take care of him for a little while. She accepted the errand gladly. The kitchen was always interesting.

Carefully, with much maternal direction, she escorted the toddling little boy downstairs and thru the cold hall and the drafty dining room into the bursting heat of the ironing-day kitchen.

"For heaven's sakes, wouldn't you think four women could keep a child amused," Dolly grumbled as Flo delivered child and message.

She tied a lump of damp brown sugar into a torn handkerchief that she had just ironed, plumped Spencer into the high chair and stuck the handkercief into his mouth. He sucked away contentedly enough, and Dolly went back to the heavy thumping of irons.

Flo assisted; she loved to iron. She loved the smell of pot roast bubbling on the range the delicate odor of hot iron on linen.

She reached into the basket beneath the table and jerked up the napkins, one by one. She could do them; they were plain and flat. She enthusiastically outlined the Mission plan to Dolly; Dolly listened with a darkening brow.

Pot roast and potatoes and two slices of bread and butter ball and prunes. Lily would carry it up, and Flo follow with the tea pot and the sugar. Willie took a soggy wedge of fresh bread away from Spencer; he wasn't hungry. Dolly put away her ironing board and carried loads of hot linen upstairs, while Willie tried to feed Spencer mashed potato and milk.

"Mrs. Venables, I thought I'd give you warning," Dolly presently said. Willie gave her a glance of utter consternation. Her rock of Strength, her maddening, procrastinating, stupid, tireless, good-natured, inexhaustible Dolly!

"You're a very silly girl if you are going to get married," she said sharply.

"No, ma'am but I'm not going to live out in the mission and do double work on a place like a farm," Dolly said in firm satisfaction "I couldn't do it. I worked on my aunt's farm in Cloverdale, and the doctor said my back would never recover when I was not but thirteen years old. I'd do anything in the world for you and Mr. Venables and the chirn like I always have, but there's no money could make me and there's no law in the land would —"

"Flo," said her mother, as Flo returned breathless and filled with a zeal for usefulness to the kitchen, "what possessed you to talk to Dolly about our moving? We're not going; it's just one of your father's ideas. Now here you get Dolly all worked up — ! Nothing that I say to you," Willie went on, working herself up, "seems to have the slightest effect; I declare I don't know what to do with you! Now you can march yourself upstairs to bed, and I don't want Lily up there playing with you either, and you'll not have one bite of supper."

"I'm perfectly delighted to go to bed and get out of waiting on table," Flo said pleasantly. "I'm sure, with my cold, that it's where I belong!"

"One more word like that, miss," said her mother, wiping her lips with the tumbled, much-damped, and much-dried handkerchief, "and I'll come up and give you a sound whipping!"

Flo, outwardly nonchalant but inwardly with horror, departed instantly. Missing dinner meant nothing; she had had many pieces of hot fresh bread and more than one cup of the drink she and Lily loved — strong coffee from the pot that Dolly kept boiling from breakfast until almost midnight, diluted with plenty of milk and sugar.

It was while she was dawdling on her way upstairs, conscious of a pricking skin and a heavy hand, that a sudden pitying of her mother came to her. Mama had looked so wretched, wiping and wiping her wet mouth as she sat in the hot kitchen.

Flo's heart ached fiercely with love for her mother.

Flo was in trouble much of the time; far oftener than Lily. As for Georgie, he was a boy and Mama's pet, and he had had spasms when he was little, and he olmts never was punished for anything.

Flo was amusing, stimulating, affectionate, and Lily's staider and chillier nature warmed and thrilled itself at Flo's fire.

In return Flo loved Lily jealously and hotly, and on a day when Lily's knitted balmoral had come down at school, and Lily had stood aghast and crying, Flo had shouted down all the other children with her scorn and had her bested big, simple minded Jody Choate himself by clinching her arms about his waist and kicking him repeatedly in the shins and knees. Lily nover would forget that.

• • •

The children really loved their father. But that was perhaps because they saw him only at stated and expected times and he took no part in their training or discipline. Indeed, he often got them freed from punishments, his own commands never being more than a good-natured, "Close that door, Lovely!" or "Less noise in there, children!"

He was more generous with nickels and dimes than their mother; once he brought them home a copper cent that had come into the bank to show them the absurd money that Eastern children used. California children neither knew nor used pennies.

Paul Venables adored little girls too. He loved Georgie and Spencer, of course; he loved all his children. But little girls were his delight. And more than once he showed to Flo a certain understanding, a sympathy that sent her heart up with a wild, incredulous flutter and kept her happy for days.

When he and she were alone together, they spoke of the Shotwell Street Plan.

"Mama says we're not going, Papa," Flo said.

"No, No," he answered cheerfully, "Mama and Grandma think it would be a mistake. Too uncomfortable!"

"I wouldn't be uncomfortable!" she said, accenting the pronoun.

"Perhaps not. It would have been a venture — 'a hazard of new fortunes,' " her father said musingly. "It would have been a — a broader life for us all, gaslights or no gaslights. Well, we mustn't let Mama know we were disappointed."

"Lily and I think Mama's going to have another baby. She told Dolly so," Flo said boldly.

(To be continued.)

Toronto Marlies Score Shutout Over Dutchmen

(By The Canadian Press)

The underdog Toronto Marlboros made it two straight Friday night — and both by shutouts.

Paced by lanky Johnny McCormick, with three goals and an assist, the cellar - dwelling Marlboros blanked the third-place Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 4-0 to earn their second straight game. They defeated the youthful Stratford Indians 1-0 Friday night.

Marlboros started the season off in bad style, dropping three straight, and eking out two ties. But with the recent signing of 36-year-old, former National Hockey League star, Flash Hollett, and line-reshuffling by coach Joe Primeau, they show signs of strength.

In other O. H. A. games last night, Stratford Indians walloped the senior league - leading Hamilton Tigers 7-1, while in the junior loop the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees bested the cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros 5-3. Windsor Spitfires, made it seven-for-seven when they bested Barrie Flyers juniors, 3-1.

McCormick gave the Dukes a 2-0 lead in the first period and lengthened it to 3-0 in the second. Early in the third stanza, Bob Robertson blasted home McCormick's pass.

Stratford, who have dropped 5 of their nine starts, nipped five goals in the third period as they downed the Bengals.

Dunc Daniels opened the scoring in the first period and Mickey Roth, who took top honors with three goals, got his first in the second frame. Jim Eady, Bill Walsh, and Johnny Messmer added to Daniels' third period goals, with one apiece.

Teepees Spot Marlies

Ab Conick got the only Hamilton marker.

St. Catharines Teepees spotted Marlboros a 3-2 lead going into the third period and then roared back to bang in three straight markers.

Both teams split a pair of goals in the first period and two in the second. George Armstrong counted for Marlies in the first and Gord Byers got the equalizer.

Gerry Toppazzine put St. Kitt's ahead early in the second frame but Bob Ashley tied it up minutes later.

Bobby Knowles then scored to put the Dukes ahead — but it was shortlived. Red Sullivan, Don Brown and Bob Switzer counted to give St. Catharines the edge.

Windsor Spitfires had a 2 - 0 lead going into the third period before Bob Bingley answered for Barrie. Francis O'Grady got the first two Windsor tallies. Jimmy Hay finished off the scoring midway through the third stanza.

Marlboros meet Kitchener, and Stratford clash with Hamilton in the senior loop tonight. On the junior bill, St. Catharines meet Marlboros. St. Michael's play Guelph Biltmores, and Galt Rockets clash with Oshawa Generals.

York Trading Now Leading Major A League

Northern Electric, leaders of the Major "A" Bowling League received a rude jolt at the regular Thursday night session of the loop when the Electronics, "brothers-in-alleys" handed them a surprise 7-0 defeat. The defeat sent the Northern team down to second place in the standing while York Trading who handed out a 7-0 reverse to the Central Cigar "Stogies" took over first place It is the first time this season that the N.E.'s have been out of the top position.

Belleville Goluf recovered some of their championship form turning back the C.N.R. team by a 5-2 count while Callaghan's Ice handed the cellar-dwelling Lawn Bowers a 5-2 setback.

The bowing Thursday night was consistently good both from an individual angle as well as collectivey. York Trading roled the high aggregate with a score of 3558. Al teams but two rolled over the 3,000 mark.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Harness racing and harness horse breeding received a decided impetus the other day when "Mac" Hawley of this city, owner of a string of five standard breds, added three members of one of the most famous harness racing strains in Canada to his stable.

• • •

Mr. Hawley attended the sale of twenty horses, all progeny of the well-known Grattan Royal, one of the bluebloods of harness racing, at Peterborough the other day. He purchased three scions of that illustrious family, a thirteen year-old stallion, Sporty Grattan, sired by Peter Grattan Royal, "Valuable Lady Peters" a six-year-old mare with a six months foal at side. "The Lady" is expecting another member of the family in the Spring.

• • •

"Valanble Lady Peters" foaled in 1944 is sired by Valubale Royal out of Lady Peters. Her price was $525. "Sporty Grattan" is sired by Widower Lee out of Lady Peters. The sixth months old colt "Chestnut Grattan H." is claimed to be one of the most promising youngsters ever produced from the Grattan strain.

• • •

Campbell Wanamaker of Consecon purchased the ten-year-old "Chestnut Grattan" along with Mr. Hawley. "Anavile Royal" foaled in 1940 by Peter Grattan Royal out of Anavole by Peter Volo was covered by a reserve bid of $10,000.

• • •

Mr. Hawley whose racing string extended to eight with the purchase of the three Grattan strain horses, intends to use his latest acquisitions for breeding purposes in the county and district. Neither the stallion or the mare were other than halter-broken, and there were flurries of excitement at the Fair Grounds here when the horses were unloaded from a truck. "Valuable Lady and her six-months-old son, got away from their handlers and spent a few hours of freedom caverting over the infield and track at Exhibition Park before they were finally caught. The horses with others of the Grattan strain were purchased at the sale held by Thomas Hetherington, of Nassau near Peterborough.

• • •

An idea of the value of the Grattan descendants is given in the fact that owner Hetherington placed a reserve bid of "five figures" on a valuable horse "Flicter Grattan," the auctioneer had received bids well up in the "four figures" when he opened the reserve bid envelope. Over his shoulder somone read $50,000.

• • •

Mr. Hawly, an ardent horseman and a devotee of harness racing and all its thrills, has made a strong step forward in the promotion of harness horse breeding in this immediate district with his purchase of these Grattan descendants. Breeding of standard breds in this immediate area has been negligible for some years and Hawley's gesture in the purchase of the blooded stallion may give it the long-needed impetus.

• • •

The horses are quartered at the Exhibition Grounds barns, where they will undergo winter training. Mr. Hawley expects to start breeding operations of the standard breds next Spring.

• • •

According to today's despatches from Scotland where young Canadians are standing the Jocks and Jeanies in the aisles with their hockey calisthenics, some district puckists are creating quite an impression on the kilted kustomers. Special mention was given to Bill Hurst, of this city who is proving a standout defenceman for the Dundee Tigers. The eighteen year-old player, according to a report from Dunfermline, is "knockin' the boys aboot abit" whenever they stray over his blueline. He is rated as one of the standouts of the rookie crop to arrive from Canada this year. Also mentioned is Bud Scrutton of Kingston, who is playing his third season in Scottish company and at the present moment is tied for the league goal-scoring lead. Scrutton, the report states is "toying with the idea to return to Canada to turn professional.

Sport Shorts From Britain

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 6 (CP) — You have to be a horse pechologist, or the owner of at least a few tips on equine cunning to win a race nowadays.

There's the sad tale of the saucy bay mare that slipped the track halfway through a race to the nearby comfort of the paddock before the astonished jockey could say "Whoa." Then there was the horse who smoked a pipe and his trainer wondered if it would win if he allowed it to smoke during races. And there's Lord Allendale's Woodburn, but that is a success story.

Australian Edgar Britt 34, rode the race of his life on Woodburn to snatch the Cesarewitch by a neck. This is how he foxed the horse:

"Woodburn," said Britt, "is a horse you have to know. He thinks that racing is just a game and if he goes to the front he's apt to wait for another horse to come and race with him. He is a horse who likes company.

"I was about half way up the hill, just ahead of the others, when he pulled up and looked round—waiting for them. The horse on the inside took the lead again.

"Now, if I had sat down and ridden Woodburn hard, he wouldn't have responded because he is a horse with his own ideas. So I did the opposite and gave him his head. It was a risk, but it worked.

Just for the last 20 yards I rode him hard. The whole art of riding Woodburn is to win by more than a length because if you go ahead too soon he pulls up and waits for the rest. It isn't easy, because he won't always co-operate.

At Beverley he won, but ran off the course and was nearly disqualified. When I last rode him at Newmarket, he lost through stopping to play. I think I've got him sized up."

Britt, fair haired, snub-nosed, quiet spoken, has been riding in Britain for three seasons. In that time he has acquired a nickname —"Britty"—from the race crowds and with it a popularity second only to Gordon Richards.

One of British boxing's most relentless championship belt hunters is welterweight king Ernie Roderick, 35, who fights Henry Hall Sheffield challenger, at London's Harringay stadium, Nov. 8.

Roderick wants to win another championship belt outright — he already has one, and is two up on the second. A boxer must defend his title successfully three times for the coveted prize. Ernie's idea is to give each of children a belt to remind them that dad was pretty active.

Brother-in-law Nel (the tireless) Tarleton won two belts as British featherweight champion, and Roderick is humming "anything you can do I can do too."

Ernie declares this will be his last fight — win, lose or draw. After that he will concentrate on breeding pigeons and rearing tropical fish.

Solunar Tables:

Pheasants and the Solunar Periods

Anybody who has hunted them will tell you that ringnecked pheasants are exasperating birds. They are smart, wary, and tricky. They run ahead of the dog, giving him little chance for a solid point unless they are cornered and can run no further without exposing themselves. Not only that but they all seem to know the trick of circling around the hunter and then high-tailing to safety in cover which has just been hunted. You remember the quotation, "For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the heathen Chinee is notorious." Well, the ringneck originally was imported from China. Maybe that's where he learned most of his cussedness.

Ringneck, as you know, like thick, swampy cover — the thicker and swampier, the better. When not actively feeding, that seems to be where they prefer to spend their time. However, there is little food to their liking in a swamp. To find grain and weed seeds which make up most of their diet in the fall, they must forsake the swamps and move into the dry cover of the fields and the hedgerows. There you can hunt them with a certain degree of comfort and they make fine shooting.

Solunar Periods Help

It follows naturally that a fellow will stand a better chance for good pheasant shooting if he can know ahead of time when the birds will leave the swamps and move into the higher cover. If he has this information he can plan his day so that he will get the best shooting under the most pleasant conditions.

Anticipating the movements of pheasants from day to day is quite easy to do. All you need to know is the Solunar schedule for that particular day. With the advent of a solunar period, birds, like all wild life, are active and feeding. Thus, it is not necessary to hunt the swamps at these times. During the Solunar Periods, you will find your rinkneck in the fields and the hedgerows.

Once a ringneck decides to go get himself a meal, he seems to be reluctant to leave the feeding cover. Instead of taking to his legs he is more apt to seek safety by hiding. This gives the dog a chance to locate him for you and then you can flush him and get yourself a fine meal. Ringneck shooting, under these conditions, is great sport.

When we lived in New Jersey I had a splendid opportunity to check up on these birds and the way in which they correlate their movements with the times of the daily Solunar Periods. About an hour's drive from our house was a game farm which had considerable acreage and a good supply of birds. Unlike most game farms, these pheasants were released prior to the opening of the season, thus giving them a chance to orient themselves before they were hunted. Their behavior was that of any wild birds in their natural cover.

Each party was alloted a certain section of the acreage in which to hunt, and, by a carefully planned system of rotation it was always possible to find good shooting at undisturbed birds. When we planned a day at that game farm, we were careful to select one in which the Solunar Periods were advantageously spaced. In that way, we had good shooting in dry cover and open fields and the dogs had a chance to work. Not once, in all the years we hunted that game farm, did the birds fail to desert the safety of the swamps and move into the feeding cover during the Solunar Periods.

NEWFOUNDLAND MOVES

St. John's, Nfld. — (CP) — The Department of Natural Resources has announced it plans to move the Nascopie Tribe of Indians living at the government post at Davis Inlet to new quarters at Okak.

The tribe is something of a mystery to the department.

Not one, not even Chief Joe Rich, knows how long the tribe has been living at Davis Inlet. They have been in poor health for some years because of depletion of game on their hunting grounds.

Chief Rich agreed to the move after visiting Okak and looking over the hunting possibilities.

Hamilton Tigers Win First Playoff Game to Open Crucial Weekend in Canadian Football

(By The Canadian Press)

It was muddy and wet and Hamilton Tigers couldn't use the passing of fabulous Frank Filchock.

So they kept the ball on the ground and sloshed to an 8-0 victory Friday over Toronto Beaches Indians in the first of the weekends crucial football games.

The victory put Tigers one game ahead in the best-of-three Ontario Rugby Football Union playoff series.

Western eyes will turn to Regina where the unbeaten Calgary Stampeders move in for a home-and-home series for the western conference title with Saskatchewan Roughriders.

In the Big Four playoff puzzle Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes will battle it out—on different gridirons—for the league's second playoff spot.

Plowing for 18 first downs, the Tigers went for a first-quarter field goal and an unconverted touchdown in the third after Beaches fumble put them in position for both scores.

Second game of the series is Nov. 13 in Hamilton with the third—if necessary—in Hamilton four days later.

Filchock —whose passing has sparked Tigers to an undefeated season—threw only two passes. One was intercepted and the other was grounded. The Beaches threw two, both grounded.

Big Four Big Puzzle

The big puzzle is the Big Four where the second playoff post is a toss-up between Argos and Alouettes. Ottawa Rough Riders already have clinched first place.

Alouettes are in third place, one point ahead of Argos.

They beat out the winners of three consecutive Dominion champions if they beat the Wildcats or Ottawa beats Argos or both teams are tied.

Argos can make it only if they beat Ottawa and Wildcats upset Alouettes.

But the scramble could wind up in a second-place tie if Alouettes lose, the Argos tie Ottawa or if Alouettes and Hamilton tie and the Argos beat Ottawa.

In the Intercollegiate circuit, the University of Western Ontario —struck by a crop of mid-season injuries—meets McGill at Western. Bob Masterson's rejuvenated University of Toronto Blues battle Queen's at Kingston.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 6 (AP) — They're billing today's North Carolina-William and Mary football game as a duel between two potential All-American fullbacks, Carolina's Hosea Rodgers and Jackie Cloud of the Indians . . . the dope is that Rodgers is the better offensive player but does not appear on the defence team. Cloud does everything . . . as for these enthusiastic Carolina fans, when they heard that Notre Dame's Frank Leahy had offered to play Michigan "any Saturday, Sunday or Monday afternoon," the customers were willing to let the Tar Heels play Michigan, Notre Dame and Army on those 3 afternoons . . . we doubt that coach Carl Snavely would second that motion.

Well it's a Suggestion

Bill Veeck, Cleveland's Indians' boss, claims he has to read all the newspapers every day so he will know how to answer the daily calls checking on rumors...

"Since the series," says the guy who wears no man's necktie, "the boys have been having me do about everything but open a string of coast-to-coast hamburger shacks." . . . Well even the Indians probably didn't make enough money last season to buy hamburger.

Weekend Notes

Max Carey, whose speed was celebrated when he played for Brooklyn, has signed to coach the Chicago Cubs on base - running next spring. Next Charley Grimm should find someone to teach the Cubs to get on base so they can run . . .

"Nature boy" Walston, Georgia end who isn't fast enough to get away from that nickname, turned out for a freshman track meet last spring without preparation and placed second or third in each of seven events.

London Falcons Won't Compete In Playoffs

London, Ont., Nov. 6 — (CP)—London Falcons, senior B entry in the O. R. F. U., don't want to compete against the counter attractions of an intercollegiate senior game, so now it looks as if they'll retire from the playoff picture.

John Simpson, Falcons' business manager, said he had been notified by the O. R. F. U. that unless they meet Sarnia here today the Sarnians will be awarded the game. Simpson said Falcons will be forced to withdraw from the playoffs after defeating Sarnia 8-1 in the first game of the total-point series.

"Why, there wouldn't have been three people out for our contest," Simpson said. "The team is $850 in the red now."

Son of Sweeney Schriner on List Of Maple Leafs

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto Maple Leafs have a promising young forward called Sweeney Schriner on their list and if he makes good he'll be playing in the National Hockey League some day. He's 16-years-old, weighs 150 pounds, and looks just like his dad—ex-Leaf Dave (Sweeney) Schriner—when he's on skates.

Young Norm Schriner, who played midget hockey in Calgary last season, was sent east by Leaf scout Squid Walker this fall and will play right wing on Toronto Marlboros' Junior B Club A fellow-Calgarian—Ron Stewart —will centre his line.

Western Colts unleashed one of the mightiest aerial displays ever witnessed in London's little stadium to overwhelm McMaster 61-3 in an intermediate intercollegiate game Friday. The Colts completed 16 of 34 pass attempts, and seven of them were touchdown tosses. Quarter back Gord Davidson, did most of the passing. And he threw strikes all over the field, six times for touchdowns. Bill LaRochelle was the big point scorer with three touchdowns.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association Friday announced that two Quebec golfers—Jesse Noble of Lachine and Jean Lauze of St. Eustache—have been re-instated as amateurs. Noble gave up his golf professional post in 1932 and Lauze in 1943.

Reports were current again today that the New York Yankee baseball organization is planning to move its International League farm team out of Newark where skimpy attendance figures have replaced championship teams. The Yankees have controlled the Newark farm club for 17 years and in that time the Bears finished in the first division 16 times missing only in 1947.

The new Ontario Hockey Association Senior B group in Brantford district likely will have eight teams, it was learned Friday night. Representatives of clubs in Welland, St. Catharines Grimsby, Georgetown, Woodstock Preston, Guelph and Brantford have indicated they will attend an organization meeting at Brantford Monday night.

Guelph Collegiate and Vocational Institute seniors won their W.O.S.S.A. group football championship Friday by defeating Galt collegiate at Galt 8-1. Guelph juniors trounced a Galt team 11-1 in the opener of a doubleheader.

A record of 760 horses will go on the auction block at Harrisburg, Pa., next week at the annual standard-bred horse sale with receipts expected to top $1,000,000.

Lawson Little(famous professional golfer, was taken ill Thursday night after leading the first round of the Hawaiian Open at Hololulu with a blazing 67. The Monterey, Calif., star was confined to a hospital Friday, but his doctor said his condition was not serious.

The National Boxing Association said Friday that it has warned Manuel Ortiz, world's bantamweight champion, that he must take on one of the three top contenders in his division These logical contenders, the N.B.A said, are: Guido Ferracin of Italy Luis Calvani of Cuba or Dave Kui Kong Young of Hawaii.

"Drastic action may be expected in the future," warned the N.B.A., "in the case of champions who appear in so-called title bouts only against hand-picked opponents while logical contenders cool their heels.

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Nov. 6 — (CP) — Hockey referees, especially in the junior leagues, sometimes are human enough to err on the fine points of rules interpretation, even though they know the rule book backwards.

Chick (Stratford Beacon-Herald) Appel suggests aspiring referees of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association should attend a meeting where experienced officials could explain these fine points.

At the same time, Chick mentions an error common to some junior officials. It's the rule governing goalies who hold the puck in their hands too long.

Here is the rule: "A goalkeeper who holds the puck with his hands for longer than three seconds shall be given a minor penalty. A goalkeeper must not deliberately hold the puck in any eree u..Urid manner which, in the opinion of the referee, causes a stoppage of play. The penalty for infringement of this rule by the goalkeeper shall be a minor penalty."

"Referees," says Chick "persist in stopping the play and facing off the puck to one side of the net."

"The rule says nothing about the referee sounding his whistle should a goalkeeper hold the puck more than the prescribed three seconds. Yet the customary explanation of the referee as a cover up is that he blew his whistle before the three seconds had expired."

Six Defence Players

"Conn Smythe's new arrangement of using six defence players and sending out a fresh pair with lines . . . may become a practice with every club before the season ends," says Bill (Niagara Falls Review) Gaynon.

"If the present speed is to hold, and it's questionable if the regular fan could tolerate any easing down, the defence must have equal rest with forwards and only under the new Smythe plan can this be possible."

Detroit Wings Face Toughest Weekend of Year

(By The Canadian Press)

Detroit Red Wings, facing their toughest weekend of the season, probably will realize by Monday that life isn't a bowl of cherries atop the National Hockey League.

They're scheduled to meet Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins — both out to overtake the first-place Red Wings.

Detroit invades Montreal tonight then hurries home to meet Bruins.

In other weekend games, New York visits Toronto tonight for the first time this season and moves on to Chicago Sunday night to meet the last-place Black Hawks.

Red Wings now hold a two-point lead for first place over Boston who are two points ahead of the third-place Canadiens.

Leafs have three wins and four losses, putting them one point behind Montreal and three points ahead of the injury-stricken Rangers. Black Hawks trail with a solitary win this year.

Reports seeping out of the Toronto camp say manager Conn Smythe and coach Hap Day are disappointed with the club's showing.

They had banked on their veterans of two winning Stanley Cup series to hold the club together while a heavy crop of rookies were broken in. But in the all-star game which the Leafs lost 3-1 it was Max Bentley teamed with two rookie linesmen and two rookie rearguards, who led the Leafs.

ASSEMBLY

This week's Assembly was in charge of the Gi Y Club. Following the devotional exercises conducted by Mr. Countryman, Mr. Phillips presented awards to John Bromfield, George Ewald, Don Carter, the winners of the field day. Howard Hart then sailed through those time-eating announcements. Previous experience made us listen to the band play Bogie Wogie Three Blind Mice with our hearts in our mouths lest a stray note pop out where it wasn't wanted.

To the delight of the Assembly the Hi Y boys gave us their version of a modern quiz program, while our five foot two and one-half of monkey shines made unfortunate contestants earn their prizes. The others stood with their teeth in their mouths. It was foolish but funny.

Dinty.

BOYS' SPORTS

GXIIB Wilbur's Wildcats defeated GXIIIB McLaren's Maulers in the first of three series for Upper School champpionship.

The game was an action packed thriller with each team using aerial attacks against each other. Using a reverse in the first half, Ketcheson got away on a clear field for XIIIB. Coming in from behind Jay Ross made a chance tackle and brought him down on the twenty.

In the second half George Locke broke through XIIIBs for the first and only touchdown of the game. The convert was incomplete. During the last few minutes of the game Cameron gained the XIIBs one yard line but he was stopped. The following plays were unsuccessful and XIIB walked off the field as victors. Score GXIIB 5, GXIIIB 0.

GXIIB — Ends, Ross, Connly; centre, Dolan; halves, Locke, Dowsett; quarter, Galbraith; subs, Ewald, Dyer.

GXIIIB — Ends, Bromfield, Cameron; centre, Stackhouse; halves, Scott, Ketcheson; quarter, Buchanan; subs, Bertrim, Burke, Rose, Waite.

Officials — Referee, Brown; umpire, K. Green; head linesman, Scrymgour.

GIRLS' SPORTS

The Junior and Senior volleyball teams went to Napanee on Wednesday for their first scheduled game of the season. The Napanee Junior team played an outstanding game and came out on top by a score of 43-16. The game, however, was not as one sided as the score indicated. Our girls played a smart game but they were outplayed in the last half. Kay Mills and Shiela McEwan were the outstanding players on the Junior team.

Our Senior team was beaten by an equally one-sided score. The Napanee girls did not seem to make any mistakes. The Belleville team earned the first points then Napanee went ahead and held the lead for the remainder of the game. The outstanding players were Marie Marinoff and Donna Sills. Thelma Ruttan was the highest scorer.

The Napanee teams are coming to the Collegiate on Monday night to play their return games.

On November the 18th, the annual volleyball jamboree is to be held in the Armouries. Keen competition is expected from the other districts.

The badminton league for both junior and senior girls has gotten under way.

House league basketball is under way again under four complete teams whose captains are Katherine Mills, Betty Gibson, Donna Sills and Marie Marinoff.

Barbara Willmott.

The Camera Tea Dance was a great success. Such nice orderly rows of people on either side of the gym. We haven't got a bread line yet, fellas and girls. And after all that publicity. We wonder if we could hire the dancing dainties of the stage as cheap entertainment for our next form party.

What are all the girls doing in the fresh vegetable departments of the grocery stores? It couldn't have anything to do with the Sadie Hawkins Dance could it now, girls? We hear the prize for the best corsage is to be a cabbage.

We could not understand why the McLaren Maulers did not come out victorious with Miss McLaren to coach them.

The parties on Hallowe'en must have been rather gay as we saw some of our fellow students coming home when we were going to church.

Lil and Pearl.

THE PLAY

The school play, the Admirable Crichton, a fantasy in four acts, is to be cast on November 18th and 19th. Much work has been put into the play by both the cast and all those connected with it. Tickets for both nights are on sale at the Quinte Book Shop and the school.

What is the name of the fastest moving club in the school? Why the Elevator Club of course. Business is really booming. This club has the job of looking after the biggest and best school project of the year. It is the school magazine The Elevator. Why, before the school started (almost) the Elevator staff, which looks very capable again this year under Editor Donna Ferguson, was on the job. Things have jumped ahead and advertising is being solicited already. Last week work commenced on the photography pages. I might mention that besides all of this accomplishment, the remainder of last year's Elevators were sold to the student body.

The Elevator cleaned up on the old stuff but started something new, too. Did you see that smart looking industrious photographer at the Commencement Formal. That was William (Boozer). Lazenby of the Elevator staff doing a very satisfactory job of taking flash pictures.

The Elevator is looking "Up."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Bridge players, to be better, must distinguish between fact and fancy. The time is coming when more of them will. Then will more of their no-trump contracts depend on enough high cards.

A high card is either an ace or a king or a queen. These are the most likely cards to take tricks at no-trump. It stands to reason that they are. Why? They are the 12 biggest cards in a pack.

Let there be no false representation that jacks are equally as good. Or that tens may be included regularly. The very thought of it is silly. One must be a moron to believe it.

Only 13 tricks can be taken in any one deal. To add the jacks with the high cards is assuming that 16 cards may be depended on. To add the tens and the jacks is counting on 20.

A trick at no-trump may be taken with a jack or a ten. The same may be said for a nine or smaller card. But no reliance can be placed on this. At least, not as much as with bigger cards.

At no-trump, therefore, what is the safest possible count for tricks? High cards only. Count one for each. This is the surest measure of how many no-trump tricks a pair can produce.

Has anyone the slightest doubt about this? If so, deal a pair of partnership hands containing nine high cards. Notice that they will produce nine tricks for a game of three no-trump.

What if all suits are not protected by the nine high cards? Then one hand has a biddable suit that partner can assist. And a true no-trump contract denies a suit with support.

SOUTH
♠K Q 8
♥J 5
♦A 8 7 3
♣Q 10 4 2

NORTH
♠A 8
♥K Q 9 2
♦Q J 4
♣K 9 5 3

Between them are nine high cards. They have a good play for a game of three no-trump. With best play an extra trick may show up. It freqently does.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 6 — (AP) — What's funny in the movies?

You might answer "nothing," but the questions is not directed at you. I'm asking Preston Sturges, a man who gives the impression of being slightly mad as he directs and writes very funny and very successful movies ("The Great McGinty," "Miracle of Morgan's Creek," and such).

"I don't know what's funny," Sturges answers indignantly.

Sturges has some rules for box office appeal, and I think you'll find they give interesting insight for films:

A pretty girl is better than an ugly one.

A leg is better than an arm.

A bedroom is better than a living room.

An arrival is better than a departure.

A birth is better than a death.

A chase is better than a chat.

A dog is better than a landscape.

A kitten is better than a dog.

A baby is better than a kitten.

A kiss is better than a baby.

A prat fall is better than anything.

Sturges will demonstrate just about all these axioms in his current film, "The Beautiful Blonde from Bashful Bend," the last truism will be well illustrated. Betty Grable will be seen in one of the most glamorous prat falls of all time.

No Excuses!

Recently I wrote a column reporting the facts of Hollywood's depression. Many movie minds protest that such news is bad publicity, fearing the public will think film quality will grow poorer because of economy. Come, come boys.

"It Happened One Night," "The Informer," "Stagecoach," and others, cost comparatively little. Few bloated epics of the war boom could hold a candle to them.

No, it's not the money that makes a movie good. It's the talent.

Loveliest Females In Vancouver Says Magazine Editor

Vancouver, Nov. 6 — (CP)— Three separate sources said today Vancouver (a) has the loveliest females in the Dominion, (b) co-eds prefer men without hats and (c) men still are the cocks o' the walk and refuse to grant equality to the girls.

Magazine editor Wallace Reyburn in an interview contrasted the "lovely complexions, lustrous hair and long limbs" of Vancouver beauties with the "brittle, artificial look of Montreal girls and the dumpy shapes of Saskatoon's fairer sex."

Daily Ubyssey, student organ of University of British Columbia, reported in a survey that Vancouver o-eds detest fire-engine red porkpies and squashed felts worn by some undergraduates. The paper said 95 per cent of the co-eds prefer men without hats.

Finally, U.B.C. philosophy Professor Barnet Savary said at a panel discussion that theoretically, woman is equal to man but in practice, the male still is the cock o' the walk.

DUST TRAVELS FAR

Auckland, N. Z. — (CP) — Every year or two part of Australia takes to the air and moves to New Zealand. This happens when storms in Australia raise vast dust clouds and carry them out to sea. Even after the 1,200-mile journey across the Tasman Sea the dust is sometimes thick enough to coat trees and plants with a reddish film.

Linton to Hang On February 3

Simcoe, Ont., Nov. 6 (CP) — Seth Linton, convicted murderer of 44-year-old Lew Stewart, will be hanged Feb. 3 unless the Ontario Court of Appeal quashes his sentence.

A Norfolk county jury Friday found the 41-year-old well-digger guilty of the rifle-butt murder of his housekeeper's husband June 6. An additional charge of murdering Stewart's brother-in-law, John Kipp is expected to be deferred pending outcome of Linton's appeal of the Stewart verdict.

Evidence heard in the four-day trial was that Stewart and Kipp were killed in a fight at Linton's farm home near Simcoe after they broke in the door in an effort to remove the housekeeper's 13-year-old daughter from the house.

Linton's housekeeper, Mrs. Edith Stewart, told the court she had returned to her husband the night before the slaying. She accompanied Stewart and Kipp to the house to pick up her daughter and remove her belongings.

Linton was also involved in Norfolk county's only other double slaying. In 1941, Linton's wife and two young children died in what a coroner's jury decided was double murder by the woman and suicide.

In his charge to the jury, read in semi-darkness because of a district power failure, Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel said a charge of murder could be reduced to manslaughter if the accused was provoked to passion.

"I think there was some provocation," he added.

In Manhattan:

Hopeful Playwrights Have Found Theatre Season a Bit Discouraging

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Nov. 6 — (CP) — Theatre addicts who took a look at the status of the New York stage after two months of the fall season found the situation a mite discouraging for hopeful playwrights and producers.

Only nine of the 18 stage shows launched on Broadway between Sept. 1 and Nov. 1 are still running. In sporting terms that represents a 50-50 batting average.

The stayers include such box office successes as "Love Life," "Magdalena," "Life With Mother," "Summer and Smoke" and "Where's Charley"

Gets Fridolin Play

Theresa Helburn, co-administrator of the Theatre Guild, has obtained the United States rights to "Tit-Coq" ("Little Rooster"), a play by Fridolin, French-speaking actor celebrated in Quebec province. "Tit-Coq" was a success in Montreal when it played there recently.

Quick Demise

Last week's only opening — "Minnie and Mr. Williams" — waited for 25 years before being brought to the stage. Despite the top-billed Eddie Dowling and Josephine Hull, it lasted only three night in its Broadway environment.

"Minnie and Mr. Williams" concerned a dour Anglican clergyman (Dowling) in a Welsh village at the turn of the century, and his amiable but not-too-bright wife (Miss Hull), handicapped by a wooden leg but certainly not stricken dumb.

Into the household arrived an emissary of Satan in the form of a little girl played with diabolical charm by Elizabeth Ross. The powers of evil worked a miracle in giving Mrs. Williams a new leg and from then on things became exceedingly abstract, along the lines of: If good comes out of evil can it really be good?

Miss Hull was at her best in the role, complete with Welsh intonation, but was unfairly handicapped by a lot of rather unnecessary slapstick concerning the leg. Dowling, always good as a beside-the-stage narrator, unfortunately sounded almost exactly the same in the active part.

Aisle Jottings

"Harvey" celebrated its fourth birthday on Broadway last Monday night. The anniversary performance of the Mary Chase comedy about an invisible rabbit was the 1,688th. Currently Joe E. Brown is playing the role of Elwood P. Dowd, the rabbit's pal.

"Sins of the Fathers" Packs Powerful Message on Menace of Social Disease

Daring in its expose of unbelievable facts regarding social diseases; deadly accurate in its presentation of the terrible inroads on the nation's health of these insidious enemies of men, women and children, the motion picture, "Sins of the Fathers," brings home with terrific shock the health-taking, and ofttimes life-destroying results of carelessness, while strongly emphasizing in its sequences preventative measures for all and curative rays of hope for victims.

The picture is being shown at the Capitol Theatre here on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next. The picture has a vital message for all adults and young people.

Its powerful message woven around a fast-moving plot, brings to the audience the many pitfalls that beset the path of youth in these days of unrest and world and social upheaval.

It brings out in startling clarity the effects of the "sins of the fathers" on children born and unborn. The terrible physical and mental effects of the dread disease syphilis are pictured with daring frankness. Let its brighter side brings to the audience the simple yet effective measures of cure, for those who regard their health as a precious possession. It also warns the unsuspecting of the dangers that lurk all too frequenty along the roadside of life.

Its story is that of a young doctor in a small town who crusades against social diseases, and vice in the community. Two young people, prominent in society, fall victims to the disease. The stern battle waged by the doctor and his "committee of citizens" against the ruthless forces of those who encourage delinquency through avarice and love of power and money, brings out to the full the terrible toll exacted by syphilis from its victims.

The picture is entertaining. Above all it is educational. Parents should see it — and encourage their sons and daughters see it.

"Sins of the Fathers" is one the most potent weapons perfected by the motion picture screen in the battle against social diseases ever seen in this city. —G.H.C.

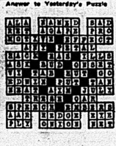
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle



Little Benny's Note Book

was having a fierce argument Shorty Judge coming closer closer to a fite, and I said, listen, you, if you make me enough you'll be sorry.

that so? Shorty said. Well ake me mad enough you even have time to be sorry he simple reason why because ll be too unconscious, he said I said, Aw is that so? Well if ve got any special choice of t hospittle you want to be to, you better speek up quick e you're still able to think ld. says so

I say so, Shorty said, and I said Then nobody says so.

Being one of the best ansers yet, and Shorty said, Aw is that so?

Which just then somebody took me by the arm and started to walk me away. Being pop, saying Is that any kind of an example to set the United Nations?

Well heck, pop, would you let anybody your age and size call you a liar? I said, and pop said Well, that's rather a serious accusation from anybody as small as Shorty. Had you really been lying? he said.

No sir, I was just telling him a few facts. I said. He claimed his father was the greatest guy in the werld, so I told him you and I told him if there was really a popularity contest for the werld's greatest, best looking smartest and most general all around guy, you'd win it easy, and I told him no matter how big of million dollers, And that's when he called me the liar, I said.

The charge was absilutely unsupported by the evidence, and you had every reason to resent

THIS PINHEAD MACHINE was acclaimed as a welcome variation from the illegal pinball variety at the University of Toronto's Red Feather Fair yesterday. Front-line "pinheads," who took the brunt of the players' offensive, are Joe Sheinin of Calgary and Joan Langlois, Toronto. Game was operated by architectural course students. (Globe and Mail)

PROFITABLE HUNTING

Tobermory, Ont. — (CP) — A local hunter has been meeting with more than average success on his trapping expeditions. Alfred Carver recently trapped four wolves near here, bringing him $180 net in bounties.

Brave French Woman Honored For Aiding Two Canadian Soldiers

By WILLIAM BOSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Dieppe, France, Nov. 6. (CP)—The small French woman, her faded fair hair tucked under a shabby blue felt, smiled and said: "One must do one's duty, mustn't one?"

She was embarrassed as friends vied to tell the story of how Marie Renet, middle-aged French housewife who lives not far from Dieppe's Carrefour des Canadiens" (Canadian Crossroads), aided two Canadians stranded when their comrades withdrew.

For six days after the Aug. 19, 1942, raid on Dieppe by the 2nd Canadian Infantry Division she fed two unidentified Canadian soldiers who missed the force's debarkation from the beaches.

Hears Whispered Call

Mme. Renet, when the noise of battle died that August afternoon and Canadian prisoners were being herded in the courtyard of the hospital, went into the woods near her home to gather firewood.

Binding her faggots together, she heard a whispered call and turning, saw a Canadian soldier in a thicket. He motioned her to approach and as she did she saw another Canadian in the brush behind him.

They told her they'd been unable to pass German patrols and return to the Beach, were hungry, but planned to stay where they were until they'd perfected plans for a get-away.

Mme. Renet told them to stay. She'd bring them food and would return daily at noon to the same spot with as much as she could spare.

She was back shortly with bread and cheese and wine and the first Canadian thanked her, indicating where her dishes would be on the morrow.

The next day, at noon, she returned, found the empty plates but no other sign of the soldiers, and left her food.

Daily for six days the incident was repeated. Mme. Renet turned up, saying nothing to her husband, and replaced the empty dishes with the full.

Did Not Return

The seventh day she found the previous day's food untouched. She returned to the spot again later but never saw or heard the two men again.

When the war ended Mme. Renet considered herself free to tell her story. Impressed, the city council investigated, found it supported and authentic and she was honored by the city's decoration and ultimately, through steps initiated by the council, by the republic.

ANY EXCUSE . . .

Calgary — (CP) — Speeding motorists in Calgary think up some pretty good reasons why they shouldn't be fined. Two recent excuses were "I was trying to get away from my dog, he follows me when I leave the house." The second "My wife was in a hurry to get home." Both were fined.

Lone Policeman Guards Frontier Of Brit. Guiana

By BURCHELL O. WILLS
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Georgetown, British Guiana — (CP) — A lone Guianese policeman has been posted on the fast-flowing Ireng River in southwest British Guiana on one of the strangest assignments ever handed a patrolman.

His job is to see that law and order is maintained all along the 2200-mile river frontier that forms a natural boundary between this British colony and Brazil.

The patrolman is the first sentry ever posted on the border since Britain occupied the country more than 100 years ago.

The step was taken because of the need to keep a check on illegal activities reported on the border, and it coincided with the visit of a party of senior government officials who probed conditions on the spot. While admitting the possibility of diamond-raiding by Brazilians and smuggling, officials gave no confirmation to the reports.

Diamonds were reported to have been discovered in the Ireng. Reports told of armed Brazilians carrying out diving operations for diamonds. This was regarded as "raiding," since Brazilians, though permitted to seek diamonds in the British territory, must first secure mining licenses, and must sell their "finds" in British Guiana.

Few Buyers Operating

A couple of buyers operate in the area, but licenses are hard to get. They can only be obtained in Georgetown since the Ireng area is remote. Such Brazilians as may have desired them could not come to the city by easy means.

Interior Commissioner H. Gregory Smith, who led the government party, said he observed on the British side only one unarmed Brazilian. There were, however, about 25 families and about 500 miners across the border.

The problem of policing British Guiana's borders has been one of finance so far as the local government has been concerned, but the position is being placed before the secretary of state for the colonies and, with Venezuela claiming British Guiana, the whole problem of border supervision becomes more urgent.

Man Slain in Jail By Enraged Father

Sharpsburg, Pa. Nov. 6 — (AP) An enraged father who believed his small daughter had been raped, burst into the jail here Friday and fatally shot a 75-year-old, one-legged rag picker after summoning a police sergeant as witness.

The victim, William Moore, was shot twice in the heart. Police Sergeant Robert Antelli said Nicholas Antico, 37, Sharpsburg bartender, fired the shots from a .32-20 revolver before Antelli could prevent the tragedy.

Antelli said Moore had been jailed on a charge of molesting Antico's five-year-old daughter.

County Detective George Weidle said Antico would be charged with murder.

Moore was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

Add 100 Atolls To New Zealand

Auckland, New Zealand —(CP) —Although New Zealand is the smallest of the Dominions, its territory now extends north and south over an entire hemisphere. Under recent legislation the Tokelau Islands, a group of 100 atolls just south of the equator, have been incorporated within the Dominion. For the last 20 years they have been technically governed by New Zealand but have been administered for convenience by the British High Commissioner for the Western Pacific.

New Zealand already administers the Ross Sea dependency, a segment of the Antarctic extending to the South Pole. This area is uninhabited and the administration consists chiefly in the control of whaling and collection of royalties.

The 1,300 inhabitants of the newest part of New Zealand lead lives almost completely isolated from civilization. They have no white officials, planters, storekeepers or agents. They have their own government and civil service and ships call only two or three times a year. There is only one European, a Roman Catholic priest, in the entire group.

Yet the natives are staunchly British subjects. When the Governor General of New Zealand Sir Bernard Freyberg, V.C., visited one island in the course of a tour of the group recently, the first request of the village elders for a taller mast on which to fly the Union Jack.

The islanders live almost entirely on fish and coconuts, with an occasional pig or chicken for special festivities. A coarse wild taro root is their chief vegetable. In spite of the apparent deficiencies in their diet, the natives are healthy.

He is Arthur M. Mille, 29, who asked for and was refused an additional six months stay in prison to complete his Bible-studies for the ministry.

Warden Joseph E. Ragen said there was no legal way Miller could stay. He completed three years and two months of a two-to-four-year sentence for theft and was eligible for release.

In a petition last week to Ragen Miller said the outside world was "too large, too corrupt." He said he wanted to spend six more months in his cell with his Bible studies.

Newark, N.J. — (AP) — Essex county court Thursday temporarily went into the baby-sitting business.

When Mrs. Reba Deamer Nugent was called as a witness in an accident trial, Judge W. Stanley Naughtright drafted a court attendant to tend Mrs. Nugent's three-month-old baby, Patricia Ann.

The attendant, Mrs. Kay Galuska, heated the baby's bottle at a lunch stand in the courtroom basement and fed Patricia Ann.

Canada's Leading Snowman Still Keeps Enthusiasm

By DOUGLAS HOWE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Nov. 6 — (CP) — Canada has at least one snowman who never melts, and he's been under exposure for 14 years.

His name is George J. Klein and he is a small and pleasant man. He was born in Hamilton and went to the University of Toronto but it wasn't until he came to Ottawa that he became a snowman.

A physicist with the National Research Council, he started in 1934 when the R.C.A.F. asked the council to find the best type of ski for aircraft. Mr. Klein and his aids eventually concluded that they had first to have a fundamental knowledge of snow.

From scratch, he's been working on snow and problems arising from its presence ever since. At 44, he's as enthusiastic about his job as ever and is looked upon as the Canadian expert on the subject at a time when Canada is studying her winter problems as never before.

Being a snowman has meant exposeure to winter's meanest efforts in open fields year in, year out, but Mr. Klein says he can still look upon the aesthetic side of the season, that he has never come down with a serious illness —he wears airmen's clothes — from it,. that he has no very strong opinion about the merits or demerits of cold weather.

He still likes to ski and his six-year-old son, George, Jr., has been on skis since the age of three. Some of his best leads in the study of snow came from chewing the rag with other scientists on weekend skiing jaunts.

He builds snowmen for his two children in his front yard and on a trip to the winter experimental base at Churchill, Man., he took a busman's holiday and learned how to build an igloo. He can't build one this far south, though, because the snow isn't right.

Geese on the Farm

Experimental Farms News

The farm is the proper place to raise a flock of geese and with very little cash outlay the farmer or his wife can raise a nice flock of goslings each year, says A. G. Taylor, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The cost is made up of the purchase price of one male and two females and sufficient coarse grains to keep the trio in fair flesh until the following spring. About the beginning of March some increased feeding is necessary to promote egg production but during the balance of the year an abundance of grass is all that is necessary. Any sheltered place around the farm buildings will serve as a house for the geese during the winter months. All they need is a dry bed of straw and a place that is not draughty. They are better if kept out of deep snow when the weather is cold.

The main feed for geese in summer is grass which is short and succulent and both the old and young birds will thrive and grow well if green feed is plentiful. In fall and winter the green feed car. be supplied by giving well-cured clover or alfalfa hay daily together with a handful of coarse grains for each bird. Such root crops as cabbage, turnips, beets or carrots, make an excellent winter feed for geese. At fattening time feed a liberal feed of whole corn at dark, and about three to four weeks of fattening will produce an excellent goose or Christmas.

The best breeds of geese for the farmer are the Toulouse which is grey in color, or the Embden which is white.

Publication No. 511, published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, entitled "Goose Raising" may be obtained on request.

Business Spotlight

(By The Canadian Press)

The United States elections held the spotlight on stock exchanges this week.

What appeared to be a strong upward surge early in the week broke when the Democratic party won an unexpected victory and President Truman was re-elected.

The market stumbled, appeared to recover, and then was sent backward by a surge of selling Friday that pushed price levels in New York back to early April

Investors had been looking confidently to a Republican victory which they expected would be favorable to business.

Yesterday's big break in prices was the effect of investors concern of what the new administration would do to profits. Wall Street was thinking of another excess profits tax, price controls and revised labor laws.

Many observers predict a levelling off in the market in coming weeks as short-term holdings are dumped and investment demand increases. They now look to a strong market at the end of the year.

Canadian markets fared much better over the last five days although they felt Friday's sharp New York decline.

Volume for the five days was the best since Sept. 1947 at 12,080,000 shares, and compared with 8,729,000 shares last week.

Mines rolled up gains in Montreal for an advance of 3.16 on the exchange's averages.

Grain markets climbed following the election.

Kicked, Slugged Horse, Man Pays Court Costs

Montreal, Nov. 6 — (CP) —The evidence showed that Joseph Brabette not only kicked his horse but slugged it with his fists, and then wielded a pitchfork menacingly at an inspector for the S.P.C.A.

Brabette told the court he was only trying to train the horse. He pleaded guilty.

Constable Marcel Pilon, called by the inspector, said his wrist watch was damaged in taking Brabette into custody.

Brabette pleaded guilty to cruelty to the horse and causing damage to the constable's property while resisting arrest. He was fined court costs and ordered to pay the constable $12 for damages to the watch.

PRIME MINISTER LIKELY TO RESIGN POST THIS WEEK

Mackenzie King Home and Will Soon Meet Hon. Louis St. Laurent

Ottawa, Nov. 8 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King will meet with his successor early this week to lay plans for his official withdrawal as leader of the government in power.

A spokesman close to Mr. King said the meeting with Prime Minister-designate Louis Stephen St. Laurent may take place today if Mr. King feels well enough.

Otherwise it will be held during the next few days either at Mr. King's residence at Laurier House in Ottawa's Sandy Hill district or in the east block of Parliament Hill where the 73-year-old Mr. King has reigned as Prime Minister for an unprecented 21 years.

Expectation was that he would resign as head of the government this week.

In the meantime, Mr. St. Laurent, who has been Acting Prime Minister in Mr. King's absence overseas, assumes the role of Acting Justice Minister.

Mr. King returned to his residence Sunday from his mid-September trip overseas. Traces of the illness that caught him while in London still showed.

Greeted in Ottawa

As he stepped out of the rear platform of his private railway car, a crowd of less than 50 greeted him. Some were government officials and members of parliament.

Mr. King had asked that there be no official reception. Members of the diplomatic corps were not present. Neither were many of Mr. King's colleagues in the House of Commons.

"I'm so glad to see you all here" said Mr. King, after he had doffed his black Homburg and smiled. He moved slowly to his limousine. As is customary, he carried his black, gold-ringed cane and used it to steady himself.

Observers who had seen Mr. King when he landed in New York Saturday aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth said he looked "much better."

Mr. King himself added: "I haven't felt better since I left Canada."

Three Satellite Nations Censored by UN Committee For Aiding Rebels in Greece

Paris, Nov. 8 — (AP)— The United Nations Political Committee voted today to condemn Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia for helping the Communist rebels in Greece.

It was the strongest action thus far taken by any United Nations Assembly body in the Balkans dispute.

By a vote of 47 to 0, the committee approved a paragraph in a four-power resolution declaring that continued aid given by the three Slav countries to the Greek guerrillas endangers peace in the Balkans and is inconsistent with the principles of the United Nations charter.

Hours of Argument

The vote followed hours of wrangling, during which the Slav bloc fought to stall the proceedings and drew repeated tongue lashings from the committee chairman, Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium.

Overnight, the Greek government had responded to a plea from the president of the Assembly by postponing execution of 10 seamen scheduled to die today.

The six Slav states refused to vote on the condemnation paragraph. They served notice they would vote against the whole resolution when it comes up, perhaps later today. The veto does not apply.

Four countries were absent when the vote was taken and El Salvador abstained.

The Assembly last year refused to accept a proposal condemning the three Balkan countries in the Greek dispute. It merely called on them to do nothing which could furnish aid and assistance to Greek guerrillas. This time, however, the Western Powers are insistent upon a specific condemnation.

Postponement Asked

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian External Affairs Minister and president of the assembly, asked the postponement Sunday in cab-

Jury Convicts Mrs. J. McAllister Of Manslaughter

Lindsay, Ont., Nov. 8 (CP) — Convicted of manslaughter in the pistol-slaying of her husband, Mrs. Jane (Jeannie) Kelly McAllister, 25, will be sentenced Nov. 10.

An assizes jury in Ontario Supreme Court late Saturday reduced a murder charge to manslaughter. The red-haired Scottish war bride smiled when she heard the jury foreman announce the verdict.

Her husband, John McAllister, 29, former Hamilton naval veteran, was found dying Sept. 5 from a bullet wound in the head in the tiny log cabin the couple shared in the Victoria County backwoods 20 miles north of here. The girl was found barefooted in the woods at dawn the next day.

Mrs. McAllister claimed in the witness box that she remembered nothing from the time she took a pistol down from her kitchen wall until she ran into the woods. She said that during her three years of married life, her husband kicked, beat and cursed her, threatened to go out with other women and taunted her because, as a result of an operation, she could not bear him children.

Doing Her Best is Claim

Defence counsel Harry Richardson said in his address to the jury that the girl was "alone, penniless, sick in mind and body." He asserted:

"The girl was doing her best to keep together a marriage that was already going on the rocks because of the conduct of one person alone: John McAllister."

British Troops "Fed Up" Acting As Guards for Jews at Cyprus

Famagusta, Cyprus, Nov. 8 (AP) —Despair is cheap and unrationed in the Jewish camps of Cyprus.

Twelve thousand Jews still are behind barbed wire on this island, less than 200 miles from their goal, Israel.

Two thousand British troops are fed up with acting as jailors for civilians some of whom point to numbers tattoed on their arms by Nazi police and cry, "Hitler-Bevin!"

Senior officials are dismayed at the sinking morale of the military garrison, the increasing desperation of the immigrants, and the high cost of £12,000 ($48,000) a day to guard and support the camps.

Yet the latest information is that the British government in London is determined to keep them penned up another six months, possibly more, if a Palestine settlement is not in sight.

A battalion of the South Wales Borderers guards one camp on the outskirts of Famagusta. Commandos guard another near Larnaca. There are 8,000 Jewish men of presumed military fitness. With them are 4,000 women and children, who have chosen not to go on to Israel alone.

The camps were established in August 1946, as a dumping ground for Jewish immigration that exceeded the quota set by the British mandate power in Palestine. Most present internees have been here less than a year. They live in British army tents on British rations averaging slightly more than 2,000 calories daily, supplemented by food from Jewish funds solicited mostly in North America.

The Jews' physical lot is better than that of hundreds of thousands of Arab refugees whom this correspondent has seen after their flight from Israeli-occupied territory. But the Arabs can still think of themselves as free, though homeless. The Jews look at the world from behind barbed wire.

PARNELL THOMAS, FACING MANY FRAUD CHARGES

Accused of Trying To Defraud U.S. Govt.

Washington, Nov. 8 — (AP) — J. Parnell Thomas (Rep. N. J.), chairman of the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities, today was indicted on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government.

Three charges of false claims also were contained in the federal grand jury indictment. He was accused also of 34 "over acts."

Indicted with him on the conspiracy charge was Helen Campbell, his former secretary.

This charge alleged a conspiracy "to defraud the United States of its money and property."

Court officials said that, if conviction were obtained, maximum sentences in the several charges against the member of Congress could be 32 years imprisonment or $40,000 fine, or both.

Re-Elected Last Tuesday

Thomas was re-elected to the House in last week's election.

The grand jury charged a conspiracy to pad the payroll of the congressman's office with two employees who were not "bona fide."

The two employees were named as Myra Midkiff and Arnette Minor.

The New Jersey Republican was called before the grand jury last week but declined to testify.

The indictment said the conspiracy ran five years—from Jan. 1, 1940, to Jan. 30, 1945.

Unless Kremlin Changes Stand Little Hope Seen for A-Pact

(By Francis W. Carpenter)

Paris, Nov. 8. (AP)—Unless the Kremlin reverses itself, there is little hope for an agreement on world atomic controls despite orders for the United Nations Assembly to work at it some more.

That was the consensus today of western atomic experts here who will have to do the talking with Russia when—and if—negotiations are resumed in Lake Success next year.

The Russians are saying nothing. They hint, in a guarded way, that they are waiting for the west to lead off.

The United Nations Assembly last Thursday approved atomic control proposals drawn up by the majority of nine countries in the 11-power U.N. Atomic Energy Commission. The vote was decisive but the Russians fought the action to the end.

In the resolution, the Assembly also instructed the five great powers, Britain, France, China, United States and Russia, plus Canada, to consult among themselves to see whether there is any basis for agreement between east and west on atomic controls.

The resolution also ordered the Atomic Commission to pick up atomic talks where it left off last Spring. The Commission voted at that time there was no use continuing talks until the political conflict between east and west cleared.

Both Russia and the west won points in the assemby resolution.

Russia protested against the first move last Spring to suspend the talks. She won when the assembly committees turned their backs on a western proposal that the talks remain dormant.

Britain, the United States and France, with China supporting them, got what they wanted above everything else—approval of their plan for controlling the atom.

Russia opposes it, has never given ground. The Russians object to the timing of the plan, and particularly to the strong inspection and enforcement provisions.

Rumor Russ Plane Crashes in North Of Greenland

Copenhagen, Denmark, Nov. 8 (CP)—The newspaper Berlingske Tidende says today that a Russian military plane has crashed in Northern Greenland.

The newspaper, in a London dispatch, quotes unidenified United States sources as saying the crew of a United States reconnaissance plane sighted the wreckage last Wednesday while on a routine flight from a base on the west coast of Greenland.

2,000 Oshawa Workers Laid off for a Day

Oshawa, Nov. 8 (CP) —Some 2,000 workers at the Oshawa plant of General Motors were laid off for 24 hours today due to a temporary interruption in the supply of parts to the factory, a company official said today.

The plant shut-down today followed a three-day closing in the first half of last week which kept some 3,500 workers from their jobs. The interruption last week was also caused by a shortage of parts resulting from the recently settled 15-week strike at McKinnon Industries at St. Catharines, a G-M. subsidiary which supplies parts to the company's Canadian factories.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Nov. 8 (CP)— The extensive disturbance which brought a windy weekend to Ontario is slowly retreating into Northern Hudson Bay, and winds were decreasing over the province this morning.

Another weak disturbance over Kansas is advancing eastward. Its approach will bring increasing high cloud over Southern Ontario today and variable cloudiness over Southern and Central Ontario on Tuesday. An occasional light shower may fall over central regions between midnight and dawn Tuesday.

GODSE COLLAPSES WHILE EXPLAINING GANDHI'S SLAYING

Invites Court to Pass Sentence of Hanging

New Delhi, Nov. 8 (CP) — Narayan Vinayak Godse collapsed in court today as he read his lengthy explanation of the slaying of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

After reading from his 93-page statement for an hour, Godse faltered, dropped the manuscript and slumped to the floor. He revived quickly after he was lifted by guards.

Godse, who said he shot the Hindu leader last Jan. 30 "purely for the benefit of humanity," was serious and tense as he invited the court to pass the maximum sentence of hanging.

The special court for four months has been trying Godse, a 35-year-old Grahmin, and 11 others accused of aiding and abetting him.

Godse's statement expressed confidence in the "moral justification" of his act in shooting Gandhi. He appealed to posterity to "weigh my act and find the true value thereof."

He said he respected Gandhi's saintliness and "before I fired the shots I actually wished him luck and bowed to him in reverence."

The assassin said he opposed Gandhi for his concessions to the Moslems which "brought ruin to millions of Hindus."

Bunkhouse Owner Questioned After Man Found Dead

St. Joachim Rapids, Que., Nov 8 (CP)—Police today detained a 58-year-old bunkhouse proprietor for questioning in connection with the death of Leo D. McLennan of St. Andrew's West, near Cornwall, whose body was found Sunday sprawled over a cot in the ramshackle building.

Officer said the proprietor Paul Beliveau, has been located on the Ontario side of the Ottawa River as he was preparing to take a train to Montreal. They added that he was being held on an open warrant.

Mr. McLennan's body, several deep wounds in the head, was found Sunday morning by A. LaFramboise, Quebec liquor inspector, during a routine check of the Beliveau promises. He said the body was twisted in an awkward position on the bed.

Police said the wounds in Mr McLennan's head might have been caused by a sharp instrument or a pointed rock.

They added that he had been drinking heavily for some days past and had been discharged from the Des Joachims power-project Oct. 21. He was known to have had a considerable sum of money, but none was found on the body.

No charge has been laid against Mr. Beliveau, owner of primitive bunkhouse where McLennan had been staying for some days prior to his death.

Princess' Baby Probably Will Arrive At Palace on Saturday or Sunday

London, Nov. 8 (AP)— Britons generally believe Princess Elizabeth's baby probably will arrive at Buckingham Palace Saturday or Sunday.

They arrived at that calculation from a mass of gossip, fancy and information available in London as world-wide interest in the impending arrival of the second-in-line heir presumptive to the throne rises to a crescendo here.

The Princess is in excellent health and spirits. Some of the excitement, attendant to the birth of her first child, has penetrated the palace to the evident amusement of Princess Elizabeth.

"Why does everyone make such a fuss?" she laughed. "I'm not the only woman who is going to have a baby."

Newspapers here are grinding out columns of "authentic" information about what actually goes on in the Princess' private suite. Some of it is fact but much is what the most authoritative source flatly says is "pure fancy."

Newspapers virtually have agreed that Sir William Gilliatt, the Princess' obstetrician, will use the pain-killing drug, trilene, at the birth. They report an automatic inhaler for administering this drug has been delivered to the miniature "hospital" in the Palace which will be used as a delivery room.

The Palace spokesman and Sir William himself refuse to discuss what sort of pain-killer, if any, will be used and there is no confirmation that any special equipment has been delivered at the palace.

All that can be officially confirmed is that Princess Elizabeth is taking daily walks with her dog in the palace gardens. What goes on in her private rooms remains—as far as confirmation is concerned—strictly private.

Egypt's Delegation To United Nations Denies Report

Peace Would Involve Only Southern Part of Palestine

Tel Aviv, Israel, Nov. 8 AP) —Sources close to the Israeli foreign office said yesterday that peace talks are under way between the Egyptian and Israeli government.

(A member of Egypt's delegation to the United Nations in Paris denied the report, while Israeli informants in Paris would neither confirm nor deny it. Authoritative U.N. sources said they had no knowledge of such negotiations.)

The Jewish sources said the conversations have been in Progress for several days, either in Paris or Geneva.

They said Israeli foreign minister Moshe Shertok was en route to Paris and had undertaken the trip more because of the peace talks than because of scheduled U.N. Security Council and political committee sessions on the Holy Land.

A peace between Israel and Egypt would involve only southern Palestine. A Jewish offensive last month pushed the Egyptians back in the Negev Desert and Jewish forces still surround several thousand Egyptian troops in isolated pockets. The U.N. Security Council is trying to get the Jews to withdraw to positions occupied before the offensive.

Suggests Separate Peace

(A Cairo newspaper yesterday reported King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan had suggested a separate peace between his country and Palestine, but Trans-Jordan officials in Cairo denied that report.)

(Brig.-Gen. William E. Riley, chief of the U.N. Truce mission in Palestine was reported to have told Arab representatives in Paris their military positions in the Holy Land were hopeless and that their governments had better make peace with the Jews.

The Jewish informants here said the Egyptian peace terms had been whittled down to two basic requirements:

1. A guarantee of their right to keep the Gaza coastal strip, allotted to Arab Palestine in the U.N. partition plans of November 1947. This would withdraw demands to Negev territory over which the Jews have won control.

2. A waiver by the Jews of any future demand for reparations or damages as a result of the southern front fighting or previous Egyptian occupation of the Negev territory.

HIT BY SPENT BULLET WOMAN IS NOT INJURED

Leamington, Nov. 8 (CP)— Mrs J. Klassen, 50, of Gosfield South township was uninjured Sunday when struck by a spent bullet as she sat in the living room of her home.

A .22 calibre bullet plowed through the front door and bounced off the door casing, striking her hand without breaking the skin.

De Gaulle Gains Sweeping Victory In Fr. Elections

Paris, Nov. 8 (AP)— Almost complete returns today gave Gen. Charles De Gaulle's anti-Communist Reassemblement du Peuple Francais (R.P.F.) a sweeping victory in yesterday's elections to the Upper House of the French Parliament.

The Communists, present majority in the council of the Republic, lost more than four-fifths of their seats and will be a low-ranking party in the new council.

The elections were national in scope, but the balloting was done by local electoral colleges instead of directly by the people.

The returns showed that the R.P.F. taking part in a egislative election for the first time, will have about 40 per cent of the 269 seats at stake yesterday. The colonies will elect another 51 members next Monday, bringing the new council to its full strength of 320.

With only seven seats missing, Interior Ministry figures said this was the division of the council seats:

R.P.F. 99; Radical Socialists (Conservatives) and affiliates 50; (M.R.P.) 15; others 13.

Of the R.P.F.'s 99 seats, 55 belong to the party outright and the others are affiliated groups.

The Communists now hold 84 seats Their drop of 16 occurred largely because of a change in the voting system that permitted all non-Communist parties to form coalitions against them.

The smashing victory may prompt De Gaulle to hasten his campaign for return to power.

De Gaulle wants the assembly to dissolve itself and call for general elections which, he claims will give him a mandate from the people to take over the government.

ADMITS STRANGLING WOMAN

A companion, Jack Crawford, was also injured, but after emergency treatment at the hospital was permitted to go home.

Assessment Values In City Increase Over $1,000,000

Significant of the growth of the city during the past twelve months assessment values in Belleville in the past year have increased over a million dollars to more than 14 million, it was stated today by city comptroller H. D. Bateman.

Population of the city was estimated at approximately 20,000 persons with an additional 3,000 in the immediate suburbs.

Official population increase since the 1947 assessment was given as 600 persons.

There are now over 6,000 assessments in the city as of the assessment for 1949 which has recently been completed. Of this number there are only 19 appeals to be heard at the court of revision on November 23rd. Of the 19 appeals only a portion are against values, it was stated.

According to provincial statutes, in making assessments, the assessors must take into consideration the use, location, cost of replacement, normal rental and sales value and any other circumstances affecting values.

The population of the city as enumerated by the assessors is not a fair indication of the city's true population, according to assessing officers. Only in rare instances do the assessing figures take into consideration roomers who may happen to be living at a certain residence. Also property owners who may happen to have a residence broken up into several apartments quite frequently fail to pass this information along to the assessing officers.

Remembrance Day Will Be Observed by Local, District Veterans at Parade, Banquet

Belleville and district veterans under the sponsorship of the Canadian, branch No. 99 of this city, will honor the Glorious Dead on Thursday next by parading to the cenotaph at Memorial Park on Station Street, the activities of the day being closed with a banquet in the armouries that evening at which time Major Hugh MacLachlan Bell of the D.V.A. will address the gathering.

At the banquet in the evening the scrolls that were to have been presented to the Veterans as a gift of the city last year will be ready and will be presented by Mayor D. L. Storey. The names on the scrolls were to have been put on by Arnold Thomsen in Old English lettering but due to pressure of business in his field of architecture it was impossible for him to continue the work and as no other one was available in this district the work was held up but the difficulty has been overcome and the presentation will be made on Remembrance Day and this will be a fitting gesture.

Varied Career

The speaker of the Day has had a long and varied career in the Veterans' cause. He served overseas in the First World War with the 58th Battalion and came home to St. Catharines where he became president of the Canadian Legion branch. He also served as vice president of a branch in Nassau in the Bahamas. He organized the Buckshee fund for cigarets in 1941. At present Major Bell is on the staff of the C.O.T.C. of McGill University and is also a director of the Civilian Defence training in Montreal. He also served as D.V.A. district superintendent of rehabilitation in the Montreal area and is at present with the Public Relations branch of the D.V.A. at Ottawa. Between wars Major Bell devoted his activities to the older veterans employment and expansion commissionares. For six years he served in the Colonial Service. Major Bell has a direct message for every veteran and a large turnout is expected.

Parade at Ten O'clock

At 10:00 a.m. on Thursday all veterans wearing, berets, medals ribbons will parade at the Armouries and at 10:40 a.m. will move off for the Cenotaph, preceded by a flight from the R.C.A.F. at Trenton with their band. The Belleville Municipal Band, the Salvation Army Band and the Pipe Band will also join in the parade and the whole will parade the length of Front Street. A short service will be held at the Cenotaph and the wreaths from the City and other bodies will be deposited at the base of the Memorial and the parade will then reform and parade to the Armouries for dismissal. The ladies auxiliary of the two veterans organizations in the city will be in charge of the banquet and a fine repast is promised.

There will be a program consisting of a few band numbers, dances and refreshments and the committee has promised that the speeches will be kept short so that the boys can gather to have an evening of enjoyment together and reminisce on old times.

A special invitation to Imperial, Dutch and Polish veterans has been extended to attend the dinner by the Legion.

138th Anniversary Services Held at Tabernacle Church

Tabernacle United Church observed the 138th anniversary of its founding Sunday with a near capacity congregation participating in the service.

Rev. F. R. Harback, B.A., B.D., led the service, and the mixed choir led the congregation in singing hymns. Mr. Harback introduced the guest speaker, Rev. A. Dawson Matheson, M.A., D.D.

Mr. Matheson opened his sermon with the quotation of the first verse of the 34th psalm, speaking on the "Great Resolve." His address, appropriate to the occasion, was interesting and educational to his listeners.

The anniversary service was further observed at the evening service when the congregation of Bridge Street and Holloway Street United Churches joined as one to hear the visiting preacher.

The music for the anniversary services sung by the mixed choir, under the direction of Mrs. M. P. Duff, was as follows: "A Day in Thy Courts," Macfarren; contralto solo by Mrs. Moorehead; "Lift Thine Eyes," Mendelssohn sung by double trio of choir ladies, Mesdames Houston, Cornell, Thrasher, Moorehead, MacGuire and Large, in the morning. For the evening service, the anthem, "One World," O'Hara-Bratton; a duet, "Twilight," Nevin, by Mrs. Houston and Mr. Buchanan; a male quartet by Messrs. Buchanan, Moorman, Hancock and Duff.

The choir also led the congregation in singing a number of the favorite hymns.

Moderate Quantity Oil, Gasoline For Lighting Will Not Affect Insurance

Fear of householders that their fire insurance policies would be invalidated if they used coal oil lamps or stoves during the Hydro power emergency are groundless according to insurance officials. They also deny that storing gasoline, benzine, etc., in certain quantities is contrary to provisions in policies.

Fire insurance policies in Ontario have statutory conditions which were enacted by parliament and are printed on the back of standard policies. These are often modified by "permission clauses" controlled by the Canadian Underwriters' Association. In this connection the association has agreed on the following permission for lighting and heating arrangements during the power shortage:

One gallon of gasoline may be kept on the premises without extra charge against the policy. The use of coal oil and kerosene lamps and stoves will be allowed without extra charge. When any other emergency lighting arrangements, such as generators driven by internal combustion engines are used, the arrangements should be submitted to the association for approval.

The standard form of fire insurance on dwelling states: "Permission granted to complete construction or to make alternations, additions and repairs and to keep and use coal oil or fuel oil, but not exceeding one gallon in all in addition to that contained in the tanks of cars."

This emergency permit, it is pointed out, overrides the statutory conditions in policies. Where there is no explicit permit to store oil in stores, warehouses and factories, it is suggested the agent be consulted as to whether his particular company wishes to follow the rules of the Canadian Underwriters' Association.

Lanterns Taken From Construction Jobs in City

Whether or not it is the result of hydro interruptions creating a demand for kerosene lanterns, construction firms doing street excavation in the city are being hard pressed to keep a supply of lanterns for guarding barricades at night.

Several weeks ago there was an epidemic of lanterns disappearing with one firm alone reporting more than 20 missing from their street barricades. Now apparently another such epidemic has commenced.

At any rate the Climack Construction Company, engaged in constructing sanitary sewers on MacDonald Ave., reported to police that within the past ten days 15 lanterns had been stolen. Four of them were taken during the weekend from MacDonald Ave. south of Dundas Street.

Bank of Montreal Alterations Will Start Within Week

Major alterations to the Bank of Montreal here, contract for which was recently given to the St. Lawrence Construction Co. Ltd., are to begin within the next week and are expected to take six months to complete.

Under the direction of architect William A. Watson, the changes at the branch are designed to provide up-to-date banking facilities and speed service.

Larger Office

Plans call for a complete remodelling of the bank's existing premises. They will also be considerably enlarged by the addition of an extension into the adjoining Templeton Block, on Bridge Street east. This extension approximately 28 x 38 feet, will contain a complete new savings department with six tellers' wickets to provide speedier service. Directly connected with the present office, the extension also will have its own entrance on Bridge Street.

Two large, extra-strong vaults will be constructed, one for storage and the other to provide for expansion of the bank's safety deposit business. Five coupon booths, for the convenience of customers with valuables in safekeeping, will adjoin the safety deposit valut.

The present vaults in the existing office will be removed to provide more working space for the staff. The public area also will be enlarged to connect with the savings department.

Modern Fixtures

The changed office will be fitted with modern fixtures throughout. The new counters, of the modern type being installed in B of M branches from coast to coast, will include low-type tellers' enclosures, spaced to allow room for ledgers between them. This arrangement results in greatly increased efficiency in handling customers' business. Fluorescent lighting will provide restful, glare-free illumination, while the appearance of the redecorated office will be enhanced by light oak woodwork.

Part of the second storey of the bank will be occupied by staff lunch rooms, cloak rooms, washrooms and extra office space. One section is to be leased to private business.

Sexologist Will Give Addresses At Capitol Theatre

Mr. Leslie Hamilton, Toronto, noted consulting sexologist arrived in the city today and will speak at the showings of the motion picture "Sins of the Fathers" being shown at the Capitol Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Hamilton has had many years' experience addressing audiences on the many phases of sex education, including special lectures to students. He has spoken on marriage and family relations as well as being guest speaker at service clubs and other organizations on sex education.

During the past few years, Mr. Hamilton spent some time at the pre-marital institute at Copenhagen, Denmark; the C. I. N. Voge Institute, London, England; the Maternity Centre Association, New York City; the Association for Family Living, Chicago, and the American Institute for Family Relations, Los Angeles.

He is a veteran of two world wars and served as a staff officer at NDHQ, Ottawa, for some time during the second conflict.

Mr. Hamilton will be heard at the Capitol Theatre tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 9:15 when he will speak to the ladies at matinees at 3:20 and to the men at 11:15 nightly through Wednesday.

Collections Show Half Objective Now Obtained

Collections in the Community Service campaign showed an extra spurt at the weekend to send the total above $10,000. Officials of the campaign are optimistic that the minimum objective of $16,000 will be reached by the co-operative efforts of the workers and through the contributing public.

With less than one half of the anticipated subscriptions in, workers are urged to concentrate their efforts on the completion of their task. Subscribers who have not been contacted are urged to send their donations directly to campaign headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. It is hoped that every wage earner will share in the support of these below-cost, indispensable services of the participating agencies, the Y. M. C. A., the Victorian Order of Nurses, and the Children's Aid Society.

It would be unthinkable that any of these services should with-

"The tax rate for 1949 will not be changed insofar as I am concerned," the mayor added. "We expect that revenues from new sources will offset any additional expenditures incurred by the city."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Nov. 8 — (CP) — Industrials and western oils edged slowly ahead as trading slackened on the Toronto Stock Exchange today from last Friday. Golds moved quietly easier and base metals held steady on mixed gains and losses.

Key industrials issues advanced on fractional gains as trading quietened down. Utilities brightened and papers showed a slightly easier tone. McColl Oil, Imperial Oil and B. A. Oil firmed in refining oils and Goodyear was strong in the miscellaneous industrials following a dividend announcement.

Base metals mixed gains and losses on a slightly easier trend. Hudson Bay was down and Noranda dipped 1/4. Consolidated Smelters, Silanco and Quebec Labrador strengthened.

A few junior golds traded actively for narrow changes. Producing issues were weaker.

Installing Team Of Rebekah Lodge Entertained

Stirling — On Wednesday afternoon the members of the installing team of Laurel Rebekah Lodge were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. R. B. Duffin, D.D.P.

Mrs. P. Utman presided over a short program, consisting of several interesting games conducted by Miss Evelyn Bailey, Mrs. R. A. Patterson, Mrs. C. A. Wills and Mrs. P. Utman.

The program was as follows: vocal solo, Mrs. Roy Eggleton; piano duet, Mrs. R. Shortt and Mrs. H. Morrow; piano solo, Mrs. R. Vanderwater; vocal duet, Mrs. H. Morrow and Mrs. W. Warren; Miss Evelyn Bailey read some very appropriate verses composed about the activities of the installing team during the past few weeks.

At the conclusion of this, Mrs. H. Morrow presented Mrs. Duffin with a lovely gift on behalf of her installing team. Although completely taken by surprise, Mrs. Duffin expressed her appreciation of the gift and the thoughtfulness of the members.

The guests were then invited to the dining room where small tables looked most attractive with cut flowers and bearing a gift for each. Miss Evelyn Bailey moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Duffin for the delicious dinner which everyone enjoyed. This was seconded in the usual manner after which all joined in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." The guests left for home wishing Mrs. Duffin continued success in her office.

May Never Learn Cause of Crash

Toronto, Nov. 8 — (CP) — The toll of the weekend still stood early today at six dead and 50 injured and police said the cause of the worst traffic accident in Toronto's history may never be known.

They said that if Frank Rowe-driver of a Hamilton bus which smashed into a Toronto streetcar on this city's western outskirts, manages to survive, it is possible he will not remember what happened in the split second before the bus swerved into the path of the streamlined streetcar.

All the dead and most of the injured were merrymakers from Hamilton homeward bound in a chartered bus from an Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders' reunion party at Club Top Hat, night spot near Sunnyside amusement park in Toronto's west end.

The dead: David B. Arnitt, 39, and his wife, Blanche, 40; Frank A. Noble, 31; Mrs. Thomas Hay, 49; Gordon M. Beddie, 50; and Earle W. McKie, 34.

A memorial service will be held at the Hamilton armories Tuesday afternoon. By request of the families, no military funerals are planned. Funds to assist families of the victims have been opened in Toronto and in Hamilton.

Inspector Vernon Page of the Toronto city police said investigation had shown there was no substantiation for an early theory that the bus driver turned toward the red-and-yellow street-car to avoid striking a pedestrian on the highway.

Investigation also dashed a belief that the rain on Friday night made the highway dangerously slippery.

REMANDED A WEEK

Lindsay, Nov. 8 (CP)— Hermon Woodcox, 29-year-old bushman of Tory Hill, Monmouth township, Haliburton, charged with the murder of 21-year-old Arnold Gill on Hallowe'en eve appeared before Magistrate E. A. Gee this morning and was remanded for one week.

19 Pupils Give Good Performance In S. H. Public Speaking Contest

Wallbridge United Church was well filled on Friday evening with parents and friends of the young contestants from the various school sections of South Hastings, who were scheduled to speak at the initial contest in public speaking, sponsored by the South Hastings Educational centre. Eight juniors and eleven seniors were lined up, anxious to show their ability to follow in the footsteps of the great Demosthenes.

Mr. J. A. Warren, supervising principal of Sidney School Area, was chairman of the evening, and with a few encouraging words to the participants, and brief explanations to the audience regarding the score in judging, which the judges, seven in number, would use to ascertain the successful winners, opened the contest.

The contestants were divided into two groups — juniors and seniors. The order in which each was to speak was fixed by the drawing of a slip of paper on which the number had been written. This prevented any partiality, which might be thought to be given, in the order of speaking. The junior contestants competed during the first part of the program, and the seniors during the last.

Considerable latitude of choice of subjects was evidenced by the variety of the themes chosen; although the topic, "Conservation of Forests and Wild Life," had pre-eminence, as no fewer than six contestants had selected it. The time allotted for each speech was five minutes.

The first contestant, Joe Craft, of School Section No. 12, had chosen "Conservation of Forests and Wild Life." Joe told of the need for forests, and warned his listeners about the carelessness with matches, and camp-fires, that fire is the greatest enemy of the forest, and when there is no forest, there is no wild life, and when there is no wild life, much beauty is lost. Without forests and wild life there would be no national parks, and no Algonquin Park.

June Livingston, of Albridge School, brought up the question of "How Old is Jack Frost?" and went on to tell that Jack Frost had been born long, long ago, during the Ice Age, when he reigned supreme. Now everyone knows that Jack is still alive, because of the snow-flakes which fall so silently, covering the ground with their whiteness; these are Jack's tears because he has only part of the year now to paint the rose-leaves white, and draw pretty pictures on the window panes.

"Reforestation" was a veritable 'must' given by Bob Hough, of Turner's School. If the productivity of Canada's soil was to be maintained, it was absolutely necessary to plant trees, as they maintained the water content necessary for growth of grass and fruits and vegetables. They also helped to prevent erosion of the soil; that valuable top part. For every tree cut down, one should be planted to take its place.

Paper Making Described

Raymonde Masse of Bayside School, gave an interesting talk of "How Wood is Made Into Paper." He took his listeners first to the forest to view the stately trees; thence to the pulp-mill where the tree was shredded into strips and soaked in water; then to the paper mill where the soft, woody mass was rolled out into smooth, white paper; some for letter use, and some office work, and finally to the printing shop where it came fresh from the press, replete with daily news. Billie Morris came next with his talk on "The Invention of Aircraft" from the kite stage to the large passenger planes of today.

Glen Clarke was one of the six contestants who spoke on "The Conservation of Forests and Wild Life theme, and why they should be conserved. Without forests there would be no water, and without water, no vegetation, and a dearth of life's necessities would ensue. He stressed the careless way in which cigarette and cigar butts are thrown away, and thus causing many thousands of dollars loss of valuable timber, which is so badly needed today.

Park Described

Robert Copeland, Patricia Gringras, and Allan Hartz all added their quota to the same subject, while Sharon Wilkinson, of Turner school, took her audience for a travelogue through "Jasper National Park", past lakes of vivid blue, flower-decked valleys, and lofty Mount Edith Cavell, reminiscent of World War 1.

Jacqueline Smith, and Evelyn Olmstead, of Marsh Hill, both spoke on "Conservation of Trees and Wild Life." Both girls showed exceptional ability in the ease with which they handled their subject; their manner was natural; their speech convincing; their enunciation clear and distinct, which made it very difficult for the listeners to judge which would be first, and which second. The result of the score points showed that Jacqueline had received the highest number. Of all the contestants in the contest, both of junior or senior, Jacqueline Smith winner of the 1947 contest, received the highest number of points.

During the judging and adding up the score points, Marilyn Spencer again favored with a piano-accordian solo, "Onward Christian Soldiers," which was beautifully rendered. Mr. Warren then congratulated all the speakers, and extended to the teachers of the various schools, his thanks and great appreciation for their help in training the children for this occasion, and also to the parents and friends for coming out in such numbers; and to the Board and Council for their generosity for donating the prize money.

The Prise Winners

Mr. Connel, Principal of Frankford school, presented the results of the judging, and Mr. Sargent, Vice President of South Hastings, presented to each of the four winners: Joan Campbell, Jack Russell, Jacqueline Smith, and Evelyn Olmstead, three dollars.

Mr. James Campbell, Chairman of Sidney Area, congratulated the non-winners for the efforts they had put forth, adding that they had made the contest possible, for, without them, there would have been no contest. To each of the non-winners he presented a crisp, new, one dollar bill.

The final contest will be held in the Belleville Collegiate Auditorium on November 12th, at 8 P.M.

Joan Campbell, of Marsh Hill school, took for her topic "Conservation of Trees and Wild Life." "Without trees," said Joan, "there would be no birds, and without birds, there would be no fruit, as the bugs and caterpillars would destroy the trees and plants, and without the fruits and vegetables the human family would suffer." Joan handled her subject in such a convincing manner that she won first place among the junior contestants.

Departing from the topics of forests and kindred subjects, Jack Rushnell, of school section 23, took as his five-minute talk, the hero of every public school boy; every high school senior; and every college sophomore, whether they 'came to bat' or kicked the 'pigskin," "Babe Ruth". His telling of Babe Ruth's life was vivid, realistic, and sincere; showing that "The Babe" had been the exemplification of the motto: "Keep fit; work hard; play fair; live clean." Judging from the applause that followed, it was not difficult to deduce that Jack was one of the winners.

Talks on Aeroplanes

After a short intermission, in which Marilyn Spencer, of Frankford, rendered a very fine piano-accordian selection, the senior contestants held the attention. The first speaker was Bob Bleecker, of Meadowvale, who spoke on "Aeroplanes", dealing in a slightly different manner from that of Billie Morris; more in line with what had been accomplished by means of the aeroplane, than its invention. He cited the then amazing flight of Col. Lindburgh across the Atlantic in the "Spirit of St. Louis," to the speedy planes of today, in peace and in war, and the jet-propelled planes with their supersonic speed, of the future.

Marion Asselstine gave a nice talk on "Tribute to Our Forefathers," to whose self-sacrificing, heroic life and strenuous toil, amid the wilds of a new country are due the present advantages of our daily living.

Joan Meyers of Quinte View, spoke on "The Beauty of Trees," stating their value to the land scape as beautifiers and the habitat of the songsters of the air, ending her talk with that well-known poem of Joyce Kilmer, "Trees"; causing one to think back to that beautiful garden of life's beginning, and the love bestowed upon the creature by the great Creator of trees.

That subject which is in the minds of all at the present time, "Hydro" was the theme of David Madill's—of Eggleton School—discourse. He told of its source; its manifold uses in homes and factories, and ended with the admonition to use it sparingly in these days of scant rainfall.

Season of Remembrance

This is the season of the year when the pages of memory are turned and men and women and boys and girls devote their thoughts to the memory of those who in two Great Wars defended their country, many dying in the cause of liberty against which the aggressors had raised their hand.

It is a time that the world that loves liberty and knows the price which was paid for victory will never allow to be forgotten. The older population will remember the scenes of that Armistice Day thirty years ago when there ended the first of the two greatest wars in history. Though exactly a generation has passed the memory of that time is as vivid as if of yesterday. Then twenty-one years later the war drums were sounded again as Hitler started on his futile attempt to crush the world and enslave men and women.

Two great world lessons for peace were these, the second war's end showing yet more clearly the great need for a united front for the maintenance of peace. Now more than three years after cessation of the Second World War nations in deadly earnest are still working in spite of obstacles to find the way that will make resort to arms impossible.

This time of the year is inevitably linked with the overwhelming desire for a peaceful world and the value of strength and preparedness in preventing the possibilities of wars in the future. Making the appeal to man more poignant and striking is the memory of those who bled and died in these two great struggles. They silently plead for a world of understanding and security against strife among nations.

In Search of Trade

Britons go afar like the bold mariners of centuries ago in search of trade. Such is the spirit of enterprise of the people of the tight little isle.

This autumn saw a British Industries fair in Copenhagen, the capital of Denmark. The relations of the peoples of that country and Britain are good. The British are active and progressive. The Danes are also progressive and these two therefore can meet on a basis of real enterprise.

Britons of all ranks invaded the country of the Danes to exhibit and sell them their wares. And no wares are better known than Britain's for their intrinsic value. The British industrial force came with a detachment of the Gordon Highlanders and a fleet of double-decker London transport buses, on which the Danes rode happily about the city, most of them scrambling to the upper deck, a great novelty for them and one which was greatly appreciated. Rivalling the buses were the exhibits of the Radio Industries Council of Britain in collaboration with the BBC television exhibition. Danish artists were so taken up with the television display that they are going to Britain to perform in the television studios.

Time of Diminishing Light

This is the time of year for extra precaution to be followed by persons who walk on the highways. It is a time when the amount of light changes quickly and at evening darkness descends with a swoop.

It is also pointed out by highway authorities that the last two months of the year are the really dangerous months for persons who are getting in the older brackets of years. Of 57 pedestrians killed in motorcar accidents during November and December last year, 33 or nearly 57 per cent were persons over 65 years of age. Of these 33 fatalities two-thirds occurred after dark, while more than half involved such actions and infractions of the regulations as jay-walking, that is crossing of roads and highways between intersections, stepping from behind parked vehicles or walking against the traffic light. Eight of the older pedestrians, victims of fatalities, were crossing rural highways.

The changing light at this season involves drivers and pedestrians and both must exercise care. It is well known that sometimes when a pedestrian can see a driver, a driver cannot see the pedestrian, as when the man or woman on the road is dressed in dark clothing. Walkers should not forget that it requires some time and space for a motorist in which to stop a car and so the duty rests upon both the driver and the pedestrians to omit no measure of safety that will prevent accidents. Reduced speeds and extra care are the two measures to be taken to offset the greater hazards of the time.

The pedestrian who has occasion to walk on the road should carry with him something that is white to attract the attention of drivers and to avoid accident.

FIRST TOOTH

Day by day the changes come.
Someone betters this or that;
Grows a larger pear or plum,
Makes a finer doorway mat.
'Neath the restless search for truth,
Still we act the same old way
When the baby gets a tooth.

None the future can predict.
None the marvels new can see.

/Hiding what is yet to be.
There are many ways to fame
For ambitious, willing youth,
But 'twill always be the same
When the baby gets a tooth.

Mothers to the phone will fly,
Calling fathers with delight,
Asking neighbors in to spy
That first tiny cusp of white;
And until the world shall fall,
Fairly dancing in the booth,
They will tell the news to all

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

IS PURITANISM AN EVIL?

It has become fashionable these times to poke fun at Puritanism. The men who broke the power of tyranny in Great Britain and laid the foundations of a new spiritual empire on this continent are pictured as a group of unthinking bigots who were committed to a type of life which today would be abhorent to any normal person.

But those who picture Puritanism in this way really caricature it. Puritanism fundamentally is not repression, blue Sundays, holier than thou piety; it is essentially the highest type of self-examination. Puritans are people who in any age look upon life as a destiny, and, with a persistence of purpose which such a concept required, set themselves to making the very best and highest out of the opportunities God has given them.

Many quite cogent thinkers today believe that nothing better could happen to America than a revival of Puritanism — not a system of little rules and repressions but a majestic and heroic outlook on life which regards with solemnity and appreciation opportunities God has given us to live and achieve a destiny.

They who scoff at Puritanism either do not understand it or else reveal the shallowness of their own natures.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

WE NEVER KNOW

We never know how far a kind word of encouragement may travel. We never know the extent of our influence. The other day I received a letter from a gentleman in England who wrote to me about some brief writings that I had sent to a friend in Australia. What a happy surprise that was!

Edward Grieg, the Norwegian composer, as a child, took one of his compositions to school with him to show a companion. His teacher somehow intercepted it, looked over it and exclaimed: "Such rubbish ought to be destroyed!" but Ole Bull, the great violinist, came in touch with Grieg's family and urged them to send the boy to Leipzig for in-

We never know to whom we may be talking, when meeting a stranger never met before. Browsing in a book store recently I met a quiet, modest chap and we got to talking books. I found him intensely interesting. After he left the place I inquired as to who he was and was informed that he was a famous playwright and had two successful plays then on the New York stage.

There is one thing about the truly great and that is that they are usually modest and human. And if you meet them unawares they are "just folks." When I call on my old friend Senator Arthur Vandenberg, in Washington, he seems no different as a world figure than when I used to talk to him in his newspaper office in years ago — though then I never dreamed he would be where he is today. We never know where anyone today may be tomorrow—if he has a message to deliver.

Who among those who went into that small log cabin store of Lincoln & Berry, at Salem, Illinois, ever suspected that the tall, crude-looking Lincoln would one day be among the great of this earth, and revered as such? Even Lincoln himself never suspected it.

You will recall the tribute that Shakespeare paid to the little candle by remarking how far it threw its beam, likening them to a good deed in "a naughty world." A generous word is like that. It may turn up in a dozen different languages and sparkle its light

Mackenzie's Column:

Military Treaty Does Not Mean Aggressive Action

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

Ever since the founding of the United States the term "alliance" has been abhorrent to the average American because it has been accepted generally as connoting a military treaty and so as being an instrument of war.

However, it strikes me there will be a feeling of relief at the word from Washington that President Truman is expected to order the State Department within a few days to go ahead with negotiations for a military alliance treaty with Western Europe.

The Atlantic which shielded American isolation, now has shrunk to the size of a millpond. As a matter of regrettable hindsight there is the realization that an alliance between the United States and the Western European powers most likely would have prevented both world wars.

Preparedness

Twice Germany struck through vulnerable little Belgium because Berlin gambled on the fact that the United States wasn't bound by alliance to resist this aggression.

Now a project is actively under way to form an alliance which will join the United States and Canada to the countries of west Europe, using the recently-formed western European union as a nucleus. This union comprises Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. It is expected that several other countries will be included, among them Iceland and Portugal.

The project contemplates not only helping these countries get on their feet economically through the Marshall plan, but a program of military assistance.

As a matter of fact the United States already has the military aid program under way. Reliable sources in Frankfurt, Germany, state that the United States has armed three French divisions with $5,000,000 worth of military equipment.

This projected alliance is in no sense an invitation to combat. It is purely defensive.

Such an alliance is the safest insurance the western powers could have against aggression. The cold war will continue, for Moscow never will cease in its world revolution for the spread of Communism until circumstances force it to quit.

Republican Party Leadership May Change Hands

Washington, Nov. 8. (AP)—A scramble for Republican Party leadership, with Harold E. Stassen among those taking part, apparently is in the making as an aftermath of last Tuesday's election.

Despite an assertion by Governor Thomas E. Dewey that he has no plans to step down as titular head of the party, his second straight defeat for the United States presidency may leave him little to say about future Republican policies.

These policies largely will be shaped by the Republican minority in Congress.

There such familiar figures as Senatorf Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, Joseph W. Martin, Jr, of Massachusetts, speaker of the House of Representatives and House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana will be in the saddle.

But none of these is a standout now for the Republican Presidential nomination in distant 1952.

Instead, some of the Republican politicians are beginning to look outside the formal congressional leadership.

Those catching their eye include men like Stassen, Senators Irving M. Ives of New York, William Knowland of California Raymond Baldwin of Connecticut, Leverett Saltonstall and Henry Cabot Lodge, J., of Massachusetts and Homer Ferguson of Michigan.

Governors who might be regarded now as available for one of the top spots on the ticket four years hence include Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, Ernest W. Gibson of Vermont, Luther W. Youngdahl of Minnesota and Frank Carlson of Kansas.

Parliament May Broaden Scope Of Health Act

Ottawa, Nov. 8 (CP)—Health Minister Martin said in an interview Sunday night amendment of the government's $270,000,000-a-year Family Allowances Act was "constantly under review."

But he said he could not go beyond that in commenting on a report that the government intends introducing a measure at the next session of parliament broadening the scope of the act to make more money available to parents with large families.

However, from other sources it was learned Sunday night that such an amendment, wiping out a regulation which reduces payments to the fifth and succeeding child in a family, now is under government consideration.

The amendment would, in effect subsidize large families in Canada at an estimated additional cost of about $5,000,000 a year.

Currently, a spokesman said the government shells out about $270,000,000 a year to about 1,700,000 families in Canada.

Since the act was brought into force in 1945, it has cost the government approximately $150,000,000, with the greater part of the money going to the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

The act was brought in as a measure to improve the health and welfare of Canadian children 16 years and under. Payments are made to the parents, usually to the mother.

Here is the scale of payments: Child up to six years of age, $5 a month; 6-10 years, $6; 10-13 years, $8. But where a family has more than four children eligible payments to the fifth child drop $1 a month, to the sixth child $2 a month, to the seventh and succeeding child, $3 a month.

The amendment, wiping out the payments restriction to the fifth and succeeding child, is expected to boost the average family allowance from $14 to about $16 a month.

Figures were not available tonight as to how many families would benefit by the increase if approved by parliament.

Oil-Soaked Wings Strand Thousands Of Wild Ducks

Montreal, Nov. 6 (CP)—Thousands of wild ducks, stranded and bogged down on their southward flight because of oil-soaked wings became the objective Friday in a mass dry cleaning job.

The ducks, estimated at more than 7,000 were trapped last week by oil and bilge water pumped from fog bound freighters in the Lake St. Peter section of the St. Lawrence River.

Sole remaining hope for the birds appeared to rest on the efficacy of a solvent agent newly developed in the United States supplied by the Audubon Society of New York.

Experiments on five ducks brought to McGill University Thursday night, proved fruitless. Zoological and museum authorities bathed the birds and washed their wings in various chemical solutions, benzine and special soap-and-water solutions.

Not enough of the oily slime could be removed from the feathers and the birds had to be destroyed.

Friday officials officials of the Department of Mines and Resources, headed by Dr. Oliver Hewitt, one of the best-known bird specialists in Canada, set out for Lake St. Peter 64 miles east of Montreal.

Examine Oil Slick

The party was accompanied by members of the Quebec Fish and Game Association.

Because of heavy fog that cut visibility to less than 10 feet, the party could do little more most of the day than examine the oil slick.

Dr. Hewitt says he hopes to bring the ducks to shore by use of huge nets and then start the long task of cleaning them. If the new preparation is ineffective, the ducks will die, thousands of them.

"Many of them are so far gone they are beyond the cleaning stage," he said.

Offer Cleaning Fluid

Cobourg, Ont., an official of a Cobourg official company Friday night offered to help in the dry-cleaning of 7,000 wild ducks bogged down in the St. Lawrence River by oil soaked wings.

T.C. Jones said his company (Skelta Company) Manufacturers a cleansing agent which he said had proved successful on dogs and cats. He offered to send free all the cleanser needed by officials of the Quebec department of mines and resources seeking to save the ducks trapped 65 miles east of Montreal.

Mr. Jones said the cleanser, which has a chemical base, is mixed with water and applied. He thought it might be possible to make a pool large enough for the ducks to swim in and cleanse themselves.

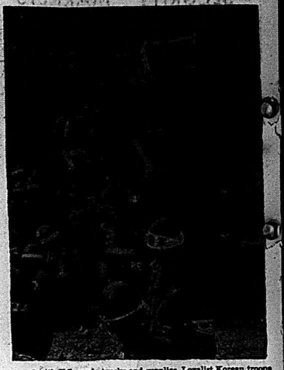
LOYALISTS MOVE ON COMMUNIST REBELS



Equipped with U.S.-made trucks and supplies, Loyalist Korean troops are shown as they prepared to leave Kwangju, in South Korea, for the Communist-held city of Yasu. Communist-led Korean rebels started an uprising while President Synkhman Rhee was in Tokyo consulting with Gen. of the Armies MacArthur. U.S. soldiers managed to persuade 150 rebels to lay down their arms at Taegu. (Central Press Canadian)

NATURAL PHYSIOLOLOGICAL FUNCTION

(First of a series of articles about the baby business, why some partnerships fail and the methods which make for success in this age-old infant industry.)

Physiological functions are not painful in the normal individual When a function, any function becomes painful we regard the pain as a sign of symptom of abnormality disease.

Childbirth is a natural physiological function.

Ah, ah! I haven't had beri beri or cholera either. A doctor can't have everything.

No woman in childbirth should be permitted to suffer. But don't mistake labor and work for pain and suffering. There's a vast difference between them. I quote these words from an address delivered before the medical and nursing staff of the Maternity Centre Association in New York City by Dr. Grantly Dick Read.

I have repeatedly urged all expectant mothers to study Dr. Read's book Childbirth Without Fear (Harper).

The birth of a baby is not a purely physical affair. The emotional factor in childbirth is frequently entirely forgotten. Dr Read reminds us.

For example, the woman in labor wants first of all companionship. She should have it. "Loneliness is the curse of childbirth. To put a woman away and shut the door and say 'Be quiet until I come back' is one of the most effective forms of torture."

I (Brady second that. It goes double when the woman wants her husband to remain with her—where any man who is a man belongs.

People with institutional jobs, I said — that includes nurses, attendants, superintendents, managers, and physicians. These dependents like their jobs and naturally they feel more secure if you peasants don't know too much about what goes on inside. Hence the monkey cage where that cnntemptible figure, the expectant father is confined at what should be the most inspiring moment of his life

Yes, I suppose it would be more or less a shock to the synthetic delicacy of the conventional prospective father to drag him into the bedside and tell him to stay there and share the miracle with his wife. But that is not my recommendation.

Nor do I advise any expectant father to make a nuisance of himself when or if he finds that "hospital rules" or "health department regulations" or other phony prohibition bars his entrance to the delivery room—even though his wife is woman enough to want him to return with her.

The time to arrange all that is when you engage the physician—many months before the late of delivery. Just tell the physician that husband and wife are in the thing on a fifty-fifty basis and of course that goes for the time before, during and after delivery. If the physician is at all doubtful about that—take my advice and have no further dealing with him or her. There's something wrong with the doctor who pretends to find the fifty-fifty partnership objectionable on any ground.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Football

I strongly disagree with Dr. Brady's opinion that football is dangerous for growing boys. I have played football, tackle or touch, for four years and I don't have a bad heart or any broken limbs. (R. B.)

Answer—The game you play, Bob, is fine for growing boys, I think. I refer to the evil of college or university football in high schools. High school football is bad in every respect for a few boys who play the game and the entire student body, in my opinion.

Bubble Gum

My children love bubble gum, but I have been told something in it causes the teeth to decay. Could you please advise me about this? (Mrs. R. E. C.)

Answer—It is harmless. That is, the gum is harmless. The habit of chewing may tend to increase tooth decay. Bubble gum is more objectionable from the viewpoint of hygiene because the tricks youngsters do with it facilitate conveyance of all sorts of infections and parasitic infections to the mouth.

Shaking Palsy

Stranger we met told my husband who has shaking palsy, that he, and a friend of his had been cured of this trouble by quinine Doctors we have asked say they know of no such cure. (Mrs. T M. S.)

Answer—Quinine sulfate, five grains three times a day, has given considerable benefit in cases of myotonia. By analogy I should think it might be similarly beneficial in shaking palsy. Your husband could try it for a week and see. Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet on Paralysis Agitans.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

CUT NOISE AT KNIFE FACTORY

Noise can interfere with work in any plant. That's why Johns-Manville was recently called in to install acoustics at a large silverware manufacturer's plant.

"Our job is a noisy one," the plant manager writes. "It used to be impossible to talk above the clang and clatter of the workrooms. Everyone complained. So we had Johns-Manville install Fibertone ceilings. Now, you should hear the difference! Comfort and efficiency have both greatly increased."
